The harvest festival will be held in St. John's Church on Thursday next. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 10 o'clock and choral evensong at 8 p.m., when the special preacher will be the Rev. F. H. Hartley, M.A., of Toronto. The offertories throughout the day will be devoted to the Clergy Widow's and Orphans' fund. Contributions of fruit, vegetables, flowers, etc., will be most acceptable, and should be sent to the church on Tuesday afternoon, or very early on Wednesday morning. The decorators will begin their task of love on Wednesday afternoon, and under their skillful guidance the building will soon assume a festal appearance. The choir has, for some time, been preparing special music, and may be trusted to provide an attractive programme. Large congregations will, no doubt, be present to join in this great act of praise and thanksgiving for mercies received during the past year.

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

MR. B. LASTER RETURNS FROM ZIONIST CONGRESS OF THE WORLD

Former Peterborough Citizen Visits Egypt and Palestine in Interests of Society

Mr. Bernard Laster, of Toronto, a former resident of Peterborough, was in the city on Monday evening, and returned to Toronto yesterday morning. Mr. Laster called on The Times where he gave us some particulars of the world-wide Zionist movement of which he is prominently identified. This movement has for its object the re-establishment of the Jews in Palestine. Already many thousands of persecuted Jews, who have been driven out of Russia and other countries, have been settled in the land of their forefathers, and thousands more are preparing to go as soon as funds are provided for the purpose. It is hoped in a few years that the movement will become general, and that the Holy Land will once again become a rich and productive country. The land, which is now mostly barren and worthless, as a result of the Zionist movement, is becoming the very opposite.

Mr. Laster a Delegate.

Some months ago Mr. Laster was elected one of thirteen delegates from Canada to attend the Zionist Congress, which met in Bazil, Switzerland, from August 9th to 16th inclusive. At that congress an executive committee of 23 were appointed to arrange the program of matters to be taken up by the congress, which consisted of 429 delegates and 28 nationalities. Mr. Laster made no less than six propositions, of which three were accepted by the congress.

Mr. Laster left Canada on June 22nd, and went direct to Palestine, also visiting Egypt.

Palestine, Past and Present.

Arriving at Jerusalem, Mr. Laster spent 13 days in that city. He found the conditions anything but satisfactory. The people are poor and not robust or healthy. This is due to the unsanitary conditions that exist. Sixty per cent. of the population have sore eyes, and the moral standard is also very low. Jerusalem is therefore a distinct disappointment to many tourists and pilgrims who visit the Holy Land. The Zionists propose to alter all this. Already they have done wonders in changing much of the waste land into productiveness. In Jerusalem there are no less than 50 to 60 charitable institutions, which are maintained chiefly by the contributions of wealthy Jews, as well as Christians.

Palestine is not exceptionally deficient in water. Perennial streams, indeed, are scarce in Palestine, and were so in antiquity; but except in certain districts, as the desert of Judah, the country is not badly supplied with springs. A considerable number of hot springs occur throughout the country, especially in and near the Jordan valley; they were used in ancient times for curative purposes, and might still be so used. Hot sulphur springs also occur on the west coast of the Dead Sea. Many of the springs in Palestine are slightly brackish. From the earliest times cisterns have naturally played

SOME CANADIAN REFUGEES

Escaped in Boats and Were Met by British Gun Boat

ARE NEARING CHUNG KING

"TRUST NO LIVES ARE LOST," CABLES M. A. BRILLINGER TO HEADQUARTERS IN TORONTO.

ATTACK ON THE VICEROY'S PALACE

Rumored Suicide of Chinese General and Overwhelming Defeat of the Government Troops Reported.

Pekin, Sept. 12.—The British Legation received a telegram to-day stating that the first party of refugees from Chentu had arrived in safety at Sui-fu.

Avidently these refugees, all of whom, the despatch says, were British citizens, came down the river by boats and were met by a British gunboat.

Receives Cable.

At the Methodist Mission Rooms, Richmond street west, Toronto, the anxiety for the safety of the party of about a hundred white people, mostly Canadian Methodist missionaries, who left Chentu for Chung Kiang, was partly dispelled to-day by the receipt of the following cablegram from M. A. Brillinger, a druggist missionary and business agent of the Mission Board in Chung Kiang. It reads as follows:

"A number of parties of refugees are nearing Chung Kiang. Trust no lives lost."

Rumors of Government Defeat.

Pekin, Sept. 12.—Reports that the military commander at Chentu has committed suicide as a result of his inability to suppress the anti-government uprising there, are interpreted as meaning that the rebels are in complete control of the locality, and probably that the Government troops have suffered an overwhelming defeat.

The telegraphic communications being cut off, definite information is lacking, but rumors are current of widespread looting, incendiarism and murder.

Strike is On; Market Closed.

Hankow, China, Sept. 12.—A skirmish occurred yesterday at Chentu, in the Province of Sze Chuen, between Chinese troops and rioters. Several persons on both sides were killed or wounded.

A strike is now in progress at that place, and the markets are closed.

Many Were Wounded.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—A despatch from Pekin says that forty men were killed and many wounded in defence of the Viceroy's Yamen at Chentu, which was attacked yesterday by a mob.

PROHIBITION MAY STAY, MAJORITY WIPED OUT

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—At 5 p.m. the official returns indicated that the apparent majority in favor of repealing the prohibitory law may be wiped out.

Earlier, the official returns from 225 cities, towns, and plantations reduced the repeal majority to 168 votes.

SEVEN KILLED IN A TERRIFIC WIND STORM

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 12.—A special to the Tribune from Tustin, Mich., says that a wind storm of cyclonic proportions swept through the southern part of Wexford County last night, doing much damage.

Passengers on a southbound train reported that at Hobart, five miles from Cadillac, a woman and six children were killed, and that the bodies were buried under the debris of a store. The school house and several other buildings at Hobart were blown down.

A relief party was sent from Tustin to Hobart.

PEOPLE FLEEING FOR THEIR LIVES FROM MOUNT ETNA

FOURTEEN NEW FISSURES AND THREE NEW CRATERS FORMED.

Lava Pours Down Slopes and Threatens Houses — Brilliant Flashes Play in Darkness.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 12.—The eruptions of Mount Etna has become more intense. The showers of ashes and cinders are heavier, and the rumbling of earth shocks at short intervals is heard for miles around. The shocks are growing in violence and panic prevails. The fear of the people is augmented by the great heat and the suffocating atmosphere. All the country round about is covered with ashes and seems under an immense funeral pall.

It is reported that three new craters have opened, but so far, it has been impossible to ascertain whether they are emitting lava, because of their altitude and the thick smoke that lies over them.

The people of villages on the slopes of Mount Etna have abandoned their homes. Some of the houses have been damaged and hundreds of men, women and children, who are without shelter go about from place to place carrying pictures of the saints, crying and imploring mercy.

At Giarre, sixteen miles from Catania, the patients were carried out of the hospitals by nurses, who feared that the building would collapse.

Lava is now descending and threatening the villages. It has reached the edge of the woods. It is estimated that in all fourteen new fissures have opened, and they are emitting smoke, ashes and lava.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

Charged With Bigamy.

A middle aged woman, named Estelle Kesigoo, was arrested at Chemong on Monday, charged with bigamy. County Constable Cochrane, received a warrant from A. G. Murray, barrister, Gore Bay, together with a letter, stating the facts of the case. Isiah Kesigoo was her first husband, and some time ago she left him and married Anthony Gokeskiouga. She got tired of her second, apparently, and returned to Kesigoo, when the authorities got hold of the information and took action. The defendant is lodged in the jail here awaiting the arrival of the Provincial officer to take her back to Manitoulin Island.

Mr. Ackerman's Denial.

Yesterday Mr. B. F. Ackerman called up The Times by phone and requested us to say that the reference made in The Examiner of Monday, was incorrect as regards his attitude on the question of reciprocity. The article was misleading inasmach as it conveyed the impression that he was favorable to the pact, which is not the case.

WARM DEBATE OVER NE TEMERE DECREE

London, Ont., Sept. 12.—The discussion of the "Ne Temere" decree was unexpectedly reached yesterday by the General Synod of the Anglican Church, but was adjourned before the motion of Hon. S. H. Blake could come to a vote.

The debate was the warmest of the present Synod. Mr. Blake finding opposition. He wanted a committee to conduct an investigation and the Government to be memorialized to appoint the Court of Exchequer a court to deal with matters touching the validity of the marriage law. He said: "The liberty of the people, the sanctity of the holy marriage law, is being assailed by an audacious class, something that in this land of civil and religious liberty we will not permit." Mr. Blake favored a Dominion marriage law.

Chancellor Davidson, of Montreal, and Mr. James Jones, K.C., of Toronto, opposed the resolution.

The latter claimed that the Roman Catholic Church could not alter the civil law, and for the Synod to admit that it was to relinquish the position of the Church of England.

EAST PETERBOROUGH

Progress of the Campaign Throughout The Riding

Matter under this heading solicited on the understanding that The Times will not hold itself responsible for the Opinions Expressed or the Statements made.

WON'T FOLLOW SEXSMITH.

The question has very frequently been asked "How are the farmers of East Peterborough viewing the question of reciprocity?

It may be stated without fear of contradiction, that the farmers of East Peterborough are overwhelmingly in favor of the proposed agreement. Even Conservatives, who, for purely party considerations, are going to stand by Mr. Sexsmith in the present campaign, openly express their belief that the free exchange of natural products with the United States will result in great benefit to the farmers of Ontario, and of Canada, generally.

However, there are some Conservatives, and good ones at that, who are not going to let their party allegiance prevent their supporting a measure proposed in their interests, and the interests of the Canadian public. One of these is Mr. G. A. Brethen of Asphodel. There has never been any uncertainty as to Mr. Brethen's political affiliations—he is a Conservative. He is also a prominent and progressive farmer, who has given the question of reciprocity some considerable study. So thoroughly convinced is he, that free entry of Canadian natural products into the United States will prove of immense value to the Canadian farmers, that he has taken the platform to warn his fellow farmers in East Peterborough of the great mistake they will make if they fail to take advantage of the present opportunity of voting for Mr. Kerr and for larger markets.

Mr. Brethen was at Mr. Kerr's Westwood meeting and spoke as a Conservative farmer. He also spoke at Mr. Kerr's Cottesloe meeting and created a good impression by reason of the common sense manner in which he expressed himself. He no doubt realizes that if eighteen Liberal millionaires can cast party ties aside and come out against the pact because, perhaps, it may smash some food combines in which they are interested, it is time that the farmers of Canada, in whose behalf the relief from taxation is being granted, can cast politics aside for once, and support the measure. A chance such as this does not come every day. Mr. Brethen, although a Conservative, knows that he can vote for his party once, and even twice, every four years but he has achance to vote for reciprocity only once in a life time.

HOW A FARMER FEELS.

East Peterborough is almost exclusively an agricultural riding, and it is not, therefore, surprising that many farmers are disappointed in the manner in which Mr. Sexsmith, by his opposition to the reciprocity agreement, betrays the best interests of his constituents. Although his old leader, Sir. John A. Macdonald, tried time and time again to obtain a measure of reciprocity with the United States in natural products, Mr. Sexsmith in order to meet the political necessities of Mr. Borden, came out flat-footed against the present proposed agreement. There is no doubt that in his heart, Mr. Sexsmith felt just the same as one of his Belmont constituents. The Belmont farmer in question, had attended Mr. Kerr's meeting at Havelock on Saturday night last and after the meeting he chanced to meet the Liberal candidate.

"I am certainly in favor of reciprocity," said the Belmont farmer, who it might be mentioned, is a Conservative, "and I would like to vote for it, but you know I don't like the idea of voting 'Grit'."

Mr. Kerr very appropriately pointed out that Mr. Sexsmith had placed him in that unfortunate position. There was offered a chance for him to obtain reciprocity without having to vote Liberal, if he had any personal objection on that score, but Mr. Borden and Mr. Sexsmith had deprived him of it. They insisted that the matter should be decided by the people, now he could vote for reciprocity and get it. At the next election, if he still felt that he could not vote for a 'Grit' candidate, he could vote accordingly.

The Belmont farmer went home determined to give his vote on September 21st for Mr. Kerr and larger markets.

NEW BOSTON CAFE TO BE OPENED TOMORROW

The new Boston cafe, to be operated in the old China Hall building by Mr. Douros will be thrown open to the public on Thursday, giving Peterborough one of the finest restaurants in Canada. No expense has been spared by Mr. Douros, either in the furnishing or decarating of this fin new cafe, and the manner in which the premises have been transformed will be a revelation to the visitors. The new restaurant is commodious, and bright and the cheery effects has been heightened by the pure white tint of the walls and ceiling and the many mirrors that are used.

In the front of the ground floor there will be a lunch counter similar to that used by Mr. Douros in the old Boston cafe and this will be separated from the other part of the restaurant by curtains and will have a separate entrance. On the other side of the restaurant in front will be dining tables, while the big room at the rear will also contain tables. There will thus be accommodation for a large number of people to dine at the one time. The kitchen is situated on the second floor of the building, entirely away from the restaurant proper. It is the intention of Mr. Douros to instal another dining room in a short time on the second floor, using the front part of the premises for this purpose.

The old Boston cafe has been closed for a couple of days and the new cafe will be ready for Thursday, when there will be a grand opening, with a first class orchestra in attendance.

Mr. Douros, since coming to Peterborough, over ayear ago, has firmly established himself in the restaurant business and his enterprise in opening such a modern, commodious, and in every way suitable establishment, will undoubtedly have its reward. He caters, of course, to the better class of trade and believes in merit in everytuing he handles.

OBITUARY

OBITUARY.

Robert Lawrence.

At the ripe old age of 84 years, Mr. Robert Lawrence passed away at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W. C. Chamberlain, Douro. He was a native of County Cork, Ireland and came to Canada when 11 years of age, in charge of a Mr. Bethune, his grandfather, being a Church of England clergyman. He lived near Baltimore for some years, and married Ellen Ranney, daughter of a Scotch resident of the neighborhood. For years he worked a small farm in Otonabee, but for the last twenty years had practically, retired from active work. He leaves five sons:—John J., Woodstock, Ill.; David, of Douro; Robert, Toronto; Ernie Peterborough; Bertram G., of Smith. One daughter is Mrs. W. E. Chamberlain Douro. He was for many years a faithful member of the Orange Order and respected for his firm adherence to its principles. In private life he was ever genial and friendly, and enjoyed a large circle of friends, especially those whose recollections carried them back to the early days of the county and city.

The funeral will take place to-day at 2 p.m., to the Little Lake cemetery.

LATEST FROM SMITH

Mr. J. D. Fowler, one of our most enterprising and progressive farmers, is having a cement floor placed in his stable under his spacious barn. He has also purchased a manure spreader.

The Rural Route is a great boon to the farmer, as it enables him to get his mail as well as The Times every day.

The recent rains, although somewhat late, have done a great deal of good.

Master Robert Fowler has puchased a new wheel, and he has already become an expert rider.

After a False Start.

"In 1890 I began to drink coffee.

"At that time I was healthy and enjoyed life. At first I noticed no bad effects from the indulgence, but in course of time found that various troubles were coming upon me.

"Palpitation of the heart took unto itself sick and nervous headaches, kidney troubles followed and eventually my stomach became so deranged that even alight meal caused me serious distress.

"Our physician's prescriptions failed to help me and then I dosed myself with patent medicines till I was thoroughly disgusted and hopeless.

"FinaHy I began to suspect that coffee was the cause of my troubles. I experimented by leaving it off,, except for one small cup at breakfast. This helped me some, but did not altogether relieve my distress. It satisfied me, however, that I was on the right track.

"So I gave up coffee altogether and began to use Postum. In ten days I found myself greatly improved, my nerves steady, my head clear, my kidneys working better, my heart's action rapidly improving, my appetite improved and the abihty to eat a hearty meal without subsequent suffering restored to me. And this condition remains.

"Leaving off coffee, and using Postum did this, with no help from drugs, as I abandoned the use of medicines when I began to use the food drink." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL UNITE

A Forward Movement in the Local Churches

That the Presbyterians of the city are very much alive was demonstrated on Monday night in the lecture hall of St. Andrew's church, when the men connected with the Boards and sessions of the three congregations met together and formed a city union which they call a Presbyterian council. It means that St. Paul's, Knox and St. Andrew's churches will work together and plan together in whatever is of intetest to Presbyterianism in Peterborough. The members of the Boards of Managers and sessions entered into the proposition unanimously and all feel it will be a great help and inspiration. They were fully prepared for the closer fellowship the council stands for. Officers were elected and the honor of president falls upon the shoulders of Sheriff Hall of St. Paul's church. Mr. Richard Lees, of St. Andrew's was elected as Vice-President, and Mr. J. W. Buyers, Knox, Secretary-Treasurer.

The first action of the new council was to plan for the visit of the representatives of the General Assembly, who will be in the pulpits of the churches on Sept. 24th. It was decided to follow up their visit with a speedy canvas of every Presbyterian family in the city, that each person may realize his or her obligation to the church. Dr. Grant, Mr. McKay and Mr. Anderson will meet the canvassers on Monday night in St. Andrew's Hall. This conference will be succeeded by a whirlwind campaign lasting only one week during which the elders and managers of each church, will visit every person holding Presbyterian connection. Great results are expected and the men are full of enthusiasm. When a banquet was suggested to celebrate the union and the work, it was decided to work first and eat afterwards. The movement is full of promise and its consumation is one in which the people generally will rejoice.

DO YOU VALUE HEALTH?

REGULATE AND CLEANSE YOUR SYSTEM.

Spring cleaning does not answer the body. The prime element in the maintenance or in the recovery of health is activity of liver, kidneys and skin. Not occasionally but only by weekly stimulation of these functions can poisons, waste matter, and accumulations within the body be drawn out so that the blood and inward parts be purified and kept wholesome. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the mildest laxative medicine known; they purify the blood, fortify the activity of the liver and kidneys, increase the eliminating power of the skin and create a general feeling of well being—the outcome of wholesome conditions within. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a general tonic to the digestive system; they restore functional effectiveness to all the organs of secretion and contribute in this way enormously to the stability of health.

For general family use in all cases of biliousness, bad blood, indigestion and disorders of the stomach, Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any, or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments:

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.

He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.

The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

Can Talk Religion, Too.

THE MAGNIFYING EYES OF THE CAMEL.

A writer in an American magazine says:

One of the camels—the seven were lying just beyond the circle of firelight — rose complaining. Mustafa hamed slipped away upon his dark errand. Presently I heard his guttural voice as he got the camel again to rest. But the beast would not down, and must be beaten — the boy meanwhile mouthing great curses. I wondered that a being so small should withal dare to himself strike a creature like this with his fist, continuing all the time within reach of teeth and heels.

Ahmed had mastered the camel and now came to his place.

'The khawaja has observed,' Mustafa continued, 'that a child may beat and command a camel. It is not because the camel is stupid, nor yet because he is timid: it is because of a wise provision whereby God suits him to the weakness of men. The camel's eyes are like magnifying glasses, and increase the stature of his master seven times; wherefore he is obedient to this gigantic-appearing creature.'

In Bethlehem, too, I heard this superstition.

A Real Bet.

Betting and bluffing are nearly synonomous terms, especially duting the heat of an election contest. The Times referred in yesterday's issue to a bet of $500 aside, in which worthless cheques were put up by the bluffers. Yesterday, however, some real money was staked on the result of the elections in the Dominion. The amount was $25, the real cash being placed in the hands of a stakeholder.

Reporter Wanted.

A bright young man, with a good education, is wanted at The Times office, as reporter.

Mostly Due to Breakdown in Human Machine

All who walk the earth in safety and apparently in a normal condition of health are not physically qualified to be aviators. This is demonstrated by Dr. R. Moulinier who writes as follows

"The rapid ascent to great altitudes exposes the body to conditions different from any terrestral ones. Mountain climbing offers some analogy, but it is different in the fact that the transition from the high atmospheric transition of the sea level to a low pressure takes place much more slowly. The author has reported some interesting observations on the blood pressure of aviators who have ascended to high altitudes. On alighting after ascending to a height of 1200 to 2000 meters the aviator presents cyanosis of the extremities, probably from the low temperature of the high regions of the atmosphere."

This means that the extremities turn a dusky blue color. Often there is congestion of the inner surface of the eyes. The pulse is quickened, but there is no irregularity of the heart's action, nor bleeding from the nose. There is often slight headache and ringing in the ears. Sometimes there is a tendency to sleep, and this may be felt even during flight. Rising to a great height and coming down again always increases th blood pressure, as the writer explains.

Power From Sea Waves.

At the recent meeting of the British Association the question of economical production of power from tides and winds was again under discussion, and it has been taken up widely by scientific journals in Europe. "La Revue Scientifique" calls attention to a system of utilling the power of sea waves to actuate a dynamo which has been employed during the last six months at the mouth of the river Gironde. An air chamber is connected with a well, which communicates with the sea at a depth below the level of the lowest tides. By the advance and recession of the waves changes of pressure are produced in the air chamber, and a system of valves enables the resulting air currents to be applied to rotating a kind of turbine. It is said that the apparatus works equally well in calm and in stormy weather.

A FAMOUS ENGLISH CLOCK.

Terrestial and Celestial Bodies Incorporated in the movements.

Wells cathedral contains one of the most interesting clocks in the whole world. It was constructed by Peter Lightford, a monk, in 1320 and embraces many devices which testify to the ancient horologist's ingenuity. Several celestial and terrestrial bodies are incorporated in the interesting movement and relationship. They indicate the hours of the day, the age of the moon and the position of the planets and the tides. When the clock strikes the hour two companies of horsemen fully armed dash out of gateways in opposite directions and charge vigorously. They strike with their lances as they pass as many times as correspond with the number of the hour. A little distance away, seated on a high perch, is a quaint figure, which kicks the quarters on two bells placed beneath his feet and strikes the hours on a bell. The disk of the clock is divided into twenty-four hours and shows the phases of the moon and a map of the universe.

Sayings Of To-Day — And Yesterday

Too many of us complain of the injustices of this world, forgetting there may be more justice than we require in the next.

Englishmen and Americans are now so friendly they can make fun of each other. All friendship is in a state of unstable equilibrum until that point has been reached.

If we are going to do good to our struggling and tempted neighbors, we must try to be better than they.

There can be sympathetic silence which is also unselfishness. Don't break a person's heart by chatter.

LUMBERMEN ORGANIZE

Consolidate All Coast Manufacturers' Associations- Presidents to Work Out Details.

At a recent meeting of the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association a plan for the consolidation of all the lumber manufacturers' associations of the Pacific coast was ratified. The new organization will be formed from the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association, the Southwestern Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association, and the Oregon and Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association and will be called the West Coast Lumber Manufactures' association. The presidents of the three associations are given to work out the details of the union. As a preliminary step in the uniting of these associations the executive committees of the Pacific coast and the Oregan & Washington associations lately reported that the inspection bureaus had been joined.

LONG ODDS FOR HIM.

J. W. Colt, the horseman, had a jockey who was sick. He told the boy to go to town to a certain doctor for some medicine.

When the jockey got back Colt asked him: "Did you go to that doctor?"

"No, sir. When I got there I found it said, 'Hours, one to two,' on his door."

"Well, what difference did that make?"

"Why, Mr. Colt just across the street there was another doctor that had on his door, 'Hours, twelve to one; and I took the long odds."

House Agent—"Er—what is your husband's profession, madame?"

Client—"He is a physician."

House Agent—"Hum—er—well, I'm afraid truth compels me to admit that the district is not too healthy."

What's a Poor Husband to Do?

Mrs. Wyf—And I can always tell when mine has been drinking by his not kissing me.

a great part in the country; they are found everywhere in great numbers. Open reservoirs were also constructed to collect rain and spring water.

The information supplied by the Old Testament enables us to form only an extremely imperfect conception of the earliest ethnographic condition of the country. The population to the east of the Jordan was already, it is clear, sharply marked off from that to the west. In the latter region dwelt an agricultural people which had already reached no inconsiderable degree of civilization. Closely related to the Phoenicians, they were distinguished as Canaanites from the name of their country, which originally applied to the maritime belt and afterward to the whole cis-Jordan territory. The Amorites were the most powerful tribe; they dwelt in the southern portion of Canaan, as well as more especially in the northern parts of the country east of Jordan. About the others nothing more can be said save that the Perizzites, Hivites, and Girgashites dwelt in the heart of Canaan, and the Jebusites, near Jerusalem. The Philistines occupied the southwest of the country; an Arabian population was settled in the south and southwest. Amalekites and Midianites, and the Kenites, a branch of the latter, early entered into close relationship with the Israelites, and along with them took possession of the extreme south, where, however, they remained nomadic. Of peoples closely akin to the Israelites may be mentioned the Moabites, the Ammonites, and the Edomites.

One of the objects of the movement is the establishment of manufacturing industries in Jerusalem and other cities throughout the Holy Land. Of these there are few, if any, the main source of livelihood being the money left in the country by tourists and pilgrims.

Egypt and Palestine.

Mr. Laster also visited Egypt, which is under British rule. Palestine being a part of Turkey. He found Egypt, on account of its good government, enjoying peace and plenty. To use Mr. Laster's own words, "Peace and freedom, regardless of creed or race, can only be found in those countries over which the British flag flies."

Preparing for the Messiah.

There are in the world about 11,000,000 of Jews, scattered over the whole earth, every one of whom believes that they are the chosen people of God. They also believe that the land of their fathers will be given back to them, and that when this is accomplished the Messiah will come in all His glory, when all things terrestrial will end. This belief is also shared by many Christians or Gentiles, as the Jews term those who believe in our Saviour Jesus Christ. In the Lord's Prayer we are taught "Thy Kingdom come on Earth as it is in Heaven." Therefore, Christians are in effect commanded to assist the Jews in their migration. In this connection Mr. Laster would be pleased to have help in the way of donations to assist in the good work. His address is 16 Rose avenue, Toronto, and he will issue official receipts for same. The Jews, on account of their persecution in Russia, Armenia, Morrocco, and other countries, have to be assisted. These number about five to six millions, and it is the wealthier Jews who are obliged to bear this burden. Therefore, the funds required for the Zionist Movement is an additional burden that overtaxes their strength. It is on this account that they feel that contributions from the Gentiles should be forthcoming.

This Company has been in business scarcely four years, yet for the past three years has paid a yearly dividend of 12 per cent. The common stock originally issued at par now changes hands at 160.

The Prudential Investment Co., Ltd., probably builds more houses than any contractor under the British flag, our houses being shipped to Alberta Saskatchewan and throughout British Columbia.

At the same time the company purchases mortgages and discounts agreements of sale.

This is a splendid opportunity of becoming a shareholder in one of Western Canada's most successful companies, the directors of which are well known representative business men.

THE PRESENT OFFERING IS AT PAR on very favorable terms. These preference shares are a first lien on the assets of the company. You are guaranteed a REGULAR DIVIDEND OF SEVEN PER CENT.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest mone makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows :—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liabilit

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men, who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are :—

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 54c.

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—

At a largely attended mass meeting of the electors on Saturday, I was selected as candidate to contest the representation of the Riding in the House of Commons. I accepted the responsibility of the position and hereby respectfully solicit the favour of your votes and support.

I am well known to you all, for during a representative service of West Peterborough, practically extending over a period of twenty-five years, I have many times come into contact, directly and indirectly, with every elector of the Riding.

In the past I have been honoured with your confidence, and I have earnestly striven to deserve it. In the discharge of my parliamentary and, especially of my representative duties, I have tried to consistently recognize and live up to the fact that I was the representative of the whole people, and in duty bound to serve the interests of all collectively and individually, whether their support had assisted or their opposition had resisted, my election.

I need not refer to my record to specify what I have been privileged to do in the promotion of the material, moral and social welfare of West Peterborough. My work in this regard, be it little or great, is known to you all. You all know whether or not I have been a faithful servant of the people, whether the Riding is better, and in what respects, from my having been your representative.

I need not be at much pains to define my position in this contest. Everybody knows where I stand—where I am to be found. Such as I have been in the endeavour to advance your interests, I still am, and shall continue to be, if you honour me with re-election.

Apart from the consideration of local—city and county—interests, the national question chiefly involved in this contest is "Reciprocity," or free mutual exchange of natural, mainly farm, products, with the United States. I believe that reciprocity of this kind will be of benefit to the farmers of the country, and through their prosperity to all other interests—manufacturing, financial and commercial, as well as to those of the mechanic and workingman

The round of benefit is natural. Good crops and good markets mean money for the farmer, which spent with the merchants of all kinds, means increased orders for the manufacturer and increased employment to their workmen. Thus, Reciprocity, by affording wider and better markets, promises to be a benefit to the whole country and an injury to no class or interest ; and is worth trying, especially as the agreement, not being a treaty, can, if unsatisfactory, be cancelled on reasonable notice.

If I thought for a moment that it would hurt any important interest, especially the manufacturing interest, I would oppose it. I am neither an extreme free trader, nor an extreme protectionist. I believe in a reasonable amount of both. High tariff in the United States has lost to Canada ninety million dollars in barley alone. The British Preference as it affects our manufacturers goes as far as desirable in the direction of free trade and I am opposed to, and will oppose, any increase of it. I myself am a manufacturer or interested in manufactures, in a modest way, but, at the same time, to an extent, important to myself and my associates, and I feel that our industries and working men could not stand a keen manufacturing competition of either Britain or the United States.

In this regard, I am in accord with the assurance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking for the Government, when he gave his pledge, "WE HAVE NOT HURT THE MANUFACTURERS AND WILL NOT HURT THEM," and I applaud the stand of Mr. Fielding in negotiating the Reciprocity Agreement, in refusing to even discuss reciprocity in manufactured articles with the United States.

If you approve, gentlemen, of what I consider the reasonable stand I take in relation to national interests ; if you believe, judging from my past record of service to the Riding, that I have the business capacity, the business and parliamentary experience to continue to give you good service, and justify the confidence I now ask you to again place in me, I presume to claim your support.

This is probably the last appeal I shall make to you ; for I think I have done my share of service to this Riding and have thereby earned the opportunity to give the necessary attention to my private affairs. I should have persisted in my desire to be relieved had I not felt in duty bound to defer to the earnest solicitation of the friends who have stood by me in the past, and also of a great many of my former opponents, and consented to be a candidate.

Another reason that influenced my acceptance, was, that being of a business turn, I naturally desired to complete work I have initiated, and for which I am in some degree, if the opportunity is given me, responsible. I should like to see the completion of the large new docks for the City of Peterborough ; of the retaining wall on our river front in Peterboroubh ; also a new concrete dam at Nassau erected, and a Rifle Range provided for this important military centre.

Trusting that I may be favoured with your effective support, I have the honour to remain, gentlemen, as I have been for the past twenty-five years,

Your Obedient Servant,

D. R. Stratton

SERVANT PROBLEM.

It Has Been Solved in Berlin—Work For 66 a Month.

The eternal domestic servant problem seems to be nearing a solution in Berlin, and it is a very simple one—namely, the substitution of men for women.

Of recent years a vast increase in the immigration from the country to the city has taken place, with the result that a capable man servant can now be hired for from between $5 and $10 a month with board.

The Berlin hausfrau testifies that the new servant is infinitely superior to the old, besides leanding a social glory to the household, as hitherto men servants have been employed almost solely by the noble and aristocratic or very wealthy families. Experience shows that they can do and do as well or better all that the woman servant does—dusting, cleaning, brushing, attending at table, even cooking; in short, everything except washing and ironing, against which the manly soul revolts.

They are far more easily satisfied, far more obliging and far less capricious, and their sense of duty is illustrated by the fact that they will actually clean and put away the silver and china before they go to bed. They are a source of economy, too, for when in their charge china cups and saucers do not acquire the habit of automatically sliding off the salvor to the ground, or valuable vases and ornaments that of suddenly jumping from their places in the dead watches of the night and being smashed.

Nor does this exhaust the list of their superior qualities, for they rarely give notice in a fit of temper and more readily become attached to their employers. Still, no man is perfect, and the master where a man servant is employed must be prepared for a mysterious fading away of color in his whisky and a high rate of mortality among his cigars.

BALANCE THE WRONG WAY

United States Exports of Manufactures.

An examination of the trade statistics of the United States throws an interesting side light upon the country's present overtures for Reciprocity with us. For the nine months ending September, 1910, their exports of domestic merchandise of every kind were $1,193,321,512, of which $210,490,966 were manufactures for further use in manufacturing, and $401,684,694 were manufactures ready for consumption. The sum of these two, $612,625,660, accounts for 51 per cent. of all of their exports put together.§ But this is not crediting the exports of manufactures with a class known as "foodstuffs, partly manufactured," which are valued at $180,159,193. If we regard this also as legitimately forming a part of the exports of manufactured goods, it means that of every thing the United States exported for the nine months ending September last, manufactured goods amounted to over 66 per cent.

GLADSTONE'S FAVORITE GRANDCHILD

"It is Vain for You to Rise Up Early."

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Dorothy Drew to Lieutenant Parish, one of Lord Gladstone's A.D.C.'s, recalls the fact that Miss Drew was the favorite grandchild and companion of the late Mr. W. E. Gladstone. She has been the subject of many pretty stories, one being to the effect that she once nonplussed the G.O.M. on a Biblical subject. The famous statesman was trying to induce her to get up earlier. "Why don't you get up, my child?" he asked. "Why, grandpa," reclined Miss Dorothy, "didn't you tell me to do what the Bible says?" "Yes, certainly," said Mr Gladstone. The little girl then proudly opened her Bible at Psalm cxxvii. and read the second verse: "It is vain for you to rise up early."

RICARDO'S REPLY.

Professor Nichols, a famous physicist, during the recitation of a freshmen class in natural philosophy, observed a tall, lanky youth in the rear seat, his head in a recumbent position, his body in a languid pose, his eyes half closed, and his legs outstretched far out. He was either asleep or about to lose consciousness.

"Mr. Ricardo," said the great scientist, "you may recite."

The freshman opened his eyes but he did not change his somnolent pose.

"Mr. Ricardo, what is work?"

"Everything is work." was the drawling reply.

"What! Everything is work?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I take it you would like the class to believe that this desk is work?"

"Yes, sir," replied the youth, wearily; "wood-work."

French Language Used in England.

Though we are in the twentieth century the Norman French of Edward the Confessor is still, in a way, the legal voice of Parliament. Whenever a Bill has passed the British Commons, the Clerk, before he forwards it to the House of Lords, writes upon it according to ancient usage: "Soit baillé aux Seigneurs" (Let it be sent to the Lords). If it is sent from the Peers to the Commons, it bears the like endorsement: "Soit baille aux Communes" (Let it be sent to the Commons).

One Way.

"How did you get your husband out to that musicale last night?"

"Told him there was going to be a lunch afterward."

A Lesson in Politeness.

A pretty story about the delicate wit of Mrs. Taft has recently amused Washington society.

Mrs. Taft, at a diplomatic dinner, had for neighbour a distinguished French traveller, who boasted a little tiredly of his nation's politeness. "We French," the traveller declared, "are the politest people in the world. Everybody acknowledges it. You Americans are a remarkable nation, but the French excel you in politeness. You admit it yourself, don't you?"

Mrs. Taft smiled delicately.

"Yes," she said. "That is our politeness."

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

Mr. H. B. AMES

Born in Montreal of American parents in 1843, few Canadians have shown a stronger desire to preserve this great Dominion as a self-governing nation within the British Empire, than Herbert Brown Ames, B.A., M.P.

Mr. Ames was first elected to the House of Commons as member for the St. Antoine division of his native city in 1906 and was re-elected at the general election of 1908. He had previously won distinction as a member of the Montreal City Council, bringing to bear on the duties of that office a spirit of enterprise and sense of public duty, combined with wisdom and foresight which have been distinguishing features of his career. Elected an alderman in 1898 he did not relinquish the office till his nomination to Parliament in 1904. As member of the Council of Public Instruction for the Province of Quebec, an office he has held for a number of years, Mr. Ames has been a distinct success, and his opinion and advice on Educational matters are eagerly sought.

In politics he is a Conservative and though born of American parents and educated in the United States, he is a powerful and unceasing advocate of keeping Canada Canadian in the broadest and best sense of the term. In the world of commerce he is best known as a director of the well known Ames-Holden Company, Limited, shoe manufacturers etc. of Montreal.

Mr. P. D. ROSS.

A name which has been prominent in Canadian journalism for many years is that of Mr. Philip Dansken Ross, B.A., better known as P. D. Ross, proprietor of the Ottawa Journal. Born of Scotch parentage in Montreal in 1858, Mr. Ross graduated from McGill University and entered the journalistic field in 1879. In 1882, when only twenty-four years of age he became assistant editor of the Toronto 'News'. Three years later we find him back in his native city as managing editor of the Montreal 'Star'.

It was at this time that Mr. Ross turned his thoughts towards the then small but rapidly progressing capital city of Canada and the following year saw the establishment of the paper which has since acquired such prosperity and influence. Mr. Ross has seen Ottawa grow from a small town to a great and wealthy city occupying an enviable place amongst the big centres of industrial activity and progress in the country. With the growth of the city his newspaper has grown, steadily and uninterruptedly, and today the voice of the Ottawa 'Journal' is heard and respected in the highest councils of the land. Mr. Ross spent a year in the City Council of Ottawa and for a much longer period has held office in the City's Board of Trade. He has also found time to engage in politics and sport and has been president of the Ottawa Conservative Association and the Royal Canadian Golf Club.

"Did your husband bring home any fish?"

"No," replied young Mrs. Torkins, "I understand Charley had had luck on this trip. He got into a game of cards and lost the money he took with him to buy fish."

Sumptuary Laws of Capetown.

Capetown once lived under so severe a code of sumptuary laws that anything like display was restricted to the Governor and his immediate circle. Thus runs Article VI. of the Dutch laws against luxury and ostentation: 'No one less in rank than a junior merchant and those among the citizens of equal rank and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas.' In practice this restricted the permission and use of umbrellas to about fifty persons in Capetown.

'SHE BURNS GREEN'.

How the Phrase Came to Be a Classic Yell Among Prospectors.

Although the prospector is generally supposed to be associated with the search for precious metal his attention is by no means confined to that. A writer in the Los Angeles 'Times' tells of a group of valuable claims in the Silver Mountain mining district, which includes the whole of Black Mountain.

It was long considered worthless until an up-to-date prospector recognized it as 'cement rock', the principal ingredient from which Portland cement is made.

Another example is furnished by the discovery of borax in Death Valley, one of the most valuable strikes ever made in California. The discoverer, Aaron Winters, was at that time living in a lonely little shack on the Amargow flats at the south end of the valley.

Thither, attracted by the light, came one night a vagrant prospector from Nevada. He had with him a sample of borax brought from a small deposit across the border. This Winters instantly recognized as being the same curious stuff which he had seen lying in great beds in Death Valley, but of which he had never known the name.

Adroitly questioned the wanderer explained to Winters the simple but little known test for borax. No sooner was their visitor safely gone than Winters and his wife, carrying food and water, a pick, a saucer and a bottle of alcohol, set out on foot northward into the valley. At night fall the next day they arrived at the first of the strange beds.

Without even waiting to moisten his parched throat Winters fell upon it with pick and bare hands till a little of the surface crust was removed. He scraped up a handful of the loose stuff, piled it in the saucer, moistened it with alcohol and struck a match. An instant later he hurled his hat in one direction, his pick in another, and seizing his wife, waltzed that astonished lady round the strange, flickering flame, whooping: 'She burns green, Rosie! She burns green!'

Winters realized a fortune from his discovery. Even to-day the man of the valley, lighting upon something new heralds his find with the classic yell, 'She burns green!'

Long Speeches.

M. Jaures is not at all pleased with the proposal before the French Chamber to limit the duration of speeches to ten minutes. All that really need be said on most matters could, if the speaker clearly grasped his subject, be spoken in ten minutes, but probably the Socialist leader is jealous of the latitude recently allowed the Austrian Deputy Kotlorsch, who spoke for three hours. But his record is beaten by an instance in England, when an opponent of O'Connell obstructed one of his bills by speaking for eight hours. Senator Summer at the time of the American war of secession, delivered an oration lasting eleven hours. At the Assembly at Bordeaux in 1871 the Mayor of Strassburg brought about his death from the exhaustion followed upon his speech.

THE LATE KING OF SIAM

The late King of Siam, whose full title was Somdet-Phra-Paramindmaha Chula - Longkorn-Chula - Chom-Klao, was one of the eighty-four sons of Maha-Morgkut. He had completed the fifty-eighth year of his life and the forty-third of his reign, the longest in the history of the nation. He was considered one of the broadest minded and most cultivated rulers of the far East. Under the tuition of an English governess in the royal household he learned to speak English and French perfectly. He instituted numerous reforms in his Government, abolished slavery, lowered the taxes, opened up canals for irrigation and transportation, instituted a superb system of highways for the development of commerce, built telegraphs and hospitals, guaranteed religious liberty, reorganised the army and built a navy of twenty vessels. Though Siam is an autocracy, the king was democratic in his spirit and gathered about him a Cabinet Council of six royal princes and thirteen ministers of state.

If I Should Die To-night.

(Revised Version.)

If I should die to-night
And should you come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night
And you should come in deepest grief and woe
And say, "Here's that ten dollars that I owe"—
I might arise in my large white cravat
And say, "What's that?"
If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel.
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die to-night,
And you should come to me and there and then
Just even hint 'bout payin' me that ten
I might arise the while;
But I'd drop dead again.

Free Fare, Little Salary.

In some foreign countries a liberal allowance in the way of travelling expenses makes a meagre salary a respectable one. In Italy, for instance, the journalist, with barely one or two exceptions, works for a salary which we pampered ones in Canada would laugh at. But he has his compensations. He—and not only himself, but his wife and family, too—travels free on all the railways, whether the journey is on business or not. If he wishes to go to the theatre, and to take his friends, he has only to ask, and the requisite box or stalls are at his disposal—and that, however humble his professional rank may be. On the whole, the Canadian journalist prefers not to be paid in this kind.

$25 REWARD

It having come to my ears that certain statements have been circulated throughout the riding that I have paid money corruptly for electoral or other purposes, at any time, I hereby offer the above reward for information leading to the conviction of any person making or circulating such a statement.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been 39 years in Parliaments. He first entered the Quebec Legislature in 1871, being returned from the constituency of Arthabasca. He was there re-elected in 1874. Three years later he entered the Cabinet, with the Portfolio of Inland Revenue, but was defeated by a small majority, upon presenting himself for re-election. Quebec East then returned him. This constituency has been Sir Wilfrid's ever since.

Upon the successive retirements of Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Edward Blake, in 1887, our present Premier, became leader of the Liberal and then Opposition Party. When it came into power in 1896, he naturally became Prime Minister, which position he has so honorably held for such a long period.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was born on Nov. 20 at St. Lin in the county of Assomption. Here his father practiced his profession of land surveyer. His mother's maiden name was Marcelle Martineau. Sir Wilfrid being the only child. She died soon after his birth. In 1868 the Premier was married to Miss Zoe Lafontaine of Montreal.

As a man is the product of his education, let us consider what has aided in producing Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The motherless boy attended school in his native parish till the age of twelve. He was then sent to the Protestant School at New Glasgow for a year. Here he imbibed the first draughts of his splendid broadmindedness. From this school he went to L'Assomption College, remaining seven years. In 1861 he matriculated into McGill and graduated in law, being the valedictorian of his class.

No man in Canadian public life has received more attention at the hands of political calumniators. In forty years, however, no opponent has been so base as to utter a slander which touched his personal honor, the purity of his private life, or the righteousness of his character.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

CANADIANS AND THE STAGE.

Since the Governor-General instituted dramatic and musical competitions in this country, culture of the two great arts has made great strides and there is no doubt but that in the near future stars will arise to do credit to Canada, but our great actress, Margaret Anglin, was born before the days of inducement. This great exponent of the drama was born in that centre of political strife—the House of Commons—when her father was speaker in 1876. After a good education in Toronto and Montreal she entered the School of Dramatic Acting, of New York, making her professional debut at the early age of eighteen. Since then she has had many triumphs taking leading parts with E. H. Southern, Richard Mansfield and Henry Miller.

Important to Ladies.

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Doreswend of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments reserved at the Hotel.

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face, and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at Hotel Orient al, on Friday and Saturday, September 15th and 16th.

Junk Dealer Acquitted.

John Doig was acquitted in police court yesterday morning, of having received 400 lbs. of stolen copper wire. It seems that 1000 pounds of wire were stolen from the C.G.E., and the police in searching found 400 bought it from Doig. Mr. Doig said dealers named Florence, who said he bought from Doig. Mr. Doig said that he bought it without knowing that it was stolen. As the boys stated this morning that they had received permission from the line men to take it, he was evidently innocent and was acquitted.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 21 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13 1911 PRICE TWO CENT

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Horse Distemper

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly Declares Nerviline Is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanston, who lives near Wellington, P. E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I NERVILINE CURES QUICKLY tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic distemper, coughs and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottle 25c., five for $1.00, at all dealers, or The Catarrh-Co., Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Walter Fitzgerald, of this city, received word of the death of his uncle, Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, of Lakefield, which occurred in the west. Mr. Fitzgerald was well known here and in Lakefield. A Broken Leg.

Mr. Henry Neitfincutt, who resides in the vicinity of Frazerville, was brought to the city yesterday with his right leg broken. He was taken to the Nicholls Hospital in the Dan Spence ambulance, where the bone was set. It appears that he was feeding a colt, which kicked him, on the leg fracturing the bone.

After Local Option Beer.

Inspector Stewart is evidently suspicious that the beer which is being sold in the temperance hotels of the city contains a larger percentage of alcohol than the law allows. On Monday last he demanded and secured a bottle of O'Keefe's Star Beer, which was consigned to a local dealer, and had it sent to Toronto for analysis. The fact that this beverage is made by one of the most reputable firms in Canada, and has their guarantee that it is not intoxicating should be pretty nearly sufficient.

Fell Off His Load.

Yesterday morning while driving a load along Charlotte street, near the railway crossing, the wagon gave a lurch, throwing the driver off the load, head-first, the front wheel passing over both his legs. He managed to recover himself sufficiently to get clear of the back wheels. A couple of lady nurses happened to see the accident, and at once gallantly hastened to the man's assistance and slitting his pants with aknife, they found that no bones were broken. Although painfully injured he was able to mount his load and proceed. The young ladies referred to deserve much credit for their timely and kindly help.

Our Agricultural Editor Busy.

The Times is in receipt of a complimentary pass to the West Durham Exhibition, which will take place on September 19 and 20, at Bowmanville. We fear the Agricultural Editor of this great family journal will be so busily engaged with election matters just about that time that he will not be able to get away. We, however, take the liberty of suggesting that the promotors of the fair could induce the editors of our two local contemporaries to attend, it might be regarded as not a bad thing for the long-suffering public who are obliged to follow their peculiar political eccentricities. All the same, we thank the West Durham Fair Directors for their courtesy.

How The Consumer Loses

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you let me ask the intelligent farmer a few questions?

1. Doesn't it seem ridiculous that an agreement should be made between the United States and Canada by which a train load of agricultural products from Canada going to United States will pass a train of United States products going into Canada? Wouldn't it be far better for the American farmer to have his own market and the Canadian farmer his own market, and thus save freightage to the consumer who would be able to get his goods just so much cheaper?

2. If the advantage is to the Canadian exporter of agricultural products to the United States because the United States needs our products, how can it be of advantage to the United States to ship the sort of products that they need out of their own country to Canada? Wouldn't such procedure be more like the acts of lunatics than of statesmen and business men?

3. The consumer in both countries will have to pay freightage in addition to what they pay now, which will be a serious addition to their burdens.

4. If Reciprocity meant that one country would send agricultural products in exchange for another sort of products from the other country we would understand such reciprocity, but reciprocity in the same sort of products is foolishness and expensive foolishness as well. Yours truly,

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

CHINA FACES GRAVE CRISIS CHENG-TU UNDER SIEGE

DESPATCHES INDICATE THAT UPRISING IN WEST CHINA IS SPREADING TO OTHER PROVINCES.

Rioters are Attacking the City of Cheng-Tu at Four Points—Rising Against Central Power.

London, Sept. 13.—A news despatch received here to-day from Tsu-Chau says that the Prefect of Police there has attempted to communicate with Chengtu by messengers, but that the latter were unable to get through the lines of rioters, who were attacking the city at four points. Troops the despatch adds, line the walls of Chengtu defending the city.

Tsu-Chau is 75 miles, southeast of Chengtu, the capital of the Province of Sze-Chuan, in which district a rebellion has occurred, and Tsu-Chau is nearer the capital than any other point from which news of the rebellion has been sent to the outside world since September 9th. It is about half-way between Chengtu and Sui-Fu, where the British refugees were reported as having arrived safely.

DESPATCH FROM CONSUL.

This afternoon the Foreign Office received official advices from the British Consul at Chengtu despatched under date of Sept. 9th. They state that there was fighting within the walls of Chengtu on Sept. 7th, when some persons were killed and others wounded, both among the populace and the soldiers, who engaged each other in the streets. The rebels were easily repulsed and the gates of the city were closed. The business shops were shut up.

On the following day roughs from the suburbs attacked the city gates, but were driven back.

The advices add that the British and American residents of Chengtu, who did not leave the city on Sept. 7th, still remained in the capital when the despatch was sent, as the Governor-General refused to permit them to leave on September 8th owing to the presence of the rabble outside the walls. The French missionaries had decided to remain in the city. The mail service to and from Chengtu has been interrupted.

CRISIS IN CHINA.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 13.—In the opinion of students of Oriental affairs China is rapidly approaching a great crisis in her history. The uprising in Sze Chuan Province is expected to extend to other neighboring Provinces and especially to the southward, where the Mongolian element has for years been opposed to the reigning Manchu dynasty. Evidently prepared for trouble, Chinese Government has been quick to despatch troops into the disaffected district and to deal with the situation with a strong hand. It is believed here that the Government will be able to suppress the present disturbance through the unforseen disastrous flooding of the Yang Tse Valley is expected to drive thousands of the unfortunate natives whose means of support have been destroyed into the ranks of the revolutioners.

But it is believed that the Sze Chuen uprising is only the precursor of other outbreaks in different parts of the Flowery Kingdom, for the fact is that the struggle now going on is really a gigantic test of the relative Government as opposed to the Provincial Governments; in other words, the situation resembles the great feudal wars of Europe in the middle ages. Japan also had to pass through a same ordeal before the Emperor was able to break the power of his mutinous barons and it is believed that the Chinese Government will now be put to the same test.

While the sympathy of Occidental nations must remain with the Chinese Central Government, there can be no interference in this great internal strife, and the activities of other nations, at least for the present, must be confined to the protection of their own citizens resident in China.

GOOD NEWS FROM CHINA

Toronto, Sept. 13.—A cablegram received this morning by the Methodist Mission Rooms from Chung King China, says: "Everything decidedly more hopeful."

Definite news regarding the Methodist Missionary refugees to Cheng King, Szechuan, Western China, has not yet been received, but the above reassuring cablegram made local friends feel easier.

"I cabled them in Chung King to send me the list of Methodist refugees entering Chung King every day" said Dr. Shore. "This they have not yet done, therefore no refugees have yet entered that city, but there is every reason to believe that none of them have been molested. The uprising in the Szechuan Hinterland is purely civil in its nature."

EDITOR PLEADS JUSTIFICATION

Vankleek Hill, Ont., Sept. 13.—The trial of Mr. H. G. Jones, editor of The Review, of this town, on the charge of criminally libelling Judge Constantineau, of this county, is set down for hearing at L'Orignal next Tuesday. Editor Jones will plead justification in the public interest. He will be defended by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., of Toronto. Justice Latchford will be the presiding judge.

CHINA BUILDING BATTLESHIPS

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13.—A Pekin despatch says that the Ministry of Marine has drawn up its programme which will give China at the end of seven years a fleet of eight battleships, twenty cruisers, ten smaller vessels, and fifty torpedo boats and destroyers. It also provides for four naval arsenals.

HUBBY WILL NOT SEEK WIFE WHO RAN AWAY.

Bride of a Young Millionaire is Said to Have Eloped With a Plumbers Son.

New York, Sept. 13.—Frederick Lispenard Suydam, Jr., the young millionaire of Blue Point, L.I., whose young wife is reported to have ran away with Frederick Noble, son of a plumber, says that his wife was very impulsive and temperamental, and he does not intend to make any effort to find her.

Suydam has not heard from his wife since a week ago, when Mrs. Suydam disappeared on the day that Noble left Blue Point on an earlier train.

FRANCE SUBMITS REPLY TO GERMANY'S COUNTER PROPOSALS

DEMANDS FREE HAND POLITICALLY IN MOROCCO—PRESIDENT APPROVES.

INSISTS THAT FRANCE SHALL HAVE FREE HAND

Latest Note to Germany Emphasizes the Necessity of Maintaining the Open Door in That Country.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. de Selves, went to Rambouillet to-day to submit to President Fallieres, the French reply to Germany's counter proposals looking to a settlement of the Moroccan dispute.

This reply was agreed upon by the Cabinet yesterday, after a draft had been submitted to his colleagues by the Foreign Minister, and the situation raised thereby discussed by the Ministers for three hours.

An effort will be made to so conclude the matter that the French note may be forwarded to M. Cambon the French Ambassador at Berlin, to-day or not later than to-morrow.

It is understood that as anticipated the latest French expression emphasizes the necessity of maintaining the commercial equality of all in Morocco and insists that France shall have a free hand politically in that country.

PRESIDENT APPROVES.

Rambouillet, France, Sept. 13. President Fallieres to-day gave his formal sanction to the French reply to the latest note from Germany regarding Morocco. Foreign Minister de Selves, after submitting the document, hastened by motor car to Paris and if the reply can be transcribed in time, a courier will leave with it for Berlin to-night, otherwise the note will go forward in the morning.

CLOTHES CAUGHT FIRE LADY FATALLY BURNED

The Montreal Star of the 11th inst. contains particulars of the death of Mrs. W. J. Holliday, of that city, which took place in the Royal Victoria Hospital, after having been terribly burned in her own kitchen by having her clothes catch fire.

Only about three weeks ago, Mrs. Holliday, with her husband and infant child, spent a week visiting friends in Peterborough. During their stay here they made a host of friends, who will exceedingly regret to hear of her sad death.

It appears that on Saturday last, Mrs. Holliday with her baby, only a year and a half old, was alone in her house and was heating a mixture of wax and turpentine on the gas stove. The vessel overflowed and caught on fire. In trying to right it, Mrs. Holliday's clothing was set on fire. Her screams brought a neighbor who met her at the front door enveloped in flames. Another neighbor ran up and smothered the flames with a blanket and sent for the ambulance. While the injured lady was lying on the doorstep awaiting the arrival of the ambulance, her chief thought was of her baby, and when aneighbor carried out the child a happy smile lit up her face. A passing motorist went for her husband at the Fairmount Y.M.C.A., where he is secretary. She was 27 years of age, and had been married three years. Besides her husband and baby, and parents three brothers and three sisters survive her.

Rev. J. G. Potter, formerly pastor of St. Andrew's church, city, now of the MacNicar church, Montreal, to which Mrs. Holliday belonged, told of the sad accident at his service on Sunday morning, and at the session meeting a resolution of sympathy for the family was passed.

Mrs. J. John, Rubidge street, attended the funeral which took place yesterday from the deceased's former home, at Cushing, Que.

Dinkey, and was shot, following a fight between the members of the crew, some of whom, including Gierses, had come aboard while drunk.

HER TWENTY-FOURTH CHILD

Quebec, Sept. 13.—Mrs. J. B. Michaud, of Levis, gave birth yesterday to her 24th child. Five of her children are living.

OBITUARY

At an early hour this morning the death occurred of an old and esteemed lady of this city, in the person of Mrs. William Dawson, at the family residence on Concession street.

The deceased lady was about 80 years of age and had endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance by her kindly disposition, being ever ready to lend a helping hand to the needy and those in distress.

The late Mrs. Dawson had resided in this city for a number of years. She leaves to mourn her demise, besides her husband, a family of three sons and four daughters, namely:—William and Hilliard, of Moosejaw, and T. G. of Chicago, who is at present in the city. The daughters are: Mrs. F. Thompson, Mrs. J. Henthorn, Mrs. W. S. Robinson and Mrs. Harry Gibbs.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, and will be announced later.

Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation and Prevented Sleep. When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveller of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the travelling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4890

For general household use Nerviline has no equal; it will cure the aches and ailments of the entire family—refuse anything but Nerviline, 25c per bottle, five for $1.00, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

TEN DEGREES OF FROST IN WESTERN PROVINCES

Toronto, September 13.—Warmer weather is about to arrive in Southern Ontario. It has been very warm in Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan, where temperatures of over 80 degrees were reported yesterday. In Northern Ontario and Eastern Manitoba from 6 to 10 degrees of frost was experienced last night. The lowest temperature in Toronto last night was 44 degrees, and the high pressure area over the Great Lakes was responsible for that drop.

PROHIBITION WON—THE VOTE IS VERY CLOSE

Portland, Me., Sept. 13.—Revised returns on the question of the repeal of constitutional prohibition, this morning reduced the majority against repeal to 295. The total vote stood:
For repeal, 60,216.
Against repeal, 60,511.

Complete returns from every one of the 521 cities, towns and plantations in the State indicated at 11 o'clock last night that the "drys" have been successful in their efforts to retain the prohibitory amendment in the constitution.

London, Sept. 13.—An interesting report current is that Prince Arthur of Connaught, son of the Duke of Connaught, the newly-commissioned Governor-General of Canada, is engaged to marry Princess Irene, daughter of the Grand Duchess Xenia-Alexandrovna, who is a sister of Nicholas of Russia. It is stated that the formal announcement of the betrothal will be made before the Connaughts sail for Canada.

NOT FAIR WARFARE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A letter appeared in The Review on Tuesday signed "C. F.", which is neither fair or right. This species of political warfare is not at all creditable. Both the Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. R. H. Leary can afford to treat the matter with silent contempt. I can assure you, Sir, that this letter has cost the Conservative party one vote at least.

Fair Play.

MUST NOT SHOOT DEER.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I see that an order in council has been passed prohibiting the killing of deer in Simcoe County for three years. This might well be extended to include Peterborough, Victoria, Hastings and Haliburton Counties. A three years' period would rejuvenate the forests with deer, which are now nearly all killed off.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, I am, &c

ERUPTIONS OF MOUNT ETNA ASSUMES DISASTROUS ASPECT.

People are Terrified—Property Scattered Over 400 Miles of Thickly Settled Country is Threatened.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 13.—The eruption of Mount Etna is assuming the proportions of a real disaster. The lava stream whose path crosses the railway line circling the volcano is approaching the railway stations to the north and especially threatening the deposit at Molo and Alcantara which were abandoned to-day.

Squads of laborers were at work to-day taking up the railroad tracks and removing all transportable material to places of safety with the idea of minimizing the losses.

The entire crest of Mount Etna appears to be in a state of ebullition.

LAVA FLOWS EIGHT MILES.

This afternoon it was reported that a total of 79 new fissures had opened the volcano, since the disturbance began. The river of lava which is moving slowly northward has increased in volume and extended eight miles from its source. It is carrying destruction through the invaded districts and already the houses of several peasants have been overwhelmed.

Prick of a Pin Caused Death.

New York, Sept. 13.—Joseph Hopkins died to-day at a Long Island City Hospital from the prick of a pin While he was working several weeks ago a barrel which he was carrying forced into his leg the point of a pin which he had pinned together a roll of hills in his pocket. Blood poisoning ensued.

A FIERCE MAN-HUNT WITH AID OF BLOODHOUNDS

Snowflake, Man., Sept. 13.—A fierce man-hunt and deadly skirmish resembling Indian warfare has been under way for the past twenty four hours, ten miles between here and the United States border. This sensational situation is the climax of the kidnapping of a pretty young school teacher, Eleanor Gladys Price by a desperado believed to be Henry Bill Wilson, alias Bill Miner, of Hannah, N.D.

All during the night a force of 300 pursued the fugitive through the hush and many shots were exchanged.

At sunrise he was surrounded in a dense wood. Bloodhounds picked up the trail five miles from the school house where the rascal captured the girl Monday afternoon. She returned home in a frightened condition last night.

The populace is in an infuriated state and the score of constables directing the pursuit will be unable to protect the man if he is captured. The United States officials just over the line have sent a posse into Canada from the south.

ANGLICANS CONDEMN NE TEMERE DECREE

London, Ont., Sept. 13.—The Ne Temere decree of the Roman Catholic Church was discussed again yesterday by the General Synod of the Anglican Church, which accepted the resolution of Hon. S. H. Blake to have the entire matter referred to a committee of the two houses, which would be empowered to recommend legislation.

Among those who supported the motion was Canon Kittson of Ottawa, who had been baptized in the Roman Catholic Church. He claimed that the attitude of that church was that his marriage could be annulled.

Rev. Dr. Paterson-Smyth, of Montreal, said they were experiencing great trouble in his city, and they were on the rampage.

The only champion of the decree was Mr. L. H. Baldwin of Deer Park, who advocated a thorough consideration before doing anything that might act as a boomerang upon themselves, reminding the Synod that the Church of England refused to recognize as valid the marriage of divorced persons, which the civil law permitted. "If this is a land of religious liberty," he said, "the Roman Catholic Church ought to have the right of regulating the sacrament of marriage for her communicants. An entirely wrong application has been given to the ne temere decree on account of our hatred of the Roman Catholic Church. Let us remove first the beams out of our own eyes." That Mr. Baldwin was alone in his views was evident from the cries of "No" which greeted his remarks.

Mr. Blake closed the debate, saying he loved Roman Catholics, but detested "the system."

Another ne temere resolution offered by Hon. S. H. Blake was adopted It asked that all contested marriages be referred to the Court of Exchequer There was no discussion.

The next Triennial session of the General Synod will be held at Vancouver the second week in September 1914.

GUARDING AGAINST CHOLERA.

London, Sept. 13.—The prevalence of cholera in certain continental countries has caused increased precautions to be taken by the British port authorities. Extraordinary vigilance is being exercised regarding the possible arrival of passengers from any infected areas.

In many towns and villages of England due to a season of prolonged drought water is entirely absent, and supplies thereof are being taken around in carts to the inhabitants.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA:

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.
He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.
The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

THE MAGNIFYING EYES OF THE CAMEL.

A writer in an American magazine says:
One of the camels—the seven were lying just beyond the circle of firelight — rose complaining. Mustafa's Ahmed slipped away upon his duty. Presently I heard his guttural cawing to get the camel again to rest; but the beast would not down, and must be beaten — the boy meanwhile mouthing great curses. I wondered that a being so small should without peril to himself strike a creature like this with his fist, continuing all the time within reach of teeth and hoofs.
'I will tell the khawaja,' replied Mustafa, 'a most curious and interesting thing about this.'
Ahmed had mastered the camel and now came to his place.
'The khawaja has observed,' Mustafa continued, 'that a child may beat and command a camel. It is not because the camel is stupid, nor yet because he is timid: it is because of a wise provision whereby God suited him to the weakness of man. The camel's eyes are like magnifying glasses, and increase the stature of his master seven times; wherefore he is obedient to this gigantic-appearing creature.'
In Damascus, too, I heard this superstition.

GERMANY WILL BE SURPRISED

The Temps regrets the "optimism by the Command" shown in the important German newspapers in order to quiet the financial excitement, saying that it is imprudent, and adding that realities of the situation will, consequently, come to public knowledge as an unhappy surprise.

WANT STREET CAR LINE.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir,—I want to register a great big vigorous kick against the treatment which East City is receiving at the hands of the Council. I refer to the fact that we are without any street car accommodation whatevere. Many people harp and talk about building a line to Chemong and to Lakefield, forgetting that East City has to go without.
I call on Ald. Morgan, who is always alert to the requirements of this portion of the city, to urge this matter on the council so that they may force the street railway to take early action.

Both Alarmed.

Louis Agassiz, the naturalist, spent the evening of the day he was married in his laboratory as usual. He retired after his newly-found wife was in the realm of dreams, bringing to his bedroom two very choice specimens of the snake family which he had been studying, and was still engrossed in. Forced to part with them for the night, he looked about for a suitable place to leave them, and finally laid hold of his wife's stocking as a convenient receptacle.
The next morning, when Mrs. Agassiz rose, she cried: "Louis, there's a snake in my stocking! What shall I do?"
"A snake!" yelled Agassiz, now fully aroused. "One snake! Heavens where's the other one? I put two in there."

The Town's Dignity.

An Ontario man was one day talking of the style in which his own townspeople were keeping up the council's dignity.
"Why, nobbut just lately, we bought our mayor a new collar an' chain," he said, with pride.
"Hae ye'r" said a man who lived in a new town some distance away. "Why, we letten you beggar of ours run loose."

AMERICAN TRAWLER SEIZED AT CANADA.

Seizure Was Made Under Provisions of Treaty of 1818—Canada May Withdraw From Fisheries Treaty.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—The Marine and Fisheries Department has been advised of the seizure at Louisburg, C.B., of the American trawler Arbutus, owned in Gloucester, Mass. The vessel was on route home from Grand Banks, and put into Louisburg where she took on a quantity of fish consigned to the owners of the boat. This is a violation of the treaty of 1818, and is the first seizure ever made on such acharge. Steps are being taken to confiscate the vessel and cargo.
From present indications Canada is likely to withdraw from the International Fisheries Treaty concluded with the United States in 1908. It will be remembered that under the terms of the treaty regulations governing fisheries in International waters were drawn up by Prof. Prince, of Canada and Prof. David Starr Jordan for the United States. Interests on Lake Michigan and the Pacific Coast, which interests sought to have further charges made for their benefit. The Canadian Government refused, and meanwhile nothing has been done by either side to give effect to the agreement. It is now intimated officially that Canada will withdraw altogether from it. The treaty prescribed detailed regulations and restrictions with regard to taking fish in International waters.

A Real Bet.

Betting and bluffing are nearly synonomous terms, especially duting the heat of an election contest. The Times referred in yesterday's issue to a bet of $500 aside, in which worthless cheques were put up by the bluffers. Yesterday, however, some real money was staked on the result of the elections in the Dominion. The amount was $25, the real cash being placed in the hands of a stakeholder.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE AND OTHER MATTERS.

Sir,—Will you allow me a little space in your valuable paper to write a few words to my fellow-countrymen, who, though in this country, long enough to qualify for a vote, have little or no time to study the politics of the country. At the last elections I was just in that position. Although I had been here two or three years, I had been so busy working and laying the foundation of a home in this my adopted land, that when the elections came I am afraid I had to give my vote rather blindly. Now I look upon my vote as a sacred thing—too sacred to be lightly given, and far too sacred to be sold. The fortune has yet to be made that could buy my vote, and the man has yet to be born that could intimidate it. There are many of you, who were like myself, Liberals and Free traders at home, and you may naturally ask, is not the party the same. Principles apply here. Let us see.
Now, England is a consuming country, as far as foodstuffs go, dependent almost entirely upon outside countries, while here we are producers, not only of enough for ourselves, but of great quantities for export. This entirely alters the case as regards food. Then, how many of us were here in the country three weeks before we realized the effects of protection on manufactures. Look at the C.G.E., at the Quaker Oats, and other great industries in this city which would never have come this side of the line had it not been for the National Policy. True, we find living a little higher, but we get the money to buy it with. Then, again, we do not want to see this colony pass away from the old flag, therefore let us unite our votes for the policy of continuing prosperity of the country on its present lines.
There is another vital question at this election, however, and that is as to whether we will be and remain free British subjects, making and enjoying our own laws and privileges, or whether we will allow the foreign prelate of any church to put forth decrees that shall affect our social laws. Whether we will support a government that will submit to such an impertinence. If the Imperial Parliament had dared to formulate such a decree as the Ne Temere, we should ere now have been in the throes of revolution, and shall we allow any church or place and power that we deny even to King George and the Imperial Parliament on this question? I ask my fellow-countrymen to think seriously and vote for the liberties for which our fathers died. Then, again, shall we vote for a Government whose finance Minister issued a charter to such a group of swindlers as organized the Farmers' Bank. Quibble as the Liberals may, Mr. Fielding either knew or he should have known who and what these people were, before granting them a charter. If he knew, then he became a party to the fraud; if he did not know, then he was incompetent and certainly not to be trusted to put through a national business deal with such a man as President Taft. There is no use mincing matters, we want straight, honorable, competent men to represent us in Parliament, and I ask every man who loves righteousness and probity in public life, to show their detestation of such scandals as the Farmers' Bank, by which the savings of hundreds of honest men and women were swept into the coffers of rogues, leaving many of the victims penniless, by refusing to support and return to power, men whose business it was to exercise vigilence and discretion, and who did not do so, vote straight for a united Canada, for a free Canada for a clean Canada. Vote for Burnham.
Geo. Leader.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The Catholic Church foresees and is preparing to meet the same adverse conditions in the United States that it has in France and Portugal, according to a statement by Archbishop Quigley in an address yesterday before the sixty-fifth annual convention of the German Catholic Central Xerein.
"Organization is the hope of the Catholic Church here," he said. "The question confronting the organization is what to do about the dangers now threatening Christianity in this country. In France and Portugal the Catholic Church was persecuted because the Catholics were not organized.

DISTRICT OF ARBITRATION.

Ex-President Roosevelt, in a signed magazine article, assails the Anglo-American and Franco-American arbitration treaties on the ground that the language of them is not explicit enough. They provide that all justiciable matters shall be arbitrated and that an international commission shall decide whether any dispute that may arise, and which cannot be settled by diplomacy in the usual way, is properly justiciable. Mr. Roosevelt objects to this arrangement, because he thinks that there are certain things which ought not under any circumstances to be submitted to arbitration—such, for example, as the Monroe doctrine—and that the national government must reserve to itself the right to decide when any matter in dispute involves any fundamental law or principle which ought not to be made the subject of arbitration.

This objection is really an objection not only to the treaties under consideration, says the Hamilton Herald, but to all arbitration treaties. For of what use is a general arbitration treaty between two powers if each power reserves to itself the right to decide whether any particular dispute which may arise between them is or is not a proper subject for arbitration?

Mr. Roosevelt's objection argues a distrust of international arbitration. If such a distrust is general among his fellow countrymen, then it is best that the treaties which the U. S. senate has "held up" should be dropped. If an international tribunal cannot be trusted to decide with equity whether or no a certain dispute ought or not to be submitted to arbitration then the world is not ready to act on the principle of international arbitration as a substitute for international war. It is perfectly true that there are some questions which ought not to be arbitrated. The question is whether each nation ought to reserve to itself the right to decide, whenever a dispute arises, whether it is in the category of unarbitrable questions, or whether it should be left to an international commission to so decide. If the decision is to be national instead of international, then international arbitration treaties are of little practical use, for when a nation doesn't want to arbitrate any question it can easily frame up reasons for contending that the question involves some fundamental principle which ought not to be made a subject of arbitration.

As the lady in Vavien's song said of herself, of international arbitration it can be said that nations must "trust it not at all, or all in all."

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest mone makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows :—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and on-assessable. No personal liabilit

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines n the Porcupine Camp. The directors are :—

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough :

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here.

Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer ?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products removes these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party ? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation ? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion ? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born ? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896 to better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the land-hungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

J. R. Stratton

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

BY THOMAS LENNOX

CHAPTER I.

The Elements of Trouble

Who was it, I wonder, that said the road to hell was paved with good intentions? He might have added a clause to the effect that there's always a plentiful supply of material for that much-traveled highway. We all contribute, more or less. I know I have done so. And most of my people before me. My father's intentions were good, but he didn't live long enough to carry them out. If he hadn't fallen a victim to an ingrained streak of recklessness, a habit of taking chances, well, I can't say just how things would have panned out. I'm not fatalist enough to believe that we crawl or run or soar through our allotted span of years according to some prearranged scheme that we're powerless to modify. Oh, no! It's highly probable, however, that if my father and mother had lived I should have gone into some commercial pursuit, or taken up one of the professions. In either case, I should likely have pegged along in an uneventful sort of way to the end of the chapter — lots of men do. Not that I would have taken with enthusiasm to chasing the nimble dollar for the pure love of catching it; but I was slated for something of the sort, and as the twig is bent so is the tree inclined: a man can't sit down and twiddle his thumbs and refuse to perform any useful act because there is no glory in it. The heroic age has gone a-glimmering down the corridors of time.

As it happened, my feet were set in other paths by force of circumstances. Only for that, the sagebrush country, the very place where I was born, might have remained a terra incognita. I should always have felt, though, that I'd missed something; for I was ushered into this vale of tears at the Sumner Ranch, on the Red River of the South. Sumner père hadn't developed into a cow monarch those days. My earliest impressions were all of log and 'dobe buildings, of long-horned cattle, of wild, shaggy-maned horses, and of wilder men, who rode the one and drove the other in masterly fashion. For landscape there was rolling prairie, and more rolling prairie beyond; with here and there the eternal brown broken by gray, sage-grown flats and stretches of greasewood — as if Nature had made a feeble effort to vary the monotony. I knew only this until I was big enough to tease for a pony. I don't remember seeing a town when I was small. The world to me was a place of great plains, very still and hot and dry, a huddle of cabins and corrals, and, a little way to the south, Red River slinking over its quicksands — except in time of storm; then it raged.

So, when my father bundled mother and myself off to a place called St. Louis, where great squadrons of houses stood in geometrical arrangement over a vast area, I had already begun to look upon things with the eyes of cattle land. I recollect that when we were settled in a roomy, old-fashioned house I cried because my mother wouldn't let me go out to the corral and play.

"There are no corrals in a city, dear," she explained — and I tried the harder. I could conceive of no joy in a place where I could not go out to the corrals, and have some brown-faced cowpuncher hoist me up on a gentle horse, and let me hold the reins while the pony moved sedately about.

Left to himself, I think my father would have made a cowman of me; but mother had known the range when it was a place to try the nerves of strong men, and she hated it. I didn't know, till I was nearly grown, that she had made dad promise, when I was born, that if the cattle made money for us I should never know the plains. She came of an old Southern family, and her life had been a sheltered one till she met and married Jack Sumner. And she would have had me walk in pleasant places, as the men of her family had done — doctors, lawyers, planters. The life of the plains was too hard, too much of an elemental struggle, she said — and I was to be saved some of the knocks that my dad had taken in the struggling years. Poor mother mine — her son was the son of his father, I'm afraid. But Sumner père made good his promise, when the Sumner herds fattened his bank account sufficiently; and I gyrated through school, with college and a yet-to-be-determined career looming on the horizon.

So, my childish memories of the great open, that year on year had naked to the sun glare and the chilling breath of the northern, grew dimmer and more like something of which I had dreamed. Dad would come home occasionally, stay a day or two, perhaps a week, sometimes even a month; but my mother never went west of the Mississippi — nor did I often plague them to let me go to the ranch during vacation, but they evidently considered it best to keep me away from the round-ups and horse-breaking and such, till I was old enough to see that there was another side to the life besides the sunshiny, care-free one that makes an irresistible appeal to a youngster.

And then, just a week after my twentieth birthday, my dad, slow-voiced, easy-going old Jack Sumner, rode his horse into the smiling Red, and drowned under the eyes of twenty men.

I was sitting on our front steps, growling about the heat, when the messenger brushed by me with the telegram in his hand. Mother signed for it, and he ran down the steps, whistling, and went about his business. There was no sound within. I had no hint of trouble, till a maid screamed. Then, of course, I rushed in. Mother was drooping over an arm of a Morris chair, and the bit of yellow paper lay on the rug where it had fluttered from her hand. I carried her to a couch, and called a doctor. But he could do nothing. Her heart was weak, he said, and might have stopped any time; the shock had merely hastened her end.

I'm going to pass lightly over the week that followed. I was just a kid, remember, and I took it pretty hard. It was my first speaking acquaintance with Death. A few of my mother's people came, and when it was over with I went to Virginia with an uncle, a kindly, absent-minded, middle-aged bachelor. But I couldn't settle down. For a week or ten days I fidgeted about the sleepy Southern village and then I bade my uncle an abrupt good-by and started for St. Louis. Little as I knew of business and legal matters, I was aware that now the Sumner herds and ranches were mine, and I had a hankering to know where I stood. Except that there was a ranch and cattle in Texas, I knew nothing of my father's business. It didn't even occur to me, at first, that I was a minor and devoid of power to transact any business of importance. I knew that certain property was rightfully mine, and that was all.

Once in St. Louis, however, I began to get the proper focus on my material interests. It occurred to me that Sumner père had done more or less business with a certain bank, a private concern engineered by two ultra-conservative citizens named Bolton and Kerr. I hunted them up, thinking that they would likely be able to tell me just what I needed to know. And it happened that, by luck, I came in the nick of time. A clerk took in my card, and returned for me immediately. Bolton, the senior member, was wrapping the bit of pasteboard around his forefinger when I was ushered in. We shook hands, and he motioned to a chair. I asked for information, and I got it, straight from the shoulder. Bolton was very economical in words.

"Yes, I knew your father well. There is a sum of money to his account in the bank. He died intestate," he told me bluntly. "In view of a communication I have just received, you will have little to do with any property until you are of age. The estate is now in the hands of an administrator — appointed by a Texas court. The court will probably order that you be allowed a certain monthly sum until your majority."

"I see," I said thoughtfully; I hadn't considered that phase of it, although in a hazy way I knew something of the regular procedure. "Will our place there be managed by this administrator?"

"Very likely," Bolton returned. "He has served us with a court order for the estate funds now in our hands. But you are legally entitled to the use and occupancy of the family residence until such time as the estate is appraised and the inventory returned. After that, the administrator has discretionary power; he can make any disposition of the property, meanwhile making provision for your support."

"It seems to me," I hasarded, "that some relative should have been appointed."

"Exactly," Bolton nodded. They made no move, though. And this Texas person acted at once. I dare say it's all right. However, you're a minor. Better have some responsible person appointed your guardian. Then, if there's any mismanagement, you can take court action to have it remedied. Frankly, I don't like the look of this haste to administer. May be all right; may be all wrong."

"See here," I burst out impulsively, for I had taken a sudden liking to this short-spoken individual who talked to me with one foot on a desk and a half-smoked cigar tucked in the corner of his mouth, "what's the matter with you becoming my guardian? None of my people seem to have thought of it. I'm sure we'd get along all right."

He smiled. My naive way of meddling myself upon him along with a lot of possible responsibilities, was doubtless amusing to a hard-headed financier like Bolton. I saw nothing out of the way in such an arrangement, at the time. It struck me as a splendid idea, in fact. But he made allowance for my juvenile point of view. Shifting his cigar to the other corner of his mouth, he surveyed me evidently for a few seconds, ertahling his black brows thoughtfully.

ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI

Archbishop Bruchesi's name will always be associated with the Eucharistic Congress of 1910 as it was through his exertions this great display of Roman Catholic zeal and power was held for the first time on the American continent. When the carrying of the Host through the streets of London in connection with the Eucharistic Congress of 1908 was prohibited by the British Authorities, Mgr. Bruchesi asked that the Congress of 1910 be held in Montreal so that the world might see the public exhibition of the central element of Catholicism on British soil. His request was granted and the Archbishop worked with might and main for two years collecting funds and making other necessary preparations for a big demonstration of the loyalty of French-Canadian Catholics to their Church. In this he was successful and the Eucharistic Congress held at Montreal in September 1910 was a gorgeously spectacular affair on which a huge sum was spent.

The Province of Quebec is the most Catholic part of North America and the official church authorities with the many religious orders in the provinces control a vast amount of valuable property. Church building and the establishment of Catholic schools and religious houses has been very active during recent years, but the province has not made anything like the industrial and commercial progress the other parts of Canada have been making. In fact, though the oldest part of Canada, the longest settled, and the nearest to Europe, besides possessing great natural resources, it is regarded as the most backward of all the provinces.

Right Rev. Mgr. Paul Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, is of Italian descent on his father's side and French-Canadian on the maternal side. He was born at Montreal in 1855 and appointed Archbishop in 1897.

PIONEER, NEWSPAPER PROPRIETOR AND NOVELIST

Robert Lorne Richardson is one of those lucky people who reached Winnipeg in the early eighties. The first faint flushes of the great dawn which was so soon to rise on the vast unpeopled prairies of the Great West, were then making themselves visible to the far-sighted few who laughed to scorn the ominous predictions of nervous stay-at-homes and struck out towards the new lands the Canadian Pacific Railway was bringing within reach of the older world. There were many optimists amongst those plucky pioneers who turned their face from the old homesteads and cities of the East, westward to the Red River and the plains of Manitoba: but not one who looked with more hope and courage to the future than the young journalist from Toronto, who landed at what is now the third city of Canada, in 1882.

As Mr. Richardson's birth took place in 1860 he was not long out of his teens when he started for the West. He was born at Balderson, Lanark county, Ont., on a bright June day of that year and began his career as a newspaperman on the Montreal 'Star' at the age of eighteen. Two years later he went to the Toronto 'Globe' whence after a further period of two years he removed to Winnipeg. He established the Winnipeg 'Tribune' in 1890 and is still editor and proprietor of that progressive and influential newspaper. He spent eight years in the House of Commons until defeated through the inevitable swing of the political pendulum in 1904. He is the author of two popular novels: 'Colin of the 9th Concession', published in 1903, and 'The Camerons of Bruce', published in 1906.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR HENRY M. PELLATT

Imperialism has been the key to all Sir Henry M. Pellatt's public activities. He is an ardent believer in the connection of Canada and the Mother Country being as close as possible. It was an act of splendid patriotism for him to take over his regiment the Queen's Own Rifles from Toronto to England. Nothing could have created a more friendly feeling. The regiment was a means of fostering better relations between the great mass of the people of Great Britain and those of Canada. An appeal to these is much stronger than to the cold minds of lawyers and parliamentarians. It is from the middle and lower classes in England that Canada draws her best class of settlers. The way to get them into the Dominion is to interest them in Canadians and Canadian institutions. There is no stronger means of attracting notice than by means of soldiery. Sir Henry Pellatt realized this. He has aided Canada more than if he had personally brought over a thousand of the most desirable of British settlers. To-day he is Commandant of his regiment after having successively passed through each of the commissioned ranks. There is no stronger supporter of the militia in Canada than Sir Henry Pellatt. He has always shown a keen interst in all their activities. In 1897 he went over to England as Major of the Queen Victoria's Jubilee Contingent and acted as Commander of the Canadian Contingent at the Coronation of the late King. At this period he took over with him to the Old Country the Bugle Band of the Queen's Own at his own expense.

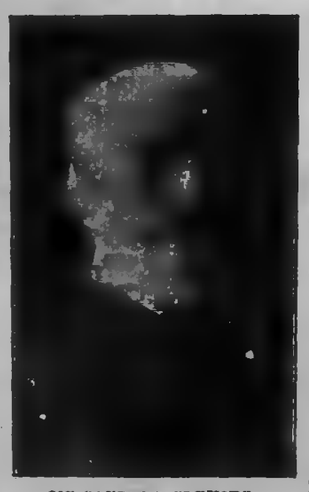
It is stated that Sir Henry will be the next Canadian High Commissioner in London, — a post for which he is highly fitted.

Col. Sir Henry Pellatt was born in Toronto in 1860. He attended Upper Canada College in that city. A professional life did not appeal to him. Therefore at fifteen years of age he entered the employment of his father. Later he formed a partnership with him, the firm name being Pellatt & Pellatt. Sir Henry has always interested himself largely in financial and industrial corporations. At present he is the executive of many large companies including the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., Toronto Electric Light Co., etc.



SIR SANFORD FLEMING

Sir Sanford Fleming, K.C.M.G., LL.D., M.I.C.E., and Chancellor of Queen's University, has achieved fame as an engineer. He constructed the Intercolonial Railway through the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Quebec, and was for some years Engineer-in-Chief of the C. P. R. He has taken a special interest in the movement for establishing the Pacific Cable, and a Pan-Britanic Telegraph Service. He has published several articles on The New Time Reckoning.

Dr. Grenfell's Appointment.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell has been appointed medical adviser to the Hudson Bay Company. This is taken to mean that in future the Northern fishermen are to be treated more fairly in their trade relations. Dr. Grenfell has now brought his co-operative stores into touch with English business houses, so that goods for his people in Labrador will be brought at a saving of middleman's profits, and English fish merchants are to take their supplies direct.

Reduced Fares Pacific Coast.

The Grand Trunk Railway will issue reduced one way Colonist tickets to San Francisco, Los Angeles and all California points, also Mexico City, every day between Sept. 15th to Oct. 15th inclusive, at $45.20. Tickets will also be issued to all North Pacific points in British Columbia, Idaho, Oregon and Washington states at rate of $42.60. Through Tourist service to all points. Important to Ladies.

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Doreenwend of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments reserved at the Hotel.

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face, and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at Hotel Orlental, on Friday and Saturday, September 15th and 16th.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 212 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Lost 16 Pounds in Weight

Was Kept Down by Bilious Indigestion, and When in Despair

In the following interesting letter Mrs. H. R. Plunkett, well known in her home town of Hewtonville, tells how she conquered bilious indigestion: "I think it was drinking ice water on a very hot July day two years ago that caused an inflamed condition in my stomach, which gave me such repeated and weakening attacks of biliousness and stomach trouble. So severely did I suffer, that my strength was impaired, and I lost sixteen pounds in weight. My whole body was weakened, both kidneys and bowels failing to keep the system in natural condition. Food fermented, skin was dry and yellow. I had flushes of heat, and prickling sensations in various parts of the body. In the winter I had cold feet and clammy hands, and not until I commenced to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills did I obtain relief. In a short time Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured the bilious dyspepsia, and in a month I gained almost four pounds. The pain over the liver disappeared, the bowels acted regularly, and I kept on improving so rapidly that in three months I was vigorous and well. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every one in poor health."

To receive the same benefit as Mrs. Plunkett, commence Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day, 25c per box. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Literary Treat.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, the popular pastor of the Charlotte St. Church, will deliver a lecture on Tuesday, the 26th inst. His subject will be "Plodders, Loafers and Croakers." There should be a large attendance, as Mr. Henderson is a fluent and interesting speaker.

Duck Hunting Season.

The season for duck hunting opens on the morning of Sept. 15. Indications point to a good season, owing to the fact that the game laws had been well observed in this section of the country and the ducks appeared to be plentiful.

Pushing Work on Grain Line.

Lindsay Post: Yesterday two trains passed up the Haliburton line with material for the C. P. R. grain line. One train, carried the long span, which will be placed in position where the grain line crosses the G.T.R. tracks and the other the huge travelling crane. The work is progressing satisfactorily all along the line.

Harvest Home.

The annual harvest home services of the Park street Baptist church will be held on Sunday, September 24th and Monday, September 25th.

The church will be appropriately decorated for the occasion and on Monday evening a harvest home tea will be served and a good musical programme rendered. Tea will be served from 6 to 8.15.

Took More Whey Than They Should.

A curious test case, and one that will be of interest to farmers, was tried in Belleville yesterday. According to the cheese factory regulations the patrons are entitled to receive 80 per cent. of the whey from the milk they deliver. It turns out that the early comers got more than their share of the whey, and in consequence the late ones got none. Hence the test case. Mr. Fitzgerald was arrested on the charge of taking more than his share. He pleaded guilty, and paid his fine.

An Improved Bill.

The Canadian four dollar bill has been improved on. Now there is no possible chance of mistaking it for a one dollar bill. On the new bill, the word four has been printed in large type across the top in both corners, while on the back the same change is duplicated, the word being printed across the figure 4 at both ends of the bill. The Lord and Lady Minto series is being issued on these bills.

Millinery Openings To-day.

The millinery openings take place to-day, and no doubt the various show rooms will be thronged with fashionable women of the city and district. Peterborough has long been noted for possessing more well dressed and beautiful women than any place of its size in Canada. They know how to dress well, and the milliners also know how to cater to the high-class trade which is here demanded. Cressman's as usual leads, and nobody who is up-to-date will fail to visit their spacious millinery department and inspect the gorgeous display to be seen there.

Injuries Proved Fatal.

Mr. Henry Nethercutt, who had his leg fractured by the kick of a horse, and who was conveyed to Nicholls' Hospital on Tuesday, passed away at that institution yesterday. Deceased was 70 years of age, and was born in Ireland. Surviving him are two sisters and three brothers, namely, Mrs. R. M. Matchett, of East City; Mrs. John Bell, of Otonabee; Joseph and Montgomery, of Dundalk, Ont.; and Alex. N., of Gaylord, Michigan. In religion he was a devoted Methodist. The funeral will leave the residence of his nephew Oscar S. Matchett, 267 King street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Fraserville cemetery.

Died at the Hospital.

Mary Cahill, aged 46 years, wife of Mr. Edward Kylie, Kinmount, passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday after a lingering illness. The deceased was a sister of Mr. Patrick Cahill, 499 Parnell street, was born in Cavan County, Ireland, and came to Canada when she was about 18 years of age. Her brother Mr. P. Cahill was residing in Peterborough at the time, and she went to live with him. She subsequently removed to Kinmount, after having married Mr. Kylie, where she lived 27 years. Two months ago her health became so poor that she entered St. Joseph's Hospital, in this city, where she passed away as above. The funeral will be announced to-morrow.

WEDDING BELLS

Deyell—Stewart.

The residence of Mr. Ormiston Stewart, "Cedar Bank Farm," Otonabee was the scene on Wednesday, Sept. 6 of a very interesting event, when her sister, Miss Eva Stewart, daughter of the late William Stewart, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. T. A. Deyell, of South Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. A. McKenzie of the Centreville Presbyterian church. The young couple were unattended and only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Peters—Henderson.

A pretty, but quiet home wedding was solemnized on Tuesday last at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. G. A. Helson, Bethune street, when the Rev. Isaac Couch united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Miss Mosey Henderson, daughter of the late Mr. Robert Henderson, and Mr. John S. Peters, of Toronto.

Miss Sadie Smith, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and the groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Galvin Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters left on the 11.40 G.T.R. train for Montreal on their wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Toronto.

MR. BURNHAM AT HARVEY.

Addressed Meeting in North Harvey Hall.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Mr. Burnham and Mr. Soden at North Harvey. A number of ladies were present. Mr. Lewis Parker very ably filled the chair.

Mr. Burnham opened the meeting by contrasting the methods employed by United States and Canada in getting ready to make the reciprocity attack on Canada. Sir Wilfrid Laurier bit, and two men who knew more about farming than farming did about them, were hastily despatched to Washington to make an agreement fraught with the utmost importance to both countries. Canada now awakes to find that a serious mistake has been made and is fully ready to do as she did in 1891 when at the polls she wiped unrestricted reciprocity off the slate.

AN ABSURD PROPOSITION.

The speaker appealed to the audience to go with him while he loaded a train load of produce for the United States, under reciprocity. He put in all products of the farm from hay to hogs. He then went to United States with his hearers and loaded a train load of the same products, only in this case the train was much longer since the agricultural exports to Canada from the United States is much greater than from Canada to the United States. At a given signal the train moves on. They pass at the bridge and the people of Canada welcome the trains to the station, carrying large quantities of the very stuff they had sent the day before to the United States. This is reciprocity in farm products. A reciprocity by which the people exchanged similar goods was like two little boys swapping jack knives and being delighted with the increase by the trade. Was not this a fair illustration of reciprocity? How could the people of Canada be induced to vote for what was an absurd proposition.

FATAL FOR CANADIANS.

The speaker said that he held in his hand, the weekly notes of August the 26th, in the Department of Trade and Commerce of the Laurier Government at Ottawa, which said that it would be a fatal thing for Canadians to ship their grain to England through any port but a Canadian port. When our own department of Trade and Commerce, which is absolutely non-political, although under the control of the government now in power, say a thing like that, because the British importers of grain know how much better and cleaner grade the Canadian grain is, and when the same document points out how the Canadian grain grower could increase his grain exports to Great Britain, was it not time for the farmer to save himself from wreck and do all in his power to prevent the ruin of Canadian agriculture?

Mr. Burnham read what President Taft says in regard to the necessity of the United States getting Canadian products or else the American cattle trade and hog trade could not expand as the United States desired. The plain result of the pact would be to put the foreign trade in the control of the United States and to enable the United States to take the British market and to take away the growing prosperity and development from the Canadian farmer and artisan and give it to the American rival.

Was it any wonder that the Canadian farmer is alarmed rather than cheered by the prospects.

STATE PENSIONS.

The speaker also elaborated on his pension system, by which, free of all cost, men and women on reaching the age of 65 years would receive from the public fund provided for that purpose a regularly paid pension that would keep them from all want, charity and dependence. This has been found to work perfectly in Great Britain and the speaker said that Canada was far behind the times in not having it introduced before.

AUDIENCE LAUGHED.

Mr. Burnham created great laughter, in holding up the Examiner of Monday evening, to the view of the audience and exhibiting the panelled item in that paper which read as follows: "The reciprocity agreement saves the people from those who would monopolize their food supply."

The Examiner says, said Mr. Burnham, that the farmer of North Harvey is conspiring to monopolize the food supply. To relieve the congestion, the Examiner would bring in American products, and then Mr. Stratton asks you for your votes.

MR. R. J. SODEN SCORES.

Mr. R. J. Soden, when called upon by the chairman made one of his rattling fine speeches and literally brought down the house. He was interrupted several times by an American tourist, but he put it all over him, and the tourist relapsed into silence, amidst tremendous applause from the audience.

Mr. Soden referred to the Welland situation where the Liberal member Mr. German, had declared against the pact, and said that Welland town and county was on the border, and could best judge of the pact and its so-called advantage, the Liberal party there had been unable to find a candidate. He also spoke of the unprepared position of Canada as against United States, when the agreement was brought up at Washington. It was as if Canada was like a silly fish going to jump at and gobble up a spoon without observing the hook attachment.

Usually, he said, political policies had something to be said in their favor, but so far as he could see reciprocity had nothing. The United States wanted to control, and if necessary wreck both our agricultural and manufacturing prosperity.

Throughout his address, Mr. Soden was heartily applauded for his splendid arguments.

The meeting closed with cheers.

A LADY LECTURER.

Feeds Nerves and Brains Scientifically.

A lady lecturer writes from Philadelphia concerning the use of right food and how she is enabled to withstand the strain and wear and tear of her arduous occupation. She says:

"Through improper food, imperfectly digested, my health was completely wrecked, and I attribute my recovery entirely to the regular use of Grape-Nuts food. It has, I assure you, proved an inestimable boon to me.

"Almost immediately after beginning the use of Grape-Nuts I found a gratifying change in my condition. The terrible weakness that formerly prostrated me after a few hours of work, was perceptibly lessened and is now only a memory—it never returns.

"Ten days after beginning on Grape Nuts I experienced a wonderful increase in mental vigor and physical energy, and continued use has entirely freed me from the miserable insomnia and nervousness from which I used to suffer so much.

"I find Grape-Nuts very palatable, and would not be without the crisp, delicious food for even a day on any consideration. Indeed, I always carry it with me on my lecture tours."

20,000 ABANDON HOMES FLEE FROM BURNING ETNA

FLOOD OF LAVA THREATENS THE DESTRUCTION OF TOWNS.

People Make Hurried Departure Driving Farm Animals Before Them.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 14.—The 20,000 inhabitants of Castiglione and Francavilla turned their backs on their homes to-day, fleeing before the advancing flood of lava from Mount Etna. Both towns are threatened with destruction.

The discharge from the crater and new fissures increases in volume. The main stream pouring down the northeastern side of the volcano has made its way sluggishly about and over the foothills towards the base, crossed the railway and invaded the valley of the Alcantara.

A HURRIED RETREAT.

To-day the front 50 feet high and a third of a mile wide, broke over a long declivity and gathered velocity forced the peasant dwellers in its path to make a hurried retreat. It spread through and burned the orange and lemon groves and engulfing the many springs in the neighborhood, cut off the water supply of several villages.

When the stream was within three miles of Castiglione and Francavilla the people collected their portable property and with their farm animals and household pets, made for the higher places.

EARTHQUAKES IN ITALY.

Florence, Italy, Sept. 14.—A strong earthquake was felt here last night. It caused a considerable panic especially among the people at the theatres. Audiences rushed out of several of the play houses. No damage of any importance was done.

Earth shocks also occurred at Siena, in Tuscany, where chimneys were thrown down.

MOVING PICTURE SHOWS IN CANADA.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—May I crave the hospitality of your columns to draw the attention of your readers to a state of affairs which must, I am sure, be deplored by Canadians generally. I refer to the Americanization of the moving picture shows which are such a recognized feature of Canadian life.

I understand that the majority of the films used in Canada are manufactured in the United States, and, as a result, a large proportion of these moving pictures depict heroic actions by American soldiers, sailors and rough-riders. As far as I am aware, it is only rarely that the Union Jack or the Canadian ensign is to be seen at these entertainments. In fact, the Stars and Stripes seem to monopolize deeds of valor.

Those who have the welfare of our empire at heart can have no desire to belittle the heroic deeds performed by citizens of the United States, but what they do feel is that it is time the vast resources of the British Empire were drawn upon to provide material for cinematograph entertainments. The danger may seem a remote one to-day, but who can tell what will be the unconscious effect on the Canadian youth in years to come who has been accustomed to witness at every moving picture show some heroic action performed in defence of the American national flag, while his own is completely ignored?

Those interested in providing cinematograph entertainments in Canada are naturally business people, and they provide what the public demands. The patrons of these moving picture establishments have the matter in their own hands. I have no doubt if they made known to the proprietors of these places of amusement that they desired to witness films portraying some of the tasks which their fellow-citizens are engaged in, in the old country, in the back-blocks of Australia; in the heart of Central Africa, in the islands of the Far Pacific, in the Canadian Northwest Territories—where the best traditions of our race are being upheld under the folds of the Union Jack—they would not ask in vain.

A copy of this latter has been forwarded to the secretaries of the 300 odd branches of the Overseas Club in Canada, and they have been requested to discuss the matter at an early opportunity.

FOREIGNERS BESIEGED IN THE CANADIAN MISSION COMPOUND

TROOPS ARE FIRING ON THE BESIEGERS FROM THE CITY WALLS—NO REINFORCEMENTS FOR FOUR WEEKS.

VICEROY DETAINED FIVE BOAT LOADS

The Garrison Numbers in the Neighborhood of Eighteen Thousand—Situation is Serious.

Pekin, Sept. 14.—A telegram received to-day from the British Consul at Cheng-Tu, dated September 9, brought through the besieging rabble by a messenger, states that the Viceroy deemed the departure of the missionaries from Cheng-Tu as undesirable, and therefore detained five boat loads which were starting.

Troops, the message says, were firing on the besiegers from the city walls. The garrison numbers 1,800. Reinforcements cannot arrive inside of four weeks. All foreigners, it is believed, occupy the Canadian Mission compound, which is considered the most easily defended.

SHE DECLINED TO SALUTE U. S. FLAG

YOUNG BRITISH GIRL RAISES A FLAG INCIDENT IN NEW JERSEY.

Referred to Ambassador—Daughter of British Subject Expelled From School for Refusing to Swear Allegiance.

New York, Sept 14—The public school authorities of New Jersey were called upon yesterday for the first time in the history of the State to deal with the situation arising from the refusal of Catherine Audsley, a 14 year old girl of Perth Amboy, N. J., to salute the American flag or take the oath of allegiance during the exercises in her school. The State school laws compel the salutation of the flag and the renewal of the oath of allegiance to it every morning. The girl refused to comply with this law and was sent home by the school superintendent.

APPEALED TO BRITISH CONSUL

M. F. Audsley, the girl's father, who is a British subject, came to New York and placed the matter before the British Consul here. Mr. Audsley said he did not prohibit his children from paying all the respect due to the American flag but he had instructed them not to take the oath of allegiance to it. The British Consul will send to the proper authorities in Perth Amboy papers confirming the statement that Mr. Audsley's children are bona fide subjects of Great Britain.

SALVATIONISTS WED.

Capt. Pugmire, of Salvation Army, Becomes a Benedict.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—An interesting wedding ceremony will be performed in the Salvation Temple, Albert street, this evening at 8 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Grace Vickers, of Berlin, Ont., and Captain Ernest Pugmire, son of Lieut.-Col. Pugmire, the Army's prison and social secretary for the Dominion of Canada.

Capt. Pugmire is a musician of no mean order, and fitting music will be supplied by the bands of territorial headquarters' staff and of the Temple and by Toronto one band (75 bandsmen in all). The male choir will sing. Colonel Mapp will conduct the marriage service.

ONCE COPPER KING, NOW A BANKRUPT.

Extensive Decline in Copper Properties Cripples a Magnate.

London, Sept. 14.—The financial affairs of Reginald H. Ward, who at one time in the role of a "copper king" figured prominently in certain moneyed circles of this city, were today placed in the hands of an official receiver in bankruptcy. No statement of the assets and liabilities is availing yet. Mr. Ward explains that extensive declines in copper properties in which he is interested, were responsible for his embarrassment which he maintains is but temporary. He intends, he says, to continue his business.

MILLINERY OPENINGS GIVE FINE DISPLAY

The millinery openings yesterday were well attended, the display being in most cases, particularly attractive and pleasing.

The Cressman Company.

The Cressman Company, as usual, led not only in variety, but also in quality. Their spacious show rooms on the second floor were thronged during the afternoon with the fashionable ladies of the city. The show windows were dressed with the artistic attractiveness characteristic of this splendid store, and were admired by hundreds.

Other Millinery Stores.

The other millinery stores were Messrs. Richard Hall & Sons, The J. C. Turnbull Co., and Robert Fair. The display in these stores was also very fine, and include the latest styles of ladies head dress.

WESTERN CROPS WILL BE LARGER—GOOD REPORTS

Brandon, Man., Sept. 14.—Threshing is well under way. Some excellent crop reports are coming.

John Clark, one of the big farmers in the Roseland district, finished his threshing last night. From 119 acres in one field he has 3,317 bushels of fine No. 1 Northern, 28 bushels to the acre. The balance of his crop is quite up to this splendid showing and Mr. Clark says his yield is no better than others in his locality.

Reports from other districts are also very favorable.

EMIGRATION OF GIRLS TO CANADA STOPPED

Basse-Terre, Guadeloupe, Sept. 14.—The emigration of natives to be employed as servants in Canada has aroused popular indignation. To-day the commissary of police prevented the embarkment of six girls, who were under age. The steamer Korona which called last night refused to take on board seventeen other servants engaged for Canadian points. The captain declared that there was no room for them on the vessel. When the would-be emigrants left the pier they were hooted and chased by a great crowd. Public feeling throughout the Island is against the move to induce colored females to enter domestic service in other lands.

PETERBORO' CENTRAL FAIR HAS SUCCESSFUL OPENING

The formal opening of the Peterborough Central Fair took place yesterday, the greater part of the day being taken in getting things in place. Last night there was a large attendance, the evening performance being a feature of the fair. The 57th Band was on hand and added much to the enjoyment of those who were present. The grounds were fairly well lighted, and everything passed off as well as could be expected under the circumstances. The fireworks were of the usual order, and appeared to satisfy the small boy.

The street railway did a good business and handled the crowd most satisfactorily.

WILSON SHOT ONE PURSUER

1,500 MEN SCOURING FOREST FOR THE ASSAILANT OF MISS GLADYS PRICE.

An Exchange of Shots—Snowflake Hotel Man Was Shot Through the Body During Running Fight.

Snowflake, Man., Sept. 14.—At bay in the forests along the international border, William Henry Wilson, the kidnapper of Gladys Price, shot one of his pursuers, William Adams, proprietor of the Western Hotel at Snowflake, and firing repeatedly with an automatic gun, again escaped the posses last night. This morning 1,000 men on the Canadian side of the line and 500 south in the United States have taken up the chase. All are armed and many are accompanied by blood hounds.

LIKE THE TRACY HUNT.

In many respects the man hunt resembles the great Harry Tracy outlaw escapade.

Wilson had sneaked up to the village apparently in search of food when Adams saw him and fired. The outlaw returned the shot and Adams fell with a bullet through his body. He continued to fire, and members of the posses hurried forward. Wilson fired at them as he retreated into the woods. All strangers in Southern Manitoba are challenged and required to give an account of themselves.

Premier Roblin of Manitoba, uncle of Miss Price, arrived here yesterday in his automobile, and has joined in the hunt. The condition of Miss Price has improved.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 14. — The brutal assailant of Miss Gladys Price is still at large despite the fact that 500 armed men are searching the countryside. Telephone messages from Snowflake at noon state that the posses are hot on his trail now, and expect to catch him at any minute, and when they do, a lynching is feared. It is raining very heavy, which is badly hampering the work of the pursuers.

Driven by hunger, he entered the hotel at Snowflake a little after midnight, and in making his escape shot the hotel proprietor, William Adams. Mr. Adams heard him in the bar and running downstairs ordered the intruder to halt. The outlaw ran and Adams started in pursuit. The man turned and fired two shots in rapid succession. Seeing that Adams was determined to follow him he took another shot, hitting Adams. Two more shots were fired and he then struck across the prairie.

A posse of half-dressed men was hurriedly formed and started in hot pursuit, chasing him into the underbrush. In the darkness he got away.

The boundary-line patrol has been doubled, and armed men are guarding every possible avenue of escape. There were few who slept last night in Snowflake, as the men were out on the search, while the women and children were too terrorized to sleep. The desperado is evidently heavily armed and desperate. As soon as it was daylight the trail was taken up and the net is being drawn closer around him.

It is believed his name is Wilson, and that he came West recently with a car load of cattle from Napanee, Ont. Miss Price, after bearing up miraculously after her terrible experience, collapsed this morning, and a doctor had to be called in.

NEW FIRE BRIGADE UNIFORMS BEST YET.

The Brigade to Give an Exhibition on Fair Grounds To-night.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met at the Fire Hall last night and inspected the new uniforms supplied by Mr. Geo. Ball of this city, under contract. These uniforms are pronounced the best in workmanship, fit and material ever furnished the brigade.

It was resolved that the brigade shall turn out this evening and give a brief exhibition at the fair grounds.

EXODUS FROM UNITED STATES

New York, Sept. 14.—Steamships men and those who study industrial conditions are watching with interest the outgoing tide of steerage passengers from this port. Already the number for the year exceeds 75,000 the number for 1910 and during the next three months the tide will be swelled by the great army of laborers who return each year to their homes in Southern Europe to await again the coming of warm weather.

No good reason has yet been assigned for the present excessive movement in the steerage. Not since 1908 have so many aliens departed from the port in the same time. In that year conditions were unusual, for it was a period of unrest in the financial world. Steamship men believe that the movement must forecast a reduction of labor by some of the great employers.

The vote as announced at the State House is:

Wet, 60,517.

FOOD RIOTS AGAIN.

Troops Patrol the Towns to Put Down the Disorders.

Paris, Sept. 14.—The war against the high price of food, which has been languishing for the last few days, owing either to the vigorous precaution of the authorities or the palliative measures of the Mayors in establishing municipal butcher shops and other food depots, burst forth afresh yesterday. In several districts there were violent disorders, which indicated that professional agitators were again at work. At Crell, 32 miles north of Paris, barricades were formed with telegraph poles. One of exceptional strength was build around a huge boiler surmounted by a red flag, and it required a large force of troops to storm it successfully. In the engagement large numbers on both sides were injured. The streets of Crell last night were patrolled by soldiers.

70 Years Old

GRATEFUL FOR MEDICAL AID.

"Though I had passed by seventieth birthday," writes R. A. Silvera from Duncan P.O., "I am painfully aware that one of the penalties of old age is the slowing down of the activities of the system. One of the most dangerous conditions of old age is constipation, an indirect cause of many sudden deaths. I have used many medicines, but none so suited to old age as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are wonderful regulators—keep the stomach and bowels in perfect condition, prevent indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint and constipation. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills because they never gripe nor cause distress—just a mild tonic laxative."

"I'll do it," he [illegible] assented. "The position ought to be a sinecure. Run in to-morrow morning at ten-thirty, and we'll step around to the court-house and have the thing legally executed. You're staying at the old place, I suppose?"

"I'm going to," I replied. "I haven't been at the house; I came straight here from the train."

"Well run along, son," he said good-naturedly. "I'd take you home to my family, only I don't happen to possess one. I live at the club—the Arlon—mostly.

"Oh, by the way," he called to me, as I neared the door. "How are you off for funds?"

"To tell the truth," I owned, rather shamefacedly, "I'm getting in pretty low water. I think I've some change at home, but I'm not sure Dad never gave me a regular allowance; he'd just send me a check now and then, and let it go at that. I'm afraid I'm a pretty good spender."

"You'll have to reform, young man," he warned, mock seriously. "Here"—he dug a fifty-dollar bill out of his pocketbook—"that'll keep you going for a while. I'll keep you in pocket money till this administrator allows you a monthly sum for maintenance. Don't forget the time, now. Ten-thirty, sharp. To-ta!" And he hustled me out of the office in the midst of my thanks.

I was thankful, too, for I'd put it mildly when I told him that I was getting near the rocks. I was on them. I'd paid my last cent for a meal on the train that morning. And while I did feel tolerably sure of finding some loose silver in the pockets of my clothing at home, I knew it would not amount to more than four or five dollars. Oh, I was an improvident youth, all right. The necessarity for being careful with money never struck me as being a matter of importance; I'd never had to do stunts in economy—that was the trouble.

From the bank I went straight home. We hadn't kept a very pretentious establishment, even though Sumner père had gone on increasing his pile all through the years since we'd moved to the city. A cook and a housemaid, a colored coachman and a gardener — the four of them had been with us for years, and old Adam was waiting by the steps for me when I came up the walk, his shiny black face beaming welcome. I had to go to the stable and look over the horses, and tell Adam that everything was fine, before the old duffer would rest.

In the house everything was as I'd left it. All that evening I moped around the big, low-ceiled living room. There was little comfort in the place; it was too lonely. The hours dragged by on leaden feet. I couldn't get over expecting to see mother come trailing quietly down the wide stairway, or dad walk in the front door, packing a battered old grip and greeting me with his slow smile. I know it was silly, but the feeling drove me out of the house and downtown, where there was a crush of humans, and the glitter of street lights, and the noise of traffic. There I met a chum or two, and subsequent proceedings tore a jagged hole in Bolton's fifty-dollar bill, before I landed home in the little hours. Even then I couldn't sleep in that still, old house.

The long night came to an end, as nights have a habit of doing, and breakfast time brought with it the postman. The mail was mostly papers and other uninteresting junk; but one missive, postmarked Amarillo, Texas, and addressed to myself, I opened eagerly. It was from the administrator, as I had surmised.

Most of the communication was taken up with an explanation of how he came to jump into the breach so quickly. He had been, it seemed, a close friend of my father's. He knew that Jack Sumner had a son who was not yet of age, and who, even if he were, knew little or nothing about stock. Things needed looking after, he said; my father's sudden death had left the business without a responsible head, and the ranch foreman and the range boss were bucking each other. Things were going to the devil generally; so he felt called upon to step into the breach, seeing that none of the Sumner family showed up to protect their interests. I wouldn't be under any obligation to him, he frankly explained, for as administrator he would be paid for what he was doing. He also stated that, if I felt that my affairs would be more capably managed in the hands of some one whom I knew better, he would cheerfully turn over control of the estate, without any tiresome litigation. And he concluded his letter with an urgent invitation to come to the Long X and see the wheels go round, for myself. He signed himself, in a big, heavy hand, Jake Howey, and the signature gave me an impression of a bluff, hard-riding cowman — picturesque and thoroughly Western. If I had been born a girl, I expect my disposition would have been termed romantic. Anyway, Mr. Jake Howey's letter made me feel that my affairs were in good hands.

When I went to keep my appointment with Bolton, later in the forenoon, I took the letter with me. He glanced over it, and tucked it back in the envelope.

"I don't believe much in long-distance judgment of men," he declared, "but I'd be willing to take a chance on this Texas person. I should say you can expect a square deal from him — if this missive represents his true personality."

"That's the way it struck me, too," I confessed. "I think I'd like to go down there for a while."

"Yes? What about school?" he put in.

"Well, I suppose it's necessary for me to go through college," I admitted. "Dad intended me to. I was to begin this coming school year—September, isn't it? But that's nearly three months away. I would like to see that Red River ranch. I was born there, you know."

"You'll have to cut your eyeteeth in the business some time," he mused. "You'll be less likely to get into mischief there than you will in town. Yes, I dare say you might as well take the trip. But no funking school this fall, mind. I've known youngsters to go to the cattle country, and stick there. Your father did."

"I won't," I promised; "even if I want to stay, I'll be ready to dig in when September comes."

"You'd better" He laughed at my earnestness. "Or I'll be down there after you. When do you propose to start?"

"As soon as I can." Having paved the way to go, I want d boy-fashion, to be on the move at [illegible]

"Any idea how I got there?" he queried, as if he had his doubts about the development of my bump of location.

But I had him there.

"Oh, yes. Dad used to take the train through Little Rock to Fort Worth, and on up into the Panhandle from there. Sometimes he took a steamer from here to Memphis. I think I'd like the river trip best."

"All right," he decided. "You shall go, my boy, just as soon as you can get ready. Now we'll see about this guardianship matter."

We saw about it in such wise that, two days later, I was the happy possessor of a ticket to Amarillo and a well-lined pocketbook. I had dinner with Bolton, and bade him good-by quite cheerfully; for I felt a good deal as Columbus must have done when he turned the prow of his caravel away from Spanish shores. After leaving Bolton, I went home for a grip I'd forgotten. The river boat on which I'd taken passage was due to leave at midnight.

And that midnight departure was what started one Bob Sumner up the Trouble Trail. It isn't known by that name; it doesn't show on any map that I ever saw; but the man who doesn't have to travel it some time in his career — well, he's in luck.

CHAPTER II.

The New Moon.

Lights by the thousand speckled the night-enshrouded water front, when I reached the slip where my boat lay. On the huge, roofed-in wharf, freight handlers swarmed like bees. The rumble of hand trucks and the tramp of feet rose to the great beams overhead. Lamps fluttered on vibrating walls, and echoed back in a steady drone. Men moved in haste, throwing long shadows ahead and behind them. Boxes, bales, barrels, sacked stuff vanished swiftly down three seperate inclines to the lower deck of the "Memphis Girl," and from the depths of this freight-swallowing monster came the raucous gabble, freely garnished with profanity, of the toiling stevedores.

Out from under that vast sounding-board of a roof, the noise at once diminished in volume, and I passed through the heart of the dust and babel and gained the cabin deck of the Memphis. A steward looked over my ticket, and guided me to the berth I had reserved. It was then half-past nine; still two hours and a half to the time of departure. I took a look around the upper deck. Quite a number of passengers were already aboard. Some were gone to bed; others were grouped in the saloon aft. One or two poker games had started, and little groups were looking on. But of them all I knew not a soul.

Youth hungers for companionship, and I was no exception to my kind. It may be a truism to say that nowhere can one be so completely alone as in a crowd; the singularity of it never came home to me until that night. But we are always learning, old things and esteeming them new. I roamed about the Memphis Girl, wishing I had stayed uptown till the last minute. It had been my plan to go down and turn in; the ceremony of casting off was not one that interested me greatly. But now the whim was gone, a spirit of unrest, an impatience to be off, drove sleep from my mind. If you have ever known the dreary monotony of waiting for train or steamer to start, when your whole being craves the restfulness of motion, you will not wonder that I made one more round of the deck and saloons and then left the boat, to roam aimlessly past the serried wharves that face the east.

I don't recollect just how far I wandered. If the place had been strange to me, I should likely have been more circumspect in my prowling. As it was, my only concern was to be at the steamship company's wharf by midnight, and midnight was yet afar. So I poked along, stopping now and then to hang over a railing and peer across the dark sweep of the Mississippi, toward the Illinois shore. Between, the lights of divers craft twinkled like fireflies, and tootings in major and minor keys, with varying volume of sound, went wailing through the night.

A big passenger packet, hailing from upriver, swept into view. Ablaze from her bow to the churning stern wheel, she bore down like a floating villa strung with yellow gems. A band blared "Dixie" from somewhere amidships. I was young enough to have some degree of enthusiasm for such spectacles, and I turned onto a long, half-lighted wharf and walked to its outermost tip, to get a better view of the puffing river monster with its thousand gleaming eyes.

Until she came abreast and passed I stood there watching. In a careless way I became aware of two men strolling out the wharf; in fact, I had passed them near the entrance gate. I remember that the swell from the big packet was beginning to slap against the wharf wall, when one of them edged over and asked me the time.

Like a simpleton, I hauled out my watch to tell him. It did not occur to me that there might be any purpose behind the question. The river front in St. Louis is not a place where one can safely exhibit signs of affluence in the way of cash or jewelry — and I knew it. I hadn't grown up in a city without knowing some of its ways. No doubt it looked like an easy game, out there on the end of a deserted wharf.

My watch was a plain hunting-case affair, with a fob chain. Without an inkling of what was to come, I turned toward the dim light as I sprung the case open. In that instant the fellow stuck the watch out of my grasp with one hand, and smashed me full on the jaw with the other—a vicious, pugilistic punch, I went down. Curiously, I didn't lose consciousness; and the blow gave little pain. But it paralyzed my motor nerves for a few seconds; gave me a queer, helpless feeling in my legs and arms, such as one has in a nightmare. It passed, though, and the pair of them were just going through my pockets, with a celerity that bespoke much practice, when I recovered sufficiently to jab my fist into a face that was bent close to mine — at the same time driving both heels against the shins of the other fellow with what force I could muster.

This instinctive outbreak rather surprised them, I think. Anyway they gave ground. Only for a moment, however. I made one effort to gain my feet, and the two were on me like twin wolves. Kicking, striking, struggling like primal beasts, we three lurched this way and that, on the brink of the wharf. A hundred yards away people were hurrying by, and if I'd had sense enough to realize that a shout was my best weapon I could easily have routed the thugs. But I was too frightened to think.

And, in a very short time, sheer weight of numbers decided the issue. One of them got a strangle hold about my neck. The other clasped me fervently around the waist. Thus they dragged me down. For one brief instant I rested on the hard planking, my head in a whirl, their weight like a mountain on my heaving chest. Then with a quick shove they thrust me over the end of the wharf.

Undertaken voluntarily, a twenty-foot dive is no great matter; but it is a horse of quite another color to be chucked into space, and fall that distance, like a bag of meal. I struck the water feet first, as it happened, and came to the top sputtering, half-strangled, but otherwise none the worse. Right quickly I found that I'd merely exchanged one antagonist for another. The current set strongly out from the wharf, and it cost me many a stroke to get back to it, and then I saw that I was no better off. Contrary to the usual thing, the piles offered no avenue of escape; for they were planked up, a smooth wooden wall that I could not possibly climb. I felt my way toward shore, but the outsweeping current was too strong. So I hooked my fingers in a tiny crack and proceeded to shed what clothing still burdened me. Of my coat only a fragmentary portion remained. It had been ripped up the back in the fracas above, and the side containing my ticket and most of my money had been torn clean off me. There was little left save the sleeves. My shoes and shirt and trousers I cast upon the waters, with little thought of their return; and then, clad in a suit of thin underclothes, I struck out for the next pier below, thanking my stars that I was a fair swimmer.

But I could not make it. The channel of the Mississippi threw me full head of a powerful current against the St. Louis side, at that particular point; it struck the wharf-lined bank and swerved out again with the strength of an ocean tide, and I was in the outgoing curve of it. The next wharf was not for me, nor yet its fellow beyond. Steadily I was carried into midstream. Shouting for help, across the black space that lay between me and the wharves, soon exhausted what wind and strength I did not use up in a footless attempt to swim against the current. I stopped yelling then; it seemed to be sink or swim, and I began to conserve my energies a bit. Slipping along in plain view of myriad lights, hearing the fiendish screaming of steamer whistles, seeing the moving bulk of them dimly in the night, I felt in no immediate danger — not half as much

THE COCKROACH

How To Massacre Him!

Cockroaches are so different from the regular pattern of insect that they are little short of freaks, yet the 13 rings of the larvae are all present. The tibia, the next to the last join of the leg, is provided with teeth to aid in holding its prey; hence the name raportia, or grapers.

A few cockroaches will clear the house of bedbugs as effectually as a weasel would clear it of rats. It is presumed, however, that housekeepers don't need or wish to harbor cockroaches for that purpose, and would like a few pointers on roach extermination, something quicker than pulling their heads off.

There are two convenient and effectual methods of freeing the house of roaches. Roaches are great gluttons, will eat almost anything, and are easy to reach with poison. Spread phosphorus paste on bits of soft bread and lay it near their haunts. Another exterminator is chocolate and borax finely powdered and thoroughly mixed and dusted into the crevices. The roaches are fond of chocolate, and the borax adheres to the chocolate. This must adhere to the chocolate. This mixture has the double advantage of being cheap and non-poisonous to man.

Assisting the Judge.

A case was being tried in the West of England and at its termination the judge adressed the jury, and they retired for consultation. Hour after hour passed and no verdict was brought in.

The judge's dinner hour arrived and he became hungry and impatient.

Upon enquiry he learned that one obstinate juryman was holding out against eleven. This was more than he could endure, so he ordered the twelve men to be brought before him. He told them that in his address to them he had so plainly stated the case and the law that the verdict ought to be unanimous, and the man who permitted his individual opinion to weigh against the judgment of eleven men of wisdom was unfit and disqualified ever again to act in the capacity of jurymen.

At the end of this excited harangue a little squaky voice came from one of the jury. It said:

"Will Your Lordship allow me to say a word?"

Permission being given, the owner of the voice added:

"May it please Your Lordship, I am the only man on your side!"

The Bread Would Burn.

The error into which King Alfred fell in that famous instance when he let the cakes left in his care burn, is not going to be repeated by the telegraph operator of whom Arthur W. North tells in 'Camp and Camino in Lower California.'

'I learned at this point that for the first 500 miles before me I would require more change than I had on hand, and would pass through no place where cheques could be cashed. Moreover, my drafts were used up.

'In this dilemna I wired for money. After four days of exasperating delays, I received this satisfying message from the obliging operator of the wireless office:

"Operators on other coast may be have two messages for some one, but his bread in oven — wife she away — and might burn if he leave it long. After lunch he transmit message."

The business will all be done through the insurance commissioner's office. There will be no paid agents. The aim is to give insurance at lowest possible rate.

At a recent meeting of the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association a plan for the consolidation of all the lumber manufacturers' associations of the Pacific coast was ratified. The new organization will be formed from the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association, the Southwestern Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association, and the Oregon and Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association and will be called the West Coast Lumber Manufactures' association. The presidents of the three associations are given to work out the details of the union. As a preliminary step in the uniting of these associations the executive committees of the Pacific coast and the Oregan & Washington associations lately reported that the inspection bureaus had been joined.

LONG ODDS FOR HIM.

J. W. Colt, the horseman, had a jockey who was sick. He told the boy to go to town to a certain doctor for some medicine.

When the jockey got back Colt asked him: "Did you go to that doctor?"

"No, sir. When I got there I found it said, 'Hours, one to two,' on his door."

"Well, what difference did that make?"

"Why, Mr. Colt just across the street there was another doctor that had on his door, 'Hours, twelve to one;' and I took the long odds."

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 213 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

EAST PETERBOROUCH

Progress of the Campaign Throughout The Riding

Matter under this heading solicited on the understanding that The Times will not hold itself responsible for the Opinions Expressed or the Statements made.

MR. SEXSMITH'S ASSOCIATES

The electors of East Peterborough have, during the past few weeks, enjoyed some of the best campaign speeches that have been delivered in the riding in many years. Mr. F. D. Kerr, the Liberal candidate, is recognized as one of the best public speakers in this district. He has a natural gift of oratory, and what is more, he knows what he is talking about before he tackles a subject, with the result that his addresses on the public platform have been very effective. His speeches are vote-getters every time.

During the past week, Mr. Kerr has, at his public meetings throughout the past week, exposed most clearly the alliance between Mr. Borden and Mr. Bourassa. Dealing with this subject, Mr. Kerr declared with emphasis, that there can be no denying the significance of the alliance between the Bordenites and Henri Bourassa. While such out-and-out Opposition papers as the Toronto World, Toronto News and London Free Press, are proclaiming Bourassa a hero and a patriot, Mr. Bourassa himself is daily denouncing Laurier and Fielding as too loyal, and at the same time pointing out that Mr. Borden, Mr. Sexsmith's leader has already modified his naval policy so as to make it acceptable to those who oppose participation in Imperial defence. Mr. Bourassa frankly admits that the Nationalists have nothing to hope for from Sir Wilfrid and his Finance Minister. "Here is one of the latest pronouncements on that question from his paper, Le Devoir," said Mr. Kerr, "it appeared in the issue of Sept. 6."

"The chief argument of the Ministerial intriguers seems to be this: If Laurier goes out, it is Borden who will come in—and Borden is worse.' You will at once have a direct contribution of $25,000,000. We have already replied that if the Province of Quebec sends to the House a group of Independent members as frankly opposed to the direct contribution of Mr. Borden as to Laurier's navy, 'Canadian in time of peace and Imperial in time of war,' Mr. Borden will think twice before speaking again of direct contribution; for that would be for him, suicide."

"And we have a plain proof of it in the most recent declarations of the Opposition leader, who all but apologizes for having proposed a contribution and insists, above all, on the importance of an appeal to the people before adopting a new policy.

"But suppose that the return of Laurier is assured. He is an old man. If he retires, who will follow him?

"In all probability the party leadership will pass to Mr. Fielding, the man who declares that we shall participate in all the wars of the Empire, just or unjust. Where then, will be those, who on the pretext of party fidelity and admiration of Sir Wilfrid, will have been responsible for sending to the House of Commons men whose first principle is to follow their leader through thick and thin?"

"Mr. Bourassa, in the above article," said Mr. Kerr, "takes care to point out that many Canadian candidates in Quebec are pledged to oppose the "too-Imperial" policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. This was emphasized in Le Devoir on Sept. 2, in the following language:

"Now, the majority of these (Nationalist and Conservative) candidates have taken a formal engagement to oppose the contribution of Dreadnoughts to the Mother country, as well as the continuance of the naval policy of Mr. Laurier. Mr. Fauteux has made this declaration in Two Mountains County, and Mr. Achim has made it in Labelle. They are not the only ones. A score at least of Opposition candidates have followed this example, among others Messrs. Pickel and Davidson, two Englishmen.

"These gentlemen, once deputies at Ottawa will have to keep their word."

Continuing Mr. Kerr said, "this then, is the situation: Conservative newspapers confess the Borden-Bourassa alliance by hailing Mr. Bourassa as a patriot. Mr. Borden confesses it by modifying his naval policy to suit the Nationalists. Mr. Bourassa confesses it, nay, boasts of it, on the platform and in his paper. Conservative candidates in Quebec confess it by pledging themselves to support the Nationalist anti-naval policy.

"What do Imperially-minded Conservatives of East Peterborough think of the situation which makes every vote for Borden a vote for Bourassa," declared Mr. Kerr, and the audience applauded the speaker enthusiastically. They had never before had the Borden-Bourassa alliance explained to them so convincingly. 1-d 1-w

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here.

Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products emoves these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896, better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the land-hungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

J. R. Stratton

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorised by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA :

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-ons years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.

He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.

The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

THE MAGNIFYING EYES OF THE CAMEL.

A writer in an American magazine says:

One of the camels—the seven were lying just beyond the circle of firelight — rose complaining. Mustafa's Ahmed slipped away upon his duty. Presently I heard his guttural cawing to get the camel again to rest; but the beast would not down, and must be beaten — the boy meanwhile mouthing great curses. I wondered that a being so small should without peril to himself strike a creature like this with his fist, continuing all the time within reach of teeth and hoofs.

Ahmed had mastered the camel and now came to his place.

'The khawaja has observed,' Mustafa continued, 'that a child may beat and command a camel. It is not because the camel is stupid, nor yet because he is timid: it is because of a wise provision whereby God suited him to the weakness of men. The camel's eyes are like magnifying glasses, and increase the stature of his master seven times; wherefore he is obedient to this gigantic-appearing creature.'

In Damascus, too, I heard this superstition.

Both Amused.

Louis Agassiz, the naturalist, spent the evening of the day he was married in his laboratory as usual. He retired after his newly-found wife was in the realm of dreams, bringing to his bedroom two very choice specimens of the snake family which he had been studying, and was still engrossed in. Forced to part with them for the night, he looked about for a suitable place to leave them, and finally laid hold of his wife's stocking as a convenient receptacle.

The next morning, when Mrs. Agassiz rose, she cried: "Louis, there's a snake in my stocking! What shall I do?"

"A snake!" yelled Agassiz now fully aroused. "One snake! Heavens where's the other one? I put two in there."

An Ontario man was one day talking of the style in which his own townspeople were keeping up the council's dignity.

"Why, mobbut just lately, we bought our mayor a new collar an' chain," he said, with pride.

"Han' yo'?" said a man who lived in a new town some distance away. "Why, we letten you beggar of ours run loose."

DISTRICT OF ARBITRATION.

Ex-President Roosevelt, in a signed magazine article, assails the Anglo-American and Franco-American arbitration treaties on the ground that the language of them is not explicit enough. They provide that all justiciable matters shall be arbitrated and that an international commission shall decide whether any dispute that may arise, and which cannot be settled by diplomacy in the usual way, is properly justiciable. Mr. Roosevelt objects to this arrangement, because he thinks that there are certain things which ought not under any circumstances to be submitted to arbitration—such, for example, as the Monroe doctrine—and that the national government must reserve to itself the right to decide when any matter in dispute involves any fundamental law or principle which ought not to be made the subject of arbitration.

This objection is really an objection not only to the treaties under consideration, says the Hamilton Herald, but to all arbitration treaties. For of what use is a general arbitration treaty between two powers if each power reserves to itself the right to decide whether any particular dispute which may arise between them is or is not a proper subject for arbitration?

Mr. Roosevelt's objection argues a distrust of international arbitration. If such a distrust is general among his fellow countrymen, then it is best that the treaties which the U. S. senate has "held up" should be dropped. If an international tribunal cannot be trusted to decide with equity whether or no a certain dispute ought or not to be submitted to arbitration then the world is not ready to act on the principle of international arbitration as a substitute for international war. It is perfectly true that there are some questions which ought not to be arbitrated. The question is whether each nation ought to reserve to itself the right to decide, whenever a dispute arises, whether it is in the category of unarbitrable questions, or whether it should be left to an international commission to so decide. If the decision is to be national instead of international, then international arbitration treaties are of little practical use, for when a nation doesn't want to arbitrate any question it can easily frame up reasons for contending that the question involves some fundamental principle which ought not to be made a subject of arbitration.

As the lady in Vivien's song said of herself, of international arbitration it can be said that nations must "trust it not at all, or all in all."

CUSTOM IN SPAIN

And How Saltshakers Were Introduced.

One thing specially is vital in Spain: 'Costombre,' they say ('It is the cutom'). It explains commercial honor to-day for the Spanish business man to keep his word and pay his bills; exactly as it is equally customary for him to lack what we call honor in some other departments of life. It is customary to do or not to do, to like or not to like, a thousand things. Why? 'Custombre' is the only reply. It is customary, moreover, not to yield readily to an improvement or a luxury, even as it is again equally customary, once the Spaniard has yielded to a given thing, to hold to it like adamant.

Until a few years ago no Spaniard had on his dining table any other receptacle for salt than the old-style open cellar. An enterprising Briton saw this, noted that the salt was always dirty and gummy, and determined to introduce a certain famous salt-shaker, from which clean salt would run freely in the dampest weather. Bravely he started to tour Spain for the company.

'No, senor; no sat custombre usar mas que esto' ('No, sir; it's not customary to use more than that' — the old cellar), was the answer of every dealer to whom he presented the novelty. Again and again he was rebuffed. He began to despair when, standing one day gazing into a jeweller's window, a brilliant idea struck him. He entered. Realizing the child-like curiosity and impressionable character of his quarry, he persuaded the jeweller to display a shaker in his window, and coached him about selling it. A Spaniard came along, looked in the window, saw the curious object, investigated.

'It is very pretty for the toilet table,' he remarked, after prolonged scrutiny; 'perhaps useful for the children. What goes in it—perfume?'

Indifferently the jeweller glanced up from some scribbling. 'No, sir; only salt.'

'Man, salt!'

'Yes. Possibly I could get you a little — the kind that doesn't get sticky — to try. But I don't know.'

The simple gentleman was amazed, angry, affronted by the novelty, but he took it and an ounce or two of the special salt home with him. The jeweller ordered another shaker and more samples of salt. By and by the gentleman had used all his salt and wanted more of the same kind. The business of that company to-day is worth many figures in Spain every year, and, more than that, as it is 'costumbre' now to use that particular sort of shaker and brand of salt, there is virtually no competition.

CANCER AND THOSE WHO ARE LIABLE

Some Interesting Statements as the Result of Recent Research.

One of the most interesting statements in Dr. E. F. Bashford's striking report to the Imperial Cancer Research Fund, as recorded in The London Express, is that peculiar customs of the people render them especially liable to cancer.

Dr. Bashford mentions specifically the practice of eating very hot rice in China, the use of the kangri in Kashmir, and the chewing of the betel-nut. "It is reasonable to suppose," he says, "that the frequency of cancer would be diminished if such practices were discontinued, and it is also reasonable to assume that the introduction into England of these exotic customs would greatly increase the frequency of cancer in this country."

It is not only abroad, however, that customs conductive of cancer prevail. An Express representative who called at the laboratories of the Imperial Cancer Research Fund was informed that to smoke short clay pipes of the "cutty" or "nose warmer" description is to run the risk of contracting cancer. "Such pipes get very hot, and the clay often sticks to the lips," it was stated. "Any smoker who wishes to run the least possible risk of this dread disease should taboo such pipes.

"Alcoholic excess, which may lead to irritation of the stomach, is another practice which introduces the risk of cancer. Curries and highly-seasoned food generally, if taken habitually, are also a source of danger."

There are a number of trades in Britain which render the workers more liable than usual to cancer. The workman who runs most risk is probably the chimney sweep, whose body becomes covered with soot.

"Unless the sweep is extremely careful to keep his skin thoroughly clean, the aniline products in the soot will cause irritation, which may end in cancer," the newspaperman was informed.

"The coal miner, on the other hand, may get covered with black dust and look exactly like a sweep, but he runs no risk. The maid who cleans the grate, however, should take great care to keep her hands and face free from soot.

"In the same way, workers in aniline factories run considerable risk, and all persons who make use of X-rays are particularly liable to cancer."

We Eat Too Much.

To rise from the table able to eat a little more is a proverbially good rule for every one. There is nothing more idiotic than forcing down a few mouthfuls because they happen to remain on one's plate after hunger is satisfied, and because they may be "wasted" if left. It is the most serious waste to overtax the stomach with even half an ounce more than it can take care of.

Chest Inflamation

Suffered from a Heavy Cold. Pleurtic Pains in Side—Constant Coughing.

"NERVILINE" CURED QUICKLY.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

NERVILINE CURES CHEST COLDS

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large 25c bottles, five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

His excuse didn't prevail, however, his Worship being determined to make an example to offenders. They were fined $1 each.

A Dead Beat.

Later in the day he called on His Worship Beal, and asked for a ticket to Toronto. His Worship interested himself in the stranger and he was finally given transportation to the city. McDonald, while here, also passed as a doctor of medicine, and tried to borrow money from several local medical men He should be locked up.

Miss Davies' Successor.

Miss Chalmers, who has been secured by St. Paul's church as successor to Miss Davies, will enter upon her duties next Sunday. Miss Chalmers comes to Peterborough highly recommended and will be an acquisition to our musical talent. At a recital given by Miss Chalmers upon her attaining her A.T.C.M., the musical critic of the "Saturday Night" observes that "She not only has a charming stage presence and bearing, but her voice is of exceptional sweetness and purity, and possesses a silvery timbre peculiarly individual. Her voice production is admirable." The Globe also comments upon her work as a "conspicuous success." Miss Chalmers will devote herself to voice culture, concert engagements and church work.

Deepen Channel of the Scugog.

Lindsay Post: Work has commenced in the Scugog River. The drill scow, Frank Fairen, has been here for a week and it is expected that the dredge Fenelon, left Kirkfield this morning; to arrive here about noon Thursday. Blasting operations have not commenced yet, but will likely do so before the end of the week. A blacksmith shop is in course of erection near the Wellington St. bridge, and a powder house will be built farther down the river. Holes are bored and their location is marked with stakes. When the men are ready to blast the stakes are removed and the charges placed in the hole. At the last meeting of the town council, the chairman of the Board of Works was instructed to secure the stone which is being taken out of the river for the use of the town. The drill and dredge will be at work until the river freezes up and for the better part of next season. The river is to be made nine feet deep and the work will be extended to the mouth.

BOURASSA

The Burden of Mr. Burnham's Speech at Milburn's Hall, Smith

At the meeting held at Milburn's Hall, Smith, Mr. Burnham said that speculation was general as to what part Bourassa would play in the future history of Canada. One thing was certain. He and his large French following were likely to make trouble. They were making it already. If Bourassa wrests Quebec from Sir Wilfrid or even breaks up the almost solid vote (53 to 11) now given for Sir Wilfrid by Quebec, then it will be wholly impossible for Sir Wilfrid to continue to lead the Liberal party. In fact, it will quite plainly be necessary for the Liberal party to join hands with the Conservatives if they are to prevent Canada falling into the hands and control of Bourassa. Mr. Borden has beyond question the strength of character and ability to lead a Canadian party opposed to forces now trying to break up both the Liberal party and Canada. An alarming feature of the present contest is the appeal to race prejudice everywhere being made in Quebec. The cry is "support Bourassa and the French race" on the one hand and "support Laurier and French control" on the other. There can be no doubt that the immense advantage to the French race of a French premier of Canada is apparent. It is even better for French Canada than a Bourassa for what can Bourassa do but split things up, unless he leads the Liberal party? There is one thing sure and that is that it will take strength outside of Quebec to keep Quebec under Bourassa or Laurier from being the dominant power in Canada as she is now. There should be no one sectional dominant power. It should be Canadians one and all. It is only necessary to take a good square look at things to see where we are. In 16 years the whole aspect of Canadian affairs has changed. A united almost solid Quebec will always beat a divided Ontario. Will Quebec divide? It is not our fear. It is our only hope.

TORONTO WOMAN WAS MARRIED ON THE QUIET.

Mrs. Muriel V. Spencer, Widow of A. Herbert Spencer, Was Wedded on Monday, to A. Lincoln Stadler.

New York, Sept. 13.—It became known yesterday that Mrs. Muriel V. Spencer, the wealthy owner of the Hollywood Hotel, at Long Branch, N.J., was married last Monday night in Hoboken, N.J., to Mr. A. Lincoln Stadler, of this city. The news will come as something of a surprise. Their engagement was announced at the Hollywood on August 27, and it was expected that the wedding would be celebrated there late this month. But not caring for the formality of a big wedding, Mr. Stadler and Mrs. Spencer decided on Monday to be married without further delay.

Mrs. Stadler is the eldest daughter of Dr. Archibald P. Knight, Queen's University, Kingston, Ont. She was the widow of A. Herbert Spencer of Toronto. Mr. Stadler is the son of the late Max Stadler, of this city, one of the wealthiest merchants of his day and a personal friend of President Lincoln, for whom Mr. Stadler was named.

Back From the West.

Mr. W. A. McIlmoyle, of Edmonton is on a visit to friends in Peterborough and vicinity. He was formerly a resident of Smith, and left for the West in April. He thinks there is no place like the west for a young man, as the opportunities there are very great. The elections just now are naturally engaging the attention of the people, especially the farmers, who, he says, favor reciprocity. He thinks the Liberal candidates will win out in the prairie provinces. Mr. McIlmoyle intends returning to the West in the course of a month.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Ida Fallis, of Millbrook, is visiting friends in the city.

General Roadmaster Bibby, of the northern division of the G.T.R. was in town yesterday.

Miss Mary Chambers, of Sunderland, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. A. C. Miller, 40 Robinson street.

The many friends of Mr. Samuel Stinson, Chamberlain street, will regret to learn that his condition is such that he had to be removed to the Nicholls hospital again.

Mr. Henry Haskell, a prominent business man and commission merchant of Calgary, is visiting friends in this city.

Mr. Harry Winkle will leave town this morning en route for Manchester Eng., per Megantic, to take up a government appointment there. His brother Frank will remain in the city.

OBITUARY.

Henry L. Kerby.

Another old resident of the township of Smith, passed away on Wednesday, 14th, in the person of Mr. Henry L. Kerby, at the age of 77 years. He came from England, and was for several years with the late F. Lemay, tailor, afterwards going to Keene, where he carried on business as a tailor for thirty years. Giving up business he lived with his son-in-law, Mr. Mather, in Toronto, and for the last two months on a visit to his son-in-law, Mr. John Elliott, Smith, where he died. The immediate cause of death was failure of the heart. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a Conservative in politics.

The funeral will take place to-day, 15th, with interment at Keene cemetery.

Mrs. William Dawson.

It is with deep regret that we are obliged to chronicle the death of Elizabeth Ann McCague, wife of Mr. Wm. Dawson, which occurred at the family residence, Concession street, East City, early yesterday morning.

The late Mrs. Dawson has reached the advanced age of eighty two years. Some ten years ago she was stricken with a paralytic stroke from which she never wholly recovered, the attack leaving its effects upon her. She was born in the township of Emily and was married on August 24, 1853. For the past thirty-five years she has resided on Concession street. Of a family of ten children, seven are living. The sons are Messrs. William Albert and James Hilliard of Moose Jaw, and Thomas George of Chicago. The daughters are Mrs. Freeman Thompson, South Monaghan, Mrs. John Henthorne, Peterboro, east, Mrs. William S. Robinson and Mrs. Harry Gibbs of this city.

The late Mrs. Dawson was ever a good wife and mother. She was beloved by her children, and won the high regard of all her friends and acquaintances. She was a Methodist in religion and a member of Mark St. church.

The funeral will take place from the late residence, Concession street, near Downer's Corners, to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. Service at the house at two o'clock.

HOW THE EARTH WAS FORMED.

Chicago Professor Advances New Theory.

A new and startling theory of the formation of the earth is advanced by F. R. Moulton, associate professor of astronomy at the University of Chicago.

Professor Moulton has been spending a good part of the summer at Williams Bay, where he heard the [illegible] and the giant telescope. He has been studying the sun and has taken daily observations.

"We have seen in the last few days," he said, "great storms on the sun."

"Matter during these storms has been thrown from the sun for a distance of 250,000 miles into space.

"It is believed," he said, "that the earth was formed from a spiral nebula. The sun whirls very fast. The eruptions such as we have seen lately are not uncommon. The power of gravitation of the sun is so great that the matter thrown away from the sun is drawn back to it.

"But there is another sun that once in a million years approaches quite near to the sun we know. I believe that at the time of the formation of this earth the other sun was so near to our sun that it overcame the great power of gravitation of our sun. The missiles thrown from the sun were drawn away from it, left whirling in space and formed the earth on which we live."

The Dual Language Difficulty.

The question of the official equality of the two languages in Bohemia is, and is bound to remain, the principal stumbling-block. Hitherto the Germans have vainly insisted on German autonomy and a linguistic preference in certain German-speaking territories of Bohemia. These negotiations will, however, not be begun until the Reichsrath reassembles in the autumn and it is currently believed in Vienna that the Gautsch Cabinet, which is not yet complete, will be merely a stop-gap, and that Prince Thun-olfhenstein is destined to become Gautsch's successor and, as such, the promoter of peace between Czechs and Germans. He is now Governor of Bohemia, and was for a short while Austrian Premier once before. He is not at all popular with the Germans, and not fully trusted by the Czechs, except the Conservative landed proprietors; but he is a forceful personality and enjoys not only the confidence of the Emperor, who has just invested him with the princely dignity — he was until then Count Thun — but, what is equally important, he has probably close affiliations with the heir to the throne. POSTUM

Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

KNOWS HOW.

Doctors Had Been Over the Road.

When a doctor, who has been the victim of the tea or coffee habit, cures himself by leaving off tea and coffee and taking Postum he knows something about what he is advising in that line.

A good old doctor in Ohio, who had at one time been the victim of the tea and coffee habit, advised a woman to leave off tea and coffee and take on Postum.

She suffered from indigestion and a weak and irregular heart and general nervous condition. She thought that it would be difficult to stop tea and coffee abruptly.

She says:

"I had considerable hesitancy about making the change. The doctor, however, gave explicit directions that Postum must be boiled long enough to bring out the flavour and food value. His suggestions were carried out and the delicious beverage fascinated me.

"I observed, a short time after starting Postum, a decided change in my nervous system. I could sleep soundly, and my brain was more active. My complexion became clear and rosy, whereas, it had been muddy and spotted before; in fact, all of the abnormal symptoms disappeared and I am now feeling perfectly well.

"Another friend was troubled in much the same manner, as I, and she has recovered from her heart and stomach trouble by leaving off tea and coffee and using Postum.

"I know of several others who have had much the same experience. It is only necessary that Postum be well boiled and it wins its own way."

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

known. It remains to be seen whether either Baron Gautsch or Prince Thun will be able to reconcile the hitherto irreconcilable and to create a situation that will make it possible for Germans and Czechs to work together amicably in the Prague Diet and the Vienna Reichsrath.

The Reichsrath will have to deal, besides matters affecting taxation and the banking system common to the two halves of the Empire, with the army question, which has just been brought before the Hungarian Diet with signal ability by the Hungarian Premier, Count Khuen.

MILK DEALERS ARE CARELESS OF THEIR INTERESTS

TWENTY-FIVE WERE EXPECTED TO MEET THE COUNCIL LAST NIGHT IN SUPPORT OF A PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF THE MILK BY-LAW.

Not One Put in Appearance and the Matter Was Side-Tracked—Other Business Transacted.

The City Fathers met in brief session last evening.

The Engineer's report on the asphalt paving of Chambers street and Hunter from Park to Belmont avenue was referred to the Board of Works for executive action.

The Engineer's report on the proposed sewer on Sophia street, East City, was also referred to the Board of Works.

The Board of Works is now legally authorized to proceed with the foregoing works should the city approve of same.

Mr. J. T. O'Connell, through Mr. A. E. Dixon, asked $500 in recompense for alleged damages to his property created through the grading of the approach to Smith street bridge. This was referred to the legal committee.

To the Finance Committee was referred an application from the proprietor of the Peterborough Bowling alley for a rebate of license, he having retired from the bowling business.

The annual grant of $500 to the 57th Regiment Band was ordered to be paid.

An accumulation of two months' accounts was ordered to be paid on recommendation of Finance Minister, Ald. Bradburn.

The several committees reported their business transacted—as published in these columns. The reports were adopted as read.

Acting upon Ald. Buller's notice of motion in June last, Ald. Graham introduced the question of amending the milk by-law. Some 25 milk dealers had been notified to put in an appearance in support of the amendment of the by-law in their own interests, but not one was present. This matter was therefore side-tracked for future consideration.

The Bonner-Worth Co., having complied with the terms of their agreement with the city, the first instalment of the corporation's loan to them—$600— was authorized to be paid.

SECOND DAY OF FAIR MARRED BY SHOWERS

VERY one who patronized the second day of the Peterborough Fair provided themselves with an umbrella, on account of the threatening rain. Had the weather been fine, there would no doubt have been a record attendance, with corresponding gate receipts. However, the show was a success, notwithstanding this drawback, and also the fact that it was not sufficiently advertised. In this respect the directors appear to have adopted a "pennywise and pound foolish" policy by not only not using the advertising columns of the local press, but also the papers in the surrounding towns and villages. The new grandstand was well patronized both afternoon and evening, and afforded a fine view of the events on the track and fireworks at night.

The Midway is the largest ever seen in Peterborough, with a variety of features. There is a snake and alligator show, with banners that cause your hair to stand on end, a miniature railway, merry-go-round, ten-pin games, swinging the hammer for cigars, cane racks, the now well known "hoop-la" game, and a score of other similar amusements, to say nothing of refreshment booths where you can buy anything from a Coney Island "red-hot" to an ice cream cone. A number of these were on the ground last night and more were installed this morning.

The performance in front of the grand stand was fairly enjoyable. There was a clever trio of acrobats who do all kinds of "stunts." There was a comical mule, whose pranks, coupled with those of his clown trainer brings forth much laughter. There was a couple of hand balancers whose feats are performed with a skill and dexterity that earn them round after round of applause. There is a trained pony who tells his age, does sums in arithmetic and picks out colours for the audience. There are trained dogs which do everything but talk, and a trained bear which goes even farther than that, by singing and playing a banjo. There is a sensational team of acrobatic brothers who turn back somersaults off chairs and tables and do many other astounding evolutions.

The fireworks display concluded the performance.

MR. WILLIAM ADAMS NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED

The despatch which appeared in The Times yesterday morning, giving particulars of the shooting of Mr. William Adams, brother of our esteemed City Treasurer, Mr. Frank Adams, at his home in Snowflake, Man., was all are pleased to say, exaggerated. Mr. Wm. Adams, who took part in the chase after Henry B. Wilson, the desperate character who kidnapped Miss Price, a young school teacher, of Riverdale, and held her a prisoner in the woods.

Mr. Wm. Adams is the proprietor of a large hotel at Snowflake, and has been in the West about sixteen years. Instead of the bullet striking Mr. Adams in the body, as stated in the despatch, it hit him in the leg, so that it is not at all serious.

CANADIANS IN CHENTU ARE IN DANGER OF MASSACRE

CONDITIONS IN SZE CHUEN ARE ALARMING—NO HELP POSSIBLE FROM CHINESE TROOPS—REBELS LIKELY TO CAPTURE THE CITY.

THE REVOLUTION IS FAST GAINING GROUND

A Sortie Offers Best Chance of Safety—British Government Should Be Asked to Rush a Force to Relief of Missionaries.

Pekin, Sept. 15.—The relief force from Wu-Chang will take four weeks at least to reach Chentu, and the full gravity of the situation in the capital of Sze Chuen Province is now realized.

The revolution is fast gaining ground. It is believed that no food has entered Chentu for many days, and probably already the besieged are on short rations. Heavy firing is reported from the quarter between the loyal garrison and the rebels, among whom there are probably many soldiers.

Disturbances at Wan Hsien and Kiating are reported.

Among the missionaries who have arrived at Chung King in safety are the Canadians stationed at Luchow, Rev. and Mrs. C. J. P. Joliffe, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Ferguson, and Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Brecken, with their children. Luchow is about 150 miles to the southeast of Chentu.

Relatives of the 100 Canadian Methodists in Sze Chuen Province, the majority of whom are believed to be cooped up in Chentu, state that there can be no doubt that they are in the most deadly peril, and that vigorous action should be expected on the part of the British Government.

"With the loyal Chinese troops besieged by an ever-increasing rabble led by insurgent soldiers, with rebellion free to run riot all over the province, with famine conditions already prevailing inside the city, driving the inhabitants to desperation, there is every probability of a successful attack from within or with the Government forces, the destruction of all mission buildings, and the massacre of the missionaries." That is the way one Toronto man to-day sized up the situation.

PAY OFF OLD SCORE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see the Agricultural Society pulling "out of the hole" so well, and would suggest to the directors that before spending more money on "capital" account they pay their old debts. One year, as everybody knows, the Society defaulted, and did not pay their prizes. I think it would re-establish them fully in the public confidence if they were to settle these claims, which are largely debts of honor. A few hundred dollars would do the trick, and it would do more to promote the annual fair than anything else.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am, &c.

SOUNDS NOTE OF ALARM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In their comments on the negotiations of the representatives of our Canadian Government at Ottawa with the American Government at Washington, some are accusing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his associates in office of allowing a foreigner and foreign influence to have a controlling power in the government of this Dominion of Canada. It is not our purpose in this paper to discuss these political questions which are now so prominently before the people, not that we are indifferent to the rights and privileges of the many and various industrial classes which form the backbone of the nation, but to sound a note of alarm if haply the citizens of Canada and the British Empire may awaken to an imminintly greater danger which threatens to deprive us, not only of our dearest rights as free-born British citizens, but also of those higher and more precious God-given, birthright privileges, which are ours as men.

To put it in its most serious light, if President Taft and his government realized to the full, all their ambitious projects, it would not be more than to dispoil our fisheries, exploit our forests and mines, take employment from our people in the working up of our raw material and returning their finished products to our markets, and finally absorb our nationality and make us an integral part of the glorious Republic to the south. These matters, important as they may be to the citizens of Canada, are only mere trifles compared with the more alarming dangers which now confront every truth-loving and liberty-loving citizen of Canada and the British Empire, and not only the British Empire, but every Empire and people under the sun. That men-

AN APPEAL MADE FOR ELECTION PURITY

London, Ont., Sept. 15.—Canada's bishops of the Church of England, made a direct appeal to the electorate of Canada at the closing session of the General Synod yesterday, to make individual efforts to command a high standard of political morality at the coming election, and to go to the polls with a full and sensitive understanding of their responsibility. "The bishops therefore desire at this time," the appeal said, "to remind men of all political views and parties that political purity is one of the essential foundation stones upon which national greatness and prosperity must rest, and in particular that to buy or sell a vote is to act the part of a traitor to our country, to violate a first principle of righteousness, and to invite the just contempt and condemnation of all good men.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF THE NEW BOSTON CAFE

Peterborough has reason to be proud of the new Boston Cafe, which was formally opened on Thursday night. The efforts of Mr. N. Douros, in giving Peterborough a thoroughly modern and up-to-date cafe, won instant approval and the large staff of obliging waiters are kept busy until a late hour.

The show window, with its dressling of appetizing bill of fare edibles, attract at once. The interior is spotlessly clean, but only in keeping with the first law of the management. Music and flowers assisted in the gay scene last night, Mr. Cyriel Devey, presiding at the piano.

The Boston Cafe is now ready to cater to all demands of the busy public. Full course meals in the dining hall and lunches at the counter will be served with the best of satisfaction! This evening an orchestra will be in attendance.

STOLYPIN SHOT BY ASSASSIN

RUSSIAN PREMIER ATTACKED WHILE ATTENDING ROYAL PERFORMANCE AT KIEV.

Expected to Recover—Premier Was Cool and Calmly Saluted the Emperor With His Wounded Arm.

Kiev, Russia, Sept. 15.—There appears to be grounds for the hope today that P. A. Stolypin, Premier of Russia since July, 1906, and one of the strongest officials that the government of the Empire has developed in recent years, would for the third time survive the attack of an assassin.

Fired upon at close range as he sat defenceless in his chair at the Municipal Theatre last night, the Premier escaped with two wounds neither of which, it is said, were necessary fatal.

SHOT BY A LAW STUDENT.

The assassination was attempted under circumstances that lent themselves to a most dramatic scene. The would-be murderer, who described himself as a junior member of a firm of lawyers and the son of a well known attorney and wealthy house-owner, M. Bogroff, chose a moment when attention had been withdrawn from the stage and centred readily upon his first unexpected move.

The curtain had fallen on the second act and there was a buzz of conversation throughout the audience when it was suddenly thrown into a panic. The day had been one of festivities in which Emperor Nicholas and others of the Imperial family had personally participated and promised to end most happily.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC SOCIETY.

Hold Annual Election of Officers at The Collegiate Hall.

The Girls' Athletic Society of the Collegiate Institute, held the annual election of officers on Thursday evening and the following will hold office for the coming year:

President—Miss E. MacNamara.
Vice-President—Miss G. Moore.
Secretary—Miss Estella Cuffe (acclamation).
Treasurer—Miss Mabel Brown.

This society in the local institution has been gaining in popularity every season. The girls throughout the school are becoming interested and are uniting to make it the best of its kind in the city.

The teachers are encouraging the pupils to take part in some recreation out of the school, and by joining a society of this nature they have ample opportunity. In the fall, arrangements are made with the Y.W.C.A. whereby there can be an intercollegiate basket ball series among the girls. Paper chases are also a feature. In the winter there is a hockey schedule drawn up and the members get out and chase the rubber a couple of times a week.

Some of the young ladies are becoming quite expert at handling the "stick."

Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained when on board the cars or steamships. For sale by all dealers.

A THOUSAND MADDENED MEN HUNTING FIEND

Manitou, Man., Sept. 15.—With over a thousand maddened men searching the rough country covering an area of twenty miles between here and the border for the man who kidnapped Gladys Price, a school teacher, the fugitive has defied capture for three days. The girl positively identified a police photograph of the man known to the Winnipeg police as Wesley Osborne, as her assailant. Identification was made easy by a vivid scar on the desperado's face, which the girl had noted carefully.

SPAIN STRIKE SITUATION IS BECOMING ALARMING

Madrid, Sept. 15.—The strike situation in Bilbao and throughout the Province of Biscay grows more alarming with each day's developments despite the vigorous measures resorted to by the Government. Matters have now been aggravated by the depletion of the food supply and the tie-up of the transportation system.

Moreover, the movement, as started in Bilbao, is spreading to other centres.

ACUTE DYSPEPSIA

RESTORATION OF STOMACH POWER COMES QUICKLY WITH THE RIGHT MEDICINE.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvellous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep and live like a live man."

Be advised—Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

BITTEN 2,000 TIMES; JUST A MERE TRIFLE.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 14.—Herman Carn, official dog catcher of the City of Denver, announced yesterday that he had received his 2,000th dog bite. Following his custom, he anointed the wound with carbolic acid and pursued his work.

"Dog bites are nothing," he remarked. "I would a good deal rather have them than mosquito bites. There's nothing to this hydrophobia business. I've been bitten by thoroughbred bull dogs, French poodles, and mangy yellow curs, and I'm still here."

Only once, Carn says, did a dog seriously inconvenience him. That was when a pup sank his fangs in his nose. He picks up on an average of 10,000 dogs a year.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA :

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE :

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.

He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.

The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

No statement of the assets and liabilities is availing yet. Mr. JOHN STANFIELD

That the duties of a party whip are no sinecure will be admitted by anyone who has had opportunity of looking at the whip's work from the inside. The position demands a man of uncreasing energy, great tact and unusual organizing ability. Such a man the Conservative party of Canada were lucky to find in the person of Mr. John Stanfield, member of parliament for the Colchester division of Nova Scotia.

Mr. Stanfield was appointed whip to the party on its re-organization. He was first elected for Colchester in 1907, winning a spectacular by-election and was re-elected at the general election in the following year. Mr Stanfield has extensive business interests in Nova Scotia, being president of Stanfield's Limited, which now operates the plant formerly known as the Truro Knitting Mills Company. He is forty-three years of age having been born in 1868.

JOHN STANFIELD

Amount of Rest Workers Need.

Persons who may be unwilling to accept the Sabbath as a day of rest prescribed by the Infinite may learn the observations recently made in the half of the German Army. Germans as a people, long have been regarded as a people open to conviction scientific observations and deductions. In drilling, marching and manouvring its troops the German Government has discovered that in long marches especially, no commissariat will supply to troops the waste of carbohydrates without rest intervals. In this connection army experts more than double the period in the Scriptural injunctions and have decided that after three days marching the marchers should have a full days rest for recuperation. To keep an army column longer in heavy marching order is to weaken the physical force of the soldier.

When Bilkins was away from home on a long business trip he got a letter from his wife that still puzzles him. It ended thus: "Baby is well and lots brighter than she used to be. Hoping you are the same. I remain, Your loving wife."

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI

Archbishop Bruchesi's name will always be associated with the Eucharistic Congress of 1910 as it was through this exertions this great display of Roman Catholic zeal and power was held for the first time on the American continent. When the carrying of the Host through the streets of London in connection with the Eucharistic Congress of 1908 was prohibited by the British Authorities, Mgr. Bruchesi asked that the Congress of 1910 be held in Montreal so that the world might see the public exhibition of the central element of Catholicism on British soil. His request was granted and the Archbishop worked with might and main for two years collecting funds and making other necessary preparations for a big demonstration of the loyalty of French-Canadian Catholics to their Church. In this he was successful and the Eucharistic Congress held at Montreal in September 1910 was a gorgeously spectacular affair on which a huge sum was spent.

Mgr. PAUL BRUCHESI,
Archbishop of Montreal.

The Province of Quebec is the most Catholic part of North America and the official church authorities with the many religious orders in the provinces control a vast amount of valuable property. Church building and the establishment of Catholic schools and religious houses has been very active during recent years, but the province has not made anything like the industrial and commercial progress the other parts of Canada have been making. In fact, though the oldest part of Canada, the longest settled, and the nearest to Europe, besides possessing great natural resources, it is regarded as the most backward of all the provinces.

Right Rev. Mgr. Paul Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, is of Italian descent on his father's side and French-Canadian on the maternal side. He was born at Montreal in 1855 and appointed Archbishop in 1897.

PIONEER, NEWSPAPER PROPRIETOR AND NOVELIST.

Robert Lorne Richardson is one of those lucky people who reached Winnipeg in the early eighties. The first feint flushes of the great dawn which was so soon to rise on the vast unpeopled prairies of the Great West, were then making themselves visible to the far-sighted few who laughed to scorn the ominous predictions of nervous stay-at-homes and struck out towards the new lands the Canadian Pacific Railway was bringing within reach of the older world. There were many optimists amongst those plucky pioneers who turned their face from the old homesteads and cities of the East, westward to the Red River and the plains of Manitoba; but not one who looked with more hope and courage to the future than the young journalist from Toronto, who landed at what is now the third city of Canada, in 1882.

As Mr Richardson's birth took place in 1860 he was not long out of his teens when he started for the West. He was born at Balderson, Lanark county, Ont., on a bright June day of that year and began his career as a newspaperman on the Montreal 'Star' at the age of eighteen. Two years later he went to the Toronto 'Globe' whence after a further period of two years he removed to Winnipeg. He established the Winnipeg 'Tribune' in 1890 and is still editor and proprietor of that progressive and influential newspaper. He spent eight years in the House of Commons until defeated through the inevitable swing of the political pendulum in 1904. He is the author of two popular novels: 'Colin of the 9th Concession', published in 1903, and 'The Camerons of Bruce', published in 1905.

McNamara Trial to Begin Oct. 11th.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—Judge Bordwell announced to-day that the trial of John J. and James J. McNamara, alleged dynamite conspirators, would begin October 11. There has been considerable rumor lately that there might be a postponement for a week because of elections, holidays and the visit of President Taft, but the judge said nothing known at present would interfere with the beginning of the trial as scheduled

MR. SEXSMITH'S PLAIN WORDS

He Nails a Liberal Garbled Story.

Recent issues of the Toronto Star and the Peterborough Examiner contained a quotation from Mr. J. A. Sexsmith's speech on the budget in the Commons on Jan. 18th, 1910, which also appears among Mr. Kerr's advertisements in the riding), whereby it was made to appear that he was in favor of reciprocity at that date. This Mr. Sexsmith emphatically denies, and the following extracts from his able speech will prove that instead of advocating reciprocity, he was endeavoring to obtain for the farmers equal rights with the farmers of the States regarding certain natural products. The following is his speech on that occasion as taken from Hansard:

"As has been pointed out the balance of trade against us with the United States is something to be deplored. I have here a statement of our exports to the United States and our imports from the United States, and in that table I have been careful to include only purely agricultural products which are of interest to the farmers of Canada and of which we produce an abundance in this Dominion. The first table shows as follows:

Imports from United States to Canada, 1909.

Total breadstuffs, under duty	$11,425,804
Total breadstuffs, free	3,795,734
Total	$15,221,538
Green apples	224,896
Total provisions (lard, butter, cheese, etc.)	3,791,939
Animals, not including animals for export	960,584
Hay	126,738
Vegetables	795,791
Grain products, bran, flour, etc.	424,639
Tot. agricultural products	$21,546,125

Now the market gardeners of the United States have a market of 80,000,000 people in their own country and the market gardeners of Canada have a population of, we will say between 7000000 and 8,000,000 people to supply, but the market gardeners of the United States are protected and the market gardeners of Canada are not equally protected, and the market gardeners of the United States have been able to send to Canada vegetables to the value of $795,791. Now I have here a table showing the Canadian exports to the United States, and I have taken similar articles to those mentioned in the former table of the United States exports to Canada.

Canada Exports to United States.

Animals, living	$ 1,796,992
Total breadstuffs	2,592,969
Fruits	360,870
Hay	35,008
Provisions (butter, cheese eggs, bacon and ham	382,118
Total	$ 9,695,076
Total trade, exports and imports	$285,265,717
Imports	$192,661,360
Exports	92,604,357
Difference in favor of United States	$100,057,003

It will be seen, therefore, that the Canadian farmers and market gardeners have been able to sell to the 80,000,000 population of the United States only $5,695,000 worth of these natural products, while the American farmer and market gardeners have been able to sell to the 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 Canadians $21,546,000 worth. Thus, the farmers of Canada are to this extent forced out of their own market and obliged to pay the freight for the transportation of their products to other markets of the world. That is the kind of treatment the farmers of Canada are receiving from this government all along the line. I remember from my boyhood days hearing the Liberals when in opposition talking about capturing the markets of the United States for the Canadian farmers and gaining reciprocity. The Liberals are in power, have we reciprocity today?

Mr. Edwards—They forgot all about it.

Mr. Sexsmith—Yes, they forgot all about it and the balance of the trade between us and the United States is some $90,000,000 worth in their favor, deducting the imports of bullion. I contend that the United States last year took that amount of money out of the pockets of the people of Canada and carried it away to their country. I do not believe there is a minister in the cabinet today who would conduct business privately with a man who always wanted an advantage of from ten to twenty per cent and yet that is the system under which the people of Canada are forced to do business with the United States. I wish it to be distinctly understood that I am not a high protectionist, but I am an adequate protectionist. I believe in fair trade, and if the United States put up barriers against us I believe we should do likewise. Let us see how the duties on Canadian products going to the United States compares with the duty on United States products coming into Canada. The following statement will show:

	Can. Duty	U.S. Duty
Hay, per ton	$2 00	$4 00
Butter, per lb	0 04	0 06
Cheese, per lb	0 03	0 06
Bacon & Hams, a lb.	0 02	0 05
Eggs, per dozen	0 03	0 05
Barley, per bush	0 15	0 24
Potatoes, per bush	0 20	0 25
Oats, per bush	0 10	0 15
Peas, per bush	0 15	0 30
Beans, per bush	0 25	0 45
Wheat, per bush	0 12	0 25

Any fair minded member of this House will admit that there is nothing fair about that for the farmers of Canada. I do not think that the government have at all taken into consideration the interest of the producer. Had we a similar tariff to that which they have in the United States on these articles they would not cost the people of this country one dollar more.

In conclusion I would advise the government to take a little more interest in the farmer and spend a little more money upon them. . . . I had no intention at all of making any remarks on the budgett but I was compelled to do so because of the inlaborers of this country have been treated and because of some of the remarks which have been made recently in regard to this matter. I would ask the government at the first opportunity to see if something cannot be done to protect the margets of the farmers and the market gardeners of Canada."

MR. SEXSMITH AT LAKEFIELD.

Big Audience in Town Hall Heard Three Conservative Speakers.

All meetings are alike for Mr. J. A. Sexsmith. The member for East Peterborough is marching ahead, meeting with success at all points. Bets are being made every day and indications point to a grand victory on Thursday, September 21st.

With Mr. Jas. Thompson, M. P., and Mr. G. H. Ferguson, M.P.P., of Grenville, the Conservative candidate invaded Lakefield on Wednesday night and was given one of the best hearings ever accorded him. The town hall was filled with a gathering of electors that followed the three speakers closely throughout their addresses and judging from the applause and attention, the arguments put forward made their point. Mr. Sexsmith speaks in most optimistic terms regarding his campaign and return to represent East Peterborough, and from all accounts he is justified in his confidence.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

Working Men Vote in Your Own Interests

Dominion Trades Congress Strong For Reciprocity

The executive does not hesitate to say that it believes that the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States is in the interests of the Canadian people. If other proof of this were wanting, the fact that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is against, would be sufficient to prove it must be of some value to the workers. This organization has never tired of proclaiming its love for "free" labour, because that helps its pocket. Reciprocity has long been recognized in the International Trade union movement and we see no danger to anything but the pockets of a few interested capitalists in permitting the people of the two countries to swap knives if they see fit to do so, without the intervention of a horde of Customs officials. The trade union movement is better and stronger because of the freedom it enjoys in the exchange of benefits.

Sounds Note of Alarm

acing foreign enemy now centres in the old man who sits in the Vatican at Rome and the hierarchy which invests him with the false claim to INFALIBILITY and with an influence that is felt in every clime and nation.

Is the Bible an Inspired Book, as it claims to be?—and of this any honest man can soon be satisfied.

The claims of the Church of Rome are either true or false. If true, the Bible will corroborate them and if her doctrines are true, they will harmonize with the teaching of the Bible But if the claims of Rome are false and baseless then is she the most gigantic fraud ever imposed upon mankind, compared with which the Farmers' Bank fraud is scarcely a drop in the ocean.

If the British government, or the Canadian government, wishes to know whether these high claims of this mighty corporation are genuine or false, which leads her to interfere with the affairs of every nation that does not resist and protest against her false assumptions, let them appoint a Royal Commission, with full powers to investigate every question that is agitating the minds of their people to the bottom, calling upon whom they see fit to give evidence. Let the Church of Rome be called to the witness stand to answer the following questions:—

By what authority do you claim to rule over the Kings of the earth? and who gave you this power? If the claim is genuine it ought to be made clear so that all can understand it.

If the King is to be submitted to as SUPREME as the Apostle Peter teaches in his 1st Epistle Ch. II. vs. 13, 14, how can the Pope or any other be above him? And how can any Christian escape the obligation to follow the example and to obey this command of God through him.

Why should any Roman Catholic be allowed the privilege of citizenship without first renouncing his allegiance to the Pope, any more than an American or any other foreigner is allowed the privilege of citizenship without first renouncing his allegiance to the ruler and government whence he came?

What right has the Pope to send his representative to interfere with any of the affairs of a nation that does not acknowledge that right, but professes to PROTEST against it? And can the Church of Rome deny the charge that she does interfere in every department of the life of the people where her claims are acknowledged—in the affairs of government, in the direction and control of education and in the affairs of social life, using the power of the State to enforce her decrees and to persecute to the death in the most cruel manner those who refuse submission. Where did the Church of Rome get the authority she claims, to bind the marriage tie? And to annul marriages sanctioned by the laws of the State?—laws which the authority of God commands all Christians to obey.

And above all, where does she get authority to sell the gifts of God for money? and to claim a monopoly of the inspired Book of God (which like the sun is designed to shine upon all) and of the grace of God which brings salvation to all men, proclaimed in the gospel freely to all nations, and to every creature to the ends of the earth.

If her claims are genuine, let us acknowledge them to the full and with zeal and devotion seek to teach her dogmas and bring all others to the true faith. But if she cannot substantiate her claims, let us deny them IN-TO-TO and no more commit our temporal or spiritual concerns to her keeping than we would deposit our money in the Farmers' Bank.

There are many other questions which the Church of Rome should be called upon to clear up by the Royal Commission. Only the first difficulty we fear would be to find the right kind of men Such as Joshua commended to Moses, Exodus 18:21—"Able men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating covetiousness."

Such an investigation by such men would, we fear, prove too much for most men. Not only would it show the baselessness of the high claims of Rome, but would reveal the truth, that men as men are not willing to yield to the claims of God, that they "love darkness rather than light, because their ends are evil." The nation of Israel rejected and cast out their rightful King and that England as a nation, has no more place for him is proved by the treatment that is given in the national educational institutions to the Book which contains the promises and their fulfilment concerning Him. It would show not only the rottenness of the foundations of Rome, but would show also the crumbling nature of the thrones of all the kings of the earth, and would point for safety to that kingdom alone, "that cannot be moved," "the city which hath foundations," whose Builder and Maker is God."

The British nation has been privileged during the past three hundred years to have the inspired Book of God to read and to hear the voice of God speaking to each individual by His Son, whom this blessed Book reveals from beginning to end, as the foundation of all God's gracious purposes towards man and the centre around which all His purposes revolve.

As we open this blessed Book, we hear the voice of God speaking: "Hear this all ye people; give ear all ye inhabitants of the world: both low and high, rich and poor together." Psa. 49:1, 2. He doth not regard "the rich more than the poor, for they all are the work of His hands." (Job 34:19). "Unto you O men I call and my voice is to the sons of man." (Prov. 8:4). "Be wise, now therefore, O ye kings: be instructed ye judges of the earth."

Read the context. Psa. II.) :"From a child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." (II. Timothy 3:15). "These are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through His Name." (John 20:31).

But while it is the glory of England that she has translated the Bible into every language and circulated it in the darkest places and the most remote corners of the earth, what place is given to the teaching of the Holy Book in the homes, and hearts and lives of her people, and in her national institutions?

"At the convention of the Ontario Educational Association, held in Toronto, in April, 1911, a proposal that the Bible be used as a text book in all public schools of the province, led to a most heated discussion." (The name of Principal Fraser of Manning Ave. school should be handed down to posterity as one of Canada's true noblemen for the part he took in this discussion, and a few of his sentences might well be written in letters of gold over the door of every educational institution:

"LET US MAKE THE BIBLE THE GLORIOUS LADDER JOINING THE EARTH TO HEAVEN; LET US LEAD OUR BOYS AND GIRLS TO TAKE IT AS THE CHART AND COMPASS OF THEIR LIVES FOLLOWING ITS TEACHINGS AND REALIZING ITS IDEALS."

Principal Fraser's resolution was seconded by Mr. J. A. Macdonald of Thamesford, and a warm discussion

Taxes on Your Food That Will Vanish When the Duties are Abolished

READ over the List of Duties on Table Supplies that Peterboro' houses are obliged to buy in the States, and pay high duty on.

On Free List Under Reciprocity

Here is interesting reading for every housewife in Peterboro'. It shows how Reciprocity, by abolishing the duties, will decrease the cost of living.

'Who Gets all the Money'

Quotations of American and Canadian Live Stock and Produce Markets shew that the American Farmer gets on an average more for his cattle and sheep and hogs than the Canadian Farmer. Yet the Canadian housewife who does not buy cattle, sheep and hogs, but beef, mutton and bacon, has to pay a lot more for these things than the American housewife.

Who gets that excessive price? The answer to that would disclose why the packing interests of Canada, including those in Peterboro, are fighting so strongly against taking taxation off foodstuffs.

FOLLOWING IS A LIST OF CURRENT PRICES IN PETERBORO' AND CHICAGO ON ARTICLES CONSUMED IN EVERY HOME. NOW THEY ARE DUTIABLE.

	Peterboro' price.	Chicago price.	Difference.
Eggs, new laid	23c	21c	2c
Sirloin Steaks, per lb	20	18	2
Porterhouse Steak, per lb	25	20	5
Roasts	20	15½	4½
Pot Roast, per lb	15	9½	5½
Ribs of Beef	18	15½	2½
Pork Tenderloin	25	28	3
Pork Loin, Roast	15	14	1
Pork Shoulder	12½—15	11½	1 to 2½
Lamb, hind quarters	20	13	7
Lamb, loin	18	9	9
Lamb, shoulder	12½	8	4½
Leg of Mutton	15	10	5
Veal Cutlets	15	20	5
Chickens, per pair	$1.25 to $1.50 90		35—60

Head Lettuce.—Local supply lasts a few weeks. We are obliged to purchase from the United States and pay 30 p.c. ad valorem duty.

Tomatoes.—We buy them nine months of the year from the States and pay 30 p.c. duty.

Potatoes.—Early potatoes now a luxury. May be bought at reasonable prices with 20c duty per bushel, removed by reciprocity.

Oysters, Shell.—We pay 25 p.c. duty and most of supply comes from the States. The Canadian Malpeques being limited.

Lobster.—25 p.c. ad valorem duty.

Cherries, Plums, Apricots.—Local supply covers a few weeks, and it is necessary to pay 1c a pound duty.

Cauliflower.—The local supply covers three months, and the rest is bought from United States, with 30 p.c. duty.

Early Strawberries.—Bought wholly from the States, 2c a lb. duty.

Dry Onions.—We import entirely from United States and pay usual duty.

Celery.—Local supply ends in November, after that we buy from the States and pay 30 p.c. duty.

Oranges, Peaches, Pears, Canteloupe and other Fruits.—Fresh and canned, bought largely or almost exclusively from United States under usual duty.

ON ALL THE ABOVE ARTICLES and scores of others duty is removed or reduced by Reciprocity agreement. The local farmers' market in its season will not be affected.

Don't be misled by arguments of Canadian packers, who sell their bacon cheaper in Liverpool than in Peterboro'. Reciprocity will end this.

Reciprocity removes the food taxes your wife has to pay on her breakfast table, her dinner table and her supper table. Talk over the matter with her. She is interested in reducing the cost of living Reciprocity will do it.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

"I'll do it," he finally assented. "The position ought to be a sinecure. Run in to-morrow morning at ten-thirty, and we'll step around to the court-house and have the thing legally executed. You're staying at the old place, I suppose?"

"I'm going to," I replied. "I haven't been at the house; I came straight here from the train."

"Well run along, son," he said good-naturedly. "I'd take you home to my family, only I don't happen to possess one. I live at the club—the Arlington—mostly.

"Oh, by the way," he called to me, as I neared the door, "How are you off for funds?"

"To tell the truth," I owned rather shamefacedly, "I'm getting to pretty low water. I think I've some change at home, but I'm not sure. Dad never gave me a regular allowance. He'd just send me a check now and then, and it go at that. I'm afraid I'm a pretty good spender."

"You'll have to reform your ways," he warned, mock seriously. "There," he flung a fifty-dollar bill out of his pocketbook—"that'll keep you going for a while. I'll keep you in pocket money till this administrator allows you a monthly sum for maintenance. Don't forget the time, now. Ten-thirty, sharp. To-ta!" And he hustled me out of the office in the midst of my thanks.

I was thankful, too, for I'd put it rudely when I told him that I was getting near the rocks. I was on them. I'd paid my last cent for a meal on the train that morning. And while I did feel tolerably sure of finding some loose silver in the pockets of my clothing at home, I knew it would not amount to more than four or five dollars. Oh, I was an improvident youth, all right. The necessity for being careful with money never struck me as being a matter of importance; I'd never had to do stunts in economy—that was the trouble.

From the bank I went straight home. We hadn't kept a very pretentious establishment, even though Sumner père had gone on increasing his pile all through the years since we'd moved to the city. A cook and housemaid, a colored coachman and gardener — the four of them had been with us for years, and old Adam was waiting by the steps for me when I came up the walk, his shiny black face beaming welcome. I had to go to the stable and look over the horses, and tell Adam that everything was fine, before the old duffer would rest.

In the house everything was as I'd left it. All that evening I moped around the big, low-ceiled living room. There was little comfort in the place; it was too lonely. The hours dragged by on leaden feet. I couldn't get over expecting to see mother come trailing quietly down the wide stairway, or dad walk in the front door, packing a battered old grip and greeting me with his slow smile. I knew it was silly, but the feeling drove me out of the house and downtown, where there was a crush of humans, and the glitter of street lights, and the noise of traffic. There I met a chum or two, and subsequent proceedings tore a jagged hole in Bolton's fifty-dollar bill, before I landed home in the little hours. Even then I couldn't sleep in that still, old house.

The long night came to an end, as nights have a habit of doing, and breakfast time brought with it the postman. The mail was mostly papers and other uninteresting junk, but one missive, postmarked Amarillo, Texas, and addressed to myself, I opened eagerly. It was from the administrator, as I had surmised.

Most of the communication was taken up with an explanation of how he came to jump into the breach so quickly. He had been, it seemed, a close friend of my father's. He knew that Jack Sumner had a son who was not yet of age, and who, even if he were, knew little or nothing about stock. Things needed looking after, he said; my father's sudden death had left the business without a responsible head, and the ranch foreman and the range boss were bucking each other. Things were going to the dogs generally; so he felt called upon to step into the breach, seeing that some of the Sumner family showed up to protect their interests. I wouldn't be under any obligation to him, he frankly explained, for as administrator he would be paid for what he was doing. He also stated that, if I felt that my affairs would be more capably managed in the hands of some one whom I knew better, he would cheerfully turn over control of the estate, without any tiresome litigation. And he concluded his letter with an urgent invitation to come to the Long X and see the wheels go round, for myself. He signed himself, in a big, heavy hand, Jake Howey, and the signature gave me an impression of a bluff, hard-riding cowman — picturesque and thoroughly Western. If I had been born a girl, I expect my disposition would have been termed romantic. Anyway, Mr. Jake Howey's letter made me feel that my affairs were in good hands.

When I went to keep my appointment with Bolton, later in the forenoon, I took the letter with me. He glanced over it, and tucked it back in the envelope.

"I don't believe much in long-distance judgment of men," he declared, "but I'd be willing to take a chance on this Texas person. I should say you can expect a square deal from him — if this missive represents his true personality."

"That's the way it struck me, too," I confessed. "I think I'd like to go down there for a while."

"Yes? What about school?" he put in.

"Well, I suppose it's necessary for me to go through college," I admitted. "Dad intended me to. I was to begin this coming school year, September, isn't it? But that's nearly three months away. I would like to see that Red River ranch. I was born there, you know."

"You'll have to cut your eyeteeth in the business some time," he mused. "You'll be less likely to get into mischief there than you will in town. Yes, I dare say you might as well take the trip. But no funking school this fall, mind. I've known youngsters to go to the cattle country, and stick there. Your father did."

"I won't," I promised. "Even if I want to stay, I'll be ready to dig in when September comes."

"You'd better," he echoed at my earnestness. "Or I'll be down there after you. When do you propose to start?"

"As soon as I can." Instinct gave the way to go. I wanted, boy-fashion, to be on the move at once.

"Any idea how to get there?" he queried, as if he had no doubt about the development of my bump of location.

But I had him there.

"Oh, yes." Dad used to take the train through Little Rock to Fort Worth, and on up into the Panhandle from there. Sometimes he took a steamer from here to Memphis. I think I'd like the river trip best."

"All right," he decided. "You shall go, my boy, just as soon as you can get ready. Now we'll see about this guardianship matter."

We saw about it in such wise that, two days later, I was the happy possessor of a ticket to Amarillo and a well-lined pocketbook. I had dinner with Bolton, and bade him good-by quite cheerfully; for I felt a good deal as Columbus must have done when he turned the prow of his caravel away from Spanish shores. After leaving Bolton, I went home for a grip I'd forgotten. The river boat on which I'd taken passage was due to leave at midnight.

And that midnight departure was what started one Bob Sumner up the Trouble Trail. It isn't known by that name; it doesn't show on any map that I ever saw; but the man who doesn't have to travel it some time in his career — well, he's in luck.

CHAPTER II.

The New Moon.

Lights by the thousand speckled the night-enshrouded water front, when I reached the slip where my boat lay. On the huge, roofed-in wharf, freight handlers swarmed like bees. The rumble of hand trucks and the tramp of feet rose to the great beams overhead. Lamps fluttered on vibrating walls and echoed back in a steady drone. Men moved in haste, throwing long shadows ahead and behind them. Boxes, bales, barrels, sacked stuff vanished swiftly down three separate inclines to the lower deck of the "Memphis Girl," and from the depths of this freight-swallowing monster came the raucous gabble, freely garnished with profanity, of the oiling stevedores.

Out from under that vast sounding-board of a roof, the noise at once diminished in volume, and I passed through the heart of the dust and babel and gained the cabin deck of the Memphis. A steward looked over my ticket, and guided me to the berth I had reserved. It was then half-past nine; still two hours and a half to the time of departure. I took a look around the upper deck. Quite a number of passengers were already aboard. Some were gone to bed, others were grouped in the stern. One or two poker games were started, and little groups were loafing on. But of them all I knew not a soul.

Youth hungers for companionship, and I was no exception to the rule. It may be a truism to say that nowhere can one be so completely alone as in a crowd; the singularity of it never came home to me until that night. But we are always learning old things and esteeming them new. I roamed about the Memphis Girl, wishing I had stayed uptown till the last minute. It had been my plan to go down and turn in; the ceremony of casting off was not one that interested me greatly. But now the time was gone; a spirit of unrest, an impatience to be off, drove sleep from my mind. If you have ever known the dreary monotony of waiting for train or steamer to start, when your whole being craves the restfulness of motion, you will not wonder that I made one more round of the deck and saloons and then left the boat, to roam aimlessly past the serried wharves that face the east.

I don't recollect just how far I wandered. If the place had been strange to me, I should likely have been more circumspect in my proceeding. As it was, my only concern was to be at the steamship company's wharf by midnight, and midnight was yet afar. So I poked along, stopping now and then to hang over a railing and peer across the dark sweep of the Mississippi, toward the Illinois shore. Between, the lights of divers craft twinkled like fireflies, and [illegible]

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here. Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products emoves these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896 to better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the land-hungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

J. R. Stratton

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 214 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

A FEARLESS NEWSPAPER PROPRIETOR.

The name of the Montreal 'Witness' has long been synonimous with purity and independence in journalism. Established in 1860 by the late John Dougall it is still conducted on the principles laid down by its founder, by his son Mr. John Redpath Dougall, M.A., the present editor and proprietor. The aim of the Dougalls, father and son, has been to issue a clean, readable newspaper which no head of a household need fear to place in the hands of his or her children. Everything calculated to diminish respect for the nobler and better things of life and anything likely to have in itself a tendency, even though remote, to undermine good morals is vigorously excluded from the columns of the 'Witness'. Mr. Dougall claims for his paper absolute independence of all classes, creeds and parties, and makes no secret of his intention to comment, adversely if need be, on anything affecting the community at large, or any considerable section of it, which he does not think is going to make for the moral or material well-being of the people. This is the unalterable policy of the 'Witness' even though the proposal adversely commented on may emanate from a party to which it has given a general support. The independence and fearlessness ofthe 'Witness' has almost passed into a proverb and even those who are opposed to the policy advocated by the paper are generally ready to admit that it is advocating the genuine opinion of its proprietor There is no lack of pluck or consistency on the part of the 'Witness' in fighting for any cause which Mr. Dougall considers to be just

Mr. JOHN R. DOUGALL, M.A.

Mr. Dougall was born at Montreal in 1841 and has been connected with the 'Witness' since its establishment, when as a boy he assisted his father in producing the paper. He was educated at Montreal High School and at McGill University, being a graduate of the latter. He has taken a lifelong and prominent interest in temperance and in social and moral reform work and is honorary president of the Dominion Alliance and president of the Boy's Home and Boy's Farm, Montreal.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Prepare for Lumbago

If You Have "Nerviline" Handy One Rubbing Will Cure the Pain.

THOUSANDS USE "NERVILINE."

The "strike" of lumbago is like a bolt of lightning—you never know when it is coming or where it is going to strike. Probably the one certain thing about lumbago is the fact that it can be cured by Nerviline—the only liniment that penetrates deeply enough to reach the congested chords and muscles.

"Years ago I strained my back and suffered considerably with weakness over the spine," writes LETTER NO. 4875. Darius P. Millan, a well-known farmer, residing near Kingsville. "Then lumbago attacked the weak spot, and for days at a time I would have to lie up in bed, unable to move or turn. Liniments, poultices and hot applications failed to bring the desired relief, and I was in despair of ever getting really well again. I at last decided to test "Nerviline." I got five bottles from the drug store and had it rubbed on three times a day. The stiffness and pain left my back quickly, and by continuing Nerviline I was completely cured of Lumbago."

This is similar testimony to that of nearly five thousand Canadians who have written unstinted words of praise to the manufacturers of Nerviline. For the cure of lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia and rheumatism there is no liniment with one-fifth the pain relieving power of Nerviline.

Refuse any substitute. Large 25c. bottles of Nerviline, or five for $1.00 at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone

At the Opera House.

The performances of Marks Bros.' Dramatic Co., at the Grand, was somewhat of a frost, partly on account of the exhibition, but mostly because the company were poorly advertised.

Were Heavily Fined.

Work to Begin at Once.

The new wharf adjoining the Matthews' packing house, is to start at once. Mr. Stratton, M.P., states that it will be rushed through to completion as rapidly as possible, which will mean the employment of a large force of men during the winter months.

Artillery Man At Home.

Brigadier Sergt.-Major Guerin, of the 24th Field Battery C.F.A., who was Peterborough's representative on the Canadian Artillery team, which went to England and took part in the competitions, arrived home yesterday. The Canadian team won three cups. The men arrived at Montreal on Thursday evening but are indignant at the poor reception accorded them.

County Police Court Case.

The case of McQuaig vs. Tedford will come before Police Magistrate Edminson to-day. It appears that Albert H. McQuaig, a plasterer, had taken over a piece of work from Richard Tedford, who resides near Warsaw, and when he went to proceed with the work he found that it had been done by another man. He then claimed the wages from Tedford, and the latter struck him, it is said, with the result that McQuaig charges Tedford with assault and non-payment of wages; the same being committed on the 8th of Sept. The parties in the case desired that it be tried in this city owing to the presence of some witnesses so it will come up this morning at 11 o'clock.

Does Not Like The Times.

Mr. H. Dodds, who resides at 360 Mark street, called at The Times office a few days ago and left a lengthy article for publication, which he clipped from the Orange Sentinel, and which he asked us to publish in The Times next day. We did not have the space, and held it over intending to have it appear Monday or Tuesday. This did not satisfy Mr. Dodds, who cancelled his subscription and accused The Times of being unprincipled. Mr. Dodds evidently is one of the "fire-eating" kind, who thinks that when he whistles others must dance. Of course he was quite within his rights in ceasing to become a subscriber, but he is altogether out of order when he insinuates that we were actuated by improper motives in withholding his clippings. He or no other man of his kind will run this paper for the present at least.

Electric Fixtures at First Cost.

We call the attention of the public to the advertisement of the Electrical Wiring, Fixture and Supply Company, 261 College street, Toronto, which is to be found in another column. By doing so they will procure fixtures at first cost—wholesale to all. Peterborough references as to the high quality of their fixtures given if desired.

WEDDING BELLS

Charming Double Wedding.

THERE was a pretty double wedding celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bairie Seabrook, Frazerville when their charming daughters, Emma and Mildred, were united in marriage to Mr. James Johnston of the Bell Telephone Co., of Peterborough, formerly of Toronto, and Mr. Charles Lewis Burns, of Oxford, Maine, principal of the Wingham Business College, formerly of Peterborough Business College, respectively. The spacious drawing room was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the bridal party entering to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. (Rev.) Allen. The ceremony took place under a beautiful arch of evergreens, the officiating clergyman being Rev. W. C. Allen, of Millbrook.

The brides were given away by their father and mother respectively, which was a unique and charming feature of the interesting ceremony. Miss Emma was attired in a beautiful white silk dress overlaid with net and carried a bouquet of white asters. Mildred, who was given away by her mother, was beautifully and becomingly attired in a white flowered silk gown and carried a bouquet of white asters also. Both brides wore veils caught up with lily-of-the-valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Flossie Seabrook, who wore a dainty pink silk dress and carried pink asters, while Mr. W. H. Jessops of Toronto, attended Mr. Johnston.

Miss Mildred was attended by Miss Olive Seabrook, sister of the bride, who wore a very pretty white embroidered dress and carried pink asters, and the groom was supported by Mr. B. Page, of Toronto. Mr. Johnston's gift to the bride was a handsome brooch, set with emeralds and pearls and to the bridesmaid a gold barrette set with brilliants.

Mrs. Johnston's travelling suit was of old rose broadcloth with picture hat to match, and Mrs. Burn's was of navy blue serge, with blue velvet toque to match.

After the ceremony dainty refreshments were served, after which Mr. Allen proposed a toast list to the health of the brides.

The happy couples left for Peterborough with the best wishes from their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Burns left on the morning train from Peterborough for Wingham, where they will reside.

This is the first double wedding to be held in this locality for many years and was exceedingly pretty in all details.

Progress of the Campaign Throughout The Riding

Matter under this heading solicited on the understanding that The Times will not hold itself responsible for the Opinions Expressed or the Statements made.

WHO IS DISLOYAL?

Many advocates of trade obstruction talk as if there was something treasonable in dealing with the people of the United States. The rabid Conservative in Eastern Ontario, who said on Mr. Borden's platform that he would have no truck nor trade with the Yankees typifies this narrow, little-Canadian spirit. It would have some excuse if the United States were not now the largest trader Canada has. Few people realize that we already do a million and a quarter dollars trade with the United States for every working day in the year. Is Canada any less loyal for the enormous growth of this commerce in the last twenty years? On the contrary, whatever inclination ever existed towards annexation has completely disappeared.

But what of the men who are buying millions of dollars of goods from the United States every year? Some of them are among the most pronounced of Imperialists in sentiment. With one hand they buy from the United States what they need in their business, while with the other they wave the flag that keeps alive the British spirit, and incidentally maintains the high protective tariff.

What manufacturer in Toronto but uses coal in his business, and American coal at that? Over $31,000,000 worth of it came to Canada last year.

The cotton combine, which is so highly protected against outside competition, brought in $11,000,000 of raw cotton from the United States last year.

It is surely not disloyal for Mr. A. E. Kemp, the moving spirit in the tinware combine, to but tin plate in the United States, and to place his insurance there. Mr. Kemp moved heaven and earth to prevent a duty being imposed on his raw material a few years ago, when a projected factory at Morrisburg sought that advantage on the plea that it would mean a new industry for Canada.

Mr. Edward Gurney is still a loyalist, and an advocate of a tariff "as high as Haman's gallows"—for the other fellow—so long as he and other manufacturers may bring in $2,266,000 worth of pig iron in a year. Mr. Gurney is still loyal, though he has a large branch factory in New England.

Even the Ontario Government are loyal, though in calling for tenders for a public building they specify Georgia pine as a necessity.

Sir Edmund Walker and Mr. E. B. Osler are ardent citizens of the Empire, though Sir Edmund's bank has many American branches, and Mr. Osler is a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which has 3,000 miles of lines in the Republic and profits even by the abhorred north and south haul.

All this is legitimate and as it should be, for it has built up an import trade of $284,000,000 comprised of things that Canadians want. But when these men and others say the farmers have no right to sell their products to the United States if the people of that country want them, for fear of compromising the loyalty of this country, they are talking what reasonable men will refuse to believe.

The farmers of East Peterborough should not be led away by talk of disloyalty, but should vote MR. F. D. KERR and larger markets.

NEXT WEEK'S MEETINGS

Mr. F. D. Kerr Carrying on a Splendid Campaign.

The aggressive platform campaign that has been carried on by Mr. F. D. Kerr, Liberal candidate, during the past month, will be kept up right until the night of the 20th instant.

Meetings for next week have been arranged as follows:

Monday night—Lakefield.
Tuesday night—Keene.
Wednesday night—Norwood.
Wednesday night—Havelock.

Mr. Kerr will be assisted at these meetings by Mr. C. A. Moss, K.C., R. S. Muir, J. E. Atkinson, all of Toronto, and Mr. Cowan, editor of Farm and Dairy, Peterborough.

Mr. J. E. Atkinson is editor of the Toronto Star, and is a very clever speaker. He will address Mr. Kerr's Havelock meeting.

SOUNDS NOTE OF ALARM

then ensued. Mr. R. F. Downey, of Peterborough, was the chief speaker against the motion, declaring that the children already had the Bible as a text book sufficiently in an indirect way. "It is the teacher, not the text book," he declared, "that makes the school and moulds the character of the pupils." (No doubt this is the reason why Roman Catholic rulers and teachers are so insistent on having separate schools, where they can replace the Bible by their propaganda, and only have such teachers as will mould the characters of the pupils according to that propaganda, and in asking any government to support such schools, they are asking in effect, that government to support schools in which to teach treason against itself, because the ecclesiastical authority is set above the civil authority—the Pope above the King.) Other speakers were equally strong in their opposition to the principal's proposal and finally the motion was tabled indefinitely.

After thus throwing God's Holy Book out of the schools a speaker at the same convention said "Our Government is neglecting the highest part of the educational course in not teaching morals"—which in effect might well be compared to a city council that would shut off a pure flowing spring and direct the citizens to drink from a mud puddle. "Where withall shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto ACCORDING TO THY WORD." (Psa. 119:9.)

Only give the Book of God its right place of supremacy, and, like Timothy, the child will soon be made wise unto Salvation through faith in Christ Jesus and as Jesus becomes known as He is revealed in the sacred oracles and by the spirit to the believing heart the "wondering eyes" are so filled that there is no room for any other but "JESUS ONLY." "No other name", none other Mediator but the "One Mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus who gave HIMSELF A RANSOM FOR ALL," and therefore none other sacrifice than that "OUR SACRIFICE FOR SINS FOREVER" for by ONE OFFERING He hath perfected forever them that are sanctified" (Heb. X: 10 and following vs.) "So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many" (Heb. IX: 28. Notice this word "ONCE" and "ONE" in the Epistle to the Hebrews in contrast with the "oftentimes" of the sacrifices under the law. How absurd and wicked for sinful men to pretend to be mediating and sacrificing priests and how sad and humiliating to think of our young King so lightly esteeming that precious blood on which alone his gracious and queenly grandmother built all her hopes of heaven by allowing Romish masses to be offered for him in all the Romish Churches in his realm and to receive the flattery of a Romish bishop that he is the only King who has ascended the British throne for the past 200 years without insulting their subjects. Why does he not resent such a slur being thrown upon the memory of his noble ancestors?

Let us return to the old watchword of the Reformers, to whom we owe so much under God for the liberties we have enjoyed as a nation for the past 300 years, "The Bible, all the Bible and nothing but the Bible". One God, one Mediator, one Great High Priest, one and only one sacrifice and in this light the counterfeit inventions of men will pass away like mist before the rising sun, and we shall soon begin to sing the ONE song of heaven—"To Him that loved us and washed us from our sins in His own blood and hath made us Kings and priests unto God and His Father to Him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen. (Rev. 1:5, 6.)

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my head ached, bad pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers led me and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I consulted the New Method Treatment, and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

JOHN HEAD ACCIDENTALLY KILLED AT MEDICINE HAT

Mr. John Head, formerly of this city, was accidentally killed near Medicine Hat on Saturday. No particulars are yet to hand, only the bare fact of his death having been received by his relatives here.

Deceased was a young man of about 25 years of age, and had been employed on the construction department of the C.P.R. in the west. He left Peterborough about nine years ago, and was here on a visit last Christmas.

Only a few months ago his brother Walter was killed at the Golf Links here, by being crushed with a heavy stone, which rolled over on him. The deceased was a nephew of Mr. James Head, of the Montreal House.

CHINESE REVOLT WILL BE EASILY SUPPRESSED

London, Sept. 16.—The Times correspondent of Pekin says the Chinese war ministry is taking a less gloomy view of the revolutionary outbreak, and believes that should the Sze-Chuen rebellion continue it will be easily suppressed when the foreign drilled troops, which are advancing from I-Chang, and other reinforcements arrive there, as the rebels are armed mainly with old matchlock guns. According to the correspondent, the government further believes that the Imperial edict issued last Monday, which now should have arrived at Chentu, will have a quieting effect.

No anti-foreign incident has yet been recorded, the correspondent says but it is feared that unless order is soon restored similar outbreaks will occur in Hupeh, Sunan and Canton, where the natives hold grievances against the government's policy. The correspondent says in conclusion that one certain effect of the rising will be the abandonment of military movements in Tibet and near the Assam and Burmah borders.

SOME CANADIAN REFUGEES HAVE GOT TO CHUNG KING

Pekin, Sept. 15.—An Imperial edict issued to-day admits that the situation in the Province of Sze Chuen is very dangerous, and orders Tsen Chun-Suan to proceed hitherto immediately. Tsen Chun-Suan, who is now in Shanghai, formerly Viceroy of Sze Chuen and Kwang Tung, and has the reputation of being a ruthless suppressor of rebellion. He crushed the Mohammedan rebellion in Yunna, of which his father was the Viceroy at that time, and in 1903-4, personally led an army to put down the Kwang-Si rebels.

Tuan Fang, the director general of the Hankow-Canton and Hankow-Sze Chuen Railway, is instructed to devise measures for raising the siege of Chentu, the capital of Sze Chuen, at once. According to Chinese reports, 2,000 modern troops who are outside Chentu refuse to join either side.

The British river gunboat widgeon is leaving Sui Fu for Kiating to-day.

MODERN TROOPS NEUTRAL.

Chung King, China, Sept. 15.—Two thoisand modern troops outside Chentu have not yet joined the besiegers, but have moved from their barracks, which are outside the walls into a camp five miles distant. They refuse to obey the Viceroy or to participate in the siege. It is reported that the students of the military college have joined these non-combatants. Authorities outside fear to attempt the relief of Chentu lest the neutral soldiers join the rebels.

The besiegers are armed only with antique weapons. They demand the release of the ringleaders of the Railway League as a condition upon which they will raise the siege of the capital. The rebellious agitation was begun by the league in protest against the government's programme of building the Hankow-Sze Chuen Railway extensions with the aid of foreign capital.

A number of foreign families from Kiating and elsewhere have arrived here safely.

The first private cable message from Canadian Methodist Missionaries in Sze Chuen was received to-day in Toronto from Mrs. R. E. S. Taylor. It was addressed to her sister, from Chung King, and merely read "All well."

This message is taken to mean that not only the Taylors, but the families of all the Methodist Missionaries at Tsetintsing, where the Taylors were stationed, are safe. There would include Rev. G. W. Sparling, G. Datdorf, and Dr. E. C. Wilford. Tzelintsing is about four days' journey south-east of Chentu.

WEDDING BELLS

Bowes—Collins.

Hastings Star—On Tuesday morning at the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, a very pleasing and happy event took place, when Rev. Father Bretherton united in marriage Miss Lillian Collins, one of Hastings' most popular young ladies and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Collins, to Mr. P. J. Rowen, of Toronto. Miss May Kelly, of Peterborough, cousin of the bride was bridesmaid, and Mr. D. Rowen of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a large party of friends assembled to congratulate the newly married couple. Mr. and Mrs. Rowen drove to Norwood in the afternoon taking the four o'clock train for the west, after which they will reside in Toronto. The bride who has a host of friends was the recipient of a handsome array of most beautiful presents.

TO CATHOLICS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Some few weeks ago The Catholic Register paid its tribute to the "Liberal Catholic," whom it called "accursed." It demands, however, a very liberal brand of Protestant. The following rebuke of the faithful who incline to be pleasant and tolerant is worthy of perusal. It is from The Catholic Record: "In his reply to the address of Cardinal Farrari, Archbishop of Milan, and the Bishops of Lombardy, he (the Pope) used these significant words: "We refer to the unseemly policy of those Catholics who, seduced by a vain hope, would have Catholics remain in a certain inertia, forgetting or not caring sufficiently for the sacro-sanct rights of religion and of the Apostolic See. The injury they would thus do to Catholic life would be altogether grave."—words that might be pondered over with profit by those who are so ready to criticize the Catholic press for carrying the war into Africa. THE TIME HAS COME TO TAKE THE AGGRESSIVE and to vindicate the truth of our religion to all the world." (The Catholic Record), yours, etc.

Time to Wake Up.

PROVINCIAL ELECTION COMING.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—No matter which way the Dominion elections may go, there is no doubt in my mind that a Provincial election will follow this fall. There are ten or twelve seats vacant, caused by members of the Legislature resigning to run for the House of Commons. This would mean just this many bye-elections, so that it is almost certain that Premier Whitney will dissolve the House and go to the country, probably in October or November.

This being so, I would ask our friends throughout this part of the Province at least, to see that candidates are secured who will pledge themselves to see that there will be no bilingual schools in Ontario, and who will also put a stop to Roman Catholics teaching the dogmas of their church in our public schools. I hope The Times will fight this evil to a finish, as I am sure it will, when the time comes.

MOVING PICTURE SHOWS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was present at a moving picture show the other night and was very much disgusted to observe one of the sets of pictures, in which the Phillipine war was brought out, with the American flag in the foreground. Uncle Sam's soldiers were the heroes.

Now, Sir, this is poor stuff to feed to our people, and especially the rising generation.

I do not blame Mr. Pappas, who has to take what is sent him, but I do blame the government for not exercising a proper censorship.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, &c.

HARDLY FAIR TO GROCERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I saw aletter in The Times a few days ago proposing that two night markets a week be established for the accommodation to those who cannot get to market in the day time. I notice that they have a night market in Hamilton, where I find that day and night markets do not meet with the approval of the retail grocers and at a meeting of their association, held a few days ago, a lively discussion took place on the subject. Ever since the everyday market developed, it has been a source of dissatisfaction to the grocers.

J. A. McIntosh, president of the Retail Grocers' association, of that city, stated through the press that the grocers of Hamilton were opposed to the night markets, particularly as they thought they were a drawback to business in the day time. As the result of people buying stuff at night, it took the edge off the day market and spoiled the business for the downtown merchants. He thought it would be in the interests of the city at large to confine the market to certain days. As there is nothing now to prevent an everyday market, the grocers may pass a resolution petitioning the city council to enact a by-law defining the market days and hours.

The market is all right as it is in Peterborough at present.

THE STRENUOUS HUNT OF FOUR DAYS ENDED

MANITOBA TEACHER'S ASSAILANT WAS CAPTURED IN DAKOTA ON SATURDAY.

Answers Description of Man Wanted—Prisoner Has Confessed—Violence Threatened.

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—The most furious man-hunt in the history of the west ended at 10 o'clock to-day, when, as a climax of the search lasting four days, in which a thousand armed men were involved, the assailant of Miss Gladys Price, was captured in a hay-stack three miles south of the border.

His identity is in doubt, but he answers the description of the man who kept the young teacher prisoner in the woods Monday night and subjected her to appalling indignities. Sheriff May of Hannah, N.D., made the arrest.

The fugitive went to the house of a farmer at Halliday, where he was yesterday, and asked for food. He was not armed, but was recognized at once. He was given food, and he asked for a razor to shave with, and which was supplied. He then became suspicious, as a man left the farm on horseback, and he fled to the hay-stack. The posse from Hannah came in autos and surrounded the stack. The hunted man came out and was taken to Hannah. He refuses to talk except to say he is a harvester and an American. He is best known to the police as Geo. Brown, but his likeness is identical to the man who held the girl prisoner. He gave his name as Henry Bill Wilson of Hannah, N.D., and said he was raised at Dubuque, Ia. He refused to return to Canada without requisition papers. A reward of $500 offered by Manitoba yesterday, will be paid to the Hannah posse. Chief of Provincial Police Elliott is at Hannah with the ten deputies. An excited crowd has gathered at Snowflake, consisting of Miss Price's friends, and numbers of man-hunting posses and serious trouble is feared, but the prisoner will not be returned before next week. The prisoner has confessed his guilt.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

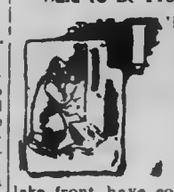
CITY SUFFERS TRAMP INVASION

Many Wandering Willies All Through the Country

Police Kept Busy Looking After Homeless Men—Many Tramps Said to Be From United States.



THE tramp nuisance is one that is engaging the attention of the police of most of the cities and larger towns of Ontario just now.

Toronto, Hamilton and other cities along the lake front have considerable trouble dealing with the hordes of "wandering Willies" who are now in evidence.

Peterborough is not quite so unfortunate, there being fewer tramps here than are to be found in other and more exposed places nearer the American border. However, we hear of occasional complaints from residents of tramps hanging around. In one instance the intruder had come right into the house and was walking around the kitchen, evidently thinking that there was no person in the house. When he was discovered he bolted out the back door and over the fence. Several like complaints have come to The Times and the residents in the southern section of the city claim that it is not safe to leave the house even though it is locked up, because the prowlers either try the back door, climb the porch or become more bold and use the duplicate key dodge and walk in the front door. The tramps appear to have become bolder and more brazen than ever of late.

FOLDS COAT FOR A PILLOW AND THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 16.—Martin Costello, 65, of Tombstone, Ariz., prominent for more than a quarter of a century in the development of mines in the southwest, and reputed to be a multi-millionaire, committed suicide here last night. Costello dressed himself in faultless after dinner attire, left his family at home and rented a room in a lodging house. He folded his coat for a pillow and lying down on the floor, sent a bullet through his heart, dying almost instantly. Despondency is believed to have been the cause.

KEPT THREAT TO KILL WIFE AND HER FAMILY

Berlin, Sept. 16.—A domestic tragedy, involving the murder of five members of a household, has occurred in the village of Rendel. Hesse. William Gunderloch, who returned from London Thursday evening, went to the house of his father-in-law, where his wife was living, shot his father-in-law, mother-in-law, wife, brother-in-law and sister-in-law.

Police dogs which were put on the tracks of Gunderloch, found the body of the murderer at noon in a neighboring potato field. He had committed suicide by firing a bullet through his mouth.

The murders were carried out with extraordinary coolness and resolution Gunderloch, who was a well-to-do yeoman farmer, married the daughter of a farmer named Eberhard, living in the village of Rendel. After wasting his patrimony of several thousand pounds, Gunderloch sold his farm and went to London eighteen months ago, abandoning his wife and two children, who went to live with Eberhard. Before leaving Gunderloch threatened to murder his wife's family.

Gunderloch's wife was the last victim. She heard the shots and made a desperate effort to reach the neighboring house through the roof. She had torn away twenty tiles when her husband entered the bedroom and shot her as she hung half out of the window.

Five years ago Gunderloch shot his own brother dead, but was acquitted on the ground that he had acted in self-defence.

GERMANS WANT TIME TO CONSIDER FRENCH REPLY

Paris, Sept. 16.—The German foreign minister, Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter, to-day informed the French ambassador at Berlin, M. Cambon, that the German Government would not be ready before Monday to indicate what they thought of the French reply to the latest German note concerning Morocco.

WOMAN WITH UMBRELLA FOUGHT GANG OF THUGS ONE MAN WAS KILLED

New York, Sept. 16.—An elderly woman armed with a stout umbrella, saved the life of Policeman Byrne in battle with a gang of roughs on an uptown street corner early to-day.

The battle had gone against Byrne who was on his back and nearly unconscious from a rain of vicious blows when the woman, whose identity was not learned by the police, came out unexpectedly from across the street, took in the situation hurriedly and rushed into the gang with her umbrella upraised. She belabored right and left and her sally diverted the attention of the roughs to enable him to get his revolver from his hip pocket.

Byrne fired twice quickly into the air. He hoped this would be enough but one of his assailants turned like a flash and started to wrest the weapon from his weakened hand. The policeman with a last effort aimed straight into the crowd. His bullet struck a young house painter, Arthur Thorpe, mortally wounding him, and the gang fled. Then Byrne fainted. He was taken to a hospital, where it is said his injuries are serious.

A BLAZE AT THE GAS HOUSE

A fire broke out at the gas works yesterday evening about 6.15, which caused a loss of several thousands of dollars. Had the fire department been less prompt the fire would probably have destroyed the entire building, and cut off the supply of gas for the city, which would have occasioned serious loss. The firemen, however, speedily had a couple of streams playing off the blaze, which was got under control before very serious damage was done. The cause of the fire is unknown.

CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribes it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorised by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments:

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.

He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.

The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

Extensive Decline in Copper Properties Cripples a Magnate.

London, Sept. 14.—The financial affairs of Reginald H. No statement of the assets and liabilities is availing yet. Mr. Ward explains that extensive declines in copper properties in which he is interested, were responsible for his embarrassment which he maintains is but temporary. A comparatively young man as politicians go — his nativity only dates from 1862 — he has made rapid strides in offices of state since his first election to Parliament in 1891. When the Laurier Government went into power five years later, Mr. Brodeur was made Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons and Chairman of Committees. After the election of 1900 he became Speaker of the House, and in 1904 entered the Cabinet with the portfolio of Minister of Inland Revenue. Two years later he became Minister of Marine and Fisheries and held that office till August 1911, when he resigned to become a Supreme Court Judge. Hon. Mr. Brodeur accompanied Sir Wilfrid Laurier to England as a delegate to the Imperial Conference of 1907 and was a delegate to the Imperial Defence Conference of 1909. By profession he is a lawyer, having been called to the Bar in 1884 after graduating from Laval University. Beloeil, P.Q., is his birth place and his early education was received at St. Hyacinthe College.

Schoolboy "Howlers."

Some amusing schoolboy "howlers" were recounted by Mr. W. Elwyn Fiske, headmaster of the Elm House School, Surbiton, at the Christmas prize distribution. In the general papers worked by the students one boy described "coup d'etat" as a French dish played in musichalls as a voluntary.

Credit said another boy, signifies "a person who gets nice things said behind his back." A third boy illustrated the meaning of gender by [illegible] "the masculine is the masculine gender, the feminine is the feminine, and the neuter is neither one thing nor the other." Among the replies were [illegible] to eat anything" and "To be a porcupine, because I could prick [illegible]."

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

Mr. F. W. G. HAULTAIN, M.L.A.

Though not a Canadian by birth Frederick William Gordon Haultain, K.C., is one of the men who have put their impress on the Great North West. As a member of the old Northwest Assembly up to its dissolution and as a member of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Saskatchewan from its creation, he has been an active figure and has taken a leading part in the changes and developments which have taken place on the Western Prairies during the past quarter of a century. Mr. Haultain was born at Woolwich, England, in 1857 and came to this country when a boy receiving his education at

Montreal High School, Peterborough College Institute and Toronto University. He was called to the Ontario bar in 1882 and elected a member of the Northwest Assembly in 1888. He remained a member of the Assembly until its dissolution on the creation of the two new provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1905. He was then elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature of which he is still a member. He represented the Northwest Territories at the Coronation of King Edward in 1902.

It would be difficult to estimate what Mr. Haultain's name stands for in the West. He is universally respected, even by political opponents and indeed it would be hard to overestimate his influence in the province he has made his home.

CONTROLLER WANKLYN

When the citizens of Montreal decided to use the sweeping brush at the City Hall and adopt a new form of civic administration they cast about them for qualified and trustworthy men to place in charge of the city's affairs. The great majority of the citizens favoring the system of government by Control it was decided to appoint four controllers, with the mayor as chairman. It was realized by all that the city's future administrative well-being depended on the personnel of the Board and the greatest care was exercised in selecting the right men. One of the first to be selected by the Citizen's Association was Mr. F. L. Wanklyn, M.I.C.E., whose extensive and varied engineering experience in different countries, knowledge of local conditions, and reputation for sound integrity eminently fitted him to act as a Controller. Nor have those who selected him been disappointed, for his work since he became one of the Controllers is a living testimonial to the wisdom of the selection.

Few people gazing on the fine Saxon profile and commanding figure of Mr. Wanklyn would dream that he was a Latin-American by birth.

Controller Wanklyn is a member of the Institute of Civil Engineers, London, and a member of the Council of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers. He is a keen sportsman and his favorite holiday is spent with rod or gun by some quiet stream or amid the game frequented woods.

AN OFFICE-HOLDER'S PERPLEXITIES

Some Exigencies of American Politics

The following "Diary of an Office-holder," from the "New York American," illustrates the difficulties of a certain class of political students:

I see they have made Vice-President Sherman temporary chairman and handed a lemon to T. R. This alters things somewhat, so I will write Mr Sherman a letter congratulating him on the way he has spoofed the Rough Rider. This job in the Customs is all right, but what I want is a good Consulship somewhere.

Wrote the letter to Sherman and took a few good whacks at the Oyster Bay man. Also alluded in a somewhat slighting way to President Taft, as being lacking in the statesmanlike qualities that Mr. Sherman so magnificently displayed.

That should tickle the coming man in the Republican Party of New York State.

Also wrote congratulatory letter to Messrs. Barnes and Woodruf, telling them that the Old Guard was the brains and backbone of the Party, and that such men as they could show the youngsters a thing or two in politics. Nothing like being in solid with the ruling crowd.

From what I learn to-day it seems that the President is behind Sherman, and that he has definitely broken with the Oyster Bay man. I am sorry now I made any references to the President in my letter to Mr. Sherman. Must write the President a letter congratulating him on the way he manipulated things here, and handing T. R. a good roast. Also send another letter to Mr. Sherman and others to the Albany crowd, so as to keep in strong with them, especially as they have the President behind them. Have taken a few cracks at Mr. Grissom in all the letters. He seems to have mixed things up badly.

What's going on, anyway? Here the President has come out with a letter in which he says that he didn't want to beat T. R., and that the election of Mr Sherman wasn't his doing at all. Wish I hadn't written those other letters, but, anyway, to-day I sent a long letter to the President, extolling both him and the Oyster Bay citizen. I took some hard shots at the Barnes-Woodruff crowd, and a few at the Vice-President.

Now I see there's going to be a scrap between the two sides, but just what to do I don't know. It would be a terrible thing not only to be disappointed in the Consular job, but to lose the job I have now. Every day I write letters to both parties, and it gets harder and harder to figure out which side I should break up with. It's tough to hold a Federal job in this State.

STREET CAR CONDUCTORS IN GERMANY.

The street car system of Germany is distinguished from that of any other country by the attention on the part of a large proportion of the passenger of giving the conductor a tip.

The average fare on the German street car is 10 pfennigs, the equivalent of 2 cents, but one-third of the passengers give another cent as gratuity to the conductor when he hands them over their ticket. This is usually done by women, probably with the vague idea of securing the championship of the conductor in case of unpleasantness of any sort.

That tips amount to a considerable sum in the course of a year was shown by a trial at Hamburg arising out of a dispute between the street car company and one of its conductors in which the court estimated the tips at about $90 in the course of 12 months.

The existence of the custom of tipping on the part of the public was assumed by the court from the comparatively low wages paid to the conductors as compared with the drivers.

IF YOU HAVE NO ICE

Here is a suggestion for the housekeeper who gets along without ice:

"Obtain a large, common flowerpot and seal the whole in the bottom with plaster of Paris. Place in the pot the bottle containing milk, or a covered crock containing butter, and fill the pot with water to as great a depth as possible without the bottle or crock floating. Cover the pot with a board or a plate and set out in the open air, away from the direct sunlight, and preferably where there is a current of air. The evaporation of the water from the surface of the porous pot will keep the contents several degrees colder than the outside air, when there is the slightest amount of air stirring. The higher the wind, or the drier the air, the greater will be the cooling effect."

BOURASSA SUES.

Charges Liberal Candidate With Uttering a Defamatory Libel.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—Mr. Henri Bourassa yesterday entered an action for $10,000 damages against Mr. L. A. Rivet, Liberal candidate in Hochelaga, for alleged defamatory libel. The libel suit is the result of a certain statement said to have been made by Mr. Rivet in the course of a campaign speech, Sept. 6, to the effect that Mr. Bourassa was being subsidized to the extent of $200,000 by the Conservatives and Orangemen of Ontario, this sum being supposedly devoted to the interests of Le Devoir, the official organ of French-Canadian Nationalism.

DISCUSS CHURCH UNION.

At General Synod of the Anglican Church at London.

London, Ont., Sept. 14.—Church union was discussed in its various phases by the General Synod at the Anglican Church.

Rev. Canon Tucker took a strong stand for union, but claimed that the Anglican Church should first accomplish more work.

Archdeacon Renison, of Moosonee supporting this stand, said there were many small towns of the West, where there were "five banks, large schools, and for places of worship, five little barns, with five little tinpan organs and five underfed, poorly-paid ministers."

Among those who opposed union was Archdeacon Mackenzie, of Brantford, who thought the members of the Synod should first bring together the high and low factions within the church itself.

Installing Bigger Guns.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 14.—Ten 13-pound guns are on their way from England to replace the 12-pounders now in use by the A and B batteries of the R.C.H.A. here. The batteries are the first of the permanent batteries in Canada to be equipped with the new gun and this distinction was the result of the proficiency shown by the local gunners at Petawawa camp.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

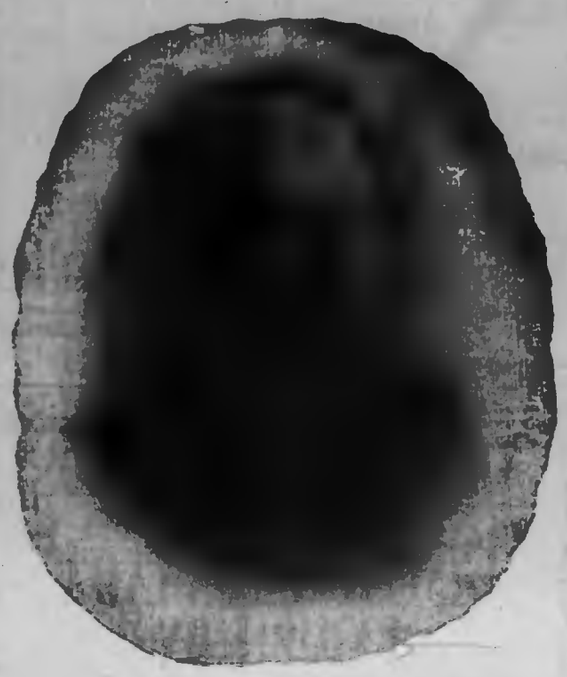
I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

The Man Who Keeps the Wheels a'Rolling



Working Men Vote in Your Own Interests

Dominion Trades Congress Strong For Reciprocity

The executive does not hesitate to say that it believes that the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States is in the interests of the Canadian people. If other proof of this were wanting, the fact that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is against, would be sufficient to prove it must be of some value to the workers. This organization has never tired of proclaiming its love for "free" labour, because that helps its pocket. Reciprocity has long been recognized in the International Trade union movement and we see no danger to anything but the pockets of a few interested capitalists in permitting the people of the two countries to swap knives if they see fit to do so, without the intervention of a horde of Customs officials. The trade union movement is better and stronger because of the freedom it enjoys in the exchange of benefits.

DEMAND FOR GLASS BEADS

Sparkling Color Effects Are Wanted for Decorating Modern Costumes.

The sudden demand for glass beads, which has recently sprung up, and the increased demand on the different manufacturers for them came unexpectedly even to the bead industry itself, because these colored glass and metal beads, as a material for artistic effects, had been almost completely forgotten for a number of years, and the rich, fantastical, color schemes, which it is possible to carry out with beads, were greatly undervalued.

This change is due chiefly to the search for sparkling color effects for decorating modern costumes for women, the designers again resorting to colored beads. Interior decorators makers of textiles and manufacturers of gas and electric light fixtures, have also recognised the value of colored glass beads for decorative purposes. The glass bead manufacturers have observed this and sought to meet the various requirements, but have had no time to increase the market through their own models and ideas, because current orders must first be filled.

A great many of the technical branches have their beads made to order after their own design, and some pretty novelties for decorating the hair are being made from them, such as diadem bands, nets for the hair, turban hoods, etc. The beads used for these articles are strung on strong silk thread or thin wires and are made in the colors that are fashionable for the toilet. It is uncertain whether the latest novelty from Paris, "flowers made of glass beads," intended for decorating hats, will find a ready market in Germany, although the models for sale are beautiful in color and graceful in form. It is said that one great advantage these have over other artificial flowers is that the colors do not fade in the sun, and they are, therefore, especially suitable for summer hats.

These beads are in great demand this season for decorating women's costumes, which open a large field to manufacturers in this line. The metal industry is also becoming interested in glass beads as a decorative material. The color of the metal is offset by that of the beads, and the effect produced is excellent and should lead to large sales. The present demand for bead bags is enormous, not only in Europe, but also other countries. I hear from a reliable source that the demand from England especially for this article is so great that it is impossible for manufacturers to fill the orders.

AN ANCIENT SCOTTISH 'DREADNOUGHT.'

Acting on the principle that 'every picture tells a story,' each of the illuminated and decorated tramcars run by the Glasgow corporation during coronation week symbolized something.

One of the most popular cars was designed to show a vessel of the sixteenth century, and was the work of Messrs. Claud Hamilton, Limited, Glasgow and Aberdeen, who were at considerable pains to give a suggestion of what the 'Great St. Michael' was like.

It was James IV. who first created an effective navy for Scotland, exhausting all available timber for shipbuilding, so that he had to ask France and Denmark for more, and of the sixteen large and ten small ships he owned his special pride was the vessel just named, the largest then existing.

To build this Dreadnought of her day all the woods of Fife were laid waste. She cost £30,000, an enormous value in those times! had a crew of 300 sailors, 120 gunners and 1,000 marines, with 'more great ordnance in her than the French King ever had to the siege of any town,' as James himself boasted.

THE BRITISH WEST INDIES

Will They Unite With Canada?

The newspapers of Jamaica are discussing the possibility of annexation of that island to Canada.

Public sentiment there is not as unanimous as in the Bahamas. Some of the newspapers advocate reciprocity with the United States in preference to union with Canada. Our statesmen of both political parties seem to be disposed to ignore the British West Indies. We hear nothing of Canadian response to the advances recently made by the people of the Bahamas. When Parliament meets again a little time should be spared to consider the possibility of arriving at an arrangement for the admission of all the British West India islands into the Dominion as territories, or, if this is not feasible, perhaps some plan of commercial union between Canada and the British West Indian possessions could be agreed upon. If our politicians of both political parties had devoted as much attention to the possibilities of trade with the British West Indies as they have to reciprocity with the United States during the past forty years, we might now have large and profitable trade with these southern islands. The people of our Maritime Provinces should bestir themselves in this matter. Their peculiar geographical position, jutting as they do far eastward into the Atlantic, places them in almost a direct line with the West Indies and the principal countries of South America, thus giving them great advantages over other sections of North America.

From Son to Father

Since I got chummy with the tailor in our block I have come to the conclusion that I don't want my son to grow up to be a great big "athletic fellow," said the little man. Wrong, is it? And selfish? Maybe. But it's natural, knowing what I know from the tailor.

"He says—and I've looked around and found out that it's true—that it is a common thing for poverty-stricken little men like me to have their big boys' clothes cut down to fit. That is the modern big boy's way of taking revenge for the indignities he had to suffer when a kid. Dad's old clothes were cut down for him then. Now it is dad who wears the hand-me-downs. I don't want to do that, but if my boy grows up to be a bigger man than I am maybe I'll have to."

Electric Fixtures at First Cost.

We call the attention of the public to the advertisement of the Electrical Wiring, Fixture and Supply Company, 261 College street, Toronto, which is to be found in another column. Those who contemplate changing their fictures, as well as those who have electric wiring to do, should communicate with the company. By doing so they will procure fixtures at first cost—wholesale to all. Peterborough references as to the high quality of their fixtures given if desired.

FRANCE LEADS IN AVIATION

Other Nations Still Far Behind

That the other nations are still much behind France in aviation is the conclusion generally drawn from the results of the German Aviation Circuit race. Although prizes aggregating more than $100,000 were offered, only 14 out of the 25 flyers entered took part in the contest, and none were able to complete the entire circuit of 1,164 miles. The winner, Beano Koenig, dropped out of two of the thirteen stages of the flight.

Only three of the aviators crossed the finish line at Johannisthal. Lindpainter, who for three-quarters of the race looked like a certain winner, had to give up at the last, his nerves completely shattered by the strain of 30 days of flying, and nerve, rather than machine defects or accidents, was responsible for the failure of most of the other competitors.

Minor accidents and thrilling incidents were reported in plenty, however, the most dangerous experience being that of Hoffmann, who started out at nightfall on the most difficult stage of the whole circuit, the flight across the precipitous mountain mass of the Hartz, entailing an ascent of several thousand feet, almost directly in the air from the starting point, Nordhausen; a fight with the gusts of this isolated mountain range and an equally precipitous descent on the other side of the Halberstadt.

His motor proved too weak to carry him over the summit, and he finally decided to follow the alternative route around the mountain to Halberstadt. In the twilight he lost his way, and cruised aimlessly for two hours over the forests and rocky side valleys of the mountains in danger every moment of striking a fog-hidden cliff or tree top. Finally, when his gasoline was almost exhausted, he discovered a small clearing, on which he landed, smashing his machine, but luckily escaping unhurt.

The competition was carried out at times under difficult circumstances. Heavy, almost impossible winds were the rule for the greater part of the way, but the chief obstacles were the fogs encountered on several stages. Postponements were several times necessary, and on other occasions the flyers found their way only through the abilities of the army officers carried as passengers. These received a training in scouting and reconnoissance work which will be utilized during the army manoeuvres this autumn.

A LAND OF MANY LANGUAGES

One may hear many strange languages in British Columbia. The Chinese and Japanese alone employ in everyday talk the patters of fifty provinces, but you could not tell them apart. The British Columbia Indians have as many tongues as there are tribes. The word Siwash, which is the French word sauvage picturesquely said, covers a dozen tribes, and the lingua franca Chinook is not their only speech any more than Siwash is their name. If you want to make a self-respecting British Columbia Indian dislike you, call him a Siwash, and he will hate you as much as he hates the name. The French of old Quebec you will hear in the millyards of the Fraser River, and there are cannery Indians up the coast who speak a language half Spanish and half an obscure Indian speech. There are Chinamen who speak Chinook and Tsimpsean, and Indians who speak Chinese. If all the railway construction camps in British Columbia were placed on end, they would have the Tower of Babel beaten a thousand miles. In these camps the inhabitants of Europe complain about the "chuck," and curse the cook in so many languages and dialects that it would take a whole column to even name them.

CLAIMS HE CAN DETERMINE SEX

Polish Doctor's Remarkable Statement

Prof. Theophilus Ciesielski of Lemburg, Austrian Poland, claims to have solved the secret of sex, both with plans and animals. It has taken him just thirty-three years to do it; but he now says that the sex of offspring can be chosen beforehand, according to the wishes of the parents. Nevertheless, he is very wary when discussing his discovery.

"It is so momentous and capable of creating such a tremendous revolution in all classes of humanity that I have refrained from speaking about my discovery during the past year," he said during an interview. "During this year I have made many experiments, none of which have failed, in plant and animal life. It was only when my son argued with me that another scientist can just as well make the same discovery and give it to the world that I determined to part with my secret. But so peculiar are all the circumstances o fthe discovery that I have naturally been unable to patent it. I have guarded against fraud.

"My recipes can be used by human parents and have already given the desired results. The same with plants."

The professor says he is going to write a book explaining his discoveries, and he adds that it will require a book to tell of them.

In the meanwhile Prof. Ciesielski is willing to help parents who, for instance, are really anxious to have a son and heir, as well as those who, already blessed with several sons, long for a daughter.

"I do not know," the professor concluded, "when my book will be ready for the public. In any case, the question evolved is so complicated and stupendous that I do not wish to popularise it for many a long day. I am of the opinion that parents should only choose the sex of their future offspring after consulting medical authority."

The professor is a Pole on the staff of the Lemberg university.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

major and minor keys, with varying volume of sound, went wailing through the night.

A big passenger packet, hailing from upriver, swept into view, thirty yards off the end of the wharf, her wheel, she bore down like a floating villa strung with yellow gems. A band blared "Dixie" from somewhere amidships. I was young enough to have some degree of enthusiasm for such spectacles, and I turned onto a long, half-lighted wharf and walked to its outermost tip, to get a better view of the puffing river monster with its thousand gleaming eyes.

Until she came abreast and passed I stood there watching. In a careless way I became aware of two men strolling out the wharf; in fact, I had passed them near the entrance gate. I remember that the swell from the big packet was beginning to slap against the wharf wall, when one of them edged over and asked me the time.

Like a simpleton, I hauled out my watch to tell him. It did not occur to me that there might be any purpose behind the question. The river front in St. Louis is not a place where one can safely exhibit signs of affluence in the way of cash or jewelry — and I knew it. I hadn't grown up in a city without knowing some of its ways. No doubt it looked like an easy game, out there on the end of a deserted wharf.

My watch was a plain hunting-case affair, with a fob chain. Without an inkling of what was to come, I turned toward the dim light as I sprung the case open. In that instant the fellow stuck the watch out of my grasp with one hand, and smashed me full on the jaw with the other—a vicious, pugilistic punch. I went down. Curiously, I didn't lose consciousness; and the blow gave little pain. But it paralyzed my motor nerves for a few seconds; gave me a queer, helpless feeling in my legs and arms, such as one has in a nightmare. It passed, though, and the pair of them were just going through my pockets, with a celerity that bespoke much practice, when I recovered sufficiently to jab my fist into a face that was bent close to mine — at the same time driving both heels against the shins of the other fellow with what force I could muster.

This instinctive outbreak rather surprised them, I think. Anyway, they gave ground. Only for a moment, however. I made one effort to gain my feet ,and the two were on me like twin wolves. Kicking, striking, struggling like primal beasts, we three lurched this way and that on the brink of the wharf. A hundred yards away people were hurrying by, and if I'd had sense enough to realize that a shout was my best weapon I could easily have routed the thugs. But I was too frightened to think.

And, in a very short time, sheer weight of numbers decided the issue. One of them got a strangle hold about my neck. The other grasped me fervently around the waist. Thus they dragged me down. For one brief instant I rested on the hard planking, my head in a whirl, their weight like a mountain on my heaving chest. Then with a quick shove they thrust me over the end of the wharf.

Undertaken voluntarily, a twenty-foot dive is no great matter; but it is a horse of quite another color to be chucked into space, and fall that distance, like a bag of meal. I struck the water feet first, as it happened, and came to the top sputtering, hair-strangled, but otherwise none the worse. Right quickly I found that I'd merely exchanged one antagonist for another. The current set strongly out from the wharf, and it cost me many a stroke to get back to it. Then I saw that I was no better off. Contrary to the usual thing, the piles offered no avenue of escape; for they were planked up, a smooth wooden wall that I could not possibly climb. I felt my way toward shore, but the outsweeping current was too strong. So I hooked my fingers in a tiny crack and proceeded to shed what clothing still burdened me. Of my coat only a fragmentary portion remained. It had been ripped up the back in the frenzy above, and the side containing my ticket and most of my money had been torn clean off me. There was little left save the sleeves. My shoes and shirt and trousers I cast upon the waters, with little thought of their return; and then, clad in a suit of thin underclothes, I struck out for the next pier below, thanking my stars that I was a fair swimmer.

But I could not make it. The channel of the Mississippi threw me full head of a powerful current against the St. Louis side, at that particular point; it struck the wharf-lined bank and swerved out again with the strength of an ocean tide, and I was in the outgoing curve of it. The next wharf was not for me, nor yet its fellow beyond. Steadily I was carried into midstream. Shouting for help, across the black space that lay between me and the wharves, soon exhausted what wind and strength I did not use up in a footless attempt to swim against the current. I stopped yelling then; it seemed to be sink or swim, and I began to conserve my energies a bit. Slipping along in plain view of myriad lights, hearing the floodtide screaming of steamer whistles, seeing the moving bulk of them dimly in the night, I felt in no immediate danger — not half as much alarm disturbed my soul as when the fingers of those night hawks were clawing at my throat. I knew I could keep afloat for an indefinite length of time, and some craft or other, I reasoned, would pick me up if I failed to make shore.

By and by I rapped my hand smartly against some hard object as cleft the water, and, gripping it, I found myself the rider by a four-foot stick of cordwood, on its way to the Gulf of Mexico. This served to bear me up without any exertion on my part, and gave me that much better chance to buck the current. I was now well out from the wharves, and straining my eyes for passing boats.

Far down the river, the piercing shriek of a siren split a momentary silence that had fallen on the stream. A drumming noise was borne up to me on a fitful night breeze. From behind the black shadow of a jutting wharf a steamer appeared, and came throbbing upstream. Now she was almost on me, the heartlike pulse of her engines and the thresh of her great stern wheel deadening all the other sounds that the vast river surface caught up and banedd back and forth.

Steadily the current bore me into her path. At first I had strained every nerve to get in her way; but, as the black hull drew near, with funnels belching smoke and deck lights hiding high, I remembered that if I missed a hold on her side I stood a fair chance of being sucked into the flailing paddles. When that filtered into my cranium, I backed water in hot haste; but I had gone too far, and her speed was too great. In another minute I was pawing at the slippery bilge along her water line, and striving to lift my voice above the chug of the engines, as she slid by.

The wash from her swung me away and drew me back again, and, just as the nearing thresh of her broad-paddled wheel struck a chill of fear into my quaking heart, my hands fouled in a trailing line, and I laid hold of it more tightly than ever drowning man clutched at the proverbial straw.

It was a small line, and the strain of towing me was great, but it held. In the tiers of cabins above my head lights flicked out, one by one. Again and again I called, bellowing unward with the regularity of a fog signal. No answer; no inquiring face peered over the rail. The docks slid by. God only knows how long I dangled at the end of that bit of twisted fibre. The glowworm lamps of St. Louis twinkled distantly on the left, rapidly falling astern. The thin line wrapped about my wrist numbed it to the elbow; I changed hands from time to time, in peril of being cast adrift. Fervently I wished for my bit of driftwood. The onrushing demon to which I clung offered less hope of succor.

In a little while longer I should have cast loose, from sheer inability to hold on. The strain on my arms was exhausting, and the least shift soused me under water, such was the speed. How I should have fared then I do not know. But in the nick of time an answering hail came from above, and when I had established the fact that a human being was clinging alongside, a cluster of heads and a lantern or two appeared at the rail, and a rope ladder came wriggling down.

Cramped and sore and weary as I was, I climbed thankfully aboard. A knot of passengers surrounded an officer, whom I took to be the mate. A deck hand or two stood by, eying me curiously at I heaved myself on deck. The mate held up his lantern and took a good look at me.

"You look some the worse for wear, m' bucko," he volunteered indifferently. "How long you been hangin' onto us?"

I began to explain, but I dare say my appearance hardly lent an air of truth to my words; he cut me short with an incredulous shrug of his shoulders.

"Tell that t' the captain or the purser," he interrupted sharply. "Bilk, you steer him t' the pilot house. I'll be there in a minute."

He turned on his heel, and Bilk motioned me to follow. As we passed forward, I wondered on what sort of craft I had landed, whither bound, and how good my chance was of getting back to St. Louis, and making a fresh start. The first of these queries I voiced to Bilk.

"She's the New Moon," he growled. "Through freight t' Bismark, Cow Island, an' Fort Benton. Stop? Naw, she don't stop fer nothin'—only wood."

CHAPTER III.

Which Shows that the Worm Does Not Always Turn.

The door of the pilot house swung open, and the captain himself stepped out, as Bilk reached for the knob. The eyes of this river autocrat fell inquiring on me. I dare say I was not a prepossessing figure in the dull glimmer of a deck lamp.

"What the devil's this?" he demanded.

"Feller picked up alongside us, bangin' on by a unstowed line, sir," Bilk explained.

"Huh!" the captain grunted.

"See here, sir," I began. "I'm much obliged for being picked up. And I'll be much more obliged if you'll put me in the way of getting into some clothes, and landing as soon as possible. I was to have taken the Memphis Girl down-river to-night. Mr. Bolton, of the Bolton and Kerr bank, will make it all right with you."

The captain guffawed coarsely in my face. "God bless me, that's all right—Hey, Tupper"—to the mate, who came up, while I was speaking—"(To be Continued.)

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here. Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products emoves these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896 to better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the land-hungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

Bauching Her Worries

She entered a Columbus Avenue car carrying a huge handbox in one hand and a number of parcels on her other doubled-up arm. They were unmanageable parcels. Even after the woman got a seat they kept slipping off her lap at every lurch of the car and jolted all over the floor.

When the common sense man had picked up one particularly refractory parcel for the third time, he said: "Madame, may I ask if you have a hat in that box?"

The woman said she had.

"Then allow me to suggest," he said, "that you put it on your head and pack the small hat you are now wearing and all your bundles into the box. It is big enough to hold them all."

Resentment at his interference flashed across the woman's face, but just then two more parcels slipped their moorings, and her expression changed to gratitude.

"Thank you," she said. Then, with the aid of a mirror loaned by a woman opposite, the transference of hats was effected, and the woman rode the rest of the way home with only the handbox to worry about.

IF YOU HAVE NO ICE

Here is a suggestion for the housekeeper who gets along without ice:

"Obtain a large, common flowerpot and seal the whole in the bottom with plaster of Paris. Place in the pot the bottle containing milk, or a covered crock containing butter, and fill the pot with water to as great a depth as possible without the bottle or crock floating. Cover the pot with a board or a plate and set out in the open air, away from the direct sunlight, and preferably where there is a current of air. The evaporation of the water from the surface of the flowerpot will keep the contents several degrees colder than the outside air, when there is the slightest movement of air stirring. The higher the wind or the drier the air, the greater will be the cooling effect."

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 215 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00

Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

TROUBLES OF EUROPE'S OLDEST MONARCH.

Austria's octogenarian Emperor Francis Joseph rose from what his subjects believed to be his deathbed and made a most pathetic exhortation to the Reichsrath or Austrian Parliament to abstain from factional strife.

Possibly the aged monarch felt that the new House offered him a chance of bringing about a compromise between those hereditary antagonists, the Germans and the Czechs

It is probably well for Austria's progress sthat the latest warfare between these races has been across the floor of the Reichsrath. But the Emperor would no doubt be glad to see it ended, so that the official and landed interests of Austria might be able to present something like a united front against the insidious inroads of Socialism into the body politic.

The recent election has not left him without hope in this respect The Christian Socialists, who dominated the last House, have sustained a crushing defeat, which is only partly expressed in their numerical losses. the negotiations between the Germans and Czechs. It is barely half a year since such negotiations were broken off, the leaders of both parties having proved equally obdurate.

A MORMON CELEBRATION

Utah has an annual celebration of which but little is known to the outside world. Every year in the fall all the men in Utah who are past seventy years of age are brought to Salt Lake City and entertained handsomely for a week. Their expenses of every kind are paid by public committees which have the matter in charge, and are authorized for the annual festival. Though conducted by the church, the festival is non-sectarian, all the old people being treated alike, regardless of creed or color. The entertainment is lavish, and when it is over the guests are sent back to their homes, feeling that old age is honorable at least in Utah This year it is expected that the number of guests will range from 12,000 to 15,000. They are divided into three classes and grouped accordingly at all the various fetes and banquets. The first class embraces those between seventy and eighty years of age and they are marked by red badges. The next class comprises all between the ages of eighty and ninety years, and their badges are blue The most distinguished class is the third, whose privilege it is to wear a badge of pure white, indicating that they have passed the ninetieth milestone in life's pilgrimage. These last are proud of their great age, and appear to regard the other two classes as mere children.

Not in Proper Costume

He was a young Briton newly arrived at the distinction of inherited property, and naturally interested first of all in personal adornments. If he possessed one suit, he possessed a hundred. He had different suits for fishing, hunting, golfing, cricketing, walking, cycling, flying, and everything else, and so perfect was his recently acquired knowledge of the clothing question that you could never surprise him in a costume that did not fit the occasion. But gamekeepers do not pay much attention to such details, and the man who was guiding Gussie over his new estate took small stock of garb. "Hi! There goes a rabbit!" he cried suddenly. "Let him have it, sir!" Gussie looked after the retreating bunny, but did not raise his gun. "Why didn't you shoot?" asked the gamekeeper in surprise. "I'm sorry, but I couldn't," replied Gussie mournfully. "I'm in my pheasant costume."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Ducks are Plentiful.

The duck shooting season is now on, and birds are said to be more plentiful than they have been for many years.

Potatoes Still Soar.

At the market on Saturday potatoes sold for $1.75 to $1.90 per bag, with prospects, it is said, of a further advance. Eggs sold for 22 to 23c per dozen, butter 28c, corn on cob 10c per dozen, lamb 15c, chickens 75c.

County Police Court.

The wage and assault case of John McQuaig vs. Richard Tedford was heard before Magistrate Edminson in the county court on Saturday morning. The charge in the wages case was withdrawn, but in the assault case the defendent was fined $2 and costs. The costs were very heavy and the whole amount was about $14.00. Much evidence was taken.

The C.P.R. Grain Route.

The word has been sent out by the C.P.R. that the new Georgia Bay grain route line must be completed by December, and that transcontinental trains would undoubtedly pass through Peterborough by that time. This route will give a short line service from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Montreal and Boston, and the trains will be equipped with the handsomest cars to be found on any system on the continent.

The New Power House.

Work on the new power house at Auburn is progressing satisfactorily. The immense wheels are being placed in position in the wheel pits by the Wm. Hamilton Company. The excavation of the raceway above the power house is rapidly approaching completion. The new concrete dam is yet to be constructed, and will take a year or more before it is finished. Altogether the work is in a most satisfactory shape.

Boston Cafe Appreciated.

The new Boston Cafe, which opened a few days ago is living up to its promises as a modern high-class restaurant and the patrons who have been thronging the new place, have nothing but words of praise for the cuisine, the service and the appointments of the cafe. An appreciative feature is the special dinner service, in which a splendid repast is provided at moderate prices. Everything is clean and good, and the future of the enterprise seems to be assured. The Boston Cafe serves ice cream and sodas as well as other cool drinks, and lead in this line, as well as in other respects.

Keene Man Injured.

Mr. Thomas McIntyre, of Keene, who in the act of crossing the street in front of The Times' building on Saturday last, was knocked down by a horse which was standing by the curb, and which took fright at an auto. Mr. McIntyre was severely, although not dangerously injured, by being trampled under the feet of the animal. He was with difficulty rescued and was taken to Nicholls' hospital in Bellegheim's ambulance. His injuries consisted of some cuts and bruises on the face and body.

Conference of Charities.

The Twelfth Canadian Conference of Charities and Correction will meet at Hamilton, September 22nd to 25th and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of Philanthropic Workers. The Railways have granted a reduced rate and the Committee at Hamilton are planning for a hearty reception. Among the subjects to be considered are Child Saving, Institution and Prison Management, Poor Relief, Care of the Insane, Feeble-Minded, &c. There will be very few, if any, long papers, most of the time being given up to general discussion. Anyone interested is welcome to attend these meetings. One way tickets should be purchased and a certificate obtained from the agent.

Sugar Still Soaring.

The sugar market to-day is firm, with prospects for an advance in prices, according to Mr. Chas. Risbor, wholesale grocer, of this city. Whether sugar will continue to advance in price or not depends on the success or failure of the Cuban sugar crop, of which accurate information will be forthcoming in three or four weeks. Should the Cuban crop be a failure or even a partial failure, sugar may soar as high as $10 per hundred pounds wholesale. At the present time the wholesale price is $6 per barrel and $5.95 per bag cwt. Following a good Cuban crop, sugar will fall in price. The increase in the price in sugar will be reflected in a corresponding increase in price of jams and certain kinds of canned goods in which sugar is used. The uncertainty of the situation regarding sugar is causing no little concern among consumers all over America.

Break Away

It's like getting out of prison into the sweet, pure air of freedom again, when one "really succeeds" in breaking away from the Coffee habit.

Coffee is said to have more victims than any other nerve-destroying habit and works more in secret.

The aches and ills are not often charged to the real cause—Coffee—until one breaks away and quits for 10 days.

Then the truth comes out.

It doubles the speed in the return to health if Postum is used, for the elements are there to rebuild the broken-down nerve cells.

And Postum well-made is delicious—mild and smooth, with that "snappy" flavor everyone enjoys.

There's a meaty little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages.

OPEN AIR MEETING.

Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. F. D. Kerr Speak on Market Square.

On Saturday last Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. F. D. Kerr addressed an open meeting on the Market Square at noon. Several hundred farmers and townsmen being present.

Hon. Mr. Stratton dealt with the barley question. "The United States" he said, "has always wanted our barley. When we exported it to the United States at a ten cent duty, we sold $93,000,000 worth. When the Dingley Bill put 30 cents a bushel duty on it, they killed our market. But ours is the best barley in the world, and when reciprocity goes through we will sell it in the United States, save the 30 cents duty and have a market that is protected by a ring fence against the rest of the world."

Mr. Stratton quoted General Manager Stuart's denial that the Quaker Oats had ever imported barley to compete with Canadian barley and also his published opinion that reciprocity would be a good thing for Canada, for Peterborough and for the Quaker Oats Company.

"There is the industry down by the river," said Mr. Stratton, "representing an investment of millions, buying more grain in a month than Peterborough grows, giving employment and wages to hundreds of workingmen. My efforts helped to get the industry here. It speaks for itself, and when it speaks it is in favor of reciprocity."

A WESTERN WITNESS.

Mr. Stratton showed how the farmers would be benefitted by the wider market for their grain, staples, their horses, cattle, sheep and dairy products, and how handy the increasing market of the United States would be for the increasing grain crop of the Northwest when the English market was no longer able to keep pace with our export supply.

"I see Dr. Willoughby of Saskatoon in the audience," said Mr. Stratton, "a son of Dr. Willoughby, a Conservative, but a Liberal when it comes to reciprocity. He knows how your fathers and sons and brothers in the Northwest want it." And Dr. Willoughby smiled assent and shook hands with the candidate.

Reciprocity, Mr. Stratton stated, would increase the manufacturers' business by increasing the purchasing power of the farmer. The more money spent on manufactured goods, the more orders it meant for the factory and steadier employment at better wages for the workingman. Another direct benefit to the consumer in towns and cities was the lifting of the food taxes which made cheaper living inevitable.

AN APPEAL TO COMMON SENSE.

Mr. Stratton said that he did not address them as Irish, Scotch or British born—for we were all British born, and equally proud of it and the Union Jack—but as common sense people discussing an agreement that was mutually advantageous to producer and consumer.

Adverting to the local aspect of the case and the number of public improvements now in progress, or in prospect in West Peterborough, Mr. Stratton thought West Peterborough could not very well afford to have a member in Opposition. "I think," he said, "you will leave well enough alone when you leave me as your representative. All I ask you to do on September 21st is to put your mind on this business agreement—undistracted by partisan clamors—and then vote for our own interests."

Speaking of the loyalty cry, Mr. F. D. Kerr said, he failed to see what loyalty there was in putting your hand in your pocket and paying duty to the United States. The reciprocity agreement, he considered, as simple as the relations between a grocer and his customer. The customer quits if the grocer doesn't give good groceries, and the grocer quits when the customer takes his trade elsewhere. Both are at liberty to stop when either is not suited. Referring to the unholy alliance with Bourassa in Quebec, he said, "I protest against Bourassa becoming the dictator of this country."

Mr. Kerr concluded by asking East and West Peterborough to stand by the two Liberal candidates and reciprocity.

The meeting closed with cheers for the King and the candidates.

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ¼ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

Addressed the Electors of That Place on Saturday Night.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, the Conservative candidate, addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting at Centreville on Saturday night, when he placed before the electors in a clear and concise manner the injury the Knox-Fielding pact would be to them. The arguments put forth by Mr. Burnham drove home point after point which the people were not slow to grasp, as was evidenced by their hearty applause. Mr. Soden accompanied Mr. Burnham and delivered one of his ringing speeches which brought down the house. The meeting closed with cheers for the King, Burnham and Borden.

THE CAUSE OF DRINK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see from time to time a record of drunks having to appear before the Police Magistrate. Now, Sir, where do these men get their liquor? I understand there is a law against selling whiskey to drunken men. If so, why does our License Inspector not do his duty and have these men punished? I think the License Inspector, who, I believe, is a conscientious official, should attend every session of the Police Court, in order to look after all cases of drunks. He cannot very well perform his duty without doing this.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for publishing the above.

AN APPEAL TO BRITISHERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Fellow-Countrymen,—Let us all turn out to the meeting to-night at the Opera House, to hear Mr. Hawkes. Mr. Hawkes is like ourselves—from the Old Country—and like each and all of us will never forget the land we were born in. He has a special message to us to-night. He looks at this election from a Britisher's point of view, and that is what we want to hear, isn't it? Nelson's words are true to-day boys, and we must all do our duty to our homeland on the 21st, and we mean to do it, every one of us. Come and give our countryman a British welcome to-night, for Auld Lang Syne.

Percival G. S. Webb.

COMMON SENSE AND THE ELECTION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Times has become noted for its impartial attitude in this election. Will you do me the kindness to publish this letter in the interests of the electors of Peterborough.

Amidst all the flow of language from all sides at this time, I feel it is very important that we citizens should sift arguments and figures and try and get an impartial view of the questions before us as voters and citizens of this great Dominion. There is no doubt, I believe, in the minds of most of us that "Reciprocity" is the greatest issue before us to-day, and principally on our views of that we shall vote on the coming 21st of September.

Now what does this question of reciprocity with the United States mean and how will it affect us and affect the Dominion we are all proud of? On the one hand we have Canada with its eight millions of people and on the other we have the States with their ninety millions of people. Now if we agree to let in certain of their agricultural machinery and products, either free or at a greatly reduced tariff, and they do the same to us, what is likely to be the result? The first thing that strikes me is the great difference in population. Here are we in Canada, with out eight millions, dealing with a country of

BODIES LASHED TO A RAFT

Midland, Sept. 18.—Mute evidence of one of the most terrible tragedies known to Georgian Bay, in the emaciated bodies of two victims of the foundering of the tug Martin in a severe storm a month ago, arrived on a tug which reached the harbor on Saturday. The corpses, which were found lashed to a raft are believed to be those of the cook and fireman of the tug, and it was manifest that death from starvation had been their fate.

The raft was one of stout construction, and had evidently taken some time to build, showing that the tug had foundered slowly.

JAPS KILLED BY AMERICANS

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 18.—Two Japanese fishermen were killed in a desperate fight between Japanese and American fishermen on Santa Cruz Island Saturday night, according to a report that reached here today. Federal officers have gone to the scene.

According to the report the battle followed an attempt by the Japanese to drive the white men out of fishing grounds.

SENT ON FOR TRIAL FOR FALSE REGISTRATION.

Four Men Charged at Chatham Have Been Committed for Trial in December.

Chatham, Sept. 18.—Four men are charged by the Conservative executive with perjury in connection with the recent manhood suffrage registration here, were this morning given a hearing before Magistrate Houston, and committed for trial at the December Sessions.

DAVIS RETURNS TO MANITOBA

Grand Forks, N.D., Sept. 18.—Abandoning his determination to remain beyond the custody of the Canadian authorities, Ed. Davis, the confessed abductor of Miss Eleanor Gladys Price, the Snowflake, Man., school teacher, late yesterday was taken to Borden, Man., where he will be held for hearing. Davis declared that his confession as to being an escaped convict from California was made under the impression that he had murdered William Adams, a Snowflake hotelkeeper, but when Adams arrived and visited the prisoner at the jail, Davis expressed entire willingness to return to Canada and face trial. There has been no show of violence.

MANY LAWYERS UNDER ARREST

Kiev, Sept. 18.—One hundred and fifty arrests of lawyers and other acquaintances of Dimitry Bogroff, the man who shot Premier Stolypin have been made in Kiev.

Bogroff talked freely to-day of his past life, and furnished the authorities with valuable clues. The original confident behavior of the prisoner has given place to despondency, and he is now receiving medical treatment.

Among the versions of the circumstances leading up to the crime, and which must be investigated is the assertion that Bogroff belonged to a new autonomuos revolutionary group the aim of which is to assassinate individual statesmen. In the course of the questioning, Bogroff declared that he held that Stolypin was one of the most pernicious men of the State.

FOOD ENTERS CHENTU AND THE SHOPS ARE OPENING

GOOD NEWS FROM CITY BESIEGED BY REBELS IN WHICH CANADIAN METHODISTS WERE LOCATED.

Foreigners Not Molested and Are Civilly Treated—Commander tries to Pacify the Rebels.

Chung King, China, Sept. 18.—A message from the British Consul at Chentu, dated Sept. 13, says that up to that date the foreigners in the city had not been molested and were well. Food was coming into the city and the shops were re-opening.

The Canadian missionaries from the stations at Jen Show, Jung Hsien, and Tseliutsing are coming into this city to-day.

FOREIGNERS WELL TREATED.

Pekin, Sept. 18.—The British Consul here to-day received a despatch from Chentu, dated Sept. 13, reading:

"Foreigners are not being molested and are being treated civilly. There has been no fighting within the city since Sept. 7, but there have been several engagements outside the walls the insurgents losing considerably and the loyal troops inconsiderably."

Apparently the proclamation issued by General Chao-Erh-Fang has not been heeded. Despatches to the French and German legations from Chentu, dated respectively Sept. 10, and Sept. 11, indicated that the commander of the troops at the capital of Sze Chuen had attempted to conciliate the besieging forces by promising not to decapitate the leaders of the anti-railway movement and offering to indemnify the families of the insurgents who had been killed.

The above despatch received by the British Consul is the latest news received from Chentui the capital of the Province of Sze Chuen, which is besieged by rebels. The agitation was begun by the railway league.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN OLD IRELAND

Dublin, Sept. 18.—The discontent which has been evidenced for a long time among the employees of the Irish railways reached an acute stage last night, when a general strike on the Great Southern and Western line was declared. This is Ireland's largest railroad, and it is feared that the strike may become general, although at present the other railroads are only slightly affected.

WEDDING BELLS

Trumpour—Frisk.

THE marriage of Rev Harry R. Trompour, of this city, to Miss Helen W. Frink, daughter of Mr. R. Walker W. Frink, of St. John, N.B., was solemnized in that city on August 30th last. The officiating clergyman was Rev. G. A. Kuhring, rector of St. John's (stone) church. The church which was handsomely renovated of late, was prettily decorated in white and gold flowerings. The decorations for the most part were the work of the Sunday School teachers.

The bride was gowned in a charming travelling costume of blue, wore a hat of corresponding shade, and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. She was unattended. J. W. Davidson and George Morrissey acted as ushers. D. Arnold Fox presided at the organ. Besides the bridal chorus, the choir sang "O Perfect Love."

Immediately after the wedding, which was attended by near relatives of the bride and groom and a host of friends, who filled the church. Mr. and Mrs. Trumpour drove to the depot and left for their future home in Vancouver, B.C., where the groom has been appointed professor in Latimer Theological College. They take with them the best wishes for future prosperity and happiness from a wide circle of friends, who remembered them with many handsome gifts of silverware, cut glass, and other useful and valuable testimonials of esteem.

PREMIER STOLYPIN, OF RUSSIA, DIED YESTERDAY

PREMIER WAS ATTACKED BY AN ASSASSIN WHILE HE WAS ATTENDING AN OPERA.

The Bullet Was Extracted and He Seemed to Rally, But the Favorable Symptoms Did Not Last Long.

Kiev, Sept. 18.—Premier Stolypin is dead, the victim of the assassin.

One hundred and fifty of the associates of Bogroff, who shot the Premier, have been arrested.

Kiev, Sept. 18.—The condition of Premier Stolypin this morning was most critical. His pulse rate at 7 o'clock was 130, and by the middle of the afternoon had advanced to 140 while his temperature was below normal. The indications were that peritonitis had set in and that in addition his heart was failing.

At nine o'clock this morning the physicians issued the following bulletin: "Since last night the weakening of the activity of the heart has taken a threatening form. The peritoneal inflammation shows no marked change. Temperature 98.6; pulse 132. The general condition of the patient is serious."

The Premier was attacked by an assassin while he was attending an operatic performance.

London, Sept. 18.—A news despatch from Kiev to-day says that the condition of M. Stolypin is stated to be hopeless. A message from St Peters burg says that the Premier is in a practically moribund state.

The development of unfavorable symptoms followed a few hours after the patient had made a most hopeful rally.

Several times during Saturday night the Premier had broken out involuntarily with a murmured exclamation: "I feel death stealing upon me."

The cablegram further states that the following missionaries and their families had arrived safely and well at Chung King:

WATERSDEFEATS BILL GLOCKLING

Mr. Glockling Was Well Known in Peterborough Where He Made Many Visits.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 18.—All the morning nearly was taken up with a searching examination of the Lemieux Act. James Somerville, J. H. McVety, W. B. Best, and many more condemned the act, as it at present stands. Solicitor O'Donohue made a thorough explanation of the Act, and Congress unanimously carried the following:

"While this Congress still believes in the principle of investigation and conciliation, and while recognizing that benefits have accrued at times to various bodies of workmen under the operation of the Lemieux Act, yet in view of the decisions and rulings and delays of the Department of Labor in connection with the administration of the Act, and in consequence of judicial decisions like that of Judge Townsend in the Province of Nova Scotia; Be it resolved that this Congress ask for the repeal of the Act."

The afternoon was taken up with the elections, the big contest being between J. Waters and W. Glockling for President and Gustave Francq and Fred Bancroft for Vice-Presidents The results were as follows:

President—James Waters, Victoria.

Vice-President—Fred Bancroft, Toronto.

Secretary-Treasurer—P. M. Draper, Ottawa.

Fraternal Delegate—W. Glockling, Toronto.

Reciprocity came up at eight.

The Socialists of the West absolutely refuse to consider reciprocity an issue to the working class. The sentiment was neither for it or against it. The speeches clearly showed the sentiment as being in favor of the economic position that their own law of supply of demand was the great regulator of wages and the cost of labor power was the cost of replacing it.

NO REFERENCE TO RECIPROCITY.

The following was passed unanimously as dealing with the executive's report favoring reciprocity:

"We recommend that this portion of the report be deleted from the officers' report on account of the fact that acceptance or rejection of this clause would mean an endorsation of either the Liberal or Conservative parties. And in our opinion such action would not be in the best interests of this Congress as the question at present is not one of principle, but a political party issue."

Was Not Discussed.

Calgary, Sept. 18.—The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress adjourned on Saturday. The delegates refused to take the reciprocity issue for discussion.

New York, Sept. 18.—A new crusade to evangelize the American continent, financed by men whose combined wealth runs into ten figures, will be launched in New York tonight with a conference and dinner of the head workers at the Metropolitan Club, commonly known as the "Fifth avenue Millionaires' Club." The movement known as the Men and Religious Forward Movement, will be in charge of some of the big business men of the country, conducted along practical lines just as they would conduct a private business affair. J. P. Morgan is the head of the financial department, while the directors are 97 in number, comprising the country's foremost financiers, merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, doctors, and men of affairs, headed by Jas. G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National Bank of New York.

The programme of the crusade provides for meetings in 76 centres of population throughout the United States and Canada, beginning with a series of gatherings in Minneapolis,

At the Metropolitan Club to-night Mr. Cannon will banquet thirty trained workers who are to carry the message of Church-membership reclamation from New York to Vancouver.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18.—The Tradesmens Trust Company, with a capital of $500,000, and deposits when the last report was made, of $1,328,000, closed its doors this morning. Peter Boyd, a well known attorney, is president, having succeeded the late Mayor Samuel H. Ashbridge in the office when the latter died.

FOUR YOUNG MEN WERE DROWNED IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 18.—Four young men, said to have been under the influence of liquor, lost their lives this afternoon when the rowboat in which they were crossing the river upset below the Victoria Bridge in the swiftest part of the St. Mary's current.

The Dead:

Henri Lafrancois, aged 25.
Felix Livernois, aged 31.
Joseph Lamarre, aged 19.
Joseph Gagnon, aged 17.

Constable St. Denis saw the boat upset and gave the alarm. Two tugs steamed to the rescue, but before they arrived all four men had sank from sight. Their bodies have not been recovered.

St. Denis said he saw the men before they embarked, and that they had liquor with them. The police have been very strict lately in enforcing the law along the wharves, and have made many arrests for drunkenness. It is thought that the four men were rowing out to one of the small islands to make a day of it. The boat belonged to Livernois, who leaves a wife and four children.

WISE WORDS
A Physician on Food.

A physician of Portland, Oregon, has views about food. He says:

"I have always believed that the duty of the physician does not cease with treating the sick, but that we owe it to humanity to teach them how to protect their health especially by hygienic and dietetic laws.

"With such a feeling as to my duty I take great pleasure in saying to the public that in my own experience and also from personal observation I have found no food to equal Grape-Nuts and that I find there is almost no limit to the great benefit this food will bring when used in all cases of sickness and convalescence.

"It is my experience that no physical condition forbids the use of Grape-Nuts. To persons in health there is nothing so nourishing and acceptable to the stomach especially at breakfast to start the machinery of the human system on the day's work. In cases of indigestion I know that a complete breakfast can be made of Grape-Nuts and cream, and I think it is necessary not to overload the stomach at the morning meal. I also know the great value of Grape-Nuts when the stomach is too weak to digest other food.

"This is written after an experience of more than 20 years treating all manner of chronic and acute diseases, and the letter is written voluntarily on my part without any request for it." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorised by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA :

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE :

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Paymeats :

300	34,500.00

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.

He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.

The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

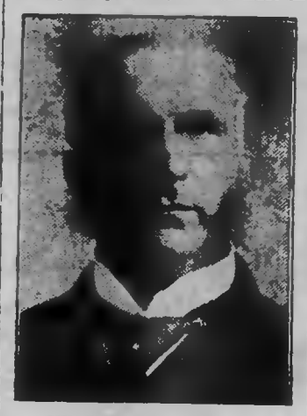
SIR FREDERICK BORDEN



The only medical man in the world who is chief of army.

Lieut.-Col. the Honourable Sir Frederick William Borden, K.C.M.G., P.C., Minister of Militia and Defence is one of her sons in whom Nova Scotia takes a special pride. Sir Frederick is one of the oldest members of the House of Commons having been first elected for the County he still represents, Kings, N.S., as far back as 1874. He has held this seat during this long period except between 1882 and 1887, and has been re-elected no fewer than seven times. Before taking to politics he practised as a surgeon and entered the militia in 1869 as assistant surgeon of the 66th batt. In 1901 he was appointed hon. Colonel, Army Medical Corps and during the present year was made an honorary surgeon to the King. On the occasion of the Coronation of King Edward a knighthood was conferred on the Canadian statesman and military surgeon.

Always a prominent member of the Liberal Party. Sir Frederick was one of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's first cabinet when the Liberals came into power in 1896, receiving the portfolio which he still holds. He is a member of the Imperial Defence Council and was a delegate to the Imperial Defence Conference of 1909. Amongst other distinctions he is a knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. He graduated in medecine from Harvard University.

PROOF THAT ADVERTISING PAYS.

A remarkable tribtue to the efficacy of advertising was given by Mr. C. Watson, chairman of Messrs. Joseph Watson and Sons, Ltd., the well-known English soap manufacturers, at the company's annual meeting. In moving the adoption of the report he said they had had to contend with the ridiculous and wasteful advertising of their competitors, and the absurd cutting of prices in the low qualities of soap, this in many cases having been sold many pounds a ton below cost price. The directors had ignored the latter competition, but they could not ignore the wasteful advertising, so they determined to meet this by spending the largest sum they had ever spent in one year in advertising. This was done, and the result had been very gratifying. They had had a very large increase in the sales of their specialities, and their turn-over had been over £100,000 greater than it had ever been in a previous year. The report, which proposed a dividend of 15 per cent. on the ordinary shares, appropriating £3,000 for directors' fees and £1,000 to a pension fund, leaving a balance of £41,085 to be carried forward, was adopted.

BLACKFEET INDIANS' LAST "MEDECINE LODGE"

Picturesque Festival Which Will Be Held No More.

A short time ago the people of Little Dog, better known as the Blackfeet Indians, who occupy a reservation 500,000 acres in extent in the Two Medicine country of North-western Montana, just east of the new Glacier National Park, gave their last big medicine lodge and grass dance near Browning. Infinite pathos attaches to these ceremonies of a vanishing race. Six thousand redmen of the most stalwart race remaining on the continent participated in the festivities of the week.

Near the camp were horses scattered all over the landscape, sturdy Indian stock that in the old days was the measure of wealth among the people. Of course, there were dogs—of all sizes, colors and kinds, just as there used to be in every Indian camp. Moving here and there were groups and solitary figures on foot and horseback. In the background was the circle of lodges all facing the east, where the sun shines first.

At noon the camp was quiet. By two o'clock a tomtom here and there began its intermittent throbbing and the people donned their finery for the afternoon festivities. By three o'clock many Indians were about in full dress, the men with war bonnets, slashed buckskin costumes decorated with head and porcupine quill work and hung profusely with skins of the medicine weasel. The women were in bright colored, heavily, beaded skirts and jackets of cloth or buckskin, some of them literally covered with elk teeth, many of them covered with miniature bells that tinkled musically as they walked; their faces were painted with vermilion, ochre, black, or combinations of these and other colors. Horses galloped in every direction and there was an air of activity all over the camp. The medicine lodge, in the middle of the camp circle, was the rendeavous for all, for the medicine was to be made there. By and by the sharp, short notes of the eagle wing home medicine whistle began to help the drum, for Yellow Owl was making strong medicine. It was time to go to the medicine lodge and watch the mystery.

On the west side of the medicine lodge an alcove was built of green boughs. This was Yellow Owl's private place and it faced the door of the medicine lodge, which always opens to the east. Hung about the great medicine centre pole of the lodge were many offerings of clothing, blankets and other belongings which these people had given to the sun as sacrifices. These could not be touched or taken away by any man.

Inside the lodge a circle of chiefs in full regalia were gathered, and behind them the people crowded, watching Yellow Owl make medicine to the sun. The drumbs throbbed in ceaseless booming, which Yellow Owl accompanied with his eagle wing bone whistle while he stood staring at the sun, whistling and swaying his body continuously.

Back to the circle of chiefs were gathered the Indians in a solid mass, sober faced, keen eyed and watching all the proceedings, for they understand what this mystery means, as no white man can ever understand it unless he has lived with the Indians.

The grass dance is of a semi-religious nature, the same as all these ceremonies are among savage peoples. It is designed to call the attention of the gods, big and little, wherever they may be, to the fact that the people desire a good season with what probably was the last great grass dance.

A MILLIONAIRE'S MISADVENTURE

When the White Star liner Baltic was about to sail the other day, John J. O'Riley, a wealthy Texan, and his family went aboard to visit their home town in Ireland. After they had gone to the stateroom, Mr. O'Riley decided to go ashore to have a $500 note changed into English money. When the time for sailing came, O'Riley had not returned, and, fearing that something had happened to him, his family returned to the pier, to begin a search for the head of the family.

No trace of him could be found, however, and his wife and children were becoming greatly alarmed, when a wireless message reached them from the Baltic, which by that time was out on the ocean. The message was from Mr. O'Riley and informed his wife that he was on board the Baltic and that he would wait for them at Liverpool. It seems that Mr. O'Riley returned to the ship just before the gang plank was removed, which connected the pier with the steerage entrance. While he made his way to the cabin, his family went ashore by way of the cabin gang plank. Mrs. O'Riley and the children sailed on the next steamer to join Mr. O'Riley in Liverpool.

The Safest Place

A city gentleman was recently invited down to the country for "a day with the birds." His aim was not remarkable for its accuracy, to the great disgust of the man in attendance, whose tip was generally regulated by the size of the bag.

"Dear me!" at last exclaimed the sportsman, "but the birds seem exceptionally strong on the wing this year."

"Not all of 'em, sir," was the answer. "You've shot at the same bird about a dozen times. 'E's a-follerin' you about, sir."

"Well, sir," came the reply. "I dunno, I'm sure, unless 'e's 'angin' 'round you for safety."

The Games, the Thing.

Infuriated Farmer (to golfer who has driven out of bounds, and is vigorously searching for his ball among the growing crops) — 'Now, then, you've no business to be there!'

McNamara Trial to Begin Oct. 11th.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—Judge Bordwell announced to-day that the trial of John J. and James J. McNamara, alleged dynamite conspirators, would begin October 11. There has been considerable rumor lately that there might be a postponement for a week because of elections, holidays and the visit of President Taft, but the judge said nothing known at present would interfere with the beginning of the trial as scheduled.

COLD IN THE HEAD

What's the sense in sneezing and sniffling, dosing with purgatives, or bothering with atomizers?

Catarrhozone

A convenient inhaler treatment is the proper remedy to cure quickly and pleasantly.

Sensible people long ago abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.

To cure a cold in about ten minutes' time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic, delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic, and perfectly safe and harmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.

Catarrhozone never disappoints, it stops sneezing, coughing and running at the eyes, by a few inhalations. Inflammation, congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told.

C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."

To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung or throat trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 25 cents. Well... then, just suppose we do try reciprocity, and then finding it to be a failure, we decide to drop it, is it not plain we shall have to begin our work of capturing the British market over again, and it will be harder work then, as new competitors have secured our British trade, and they will certainly fight us in an attempt to oust them from the British market. Will not our case then be very deplorable and is it not wise for us to consider all this now, before it is too late. Prevention is always better than cure, isn't it? Now our neighbors compete with us now in our home market, when they have to pay a duty to enter our markets. If we allow them to come in free, will not their competition turn to undersell... They cannot very well afford to undersell us now, but take off the duty, admit them free, and is it not reasonable to expect that they will use the tariff which we give them to undersell us in our own markets. One of the greatest arguments of the Liberals is that they shall be able to buy articles, fruit, potatoes, etc., cheaper from America under reciprocity. This means plainly that more American articles, fruit, potatoes, etc., will be brought here, then, does it not? Well, how about our own manufacturers, our own fruits, potatoes, etc.? If we buy more from America, we shall certainly buy less from our own growers. We are not going to eat a lot more, nor wear a lot more under reciprocity than we do now, are we? So we see plainly by the arguments of the advocates of reciprocity that our markets will suffer and the American dealers will profit by reciprocity. I think this is very plain, indeed. And who can say how much our markets will suffer and how much more trade America will do with us, to the detriment of our own manufacturers and growers. Remember, too, every ton of fruit, every article brought from the States means more money paid in wages to the workers in the States and consequently less wages paid to our own workmen, and less wages earned here means less money spent here, and you can easily figure out all this means to us, and to our country. How do the Americans themselves look at this question of reciprocity? ... is always wisdom to find out what the other man thinks about things that we propose to do with him. I give the American credit for the plain, unmistakable way they have spoken their views of this question from the President himself, downwards. President Taft, speaking to the American National Grange Delegation on May 8th, this year, used these very significant words and I think we should study them well, as business men and citizens of a great Dominion. These are the words, remember, of President Taft himself. He said: "If we take down the tariff wall, we shall benefit by it, for we shall sell more agricultural products to Canada than she will sell to us. We do now, and we shall sell her even more after the reciprocity treaty goes into effect."

Now, this is what the President of America thinks and earnestly believes about reciprocity. They will sell us more. The Liberals themselves say we shall buy cheaper and buy more from America. Does not this prove if we use, our common sense, that the benefits of reciprocity are all on one side and that the wrong side to us. If you read the papers at all you will have read the same sort of speeches from other leading men of the States, including Champ Clarke, the speaker of the American House, Congressman McCall, Congressman Prince, of Illinois, Chairman Underwood, and a host of others. Now to sum up, is it not common sense that we shall be the losers and the Americans the gainers, if we pass this reciprocity pact. The Americans will gain our markets and we shall lose our British markets. We cannot gain the American markets their greater numbers will prevent us, and they will fight us, and you know as well as I do, with our limited capital, we cannot fight the gigantic American trusts, but they will fight us. If ever the cruel American trusts serve our farmers here in Ontario the same way they do serve their own farmers in America, we shall bitterly repent the day we ever voted for reciprocity. Common sense says: "Stop it now, while we have the power;" keep our own home markets for Canada and keep our important British markets. As Sir Wilfrid Laurier said in the course of the debate on the Grand Trunk Bill: "I have found that the most effective way to maintain friendship with our American neighbors, is to be absolutely independent of them." Don't you feel now that this is common sense?

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

Working Men Vote in Your Own Interests

Dominion Trades Congress Strong For Reciprocity

The executive does not hesitate to say that it believes that the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States is in the interests of the Canadian people. If other proof of this were wanting, the fact that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is against, would be sufficient to prove it must be of some value to the workers. This organization has never tired of proclaiming its love for "free" labour, because that helps its pocket. Reciprocity has long been recegnized in the International Trade union movement and we see no danger to anything but the pockets of a few interested capitalists in permitting the people of the two countries to swap knives if they see fit to do so, without the intervention of a horde of Customs officials. The trade union movement is better and stronger because of the freedom it enjoys in the exchange of benefits.

ALWAYS THE SAME OBJECT IN VIEW

The Campaign a Hundred Years Ago

On June 17th, 1812, the Senate of the United States passed a bill declaring war against Great Britain, the principal object of which was to seize the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada.

Dr. Eustis, United States Secretary of War at that time, in one of his speeches said, "We can take the Canadas without soldiers; we have only to send officers into the Provinces, and the people, dissatisfied towards their own Government, will rally round our standard."

Hon. Henry Clay on the floors of Congress said, "It is absurd to suppose that we will not succeed in our enterprise against the enemy's provinces. We have the Canadas as much under our command as Great Britain has the ocean, and the way to conquer her on the ocean is to drive her from the land. I am not for stopping at Quebec or anywhere else; but I would take the whole continent from them and ask them no favors."

The invasion of Canada was under way before the Congress had taken final action, but it was not until the 12th July that General Hull, who had command of the western army of the United States, crossed the Detroit River to establish his headquarters at Sandwich on the Canadian side.

THE PROCLAMATION.

From this point General Hull issued a proclamation to the inhabitants of Canada which for bombastic impudence is unequalled by any document in the English language. This remarkable proclamation is as follows:

"Inhabitants of Canada:

"After thirty years of peace and prosperity the United States have been driven to arms. The injuries and aggressions, the insults and indignities of Great Britain have once more left them no alternative but manly resistance, or unconditional submission.

"The army under my command, has invaded your country, AND THE STANDARD OF UNION NOW WAVES OVER THE TERRITORY OF CANADA. To the peaceable, unoffending inhabitant, it brings neither danger nor difficulty. I come to find enemies, not to make them. I come to protect not to injure you.

"Separated by an immense ocean, and an extensive wilderness from Great Britain, you have no participation in her councils, nor interest in her conduct. You have felt her tyranny, you have seen her injustice, but I do not ask you to avenge the one or redress the other. The United States are sufficiently powerful to afford you every security, consistent with their rights, and your expectations. I tender you the invaluable blessings of civil, political and religious liberty, and their necessary result, individual and general prosperity, that liberty which gave decision to our councils and energy to our conduct in our struggle for independence, and which conducted us safely and triumphantly through the stormy period of the revolution—that liberty which has raised us to an elevated rank among the nations of the world, and which has afforded us a greater measure of peace and security, of wealth and improvement than ever fell to the lot of any people.

"In the name of my country and by the authority of my Government, I promise protection to your persons, your peaceful and customary avocations—raise not your hands against your brethren—many of your fathers fought for the freedom and independence we now enjoy. Being children, therefore, of the same family with us, and heirs to the same heritage, the arrival of an army of friends must be hailed by you with a cordial welcome. You will be amancipated from tyranny and oppression, and restored to the dignified station of freedom.

"Had I any doubt of eventual success, I might ask your assistance but I do not. I come prepared for every contingency. I have a force which will look down all opposition and that force is but the vanguard of a much greater. If contrary to your interests, and the just expectation of my country, you should take part in the approaching contest, you will be considered and treated as enemies, the horrors and calamities of war will stalk before you.

"If the barbarous and savage policy of Great Britain be pursued, and the savages are let loose to murder our citizens, and butcher our women and children, this war will be a war of extermination.

"The first stroke of the tomahawk, the first attempt with the scalping knife, will be the signal of one indiscriminate scene of desolation. No white man found fighting by the side of an Indian will be taken prisoner—instant destruction will be his lot. If the dictates of reason, duty, justice and humanity cannot prevent the employment of a force which respects no rights, and knows no wrong, it will be prevented by a severe and relentless system of retaliation.

"I doubt not your courage and firmness; I will not doubt your attachment to liberty. If you tender your services voluntarily, they will be accepted readily.

"The United States offer you peace, liberty and security. Your choice lies between these and war, slavery and destruction. Choose then, but choose wisely; and may He who knows the justice of the cause, and who holds in His Hands the fate of nations, guide you to a result the most compatible with your rights and interests, your peace and prosperity.

"W. HULL.

"By the General, A. F. Hull,
"Capt. 13th Regt. U. S. Inf. and aide-de-camp
Headquarters Sandwich, July 12th, 1812."

The Campaign of 1911

"The Dominion has prospered. It has an active, aggressive and intelligent people. They are COMING TO THE PARTING OF THE WAYS."—President Taft.

"The bond uniting the Dominion with the Mother Country is LIGHT AND ALMOST IMPERCEPTIBLE."—President Taft.

"The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described AND THAT I EARNESTLY AND SINCERELY BELIEVE WILL FOLLOW ITS ADOPTION, we must take it now, or give it up forever."—President Taft.

The answer of the Canadian people to General Hull was very different from that which he expected. His residence in Canada was of less than a month's duration, for on August 7, accompanied by his army, he recrossed the river and re-established himself at Detroit, which he surrendered to General Brock on August 15, yielding up 2,500 men, thirty pieces of cannon, and 2,500 stands of arms.

This was the way the Canadian people of 1812 replied to the arrogance and impudence of an American political general of a hundred years ago. The attempt to take Canada by force was most disastrous to the United States. At the close of the war in 1815 the country was practically bankrupt, its trade was ruined and whatever standing the nation had secured following the successful issue of the revolutionary war twenty-five years before, was lost.

There have been no armed invasions of Canada since that of 1812, but the desire to possess this great and glorious country is as deeply rooted in the American mind as it ever was. Peaceful methods must now be pursued, but the proposals of Mr. Taft mean EXACTLY THE SAME THING AS THE PROCLAMATION OF GENERAL HULL—THE VASSALAGE OF THE CANADIAN PEOPLE TO THE UNITED STATES.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

"here's a lad with a black eye, a skinned nose, and no clothes on, who wants us to put about — and his banker will make it all right. Ha—ha—ha!" And he laughed till my cheeks burned.

"I don't ask anything of you only to get ashore, first stopping place," I sputtered, trembling with anger; his patent disbelief of my statement was hard to swallow. "I'm not to blame for getting robbed and tumbled into the river, and I don't want my people to think I've been drowned."

"There's the shore." He jerked his thumb backward significantly. "Swim for it, if the deck o' the Moon don't suit you."

That silenced me for the time. I knew I could never make shore, weary as I was. The inhospitable atmosphere was better than the unquiet bosom of the Mississippi. I had no stomach for further natatory stunts that night. And I knew that if I depended on the good will of this grouchy individual as to when and where I should set foot on land. He squinted calculatingly at me for a second or two, then addressed the mate.

"Take 'im below, Tupper," he said. "Dig 'im up some jeans an' a pair o' shoes, an' let 'im roost somewhere forrad. We can use 'im, I reckon."

"Look here," I remonstrated anxiously; he was overlooking my voice in the matter in a way that didn't suit me at all. "I want to know when I'm going to get a chance to go back to St. Louis? You don't seem to understand the fix I'm in."

"Got passage money about you?" he asked coolly.

"Why, of course not," I replied. "A fellow doesn't usually carry money in his underclothes."

"He don't, hey?" He stepped nearer to me and suddenly thrust a hairy fist under my nose. "Who the hell are you, t' howl about gettin' ashore? You look t' me like a man that's broke jail, or somethin' o' the kind. As tough a lookin' citizen as you are ought t' be damn thankful for a chance t' climb aboard. You'll earn your keep while you're on the Moon—an' no questions asked. See? Take 'im along, Tupper. Kick his ribs in, if he makes a roar. Get forrad, there."

That was all the satisfaction I got out of Captain Speer; and ,truth to tell, I followed the mate with proper meekness. I knew enough of the river-boat way to avoid open clashing with stern-wheel folk. Deep-water men paint lurid pictures of hell ships, but I have my doubts, from what I've seen and heard, of any windjammer that ever sailed the seven seas being worse than some of the flat-bottomed craft that bucked the Missouri and Mississippi in the year eighteen eighty-one.

The mate, a sullen, red-whiskered brute, hustled me down 'tween decks, rummaged in a locker, and brought forth a frayed suit of cotton overalls, and a pair of brogans three sizes too large for my feet—and they are not small by any means.

"Get into them, if you feel the need o' clothes," he growled. "You camp on that pile o' sacks, an' stay there till you're wanted."

Much as I resented his overbearing speech and manner, I didn't think it good policy to row with him just then. My face ached from the punching it had already received, physical weariness, bruises, the strangeness and palpable belligerence that confronted me on the Moon, all served to cow me, who had never been a fighting man, nor thrown among the breed. My knowledge of the genus river rat was sufficient to tell me that the mate would rather enjoy carrying out the captain's order in regard to my ribs. I wanted none of his game at that time and place. So I donned the overalls and kept my mouth closed.

He wasted no more time on me, and when he was gone I settled myself philosophically on the sack pile, wondering how long it would be till the Moon would make a landing. The wisest plan seemed to consist of dodging trouble while aboard, and stepping ashore at the first tie-up. Otherwise, I judged myself slated to enact the role of roustabout at the pleasure of the rude gentleman in command.

The night was warm; my wet underclothing not uncomfortable. Curled in an easy posture on the folded sacks, I fell asleep, undisturbed by the monotonous beat of the Moon's mechanical heart. The blast of her whistle, long-drawn, a demoniac, ear-splitting cross between a scream and a bellow, wakened me; and while I sat up, rubbing my sleepy eyes, and wondering how long I'd slept, the boorish mate yelled from a gangway:

"Here, you. Come along—an' be quick about it."

When I sensed that he was directing his remarks at me, my first impulse was to lay hold of something and throw it at his bewhiskered face. But on second thought I refrained, and ascended resentfully to the upper deck, grinding my teeth at his broad back as I went. A half dozen other men were gathered amidships on the rail — roustabouts, I judged, from their general unkemptness. Off in the east day was just breaking; from which I gathered that I had slept several hours. The speed of the Moon slackened perceptibly. Out of the grayness ahead a ship loomed ghostly in the dawn, tier on tier of cordwood stacked on the rude wharf; unreared on rows of piles. It seemed to my juvenile fancy like a monster centipede, creeping out to us over the smooth water.

Somewhere in the depths of the Moon a bell tinkled. Immediately the great paddles reversed, churning the river surface into dirty foam, and we sidled slowly against the end of the pier. Fore and aft lines were run out and made fast by a dim figure that flitted from behind the woodricks. The mate growled an order, and a gang plank joined the Moon's deck to the wharf. Down this we filed, Sorrel Whiskers glancing over one shoulder at me.

At once my grimy companions, Bilk among the number, fell upon the piles of wood. For a moment I stood undecided—then walked boldly past the mate. Back of the wharf I saw land, a sloping rise dotted with houses, take form in the growing light; and I was for St. Louis, whether or no. But Tupper forestalled me. I did not get past him. He seemed to be paying little attention. Yet when I was near by him, heart somewhat a-flutter, he lurched forward and struck out—marvelously quick for a stodgy-built man. There was no escaping the swing of his fist. I was knocked down before I knew it, for the second time in twelve hours. Satisfaction gleamed from his small blue eyes. He stepped back, and when I got to my feet, something dazed and almost desperate, he was facing me with a goodly billet in his hand.

"Dig in there, blast you!" he roared. "Grab a stick an' down below with it, or I'll fix you good an' plenty, you bloomin'——"

The fierceness of him ,the futility of pitting myself against a club, much less his ponderous fist, quelled me once more. I hoisted a length of cord wood on my shoulder, and passed aboard, down to a superheated pit back of the furnace. Another trip I made, and some of the murderous rage that seethed inside must have shown on my countenance; for Bilk lagged, and, edging near, as we trod the gangway together, muttered a word of advice.

"Forgit it, kid," he warned. "Don't go agin' him. He's a killer—he's got more'n one man's scalp a'ready. An' it's the calaboose fer you if you did lay him out. See?"

Bilk was right. I was aware that, while failing short of mutiny on the high seas, a good smash at Mr. Tupper would land me in jail—providing the captain and the other mate left enough of me to lock up—and, seeing that St. Louis and my friends were already some distance away, I might find myself in a worse pickle than aboard the Moon. This, coupled with a keen sense of shame for blows received and not yet returned, was galling. But, cowardly or not, just as you choose, I could not cope with sluggers of that heavy calibre, and I knew it. You can hardly wonder that I subsided and sullenly became a satellite of the New Moon.

The empty space behind the hissing boilers was duly filled with wood; the Moon got under way; and then I had a breathing spell, which I spent turning over in my mind certain plans that suggested a way out of the difficulty. Going to Montana, when my destination was Texas, was not to my liking—and the manner of my going I liked least of all. While I pondered, Bilk drew near.

"First trip on a stern-wheeler, huh?" he asked, in a not unfriendly tone.

"Yes—like this," I answered, and he grinned.

"I should have jumped and made a swim for it," I mourned. That had not occurred to me while we were tied up to the wood wharf; in fact, my thinking was none too coherent about that time—Tupper's fist had jared me from head to heel.

"He'd 'a' plugged you quick's you hit the water," Bilk observed indifferently. "He's noways backward about usin' that pistol he packs in his pocket."

"Do you mean to say that he would shoot me for trying to leave the steamer?" I uttered incredously.

"Sure." Bilk's way of answering was very matter of fact.

With exceeding bitterness, I aired my opinion of such a state of affairs. Bilk merely shrugged his shoulders.

"They're short-handed as hell, that's why they froze t' you," he explained. "She'll lose time every wood loadin', if they ain't men t' pack it aboard. Then the freight's slow, the passengers kick, an' the owners pry up hell with the captain. Lord, was you never rung in like this before? It's nothin' t' bein' shanghaied onto a windjammer that's due round the Horn — months of it you git, there; an' it's tough farin'. You ain't got no call t' roar on this. We'll be t' Benton in tendays. What's that amount to?"

"It amounts to quite a lot with me," I responded. "I'm not going to Benton if I can help it. I'll fool that red-whiskered bully, yet."

"Don't let him catch you at it, kid," Bilk observed. 'He'll give you worse'n ten days' steamboatin'."

But I did go to Benton, in spite of my intention to the contrary. The New Moon, as Bilk had told me, was a through freight, a fast boat, passengers and cagro billed direct to the head of navigation, and carrying mail only to that point. Towns along the Missouri were few and far between, those days, once north of Sioux City; and for none did the Moon slow up. Wood slips were her only landing; food for the hungry monster that droned in the bowels of the ship was a prime necessity. For the next three

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here. Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products emoves these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896 to better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the land-hungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

J. R. Stratton

THE DEADLY HOUSE FLY

Municipal Campaign to Extinguish a Summer Pest.

The public health department of the borough of Islington, one of the municipalities which go to make up greater London, has issued a pamphlet entitled "The House Fly, sometimes called the Typhoid Fly: A Menace to Life." "This fly, which has at last been found out, is," says the pamphlet, "a great carrier of disease, and if you do not kill it, it may kill you or your children, even your infant which has just been born. Kill it wherever you find it. Show it no mercy. It has no good points. It has many bad ones. A fly will lay over 100 eggs, and may be succeeded by twelve or thirteen generations in the course of a summer, according to the climate and character of the season. Thus one fly may have millions of descendants in a season. A fly feeds on filth of all kinds, from which it not only takes disease germs into its digestive system, but also entangles them on its feet, legs, wings, and body. A fly newly arrived in your house or kitchen or your bedroom has to a certainty recently come from filth and garbage. But this will not prevent it from feeding on your food, especially your sugar, bread, meat, cheese, and the milk intended for the use of your family and your baby, all of which it will very likely infect. Thus, you see, a fly may convey disease germs that will cause sickness or death to every member of your family. Therefore let this be your motto:

"Kill That Fly."

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ¼ its par value. The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. FRANK OLIVER

Hon. Frank Oliver is another of the plucky Ontario men who turned their faces westward to the great prairies of the Northwest when still boys. Born in Peel county, Ontario, in 1853 we find him thirty years later when the big boom which has changed the West from a lonely wilderness to a prosperous and rapidly filling farming country dotted with rising towns and cities, was beginning, a member of the Northwest Council. In 1888 when the Council was dissolved he was elected to the Legislative Assembly which succeeded it. He remained a member of the Assembly during the next eight years till 1896 when he entered the arena of Federal politics and was returned to the House of Commons as an Independent Liberal. Later on he joined the official Liberal Party and in 1905 became Minister of the Interior in the Laurier cabinet and a Privy Councillor

HON. FRANK OLIVER, Minister of the Interior.

As Minister of the Interior he has had much to do with shaping the immigration policy pursued by the Dominion Government in recent years. In fact his admirers claim that the big colonization wave which has been sweeping into Saskatchewan and Alberta and has transformed Regina, Moose Jaw, Edmonton and Calgary from small towns to flourishing cities is in large measure due to Mr. Oliver's energyand initiative. At any rate it cannot be denied that from the start he was one of the men who pinned their faith in the West and told the world what it was going to be.

Hon. Mr. Oliver is a journalist by profession and is owner of the 'Edmonton Bulletin' which he established in the early eighties and which is now one of the most successful dailies in Western Canada.

Hush It Up.

"Congratulations!"

"For what?"

"I hear one of your exhibits took a prize at the dog and poultry show."

"Well, keep still about it. I entered a Skye terrier, and he took first prize as a Mongolian hen.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DIGESTION AND ASSIMILATION.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

DOCTORS CONDEMN OILY LINIMENTS

The Public Are Warned to be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, Etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment, such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache and such minor ailments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal or external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

Any good druggist or dealer can supply large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c.

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Seymour Co. in Tweed.

A representative of the Seymour Power Company was in Tweed last week taking an inventory of the Tweed plant in view of purchasing.

C.P.R. Surveyors.

Canadian Pacific surveyors who went as far as Cobourg have returned, working towards Belleville. They have run a third and fourth trial line through Trenton, both being on the north of one and two. No. 1 line has been practically abandoned as being impossible to run through the C. N. R. yards.

Harvest Festival To-night.

The Harvest Thanksgiving of All Saints' church will be held this evening, at 8 p.m. The preacher will be the Rev. Dr. Boyle, professor of Trinity College, Toronto. Dr. Boyle is one of the ablest of the younger clergy of the church, and no doubt a large congregation will hear him in his first visit to Peterborough.

House Burned.

A house situated outside the city limits belonging to Mr. P. Healey, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. There was no water within half a mile, so the Fire Department were powerless. Loss about $700.

Damages Over-Rated.

In our report of the fire of the Gas Works on Sunday, the damages were not nearly so great as was stated in yesterday's issue. They probably will not succeed two or three hundred dollars.

St. John's Mission Band.

All the girls of St. John's church, under 14 years of age, are invited to a little tea in the Sunday school tomorrow afternoon, September 20th, at 4.30 o'clock. No admission fee.

Purchased Toronto Business.

Mr. W. A. Edwards, the former proprietor of the Crystal Theatre, in this city, has purchased a large blacksmithing business in Toronto, and will take possession at once. His many friends in Peterborough will wish him every success.

They Like The Times.

Yesterday The Times received further evidence of its popularity and rapidly growing favor. A gentleman who lives in the southern section of the city, sent in five paid subscriptions to the paper with the statement that he would have several more in a short time. This is only one of several similar cases that have come to hand during the past ten days, all of which is very encouraging to us.

Died in Oregon.

Mr. Thos. Elliott, a former resident of Peterborough, died at Mill City, Oregon, U.S.A., on Sept. 7th, 1911, and his remains were laid at rest at Dallas, Ore., where he had spent 25 years of his life and where his wife had been buried five years before. Mr. Elliott was born near Peterborough, Jan. 8, 1830, and in 1852 was married to Martha Might, Cavan (near Millbrook). Up to the time of his going to Oregon, his business was that of a farmer, but there his work was more diversified. He was always an exceedingly industrious man, hard work seeming to him as the breath of his life.

PIANO TUNING.

Mr. Worden, piano tuner of R. F. Wilks & Co., Toronto, will be in Peterborough in a few days. Orders left at The Times' Bookstore will receive attention.

A Good Work.

Captain Martin, of Toronto, financial representative of the Salvation Army, is in the city, hard at work in the interests of the local corps, which commenced last spring to raise 4,263, which is the total mortgage debt. He has met with splendid success in his collections, and up to last Tuesday contributors had given $2,000. Subscriptions of $500, $300, $200 and smaller amounts were made. Captain Martin, however, has found that nearly thirty subscribers have removed from this city, and in order to make up the $3,000 which was promised, and which he hopes to have collected by next Saturday, other friends are asked to give assistance.

Mr. Russell Patterson Honored.

Mr. Russell Patterson, who has for about five years been manager of the Staple Goods Department in Cressman's, will leave to-morrow for Kingston, where he will enter the University, taking up the study of medicine. Mr. Patterson has been very popular with his employees and fellow employees, and advantage was taken of this occasion to present him with a handsome club bag and fountain pen. "Patsy" made a suitable reply, thanking them for the gifts, which he would always prize very much. He would carry away with him pleasant memories of the happy days spent at Cressman's.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

On Saturday last a large barn on the farm of Mr. John Blakely, near the Bensfort bridge, South Monaghan was totally destroyed by fire, and as the result of a second blaze, originating from sparks from the first fire, an old house three hundred yards away, containing sleighs and lumber, belonging to Wm. McClelland, was also destroyed. Mr. Blakely's barn contained all his season's crops, two sets of sleighs, a cultivator, a sulky rake and other implements, as well as one hundred and fifty bushels of wheat belonging to Mr. McClelland. The total loss is estimated at about $3,000 or $4,000, while the insurance will not be greater than $300 or $400 It is thought that the fire must have started from a spark from a passing steamboat.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $30 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

Many Would-Be Editors.

The Times has of late been overwhelmed with contributions from would-be editors. The other day a column of stuff was handed in, clipped from another paper, with the request to have it appear next day. On the very same day, matter aggregating 10 to 15 columns also reached us, most of which was merely newspaper clippings, of a political nature, bearing on one side or the other. The first mentioned came from a Mr. Dodds, East City, who showed his displeasure in a marked way, at not having his impossible request granted at once. He evidently couldn't wait We had another sample of this class of men yesterday, who brought us a five-column article taken from a Toronto paper, and as he was a subscriber to The Times, he must have imagined that he had a blanket mortgage on the whole plant. These are only two extreme cases of course, but there are many others almost as bad. We would again say to our friends that our columns are always open to correspondents, whether subscribers or not, for the discussion of public questions, provided their remarks are not too lengthy, and are temperate and free from abuse. We cannot undertake to publish everything that is sent in to us. To do so we would have to enlarge our paper to double its present size.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY'S SUCCESS IN THE WEST

Mr. Robert W. Buller, an old Peterboroubh boy, arrived in the city yesterday from Victoria, B. C., on a visit to his native town. Mr. Buller is a brother of Ald. Wm. Buller. He left here about 16 years ago, going first to Chicago and thence on to British Columbia, where he has since resided, and where he has done well. He is now manager of the Railway and Steamship News Bureau at Victoria, where he employs over fifty clerks and assistants.

He has not had time to get around and see the changes that have taken place in the old town since his departure, but will do so before he returns home. He honored The Times with his first call, after his arrival yesterday, and spoke most enthusiastically of his adopted Province. He says that the construction of two additional lines of railway will do much to build up the cities of Vancouver, as also will the Panama Canal, which is now approaching completion. He says that Vancouver is bound to become in the near future, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, cities in Canada.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

ABOUT TEN PER CENT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A writer in The Times stated a short time ago that Roman Catholics, not counting Quebec, are nearly a third of the population of the Dominion.

This is incorrect. The population outside of the French Province, is only about ten per cent. of the population of Canada. But even with so comparatively meagre strength, they have been able to hold the whip over both political parties. The public service is filled to overflowing with docile and obedient Romanists.

But, I hope, the future will develop a change in this respect. If the Roman Catholic vote is to be "bargained" for in a body, in order to secure political advantage, then I say it is up to the Protestants also to unite in order to enforce their rights.

Equal Rights.

AN UNFAIR ACT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have been credibly informed that certain Liberal supporters of Mr. Kerr are now circulating a statement that I as one of Mr. Sexsmith's supporters, had endeavored to rent the Norwood town hall for the afternoon and evening of Thursday, the 14th inst., after the nomination was closed.

While it is perfectly correct that I did go to the clerk's house, and as he was not at home, I told his wife that I wanted to secure the town hall for Thursday evening, after the nomination for a meeting of Mr. Sexsmith. When the clerk returned my request was told to him and he sent me word stating the hall had been engaged previous to my application, for Mr. Kerr's meeting Thursday night, the 14th inst.

I positively assert that I never made an application to rent the hall for Mr. Sexsmith for the afternoon, as I well knew the hall was never on nomination day rented to either of the political parties. It is a public hall, open to both parties alike at nomination. Mr. Kerr is the only candidate who ever attempted and succeeded in renting the hall for the afternoon meeting and thus attempt to secure an undue advantage by controlling the meeting.

WEDDING BELLS

Hutchinson—McCrorie.

THE marriage of Miss Lillian Mae McCrorie, daughter of Mrs. Wm. W. Hutchinson to Mr. Stanley W. Hutchinson, the youngest son of Mr. Wm. Hutchinson, took place at their residence, North Monaghan, on Tuesday last, September 12th. The bridal party entered while the wedding march was being played by Mrs. Guy Tripp, the ceremony taking place under an arch of evergreens and autumn leaves. Rev. Mr. Henderson, pastor of Charlotte street church, tied the nuptial knot in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white Morocco silk, trimmed with satin and all-over lace. She wore the customary veil and orange blossoms, and carried a sheaf bouquet of white asters, and wore the groom's gift, a pearl brooch Miss Mildred O. McCrorie, sister of the bride, was becomingly attired in a pink mull, with white insertions, and pink baby ribbon, and carried pink asters. Little Florence G. Hutchinson made a dainty flower girl in pink silk messaline, and carried a basket of pink asters, while the groom was ably supported by Mr. Erle Gillespie, of Hastings, Ont. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was an opal ring, to the flower girl a gold bracelet, and to the groomsman a fancy stick pin. The bride's gift to Mrs. Tripp, was a beautiful pearl handled cold meat fork. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the dining room.

The happy young couple left for their future home in Lindsay, Ont., amid showers of confetti and rice. They will be at home to their friends after October 1st. The presents received were numerous and costly, testifying to the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their many friends.

FAIR DIRECTORS MADE MISTAKE

A queer mistake was made by the directors of Stamford Fair this week, some prepared fall fair lithographs were brought across the river for advertising purposes. When the bills had been posted the loyal constituents of Mr. W. F. German, M.P., and Mr. Evans E. Fraser, M.P.P., were dumbfounded to see that the Stars and Stripes were floating gaily from the main mast. The pictures were hurriedly removed when the discovery was made.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 19.—Up to 10 a.m. to-day there had been no contradiction of the official count of the prohibition vote made by the Governor's Council, which gave a majority of twenty-six to the wets. DOG AT TABLE.

Wife Objects and Husband Struck Her a Heavy Blow.

Wilkes-Barrie, Pa., Sept. 19.—Mrs. David T. Roberts of Edwardsburg, near here, objected to having her husband's dog sit on a chair at the dining table and eat his meals with them, as Roberts desired. As a result she and her husband were before Alderman Donobue of this city today.

Mrs. Roberts told the Alderman that yesterday she was so disgusted with the dog's actions at the table, she pushed him from the chair and ordered him from the room. Her husband, she charges, then struck her and she had him arrested. Roberts was held under bail for trial and the Alderman advised him to keep his dog in his kennel.

APPEAL TO THE BRITISH BORN AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE LAST NIGHT

A Large Attendance and Intense Enthusiasm was Manifested

MR. ARTHUR HAWKES DELIVERS A LENGTHY ADDRESS APPEALING TO ALL BRITISH BORN CANADIANS TO VOTE AGAINST RECIPROCITY—AND FOR CANADA FOR CANADIANS AND EXTENSION OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

"The best thing that ever happened Canada was the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty of 1854, because it was then put up to Canada to root hog or die—and Canada Rooted."—Arthur Hawkes at the Opera House last night.

Arthur Hawkes, the champion of the British born, was heard to splendid advantage at the Opera House last night, when he sustained his reputation as one of the brainiest and most forcible and picturesque of Canada's platform orators, with a style peculiarly his own, a fund of humor perfectly irresistible, and a genius for retort that answered his purpose admirably last night in reply to the Examiner's criticisms of his motives for entering the political arena. "I am" he said, "not a paid agent of the Conservative party, but the representative of the Canadian British Born Association, organized in Toronto at the incipiency of this campaign, who believe that in fighting this Reciprocity Pact they are taking up arms against an alliance between the Liberal Government of Canada and the Government of the United States. A few years ago the campaign slogan was "Let Laurier Finish His Work," whereas to-day morally speaking, it is "Let Taft Finish His Work."

The meeting was largely attended by an intensely enthusiastic and appreciative audience, and whilst the majority were undoubtedly British born, not a few were Canadians pure and simple who entered heartily into the sentiment, "Canada for the Canadians and British Born" with which the gifted speaker's utterances were freely interspersed.

The first two floors of the spacious Opera House were filled to their capacity, with a big sprinkling in the top gallery.

A first-class orchestra was in attendance and their offerings were unmistakably Canadian and British born airs.

Mr. Wm. Common made a very efficient chairman, and opened the proceedings with a characteristic British born address, during which he offered that the aims of the Canadian British Association is to uplift resident Britishers in Canada, and make of them the best possible Canadian citizens.

The Americans have, he said, in the past played fast and loose with their natural resources, which in consequence of such short-sighted policy, are to-day deplete, and now they are seeking to recuperate at the expense of Canadians' heritage. Therefore, we must be very careful not to open the door and permit American influences to dominate Canada. (Applause). And it is the duty of every British-Born voter to vote against the Reciprocity Pact on the 21st instant. (Prolonged applause).

Mr. Albert Lee here rendered a vocal solo in an excellent tenor voice.

MR. ARTHUR HAWKES.

Mr. Arthur Hawkes on rising to speak received a very flattering ovation offered in an unmistakably British manner.

ARTHUR HAWKES.

Editor of the British News of Canada, who addressed a meeting of the British born in the Opera House last night.

He conceived it his first duty, in a spirit of British fair play, to accord Mr. Stratton and the Examiner his heart-felt thanks for the splendid advertisement given him in the press. But, he continued, politics is an important subject on which much enlightenment may be gleaned from a book, he was afraid neither Mr. Stratton or the Examiner's editor were very fond of—the Bible. The speaker here drew a vivid picture of the rise of Daniel in Babylon to the position of Cabinet Minister, in which office, however, he proved too honest, thus earning the enmity of his colleagues, who influenced the king to frame a law that any one making a request for a post office (for instance) should make such requisition in their way. A watch was then set upon Daniel, who adhering to the methods of his forefathers was caught violating the new decree, and in punishment cast into the lion's den. The same experience happened me, the speaker went on to say, in regard to this newspaper lion of Peterborough, only whereas the ministers of Babylon threw Daniel into a den of real lions, I was thrown to a dandy lion. But the difference lies in that whereas the Lord closed the mouths of Daniel's lions, he opened wide the mouths of my Peterborough lions, and every time my opponents open their mouths, they put their foot into it."

At this juncture some uncouth individual made his way to the stage and wanted to know if the meeting was one for British-Born or an anti-Stratton. Mr. Hawkes expostulated with his interrupter, and Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., put in appearance and conducted the ill-timed enquirer out on to Water street. Mr. Hawkes then announced that the man had explained that he was sorry to interrupt the proceedings, but his action was compulsory. Mr. Hawkes wondered who had compelled him to such a step.

Continuing, Mr. Hawkes had no apology to offer for championing the British Born, who had every reason to be proud of the land of their birth. It is a great thing, he said, to be an inheritor of this great Canada of ours but a still greater thing to be born of the motherland of the free—the model of human liberty—and to know that with all its faults the British Empire is still the mightiest empire for progress and civilization the world has ever seen (prolonged applause). And a Britisher should have due regard for the descendants of Canada's earliest settlers, irrespective of race or creed cheers). In regard to politics, contended the speaker, politics is a science of government, and should not be allowed to become the property of any gang who is striving to get their hands into the treasury in opposition to the gang that already has their hands there. An ounce of experience is worth a ton of editorials, and as thousands of British born voters of but a few months residence in Canada will be asked to cast their ballots on Thursday next, I do not think it necessary for me, with my Canadian experience—commencing life here 26 years ago as an ox driver on the prairies—to apologize for instructing my less experienced British brethern how to vote on the Reciprocity Pact. Be very slow, he urged, to allow any body to put their political label upon you: wait until you are good and ready and then label yourselves. In Oshawa, it is said, the immigration vote will carry any measure; and unless my informant is incorrect, that vote is being sought after, and at night with a dark lantern. Partyism does not mean the same in this country as it does in the old; be guided by Canadian conditions and don't be fooled by the Jim Strattons into believing that because you voted Liberal in the old country you should do the same here in Canada. For instance, the Whitney Government is Conservative and yet with its Hydro-Electric Commission innovation that Conservative Government is pursuing the most radical piece of administration in the empire to-day. Free trade was introduced into Great Britain in order to enable manufacturers to compete with foreign competition, whereas there would have been no chance of Canadian manufacturering expansion without protection. And still the fact remains that in Canada to-day immigrants who left the free trade old country because of low wages are getting higher wages and the fullest benefits from education in this great Dominion where protection is in force. You British-born Canadians must on this issue weigh existing conditions, irrespective of party, vote accordingly. Twentieth century politics are only worthy the attention of twentieth century voters. This Reciprocity Pact is one affecting the future irrespective of the opinions of men who are dead, and for heaven's sake get away from the cry that Reciprocal relations with the States should be endorsed, because it was the policy of men who have passed away 25 or 30 years ago. Politics that effect the future have got to be decided with our eyes on the future and not on the past. Undoubtedly the prosperity of Canada has been built up in the old national policy, and the best thing that ever happened Canada was the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty of 1854 because it was then put up to Canada to root hog or die—Well, she rooted, and lives, and the United States now wants to step in and share the results of that rooting. When they tell you that Sir Wilfrid's policy has resulted in the expansion of the great West, it must be remembered that his minister, Hon. Clifford Sifton is more responsible for the development of the West than the whole of Sir Wilfrid's Cabinet, and he is their greatest opponent to-day against reciprocity.

While commending Sir Wilfrid Laurier for abandoning five years ago, any hope of Reciprocity with the States and inaugurating a constructive commercial policy, the speaker arraigned the Liberal administration for what he termed enormous extravagance in the construction of the transcontinental railway through an all but unsettled and unproductive territory.

In conclusion, Mr. Hawkes contended that the aim of the States was to divert British Empire commercial union into exclusive, so far as Canada is concerned, commercial union with themselves, with a view to future annexation. "You know, he said, "when the big business men with a reputation for gobbling up everything in sight makes overtures to his weaker opponent, it is up to the latter to think twice before entering into any agreement with the former. And I very much mistake the temper of the British-born immigrants if they will allow any man or outside power to say that there shall not exist commercial union within the British Empire." (Prolonged applause).

As to the charge that he is setting British-born against Canadian-born, Mr. Hawkes suggested that his opponents ask themselves whether a man who is father to native born children is likely to create diversion in his own house.

The meeting closed with the customary cheers and the audience rose and sang: "For he's a jolly good fellow," in honor of the gifted orator.

MARTIAL LAW IS NOW IN FORCE IN SPAIN

RIOTERS IN VALENCIA MURDER A JUDGE AND WOUNDED SEVERAL OFFICERS.

Revolutionary Plot Found at Barcelona—Were to Kill Weyler—Many Strikes Called.

Madrid, Sept. 19.—Martial law has been declared in Spain.

This followed reports of violence in connection with working men's strikes, which have been called in various cities to further, the Government says, a revolutionary plot.

The most serious situation is at Valencia, where a general strike was declared yesterday. The city was at once placed under martial law, and though there was more or less rioting throughout the day, the authorities had matters pretty well under hand until after dark, when the disturbers vented their fury in an attack upon the officials in the adjacent township of Cullera.

MURDERED A JUDGE.

The rioters murdered a judge and wounded other officers of the court, which had been engaged in the trial of those who had been arrested earlier in the day. The mob was finally dispersed by guards from the custom house.

Premier Canalejas announces that the Government has in its possession the details of a revolutionary plot uncovered at Valencia and Barcelona. Part of this plot was to assassinate General Weyler, Captain-General of Catalonia. The government claims to know the names of all the conspirators, and the source of their supplies. It is claimed that the movement at Barcelona has failed of importance.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date $1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty cooperation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITTLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA
W. E. FUD GER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,639.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

TO CANADIAN CATHOLICS.

Papal Encyclical Urges Them to Eradicate Differences of Opinion.

In a Papal encyclical received this week from Rome Pius X. urges the Roman Catholics of Canada to eradicate whatever differences of opinion that still exist among them through diversity of race and language.

He expresses approval of the Plenary Council of Quebec, and directs the clergy to admonish unceasingly all Roman Catholics to show themselves such not only in private but in public also, so that the spirit of their religion may pervade public life as well as the family circle and individual conduct.

The letter emphasizes the duty of all who have the care of souls "to watch with care that the teaching of religion be never wanting in elementary schools," and the Catholic faith should receive still further training in the Catholic High Schools and Colleges, so that they may in later life associate with their non-Catholic fellow citizens without spiritual danger and by reasoning with them be able to dispel from their minds prejudiced opinions.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

On Saturday last a large barn on the farm of Mr. John Blakely, near the Bensfort bridge, South Monaghan was totally destroyed by fire, and as the result of a second blaze, originating from sparks from the first fire, an old house three hundred yards away, containing sleighs and lumber, belonging to Wm. McClelland, was also destroyed. Mr. Blakely's barn contained all his season's crops, two sets of sleighs, a cultivator, a sulky rake and other implements, as well as one hundred and fifty bushels of wheat belonging to Mr. McClelland. The total loss is estimated at about $3,000 or $4,000, while the insurance will not be greater than $300 or $400 It is thought that the fire must have started from a spark from a passing steamboat.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION IN OLD CANADA.

French Brandy In The Fur Trade

In the Archives of the Seminary of Quebec there is a letter on the liquor question, probably the oldest document relating to that question as it affected Canada. It was written by a French Roman Catholic missionary about 1705, and gave the history of French brandy in Canada. In the early history, during Bishop Laval's time and subsequent to that period, there were two parties in the Dominion on this question, the liquor party and the prohibition party. The liquor party consisted of the fur traders, who were supported by the French governors; and the prohibition party comprised the missionaries, who were sustained by the Church. Thus were Church and State arrayed against each other. The importers at Quebec sold the stuff to the small fur traders. The missionary who made these statements says that the importers adulterated it by putting in salt and water.

The Rev. Pere Maillard states that when he arrived at a post the trader adulterated the liquor which had previously been adulterated by the importer. He steeped tobacco in it, and then gave to the Indians a tin cup full each. As soon as this flew to their heads they demanded more. Then they had to pay for it in furs. When their furs were gone they received liquor on credit, and became bondsmen to the traders, and had to pay them after the next autumn hunt. These traders charged extortionate prices for the liquor, and the Indians being crazed with drink would pay any sum. This missionary knew a trader at Three Rivers who obtained fifty bear skins for sufficient liquor to make him drunk for one evening. Pledges of clothes were taken from the Indians for brandy. One trader who took the blankets and clothes of the Indians for debts incurred in drinking was accustomed to make net profits above expenses of five hundred francs per month. Blankets were sold by the traders for four beaver skins each, and on the day following that on which they were sold they were bought back for a pint of adulterated brandy. The missionary states that they did not take the liquor because they liked it, but they wished to get drunk. They would fast in order to get the full strength of the strong drink upon an empty stomach. When going to fight they would drink in order to become courageous.

Couldn't Stand it.

C. E. Ashburn, of Staunton, Virginia, has held what is probably the most unique office in the United States, that of business manager of the city, an undertaking which has sent him, a nervous wreck, to a sanitarium in Washington. For years he ruled supreme, being delegated by the citizens of Staunton with sole power to conduct the affairs of the city government according to his own judgment, just as he would conduct a big business house of his own. He had the power to employ and dismiss all city employees, and his system proved a success. Never has Staunton accomplished more in the way of public improvement than under his administration. It is said that his worrying by office-seekers finally broke him down.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. WM. LYON MACKENZIE KING.

Few of the younger generation of Canadian public men have crowded so much important work into such a short period as has the Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, C.M.G., M.P., P.C., Ph.D. A grandson on the maternal side of William Lyon Mackenzie and gifted with not a little of the patriot's genius, it is not to be wondered at, he should make his mark in the social and political affairs of his native land at an age when most young men have as yet scarcely turned their thoughts towards the serious things of life.

After a brilliant university career at Toronto, Harvard and Chicago, he joined the editorial staff of the Toronto "Globe" and later returned to Harvard as Instructor in Political Economy. During this period we also find him acting as special Commissioner of the Canadian Government to inquire into methods of carrying out Government contracts in Canada and Europe," an appointment due to the keen interest he had displayed in labor matters and his distinction as a political economist. In 1908 he was elected to the Dominion Parliament as member for North Waterloo, having in the meantime held several important government appointments, including editor of labor 'Gazette' and Deputy Minister of Labor from 1900 to September 1908; Registrar of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation, 1908-9; Secretary of the Royal Commission to inquire into industrial disputes in British Columbia, 1908; represented Canadian Government in England on question of alleged misrepresentations to immigrants in 1906; Chairman of Royal Commission to enquire into conditions of employment of telephone operatives, 1907; Royal Commissioner to assess losses of Japanese residents of Vancouver, B.C., in anti-Asiatic Riots, 1907; Royal Commissioner to enquire into the methods by which Oriental laborers have been induced to come to Canada, 1907; Royal Commissioner to assess losses of Chinese residents of Vancouver, in anti-Asiatic riots, 1908; representative of the Canadian Government sent to England to confer with the British authorities on the subject of immigration to Canada from India, 1908. In the latter year he also acted as Royal Commissioner to inquire into conditions of employment of operatives in the cotton industry, while in 1909 he was appointed by the Imperial Government one of the British delegates on the International Opium Commission, held at Shanghai, China. He was president of the Canadian Club of Ottawa, 1904-5 and in 1909 was appointed Minister of Labor for Canada.

Mackenzie King's success in all these important missions has marked him out as one of the greatest living Canadian authorities on social and labor problems. The suppression of the Opium traffic is another matter with which he has been prominently identified and of late the traffic in other drugs including cocaine has come within the sphere of his activities and he is largely responsible for recent preventitive legislation under this head.

Mr. Mackenzie King was born at Berlin, Ont., in 1874 and is unmarried.

JUDGE LAFONTAINE, of Montreal.

The liquor question is a live issue all over Canada to-day, but in no place more so than in Montreal, where the License Commissioners have adopted a policy of license reduction in the city limits, and have announced that those who have been lax in obeying the law in the past must be those to suffer the consequences in the future.

On this stand the Commissioners have been supported by the public generally, by the Government, by the Dominion Alliance, the Anti-Alcoholic League, and the better class of saloonkeepers themselves. In the fight against the dives and rum shops, which have been straining every nerve and pulling every wire to keep the white parchment which admits of their selling liquor, none has been more active than Judge Ulric Lafontaine, the President of the Anti-Alcoholic League, an organization which is earnestly working against immoderate use of liquor. The Anti-Alcoholic League embraces all creeds, all nationalities, and all tongues. Here French-speaking and English-speaking citizens alike line up in a common cause.

Judge Lafontaine was born in the village of St. Edouard Napierville, as was his father before him. From his name one might suppose that he is of French origin; but if you go back far enough you will find that there is more German and Scotch blood flowing through his veins than there is French.

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

CURED QUICKLY BY CATARRHOZONE.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is antiseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Trial size 25c, sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOPE FOR PORTUGAL.

Recognition by five great European powers will encourage the chiefs of the Portuguese Republic. In spite of rumors of danger from without, the new regime seems firmly on its feet. It has a constitution, it has a President of the right kind—a compromise President, one who may be trusted to hold the balance evenly between the parties. Matters have on the whole gone smoothly since the expulsion of Manuel. A strict censorship has been in force; but if there had been grave disorder within, the news could not have been kept from the world. The nation has shown itself united in the face of supposed peril, and it is possible that real peril would strengthen the union.

The treatment of the clergy, and the disposition to lay violent hands on church property were the least agreeable features of the revolution. The great wealth which a religious body accumulates by prudent management has always been an object of temptation in times of public unrest. That the treatment of Portuguese religious bodies was not justifiable may be inferred from the fact that foreign orders had to be exempted from the measures of the provisional government. The disposition now is to conciliate the church. A new Vendee in the North will be averted, and it is besides proper that no class should be singled out for legislative or executive attack. That principle ought to be she keystone of the new republic.

Portugal has little to fear from without; her dangers come from within. The change from monarchy to republic will not supply to the bulk of the citizens the place of the political education they lack. Much must depend for many years on the men at the helm. More attention must be paid to domestic needs than to foreign aggrandizement. Dreams of empire must be laid aside. Portugal's intrinsic resources are considerable. They have been neglected in the past; but in their development lies the secret of the nation's future.

NINE KILLED BY RACING CAR.

Machine Crashed Through Fence at New York State Fair Track.

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 18.—Nine persons were killed and 14 injured, some of them seriously, as the result of an accident during the closing miles of a 50-mile motor race at the State Fair track Saturday afternoon when a Knox car, driven by Lee Oldfield, leaped from the track and went crashing through the fences surrounding it and plunged into the throngs that lined the other side of the speedway. Six of the nine people were killed outright, and two others were so badly injured that they died on the way to the hospital.

The list of dead may be increased as it is believed at this time that several of those who are numbered among the injured are so badly hurt that they cannot live.

TRACK WAS WETTED.

The track was wetted down to prevent President Taft from being covered with dust as he went round the track. This was such as to cause drivers who were to compete in the 50-mile event to protest against it.

When the race was called Ralph de Palma and Bob Burman, who had been driving in previous races, refused to go on because of the condition of the track. They said the water had made it too dangerous for them to take chances. There was some delay, and during the time the track dried somewhat. The race was called and Burman and de Palma were both entrants, along with Oldfield and six others.

RUNNING A 75-MILE PACE.

The accident happened on the 43rd mile. De Palma had been leading by a lap to the good, and Oldfield was trailing him as they entered the first quarter of the beginning of the 43rd mile. The big cars travelling, it is estimated, at 75 miles an hour, were running side by side as they swung around the turn, after passing the grandstand on the first quarter. As they took the turn there was a report. The car driven by Oldfield leaped into the air. Then it swerved to the outer side and crashed through the fence. The crippled machine, beyond the control of the driver, then ploughed its way through hundreds of persons who had lined themselves along the fence in the hope of viewing the race.

Announcement that no one was hurt was made to the people in the grand stand. Hundreds hurried to the point where the car left the track.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

The Man Who Keeps the Wheels a'Rolling

Working Men Vote in Your Own Interests

Dominion Trades Congress Strong For Reciprocity

The executive does not hesitate to say that it believes that the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States is in the interests of the Canadian people. If other proof of this were wanting, the fact that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is against, would be sufficient to prove it must be of some value to the workers. This organization has never tired of proclaiming its love for "free" labour, because that helps its pocket. Reciprocity has long been recegnized in the International Trade union movement and we see no danger to anything but the pockets of a few interested capitalists in permitting the people of the two countries to swap knives if they see fit to do so, without the intervention of a horde of Customs officials. The trade union movement is better and stronger because of the freedom it enjoys in the exchange of benefits.

ALWAYS THE SAME OBJECT IN VIEW

The Campaign a Hundred Years Ago

On June 17th, 1812, the Senate of the United States passed a bill declaring war against Great Britain, the principal object of which was to seize the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada.

Dr. Eustis, United States Secretary of War at that time, in one of his speeches said, "We can take the Canadas without soldiers; we have only to send officers into the Provinces, and the people, dissatisfied towards their own Government, will rally round our standard."

Hon. Henry Clay on the floors of Congress said, "It is absurd to suppose that we will not succeed in our enterprise against the enemy's provinces. We have the Canadas as much under our command as Great Britain has the ocean, and the way to conquer her on the ocean is to drive her from the land. I am not for stopping at Quebec or anywhere else; but I would take the whole continent from them and ask them no favors."

The invasion of Canada was under way before the Congress had taken final action, but it was not until the 12th July that General Hull, who had command of the western army of the United States, crossed the Detroit River to establish his headquarters at Sandwich on the Canadian side.

THE PROCLAMATION.

From this point General Hull issued a proclamation to the inhabitants of Canada which for bombastic impudence is unequalled by any document in the English language. This remarkable proclamation is as follows:

"Inhabitants of Canada:

"After thirty years of peace and prosperity the United States have been driven to arms. The injuries and aggressions, the insults and indignities of Great Britain have once more left them no alternative but manly resistance, or unconditional submission.

"The army under my command, has invaded your country, AND THE STANDARD OF UNION NOW WAVES OVER THE TERRITORY OF CANADA. To the peaceable, unoffending inhabitant, it brings neither danger nor difficulty. I come to find enemies, not to make them. I come to protect not to injure you.

"Separated by an immense ocean, and an extensive wilderness from Great Britain, you have no participation in her councils, nor interest in her conduct. You have felt her tyranny, you have seen her injustice, but I do not ask you to avenge the one or redress the other. The United States are sufficiently powerful to afford you every security, consistent with their rights, and your expectations. I tender you the invaluable blessings of civil, political and religious liberty, and their necessary result, individual and general prosperity, that liberty which gave decision to our councils and energy to our conduct in our struggle for independence, and which conducted us safely and triumphantly through the stormy period of the revolution—that liberty which has raised us to an elevated rank among the nations of the world, and which has afforded us a greater measure of peace and security, of wealth and improvement than ever fell to the lot of any people.

"In the name of my country and by the authority of my Government, I promise protection to your persons, your peaceful and customary avocations—raise not your hands against your brethren—many of your fathers fought for the freedom and independence we now enjoy. Being children, therefore, of the same family with us, and heirs to the same heritage, the arrival of an army of friends must be hailed by you with a cordial welcome. You will be emancipated from tyranny and oppression, and restored to the dignified station of freedom.

"Had I any doubt of eventual success, I might ask your assistance but I do not. I come prepared for every contingency. I have a force which will look down all opposition and that force is but the vanguard of a much greater. If contrary to your interests, and the just expectation of my country, you should take part in the approaching contest, you will be considered and treated as enemies, the horrors and calamities of war will stalk before you.

"If the barbarous and savage policy of Great Britain be pursued, and the savages are let loose to murder our citizens, and butcher our women and children, this war will be a war of extermination.

"The first stroke of the tomahawk, the first attempt with the scalping knife, will be the signal of one indiscriminate scene of desolation. No white man found fighting by the side of an Indian will be taken prisoner—instant destruction will be his lot. If the dictates of reason, duty, justice and humanity cannot prevent the employment of a force which respects no rights, and knows no wrong, it will be prevented by a severe and relentless system of retaliation.

"I doubt not your courage and firmness; I will not doubt your attachment to liberty. If you tender your services voluntarily, they will be accepted readily.

"The United States offer you peace, liberty and security. Your choice lies between these and war, slavery and destruction. Choose then, but choose wisely; and may He who knows the justice of the cause, and who holds in His Hands the fate of nations, guide you to a result the most compatible with your rights and interests, your peace and prosperity.

"W. HULL.

"By the General, A. F. Hull,
"Capt. 13th Regt. U. S. Inf. and aide-de-camp
Headquarters Sandwich, July 12th, 1812."

The Campaign of 1911

"The Dominion has prospered. It has an active, aggressive and intelligent people. They are COMING TO THE PARTING OF THE WAYS."—President Taft.

"The bond uniting the Dominion with the Mother Country is LIGHT AND ALMOST IMPERCEPTIBLE."—President Taft.

"The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described AND THAT I EARNESTLY AND SINCERELY BELIEVE WILL FOLLOW ITS ADOPTION, we must take it now, or give it up forever."—President Taft.

The answer of the Canadian people to General Hull was very different from that which he expected. His residence in Canada was of less than a month's duration, for on August 7, accompanied by his army, he recrossed the river and re-established himself at Detroit, which he surrendered to General Brock on August 15, yielding up 2,500 men, thirty pieces of cannon, and 2,500 stands of arms.

This was the way the Canadian people of 1812 replied to the arrogance and impudence of an American political general of a hundred years ago. The attempt to take Canada by force was most disastrous to the United States. At the close of the war in 1815 the country was practically bankrupt, its trade was ruined and whatever standing the nation had secured following the successful issue of the revolutionary war twenty-five years before, was lost.

There have been no armed invasions of Canada since that of 1812, but the desire to possess this great and glorious country is as deeply rooted in the American mind as it ever was. Peaceful methods must now be pursued, but the proposals of Mr. Taft mean EXACTLY THE SAME THING AS THE PROCLAMATION OF GENERAL HULL — THE VASSALAGE OF THE CANADIAN PEOPLE TO THE UNITED STATES.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, about 225 miles west of Edmonton.

By next year the steel will reach this territory and it is likely that a large number of people will take advantage of this new country to explore it before it becomes too popular.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

days Tupper and Bailey, the second mate, gave me no chance to quit my involuntary servitude. Their fists I avoided by submission. When we had gone that far up-river, I ceased to look for opportunity to take French leave, reasoning that I would have more trouble retracing my steps homeward through that thin-settled land than if I stuck to the Moon and made the roundtrip; besides this, my anger at the dirty treatment had settled to cold malevolence. I wanted to stay with the Moon, to be forced to stay with her—for I had promised myself to make the captain and mate dance to sad music once we tied to a St Louis dock and I could get the ear of my guardian. I tell you frankly that prospect was my only joy for many dolorous days.

Meantime, I unwillingly carried wood, slushed decks, and performed such other tasks as were gruffly allotted me; always under a protest which I dared not voice. I suppose one would eventually become accustomed to being cursed every time one turned around, but it never failed to set me plotting reprisals; I can easily understand a bunch or men revolting under just such treatment, and being mighty fractious. Once or twice I had it in mind to appeal to one of the passengers — a prosperous-looking citizen whom Bilk told me was a St. Louis hide merchant, and who I thought might know my father or Bolton. But the sleek one transfixed me with such a palpably contemptuous air when I was in the act of approaching him that I simply hadn't the heart to face another rebuff A stern-wheel deck hand is not an attractive individual, as a rule, and I supposed I looked the part — aggravated somewhat by my discolored optics and bruised face. My failure even to get speech with one of the elect, and being scowled at as if I were a mangy dog into the bargain didn't tend to make me feel kindly toward the well-fed, well-clothed mortals who lounged on the after-deck, smoking Havanah cigars. Of the hide man I took particular note, hoping to meet him some time in the future, when I'd settled with Tupper, Speer, et al, and tell him what a damned snob he was. There was a woman or two aboard, but they stuck to their cabins and concerned me not — until a day when I was fool enough to show a trace of the soreness that always bubbled within.

I do not know why I tackled the captain. I did not want wages; for Bilk had made it clear to me that, if I signed the steamer's roll, I thereby precluded the possibility of hauling the Moon's commander over the coals for refusing to set me ashore and keeping me in downright peonage, and I would not have missed making it warm for that coarse ruffian for half the cattle my dad had left me. I dare say it was a flickering up of the smoldering fires of hostility. Neither Tupper nor Speer ever came close to me that I did not have to fight down an impulse to club them with whatever was nearest my hand And this day I unthinkingly baited Captain Speer, much as I feared the weight of his ready fists. I was stowing a rope just aft of the wheelhouse, when the captain paced along the deck, and turned a cold eye upon me. I dropped the rope.

"Say," I asked bluntly, and perhaps more belligerently than was wise, "do I get paid wages for the work I'm doing?"

"Hey? Get paid?" he growled Then he lifted up his voice and swore. "By God, you pay for the grub you eat an' the clothes you got on, an' we'll talk about wages. You — you double-dyed, gilt-edged son of a feather duster!"

This is not a literal transcription of Captain Speer's expletives, but it will have to serve His rendering was of the sort frowned upon in polite literature as altogether unprintable. Never did the captain sacrifice force to elegance of expression. I have heard it said, and the statement is indubitably true, that he could swear louder and faster and longer than any other two men between Benton and New Orleans. With the full tide of his reviling upon me, he lurched forward, his big-knuckled fingers reaching for my throat. I turned to dart around the wheelhouse; Tupper, grinning maliciously, showed up from that quarter. And when I swung about to go the other way, I tripped, and Speer nailed me before I could dodge again. Like a cat pawing a helpless mouse, he slammed me against a deck-house wall, and I should doubtless have had my head well worked over but for a timely interruption.

Aft from the wheelhouse a promenade deck ran over the cabin roofs, whereon the passengers lounged when they cared to sun themselves. The captain, the mate, and myself were on the narrow deck below. From just over our heads came the voice of feminine disapproval; at which Captain Speer let go my throat, and Tupper paused with his foot drawn back to kick me.

"You're a pretty pair of brutes, indeed you are!"

The girl, a small, serious-faced thing, her brown hair standing out in wind-blown wisps from under a peaked cap, leaned over the rail and flung down the words hotly, stamping one small foot to lend emphasis to her observations.

"You may be typical ship's officers," she went on scornfully, "but you are certainly not men."

The two of them stood abashed, like pickpockets taken in the act, and a man by the girl's side put in a word.

"Miss Montell," he drawled, "you shouldn't interfere with the pastimes of our worthy skipper and mate. Let the good work go on."

"Shame on you, Mr Barreau!" she flashed, drawing away from him.

The man paid no heed to her quick retort, but himself leaned a bit forward and spoke directly to the captain.

"Go to it, Captain Speer," he said indifferently—that is, his manner of speech was well-simulated indifference; but I, staring up at him, saw the storm clouds gathering in his dark-blue eyes. "Go ahead. Beat the boy's face to a jelly. Kick in a few ribs for good measure. Make a thorough job of it. You see, I know something of the river-boat way. But when you are done with that, Messrs. Speer and Tupper, you shall have some little entertainment at my expense, I promise you."

There was a menace in the inflection.

"By the Lord, sir, I'm master on this vessel!" Captain Speer at length found his tongue. "If you don't like this, come down and take a hand."

"Now speaks the doughty mariner," Barreau laughed mockingly. "I shall take a hand without troubling to come down, believe me. Colonel Colt shall arbitrate for us. If that is to your liking, I am at your service, Captain Speer."

"Another cowardly blow," cried the girl, her dainty face flushing, "and my father shall see that you captain no more boats for the Benton and St. Louis Company—you barbarian. I promise you that for penalty, whatever Mr. Barreau sees fit to do."

Whether the threat against his position carried weight, or he simply had no hankering for an encounter with the cool individual on the upper deck, I do not know; but, at any rate, Captain Speer saw fit to sheath his claws at this juncture.

"Git t' hell out o' here, you!" he grunted, under his breath. And I made haste to "git."

Looking back, I saw Tupper and Speer striding aft Above, the girl stood by the rail, tucking in the flying locks with graceful movements of her hands. Barreau was staring after the retreating pair, smiling sardonically over a cigarette.

Later, I learned from Bilk that Miss Montell was the fur merchant's daughter, and straightway I forgave the portly one any grievance I held against him. But from none of the crew could I learn aught of Barreau. Nor did I see him again, except at ship's length. Like the girl, he kept close to his cabin and the passenger's saloon — terra incognita to such lowly ones as I. I was grateful, even at a distance; for between them they had saved me a thumping — a thumping, however, which I had reason to believe was merely postponed.

The Moon was now well into Dakota. Steadily she forged up the turbid river, thrumming past Pierre, and, farther on, Standing Rock reservation. At Bismark, we made a brief stop. Then we turned the Great Bend, and plunged into the Bad Lands. Through this gashed and distorted country, the Moon plowed along an ever-narrowing channel. From her deck, I had my first glimpse of the buffalo, already doomed to extinction. Wild cattle and deer scuttled back up the fearful slopes at our approach, or vanished into the yawning canons. Unaccustomed to that altitude, I marveled at the clarity of the atmosphere, the wonderful stillness of the land. The high banks that shut us in, slanted away like paint-daubed walls. The ridges back of them were twisted and notched by ancient geologic contortions, washed by countless rains and bleached by unnumbered centuries of sun — a strange jumble of earth and rocks and stunted trees; a place to breed superstitious fears, and warp the soul of a man with loneliness.

In time the Moon left this monstrosity of landscape behind, emerging upon a more wholesome land. Grassy bottoms spread on either side the river, and the upper levels ran back in a vast unbroken sweep, the true prairie. And presently we swept around a bend into view of a cluster of houses lining the north shore, and the Moon's whistle outdid all previous efforts in the way of ungodly sound. Twenty minutes later she was rubbing softly against a low wharf, her passengers were disembarked, and the back-breaking task of unloading cargo began.

CHAPTER IV.

Bob Sumner, Fighting Man.

In due time the foodstuffs and other goods were unloaded, and the Moon began to take on her return cargo of buffalo hides and sundry bundles of furs, the harvest of the past winter's hunting and the spring trade. Had it been left to our loud-mouthed captain, there would have been no cessation of labor until the last pelt was stowed; he would have worked us twenty-four hours to the day. But Benton was not St Louis, and the men who loaded ship were of a different calibre from the stevedores at the River City. A certain number of hours would they work, and no longer, though the Moon rotted at her slip. So we of the regular crew had a breathing spell as sundown approached And the first

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here. Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products emoves these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896 to better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the landhungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

J. R. Stratton

SHOWING THAT CIRCUMSTANCES SOMETIMES ALTER CASES.

After he had roughly shaken off the head of the third belated passenger who had sought repose on his shoulder the stout man proclaimed in a voice loud enough to be heard by everybody in the car that the next time anybody went to sleep with his head pillowed on his shoulder he would give that head a good punching, that's what he would do.

The stout man's wife said, "Sh-sh-sh, James. Don't get so violent."

"Violent?" said the stout man. "I've a right to be violent I'm no pillow. I'm no featherbed If anybody things I am, just let him come on and I'll show him."

At the next station two women came in and found seats near the stout man. Presently the younger and prettier of the two began to nod. Lower and lower dropped her head, and soon it found a substantial resting place. The stout man sat still; so very still did he sit that his wife wondered what had happened to him. She leaned over and looked past his bulky frame to find out. Her face flushed.

"Why, James," she said indignantly. "Don't you remember what you said a little while ago about punching heads? There's a head on your shoulder now."

"Is there?" said the stout man meekly. "I hadn't noticed it."

It was apparent then that if there was any head punching to be done somebody besides James would have to do it, also it was apparent that somebody was perfectly willing to undertake the job.

"James," said the stout man's wife significantly.

He wriggled uneasily until the head was gently dislodged; then the stout man and his wife changed places.

How To Get Down.

Once in a while the farmer gets back at the 'city feller' and this is the brief tale of how a well-known Milwaukee lawyer, sojourning in the country for a week, fell a victim of Uncle Josh's subtle sense of humor.

The legal light had gone to the country to work. He just shed his coat and kicked right in as 'twere. He had been assisting in stacking the first crop of hay and was working on top of the stack.

When 'knocking off time' came the stack was pretty high and the city chap didn't just know how to return to terra firma.

'Say, how'm I goin' to get down?' asked the lawyer person.

The farmer considered for a moment. Then he shouted:

'Oh, jest shet your eyes and walk around kind o' keerless, an' you'll get down.'

To Destruct Cut Worms

For the destruction of cut worms in gardens, a mixture of one pound of Paris green and 50 pounds of bran, sweetened with a couple pounds of sugar or molasses, has been found to be effective. The poison is added to the bran slowly, the mixture being stirred until it is quite green and about the consistency of light dough. To this a pail of water is added and another stirring given. Scatter the poison in doses of one spoonful along the rows of plants. Needless to say, the mixture is not good for birds. The worms feed at night and it is said they will greedily devour the poison in preference to attacking plants.

Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained when on board the cars or steamships. For sale by all dealers.

New Oil Field
A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.
A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy yon of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 217 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CRANBERRY PICKERS

Many Cape Verde Islanders Work in the Cape Cod Bogs.

To see to the best advantage the preliminaries of cranberry sauce we must visit Cape Cod. Here within a radius of an hour's ride of historic old Plymouth, where the Pilgrims landed, is the greatest of all cranberry districts. This whole countryside would not be considered to make more than a single good sized county in some of our western states, and yet in a season when it is blessed with a good crop this cranberry zone will ship more than a third of a million barrels of the fruit.

The picking season in the early autumn is the time to enjoy the human interest side of the cranberry industry, and yet conditions in this phase of the work have changed so completely during the last few years that natives who come back to the cranberry country after some years in the city declare that the spectacle has lost much of its old time fascination. Students of progress declare that the entry of machinery has revolutionized almost every activity in this age, but it would be difficult to find a realm where there has been a greater upheaval than in the cranberry belt

In the old days cranberries were all picked by hand — that is plucked one by one, just as raspberries are picked to this day. And nowhere did a picking season have the social significance that it did on Cape Cod. A large portion of the picking was done by women and girls, and it seemed as though the whole countryside turned out for the event.

Hand picking is yet in vogue on some of the cranberry bogs, but this is on the smaller tracts. On the large bogs we see the newly invented picking machine. There are two types. One is a small wooden box of a size to be held in one hand. By pressure of the fingers it opens at one end disclosing jaws armed with rows of teeth. The other style is a wooden scoop with close set iron prongs forming the lower side.

It never fails to surprise tourists who visit Cape Cod for the first time to find a large foreign population, which has no parallel anywhere else in the country and most of whom speak very little or no English. Many of the Cape Verde islanders are true nomads in their visits to the cranberry country, arriving in the spring when cultivation on the bogs opens and remaining until the end of the picking season, late in the autumn, making the trip both ways in sailing vessels that are engaged during the winter months in the coasting trade on the coast of Africa.

A skilful cranberry picker can earn from three to five dollars a day, so that the 'bravas,' as these invaders are called can within a few years save enough to live in affluence in their island home. Under the new conditions not only is the picking of the cranberries done by the aid of machines, but other machines separate and sort the berries.

Highwaymen.

City Girl—"Did you ever see any highway robbers?"

Farmer—"Nope, I ain't exactly seen any. But I've had experience with some fellars that undertook to handle the $2 I once contributed fur good roads."

Alphabetical Time.

A Chicago firm finding that there were twelve letters in their name erected a clock over their door with letters instead of numerals. One day a passer-by gazed at the dial, deeply puzzled.

ETNA ERUPTION SUBSIDING.

But Lava is Still Coursing Down the Sides of the Mountain.

Catania, Sept. 16.—Although the eruption of Mount Etna seems to be losing something of its velocity, and the earthquakes are less frequent in occurrence, the immense flood of lava which has spread down the mountain continue its work of destruction. There are now five main streams stretching for miles over the country.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

MAGISTRATE CURED OF PILES & ECZEMA

One of the latest prominent gentlemen to speak highly in Zam Buk's favour is Mr. C. E. Sanford of Weston, King's Co., N.S. Mr. Sanford is a justice of the Peace for the County, and a member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also Deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected. Here is his opinion of Zam-Buk. He says:—

"I never used anything that gave me such satisfaction as Zam-Buk. I had a patch of Eczema on my ankle which had been there for over 20 years. Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had applied various ointments and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but in vain. Zam-Buk, unlike everything else I had tried, proved highly satisfactory and cured the ailment. I have also used Zam-Buk for itching piles, and it has cured them completely also. I take comfort in helping my brother men, and if the publication of my opinion of the healing value of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the relief of suffering caused by Piles or Skin Diseases I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk cures ulcers, abscesses, blood-poisoning, ringworm, festering or running sores, bad leg, varicose ulcers, cold sheres, prairie itch, eczema, burns, bruises, baby's sores, etc. Purely herbal. 50c box, druggists and stores. Refuse imitations.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, the Conservative candidate, held a meeting last night in the Temperance Hall, Fourth Line of Smith. There was a large attendance. Mr. Burnham was accompanied by Mr. Cooley, of Regina, Sask., a horse dealer, and Dr. Morrison, of Peterborough.

Dr. Morrison opened the meeting by referring to the proposed trade relations between Canada and the United States. He said that Canada had prospered more since all reciprocity talk with the United States had been given up than ever before. It was admitted when reciprocity was voted down by the people in the nineties, that Canada would now turn her attention to the development of her own country and to the trade with Britain. This had proven true and Canada was now on the highway to become a strong nation. Wasn't it strange that at this juncture United States should seek reciprocity with us. There could be no doubt about it that there aim was to control our export trade. The United States and Canada both exported to England only about one-third of the foodstuffs that Great Britain imports. The future in this respect was glowing. Why should we put our foreign trade in the control of the United States and more particularly why should we do it when as President Taft himself says in addressing the Editors at New York that "now was the time to break up Canada's connection with the British Empire and that this opportunity might never occur again." Patriotism, national price and good business all demand that we should reject the pact. He closed with a glowing appeal to stand by the British Empire.

Mr. Cooley, who is a quiet spoken man, a little past middle age, said he had been in the horse and general farming business in Regina District for 23 years. Horses across the border were fully 30 per cent. cheaper than in Ontario. The consequence is that many horses are even now imported from the United States, and if the duty were taken off of course, the Canadian West would get horses at American prices and the trade with Ontario would die immediately, for it could not be supposed that the West would pay 30 per cent. more than was necessary. He said that the farmer had certainly nothing to hope for from reciprocity, and he was not aware that anybody else would either, because things that would otherwise be cheaper in the States, were controlled by trusts and the future of both Canada and the United States so far as the consumer was concerned lay in breaking up the power of the trusts. The United States exported all kinds of produce and the price of it depended upon the export market, both for the producer and consumer excepting so far as the trusts interferred. Mr. Cooley's remarks were listened to with great attention.

Mr. Burnham opened by referring to Bourassa. He said Liberals were trying to blame Borden for Bourassa's attempt to smash up the Liberal majority in Quebec. This, of course, was nonsense, but there was one thing certain and that was that if Bourassa could smash up the Liberal majority in Quebec, the hope of holding Bourassa did not remain with the Liberal party and for that reason Liberals should join with Conservatives to that end in supporting Borden. The speaker referred to the free pensions for the aged, which, if elected, he would introduce immediately into the House of Commons. People over 65 would draw enough to make them independent of charity without any cost to themselves whatever. This plan had worked splendidly both in Great Britain and Germany and it was high time that it was introduced into Canada. Any other measure affecting West Peterborough could not possibly be of equal benefit. Mr. Burnham took up the question of apples. United States exported millions of barrels of apples to Great Britain. Why? Not because the United States market was better. The same thing applied to all exported produce and allowing for differences in freight and proximity to market it was quite plain that the British market settled the price of produce for both the Canadian and American consumer also, but apart from all trade arguments, a child could see that the prevailing desire of the United States was to control Canadian trade and that meant to control Canada. He appealed to the electors of Smith to assist in preventing the wreck of British connection and Canadian hopes.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers for the King and the candidate.

The Farmers' Bank.

Mr. Stratton denied that he was mixed up in any way in the proceedings taken by the Crown against the promoters of the Farmers' Bank, and the Examiner challenged Mr. Burnham to discuss the question at the Opera House. Mr. Burnham accepted the challenge as everybody knows, and offered to prove that Mr. Stratton was indicted with others charged with complicity in procuring the charter with intent to defraud the public, and that Mr. Stratton would be tried this Autumn at the Sessions in Toronto, and was now out on bail. Mr. Burnham's acceptance of the challenge was ignored by Mr. Stratton. Why? Because the case against Mr. Stratton is as stated above.

WEST PETERBOROUGH ELECTION

Progress of the Campaign Throughout the Riding

Matter underthis heading solicited on the understanding that The Times will not hold itself responsible for the Opinions Expressed or the Statements made.

He Supports Mr. Stratton.

A representative of The Examiner saw Mr. Green, President of The G. Walter Green Company, Limited, this morning in regard to his attitude towards the candidates, this contest:

"I am supporting Mr. Stratton in this election."

"I believe as a business man, that we should have a business representative, and I think that I am acting in the best interests of Peterborough in supporting Mr. Stratton."

"At this time I think it would be best for Peterborough in every way to elect Mr. Stratton."

Peter Hamilton Company.

In an interview with The Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company this morning, a representative of The Examiner was told by them:

"We do not consider that the small reduction of duty under the reciprocity agreement will affect our industry to any appreciable extent one way or the other.

"But we wish to say that we will be very glad to see Mr. Stratton re-elected. He is the kind of representative we want at the present time, and we are giving him our support."

Also Another Manufacturer.

Mr. Andrew Macfarlane, President of the William Hamilton Company, Limited, returned to Peterborough on Sunday evening after a two weeks' business trip.

In answer to the question: "How's business?" Mr. Macfarlane said: "Business is good."

"How about the elections?"

"I found that wherever I have been, it is strongly felt that the government will be sustained."

"How do you feel with regard to West Peterborough?"

"I feel as I have always felt—that we don't want and we can't get a better representative than Mr. Stratton. Mr. Stratton is the most influential man we have in Peterborough at the present time, and from the good that he is doing, and from the good that he can do, and will do, West Peterborough must, in its own interests, re-elect him."

"It would be bad business and bad politics for the people to exchange Mr. Stratton for anybody else just now."

"I am glad to say that there is no chance of their doing that."

"I am for Stratton with both hands."

SMALL WARSHIPS CRUISE OVER OR UNDER WAVES

BRITISH FLEET NOW EQUIPPED WITH UNIQUE AND EFFECTIVE VESSELS.

Are Serviceable as Either Submarines or Cruisers—Very Speedy on the Surface—Safe Below It.

Heroic efforts are being made by the British admiralty to outclass any other power in the world in the number and efficiency of submarine vessels.

The most modern submarines now being built, known officially as the "E" class, displace 900 tons; they are in fact, though not in name, small cruisers, capable of travelling either on the surface or under the water.

They are 176 feet long, with a maximum breadth of 18 feet. In the original type of submarine the speed, both on and under the water, was slow, but as a result of the co-operation of the admiralty with Messrs. Vickers Sons and Maxim, who have been so largely responsible for many of the improvements in the design of British boats, speeds have been much increased.

The new "E" class will be able to travel on the surface at fifteen knots as fast, in fact, as our swiftest cruiser of a few decades ago—while beneath the surface the rate will be considerably higher than has hitherto been attained. The "E" boats are being given by the most powerful engines ever yet been put into submarines, and they are of a new type, using heavy oil under conditions of absolute safety. There can be no repetition of the disastrous gas explosions which occurred in the earlier vessels.

There are seventy-five British submarines built or building. The later ones are such good sea boats that they can make long voyages. One flotilla has recently been despatched to Malta, and the other has just arrived at Hongkong, a matter of nine thousand miles, after a stormy passage during which the craft were not damaged and the daring crew suffered no injury.

The submarines is now a most valuable naval arm, for use not merely in coast defence, but for overseas operations. The success already achieved has given purpose and direction to the efforts to render these amphitious craft even more effective in their warlike qualities. Slowly a ship is being created, stage by stage, which will render destroyers of the old types absolete.

The vessel of the "E" class mark the apothesis of the submersible ship. They will have more torpedo tubes than the craft now in the service and the torpedoes will be of far greater capacity—a higher speed and greater endurance allied with a far heavier explosive charge. The "E" craft will have decks somewhat resembling the decks of ordinary above water vessels; on the decks serviceable guns will be mounted so as not to interfere with the facility of the vessel to travel beneath the surface, in the larger hull will be comparatively roomy quarters for the crews, with more ample provision of compressed air, so as to lengthen the maximum period of submersion; they will be equipped for wireless communication and above all, the new "E" vessel will be safe as no submarines have been before—safe from the danger of explosioni and with the well-tried apparatus to enable officers and men to escape in case of collision.

The "E" class marks a great advance on any vessel hitherto constructed, but no one who has followed the course of development since the first little ship was built to the design of the Holland Company, will doubt that the end of this chapter of naval evolution has not yet been reached. The displacement to-day is 800 tons; in a few years time it may and probably will be doubled, or trebled. We may in a comparatively short period see sizeable cruisers equipped so as to cruise submerged by day and on the surface at night.

JEWISH NEW YEAR WILL COMMENCE ON FRIDAY

September 22 ushers in the Jewish New Year, it being the year 5672. Jews throughout the world will celebrate the occasion in much the same way as it has always been celebrated. the religious feature being specially prominent.

PENITENTIAL PERIOD.

This time of the year is especially regarded with reverence by Jews, as it commences the ten-day period of repentance that terminates with the annual fast day. This ten-day period is looked upon as a time when all must be reconciled with God and man Even the most calloused in religious matters usually attend service during this period.

In the synagogues the service will be impressive. It is looked upon as a time for counting up the deeds of the past year and looking to the future. A distinctive feature of the New Year's service is the blowing of a horn in the synagogue, which symbolizes the calling together of the hosts of Israel.

Traditions of the centuries helps to make the services very solemn to Jews. The special ritual, together with the inspiring melodies of the services and searching sermons by the rabbis, have a strong effect on the congregations.

MANY WERE KILLED AT SIU-FU, SZE CHUEN

Pekin, China, Sept. 20.—The French Legation has received a despatch from Sui-fu that the Predect's yamen at that place has been attacked and burned by the rebels. Many persons were killed.

The Chinese Foreign Board has received reports of an attack on the yamen at Kiatingfu, but details are lacking. The board also has been advised that the yamens have been looted in five towns in the neighborhood of Chengtu.

A message from Gen. Chas. Erh Feng, commander of the troops within the besieged capital, says that he will despatch troops to the disturbed districts as soon as it can be arranged. He is evidently awaiting reinforcements.

SLEUTHS TO WATCH ELECTION CROOKS ALL OVER ONTARIO

Large Forces of Detectives Have Been Engaged by Ontario Government and are Placed in Every Riding

Both Political Parties Hire, Detectives to Watch Each Other—Secret Service Men Said to be in Peterborough for a Week or More—Trains and Theatres are Being Watched.

THAT no improper expenditure of money be made in the Province of Ontario to-day the Attorney-General's Department has employed one hundred detectives to watch the polls in certain places where bribery has prevailed in the past. Peterborough is said to be one of these places, and in this connection it is known that several trained secret service men have been in the city for several days The head of a leading Toronto detective bureau has been here several days, ostensibly on a visit, but really on business connected with the election. This is the information which has reached The Times from a reliable source. It is said that he is in charge of a staff of special officers sworn in to act in this city and neighborhood during the week previous and including election day.

Yesterday it was rumored that sufficient information had been secured to warrant arrests and that this would be done when those who charged with accepting bribes, present themselves at the booths to vote. The real object is to get after those who hand out the money.

It is further reported that both political parties have secret service men employed to watch the polls. It is quite satisfactory to learn that the leaders of the two sides are thus anxious to prevent the buying of votes. It looks as though there was little chance of crookedness to-day.

JUDGE DROPS LIBEL CASE

L'Orignal, Ont., Sept. 20.—The case of criminal libel of Judge Constantineau, senior judge of Prescott and Russell, against H. C. Jones, editor of The Review, Vankleek Hill, was called before Justice Latchford here yesterday. Judge Constantineau did not appear to prosecute the charge, and editor Jones was promptly discharged, and an order given against Judge Constantineau for all costs.

John Maxwell appeared for Judge Constantineau and asked for a reserved decision. This was refused.

The action arose out of some comments the editor made upon a speech which Judge Constantineau delivered in Montreal last June, in chich he said he and other French-Canadians were living in Ontario in a species of armed peace. The editor severely criticized the use of such language by any judge. He went so far as to say that a judge who would use such language should be removed from the bench. Much feeling exists in Eastern Ontario over this case.

G. Grant, of Johnston, McKay, Rods & Grant, Toronto, appeared for the editor of The Review.

WIND ON THE STOMACH

A Well-Known Westerner Tells of Suffering, Misery and Pain That He Cured With "Nerviline."

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into hiccoughs, accompanied by nausea and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and throbbed; I belched gas continually, and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nerviline. Well, I wouldn't have believed that any preparation could help so quickly. I took half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in hot sweetened water, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nerviline several times, and was completely restored."

NERVILINE STRENGTHENS WEAK STOMACHS

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lethbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favorably opinion of the high merit of Nerviline is shared by thousands of Canadians who have proved Nerviline is simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nerviline for your family remedy. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. THE STRIKE IN IRELAND GROWS

London, Sept. 20.—The Irish Railway strike, by which the South and West of the island are already practically isolated, last night took on a new aspect, which is arousing the most serious apprehension.

The members of the Executive Committee of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, which directed the recent strike on the English roads, have gone to Dublin, and last night issued a threat of a National Irish strike.

The managers of the Irish railways refuse to have any dealings with the Executive Committee of the union.

SET FIRE TO HIS TWO-YEAR-OLD SISTER

Charlotte, N.C., Sept. 20.—The peculiarly atrocious burning of the two year old child of E. G. Friday, a farmer of Iredell by her brother, four years old, came to light to-day. The older child deliberately ignited a small torch and applied it to the clothing of his baby sister. The girl died shortly afterward. When asked his reason for the act the child replied: "Just because." He has repeatedly set fire to furnishings of the house, and is possessed of a mania for fire.

FAREWELL TO T. G. EASTLAND

The Back Country Give Him and Family a Send-off

Mr. Thos. G. Eastland, of Apsley, was given a farewell by a number of his friends a few days ago, previous to his departure to Thornbury, where he has taken up his residence with his son, Mr. T. W. Eastland, who is conducting a large general store in that place. About thirty of the leading citizens of Apsley and vicinity drove to Mr. Eastland's lodge at Loon Lake, where they presented Mr. and Mrs. Eastland with an address accompanied by a well-filled purse, as a slight token of the regard in which they are held by the entire community.

Mr. Eastland acknowledged the kindness in a few well chosen words, in which he expressed his sorrow at parting from so many neighbors and warm personal friends, whose kindly faces would ever live in the hearts of himself and family.

At the conclusion of the speeches, refreshments were served and a delightful social evening was spent.

Mr. Eastland has been a resident of Apsley for 35 years, and has probably done more for the development of the country than any other man. He has filled many important positions, having been Crown Lands' Agent for 17 years, postmaster, member of the County Council Warden of the County and other offices in the gift of the people.

His removal will leave a blank that will be difficult to fill. He was a man without an enemy, and everyone has a good word to say of him. Indeed it may be said of Tom Eastland as he was known by his many friends, that he is a prince among men. He therefore carries with him to his new home, not only the good wishes of every man and woman in the north country, but also very many in Peterborough as well.

AN OLD MAN MURDERED

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 20.—At 6.30 o'clock this morning the body of Mr. Thomas Mills, aged 65 years, of Kingston, who has been employed as dock walloper for the past season at the M.C.R. docks, was found on the siding of the track near the M.C.R. bridge, badly mutilated. The head was beaten to a pulp. There was evidence of an intense struggle. The deceased had been in company with about twenty negroes yesterday, and the police have been making a thorough search among the negroes this morning in the hopes of finding a clue. Robbery was evidently the cause of the murder, as the man's shirt was torn, and the lining of his coat ripped to pieces.

RAMMED BIG HOLE IN WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP

London, Sept. 20.—A Lloyd's dispatch from Cowes Roadstead says that the big White Star Liner Olympic, the largest passenger vessel in the world, was rammed to-day by the British cruiser Hawke. The Olympic has been beached in Osborne Bay. No details of the accident are as yet available.

The Olympic had just left Southampton, when rammed, on her way to New York. She has left her pier with every berth filled, this being the height of the season for west-bound passenger business. Of her passengers the enormous majority were returning American visitors to Europe.

Not only were there throngs of them on board from London and other English cities, but from all over Europe tourists have been gathering at Southampton to take the world's largest vessel to the home country.

RECALLS ST. PAUL ACCIDENT.

From the Southampton pier departing trans-Atlantic liners proceed down Southampton water, an estuary extending up from the Solent, or Sound separating England from the Isle of Wight, shipping passes Cowes and other towns on the island, steer to the westward through the Solent pass Scilly Isles, an archipelago extending southward from Penzance, and out into the Atlantic.

The Solent is at all times swarming with shipping and is, in particular, filled with English vessels of war It was here only a few years ago that the American liner St. Paul rammed a British cruiser in a snowstorm, sending it to the bottom just off Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, with the drowning of many members of the crew.

The big steamer was rammed flush on her starboard quarter by the steel prow of the warship. Perfect discipline was maintained on board. The collision signal was given, the bulkheads automatically closed by the electrical machinery, and the life boats and rafts were manned while the stateroom and deck stewards reassured the passengers.

The big liner was making water fast and was immediately headed for the shore. She was run aground while the warship and shipping in the vicinity, attracted by the crash and the shrill whistles of the disabled liner, stood by in case of need.

The big wireless spark on the masts of the Olympic were cracking out the distress signal by order of the captain, and by the time the giant craft had been beached she was surrounded by plenty of vessels to care for everybody on board.

All of the passengers were mustered on the deck, and the stewards then recovered their hand baggage, which was turned over to them. By this time the wireless communication had been established with the agents of the line at Southampton, and the word came to get the passengers and crew ashore at once.

There were 1,200 passengers on board and the work of transferring them was a stupendous task, but it went through with military precision.

All were safely transferred to the shore and were cared for as well as possible under the circumstances. A survey of the damage to the vessel was then made. She was smashed badly on the starboard quarter, and her cargo holds were full of water. It is feared much of the mail will be damaged, if not completely destroyed as the deep-sea post office is flooded.

DISEASED AND AGED HORSES CANNED FOR FOREIGN MARKET

New York, Sept. 20.—An investigation by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley's inspection force connected with the Bureau of Chemistry resulted in the filing of charges against a New Jersey rendering plant of having been engaged in preparing and shipping "pickled horse meat" to Europe, where it was distributed for food purposes. This information developed from a statement made by the New Jersey State Board of Health, in Trenton, saying that the results of the federal investigation had been turned over to the Board and by it referred to the Attorney-General of New Jersey for action.

The firm is accused of violating a state law. In the report it is brought out that the chief business of the firm has been purchasing the bodies of dead animals and live animals which because of disease or age are unfit for further domestic service. It is further charged that in the company's vats meat was stored that consisted in parts of animals that had died otherwise than by slaughter.

It is understood that the accused firm denies that it has been guilty of preparing meat from diseased animals for human consumption or having in any way violated the laws.

Paris, Sept. 20.—Much interest is displayed in the aeroplane trip round the world that is planned by M. Mamet, one of the best known of M. Blerriot's racing men.

Accompanied by Rene Million as a passenger, M. Mamet hopes to accomplish the voyage in eight or ten months. He intends to start from France, crossing the Pyrenees, then flying along the eastern sea coast of Spain, going from Gibraltar to Northern Africa, and thence flying to Egypt via Tunis and Tripoli. From Egypt the air man and his passenger will take ship for India. Australia South America and West Africa are also to be visited. M. Mamet will not attempt to cross the sea, except from Gibraltar to Tangier.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Luxurious New Cars for C.P.R. Montreal Service.

Another triumph in car building has been achieved by the C.P.R. and it marks a further advance in railroading.

The new compartment observation cars which have just been sent out from the Angus shops are intended for the service between Toronto and Montreal, and as evidence of the growing popularity of the service between the North Toronto station and Montreal, they are attached to the train leaving that station at 10.00 p. m. daily.

These new cars have seven compartments, a drawing room, an observation parlor and an observation platform. The entrance to the rooms is from aisles running along the sides of the cars, ensuring absolute privacy. There are two berths, the lower being made up from two double seats, and there are all toilet requirements in each compartment.

The cars are lighted with electricity and in the warm weather are kept cool with electric fans.

These cars are models of luxury and comfort, in which the C. P. R. standard of equipment excels.

Street Railway Extension.

The street railway is to be extended to Byersville as soon as the rails can be secured. The survey to that point having been made. The route is from the end of the Park street line out Chamberlain and ending at the C.P. R. Crossing just past Byersville. The building of this extension will be a boon to the people of the extreme south end, and will be a convenience to them in coming to and from the city.

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

French Love of the Dramatic.

When Marshal MacMahon was President of the French Republic, an incident occurred which aptly illustrates the French love of what is dramatic.

A French soldier sat on the summit of a hill overlooking a garrison town: his horse was picketed close by; the man was smoking leisurely, and from time to time he glanced from the esplanade to a big official envelope he held in his hand.

A comrade passing by asked, "What are you doing here?"

"I am bearing the President's pardon for our friend Flichmann, who is to be shot this morning," replied the smoker, calmly, without changing his comfortable attitude.

"Well, then, you should hurry along with your pardon," admonished his comrade.

"Ah, no!" exclaimed the other, in some indignation. "See, there is hardly a soul yet on the esplanade, and the firing platoon has not even been formed. You surely would not have me rob my appearance of all dramatic effect, my friend!"

Fish that Destroy Mosquitoes

All the pools and swamps in Barbados, West Indies, are stocked with swarms of "millions" of tiny fishes that feed on the larvae of the mosquito. The Health Board of Antigua, being convinced that these fish do a valuable missionary work in the consumption of mosquito eggs, some time ago arranged for their systematic distribution throughout the ponds and streams of Antigua.

The Jamaicans also have utilized these fish in this way; the tanks of one hotel in Jamaica are filled with them, and the secretary of an agricultural society in that island reports that there has been a marked diminution of fever round about, the millions evidently accounting for the mosquito larvae.

The British authorities have suggested that these useful fish be given a trial in the malarial districts of Africa. Some specimens have been taken to England and imported into malarial districts with happy results.

It should be added that near Frankfort, in Germany, there has been discovered another small fish called the "blue-eyed," which feeds on mosquito larvae. At the request of the Italian government consignments of them have been sent to the Campagna, where malarial fever is a scourge.

The trouble with the man who can see both sides of a question is that he is always on the fence.

Patience.

Dr. Russell H. Conwell is a great believer in patience, and he recently told a story indicating what he believed to be an example of making a virtue of patience. A young man was standing at the gate, waiting for his sweetheart, and when at last she appeared he remarked kindly:

'What a time you have kept me waiting.'

'Oh, dear me, how fussy you are, she observed. 'Why, I didn't promise to meet you until a quarter of eight, and it's only two minutes after eight now.'

'Ah, Maggie, dear,' replied the young man, 'out you have made a slight mistake in the day. You were have been here at a quarter of eight last evening. I have been waiting here ever since.'

The Landlord's Blunder

Newport was aroused last month over a story that J. Pierpont Morgan told at a luncheon at the Fishing Club.

"They talk of the high cost of living," Mr. Morgan said, "but it's just as bad abroad. You all know what Trouville is like in the season.

"An American took in Trouville's grande semaine last year. When his bill was sent up he paused in his breakfast and studied it with a sarcastic smile. Then he sent for the hotel clerk.

"'See here,' he said, 'you've made a mistake in this bill.'

"'Oh, no, monsieur. Oh, no!' cried the clerk.

"'Yes you have,' said the American, and with a sneer he pointed to the total. 'I've got more money than that,' he said."

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

LIEUT.-COL. JEFFREY H. BURLAND

The opening of the Royal Edward Institute for Tuberculosis, at Montreal, by His late Majesty by pressing a key 4,225 miles away, was a unique event in the history of modern Canada as well as in the progress of science. This interesting event occurred in October 21, 1909 but though it was much talked about in different parts of the world at the time, it was not generally known that the electrical appliances necessary were devised and arranged by the first vice-president and principal donator of the Institute, Lt.-Col. Jeffrey H. Burland, B.Sc., F.C.S., Montreal.

Lieut-Colonel Burland is connected with the boards of management of more charitable and philanthropic societies than perhaps any other man in Canada. He is also connected with a number of world-famous scientific societies including the Royal Geographical Society, the Society of Chemical Industry and the British Association for the Advancement of Science. His work in the interests of the defence forces of Canada is well known. He has several times accompanied Canadian contingents to England and was in command of the Canadian Rifle Team which won the Mackinnon Challenge Cup at Bisley in 1902.

life of Eastern Canada as he is in military and philanthropic circles. He is president of the British American Bank Note Company and of the Consolidated Lithographing and Manufacturing Company. He is also Chairman of the Eastern Canada Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and a director of several other important undertakings.

Colonel Burland is a native of Montreal where he was born in 1861.

SENATOR LONGHEED

As leader of the Opposition in the Senate of Canada, the Hon. James Alexander Longheed, K.C., has been a distinct success. A true type of Westerner, sturdy and courageous with indomitable energy and unflinching perseverance he has carved a place for himself in the front ranks of Canadian politics. Senator Longheed first practised his progression in Toronto after his call to the Bar but moved westward in 1883 and soon make his mark in what was then called the Northwest Territories. He was made a Q. C. in 1889 and was called to the Senate the same year. Though by no means an old man — he is only fifty-seven — he has crowded a variety of work and incident into a very busy and useful life. If the swing of the political pendulum should again put the Conservative party into power, Senator Longheed would undoubtedly take a high place in the new administration.

Amounts to Over $3,000,000 Annually

It is not generally known that the civil list of the King of Italy is larger than that of almost any other sovereign, as it amounts to over $3,000,000 a year. However, this does not mean that Victor Emanuel can dispose of more money than some other European potentates. It must be remembered that he has inherited the possessions of all the seven states into which Italy was divide before the middle of the last century, and that many of these properties, such as historic palaces and gorgeous villas not only are not productive of anything, but represent a heavy burden on the budget of the royal house.

THE SCIENCE OF HAPPINESS

Not Too Much Sleep But Regularity, Declared To Be the Keynote.

How to be happy and yet alive is a reasonable ambition for those who still have mundane interests they are not anxious to abandon. The later authorities are not unlike the early makers of proprietary medicines, inasmuch as the treatment to go with the "remedies" of old would insure fairly good health and longevity, without the possibly, harmless postrums.

The modern teachers of how to live long and happy lives simply point out certain errors which the average human being has fallen into, how to avoid them, and there you are.

Perhaps among the most widespread misconceptions of human requirements is that one cannot have too much sleep, or, that the more sleep one has the better for his or her health. The fact that one breathes less completely in sleep than when awake, alone shows that, during the hours of being "dead to the world," we take in less of the life-giving oxygen.

The theory of Dr. Henry Smith Williams, whose most recent book is "The Science of Happiness," that we require far less sleep than is generally supposed, has aroused much discussion. He himself finds it perfectly possible to get along habitually with six hours, and, when he has much work on hand, with four.

Dr. Williams, however, said recently that he "believes in regularity as the key-note of success in acquiring good habits of sleeping. A person who retires to-night at ten, to-morrow night at twelve, the next at nine, and so on through the week, can scarcely be said to have any habits of sleeping. He simply fulfils the imperative function of sleeping because he must, and when he may. While such customs are continued he can never know how much sleep he requires, nor how to secure it to best advantage."

A Telephone Disease.

Miss Susan Glaspell, who took up the serious nervous strain to which telephone girls are subjected, in one chapter of her new novel, "The Visioning", calls attention to the fact that so serious is this strain that it has given rise to a new disease, with a new name "teleritis." An official committee of physicians recently used the word in London. So severe is the nervous debility of many telephone girls that they are unfitted for marriage. The officials of telephone companies are doing something to lessen the strain, by re-arrangement and shortening of hours of work; and this problem of keeping the girl operators healthy is one of the most severe which they must face.

In "The Visioning," a telephone girl declares: "The real pleasures were going over the wire. It was my business to make the connections that arranged those pleasures. A little red light would flash—sometimes it would flash straight into my brain — and I'd say 'Number, please.' Then Life would pass through the cords. That was the closest I came to it — operating the cords that it went through. There was a whole city full of it — beautiful, laughing, loving Life. And, oh, I used to get so tired operating the cords for Life. Sometimes when I left my chair the whole world was one big, red light. And at night they danced dances for me — those little red lights."

England's Tallest Tomb

Near the well-known seaport of Southampton, England, there is a remarkable edifice known as Peterson's Tower. The erection is all the more singular because it marks the burying place of a certain John Peterson, a wealthy tea planter. The man appears to have been rather an eccentric individual, and in order to prove to the world his belief in concrete as a building material set about the construction of this great tower.

The building took many years to complete, but is entirely of concrete, and by the time the final layers had been placed had reached an altitude of more than three hundred feet. It is about forty years since the tower was erected, and its present condition is certainly a justification of the faith of the builder. As has been indicated, Peterson left instructions that his body should be placed under the tower, and this was accordingly carried out. Another desire that the chamber at the summit should contain a light was defeated by the firm stand which Trinity House, the lighthouse authority, took on the matter. Such an illumination would have been visible for miles out at sea, and would naturally have proved very misleading to sailors.

An Historical Bank Run.

One of the most exciting bank runs in history was on an English bank, but not in England. Down in Buenos Ayres, the English have the management of most of the financial institutions. In 1891, Buenos Ayres saw a series of bank runs during which every Spanish bank in the city closed. But the sturdy Englishmen kept open their "London and River Plate Bank," amid scenes of the most exciting panic. Thousands of persons lined up, but still the English cashier paid out money, calmly. Finally, in the afternoon, the English manager announced from the balcony, the victory of the bank over its enemies, amid the tumultuous applause of thousands. Argentine finances were saved, and what looked like a great South American revolution was ended by the placid Anglo-Saxons.

Pray, But Also Watch!

A good story was told by Father Bernard Vaughan at a garden fete in England recently in the course of a little speech thanking a number of his working-class admirers for the gift of a "gun-metal watch with a shoe string." A small society woman, he said, followed him one day from the church into the sacristy, exclaiming—"There are thieves in the church; my watch is stolen." "What were you doing?" he asked. "Praying, of course," replied the indignant lady. "Next time," counselled Father Vaughan, "follow the Master's advice, 'Watch and pray,' and you will

NINE KILLED BY RACING CAR.

Machine Crashed Through Fence at New York State Fair Track.

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 18.—Nine persons were killed and 14 injured, some of them seriously, as the result of an accident during the closing miles of a 50-mile motor race at the State Fair track Saturday afternoon when a Knox car, driven by Lee Oldfield, leaped from the track and went crashing through the fences surrounding it and plunged into the throngs that lined the other side of the speedway. Six of the nine people were killed outright, and two others were so badly injured that they died on the way to the hospital.

The list of dead may be increased as it is believed at this time that several of those who are numbered among the injured are so badly hurt that they cannot live.

TRACK WAS WETTED.

The track was wetted down to prevent President Taft from being covered with dust as he went round the track. This was such as to cause drivers who were to compete in the 50-mile event to protest against it.

When the race was called Ralph de Palma and Bob Burman, who had been driving in previous races, refused to go on because of the condition of the track. They said the water had made it too dangerous for them to take chances. There was some delay, and during the time the track dried somewhat. The race was called and Burman and de Palma were both entrants, along with Oldfield and six others.

RUNNING A 75-MILE PACE.

The accident happened on the 43rd mile. De Palma had been leading by a lap to the good, and Oldfield was trailing him as they entered the first quarter of the beginning of the 43rd mile. The big cars travelling, it is estimated, at 75 miles an hour, were running side by side as they swung around the turn, after passing the grandstand on the first quarter. As they took the turn there was a report. The car driven by Oldfield leaped into the air. Then it swerved to the outer side and crashed through the fence. The crippled machine, beyond the control of the driver, then ploughed its way through hundreds of persons who had lined themselves along the fence in the hope of viewing the race.

Announcement that no one was hurt was made to the people in the grand stand. Hundreds hurried to the point where the car left the track.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

EAST PETERBOROUGH

FELLOW ELECTORS:

At the Convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of East Peterborough, held in the village of Norwood on July 27th, 1911, my friends, unsolicited, again conferred on me the honor of again selecting me as a candidate for the House of Commons.

During the past three years you have had opportunities of judging of my fitness and worthiness for the position.

The arduous duties of a member of Parliament I have honestly and faithfully, and to the utmost of my ability, endeavored to fulfil.

Both in the House and out of the House I have been unceasing in my efforts to promote the best interests of that Riding which I had the honor to represent.

Many questions of vital importance have come before the House during the last Parliament, some of which have been of particular interest to the agricultural classes of the country.

Being a practical farmer myself and representing a riding mostly rural, I have studied and watched closely any legislation affecting agriculturists, believing as I do that anything that is of benefit to the farmers and labouring classes will work out to the great advancement of the country at large.

On the great subject now agitating the minds of the people over the whole Dominion, viz., that of reciprocal trade with the United States, you are acquainted with my views.

After months of laborious study on the subject—After a trip to the United States in order to satisfy myself as to farming conditions in that country, I here repeat that neither statistics nor actual conditions warrant me in thinking that the Canadian farmer will gain anything by such a pact.

On this subject I hope to have an opportunity of addressing you at a public meeting.

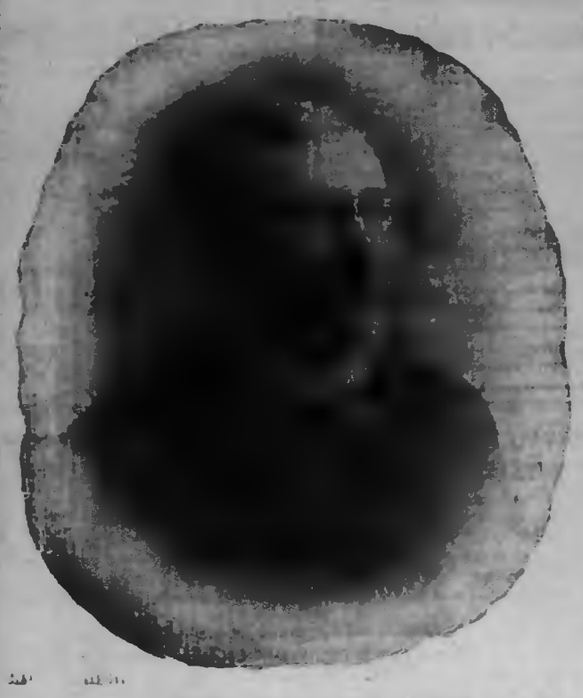
I now appeal to all my friends, and all those who desire honest administration of public affairs, and who are in sympathy with the Liberal-Conservative platform, to rally to my support and promote an active campaign in my behalf and thus for better government.

Thanking you for past support, I am,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

The Man Who Keeps the Wheels a'Rolling



Working Men Vote in Your Own Interests

Dominion Trades Congress Strong For Reciprocity

The executive does not hesitate to say that it believes that the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States is in the interests of the Canadian people. If other proof of this were wanting, the fact that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is against, would be sufficient to prove it must be of some value to the workers. This organization has never tired of proclaiming its love for "free" labour, because that helps its pocket. Reciprocity has long been recognized in the International Trade union movement and we see no danger to anything but the pockets of a few interested capitalists in permitting the people of the two countries to swap knives if they see fit to do so, without the intervention of a horde of Customs officials. The trade union movement is better and stronger because of the freedom it enjoys in the exchange of benefits.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $40,000.00, made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

ALWAYS THE SAME OBJECT IN VIEW

The Campaign a Hundred Years Ago

On June 17th, 1812, the Senate of the United States passed a bill declaring war against Great Britain, the principal object of which was to seize the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada.

Dr. Eustis, United States Secretary of War at that time, in one of his speeches said, "We can take the Canadas without soldiers; we have only to send officers into the Provinces, and the people, dissatisfied towards their own Government, will rally round our standard."

Hon. Henry Clay on the floors of Congress said, "It is absurd to suppose that we will not succeed in our enterprise against the enemy's provinces. We have the Canadas as much under our command as Great Britain has the ocean, and the way to conquer her on the ocean is to drive her from the land. I am not for stopping at Quebec or anywhere else; but I would take the whole continent from them and ask them no favors."

The invasion of Canada was under way before the Congress had taken final action, but it was not until the 12th July that General Hull, who had command of the western army of the United States, crossed the Detroit River to establish his headquarters at Sandwich on the Canadian side.

THE PROCLAMATION.

From this point General Hull issued a proclamation to the inhabitants of Canada which for bombastic impudence is unequalled by any document in the English language. This remarkable proclamation is as follows:

"Inhabitants of Canada:

"After thirty years of peace and prosperity the United States have been driven to arms. The injuries and aggressions, the insults and indignities of Great Britain have once more left them no alternative but manly resistance, or unconditional submission.

"The army under my command, has invaded your country, AND THE STANDARD OF UNION NOW WAVES OVER THE TERRITORY OF CANADA. To the peaceable, unoffending inhabitant, it brings neither danger nor difficulty. I come to find enemies, not to make them. I come to protect not to injure you.

"Separated by an immense ocean, and an extensive wilderness from Great Britain, you have no participation in her councils, nor interest in her conduct. You have felt her tyranny, you have seen her injustice, but I do not ask you to avenge the one or redress the other. The United States are sufficiently powerful to afford you every security, consistent with their rights, and your expectations. I tender you the invaluable blessings of civil, political and religious liberty, and their necessary result, individual and general prosperity, that liberty which gave decision to our councils and energy to our conduct in our struggle for independence, and which conducted us safely and triumphantly through the stormy period of the revolution—that liberty which has raised us to an elevated rank among the nations of the world, and which has afforded us a greater measure of peace and security, of wealth and improvement than ever fell to the lot of any people.

"In the name of my country and by the authority of my Government. I promise protection to your persons, your peaceful and customary avocations—raise not your hands against your brethren—many of your fathers fought for the freedom and independence we now enjoy. Being children, therefore, of the same family with us, and heirs to the same heritage, the arrival of an army of friends must be hailed by you with a cordial welcome. You will be amancipated from tyranny and oppression, and restored to the dignified station of freedom.

"Had I any doubt of eventual success, I might ask your assistance but I do not. I come prepared for every contingency. I have a force which will look down all opposition and that force is but the vanguard of a much greater. If contrary to your interests, and the just expectation of my country, you should take part in the approaching contest, you will be considered and treated as enemies, the horrors and calamities of war will stalk before you.

"If the barbarous and savage policy of Great Britain be pursued, and the savages are let loose to murder our citizens, and butcher our women and children, this war will be a war of extermination.

"The first stroke of the tomahawk, the first attempt with the scalping knife, will be the signal of one indiscriminate scene of desolation. No white man found fighting by the side of an Indian will be taken prisoner—instant destruction will be his lot. If the dictates of reason, duty, justice and humanity cannot prevent the employment of a force which respects no rights, and knows no wrong, it will be prevented by a severe and relentless system of retaliation.

"I doubt not your courage and firmness; I will not doubt your attachment to liberty. If you tender your services voluntarily, they will be accepted readily.

"The United States offer you peace, liberty and security. Your choice lies between these and war, slavery and destruction. Choose then, but choose wisely; and may He who knows the justice of the cause, and who holds in His Hands the fate of nations, guide you to a result the most compatible with your rights and interests, your peace and prosperity.

"W. HULL.

"By the General, A. F. Hull,
"Capt. 13th Regt. U. S. Inf. and aide-de-camp
Headquarters Sandwich, July 12th, 1812."

The Campaign of 1911

"The Dominion has prospered. It has an active, aggressive and intelligent people. They are COMING TO THE PARTING OF THE WAYS."—President Taft.

"The bond uniting the Dominion with the Mother Country is LIGHT AND ALMOST IMPERCEPTIBLE."—President Taft.

"The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described AND THAT I EARNESTLY AND SINCERELY BELIEVE WILL FOLLOW ITS ADOPTION, we must take it now, or give it up forever."—President Taft.

The answer of the Canadian people to General Hull was very different from that which he expected. His residence in Canada was of less than a month's duration, for on August 7, accompanied by his army, he recrossed the river and re-established himself at Detroit, which he surrendered to General Brock on August 15, yielding up 2,500 men, thirty pieces of cannon, and 2,500 stands of arms.

This was the way the Canadian people of 1812 replied to the arrogance and impudence of an American political general of a hundred years ago. The attempt to take Canada by force was most disastrous to the United States. At the close of the war in 1815 the country was practically bankrupt, its trade was ruined and whatever standing the nation had secured following the successful issue of the revolutionary war twenty-five years before, was lost.

There have been no armed invasions of Canada since that of 1812, but the desire to possess this great and glorious country is as deeply rooted in the American mind as it ever was. Peaceful methods must now be pursued, but the proposals of Mr. Taft mean EXACTLY THE SAME THING AS THE PROCLAMATION OF GENERAL HULL — THE VASSALAGE OF THE CANADIAN PEOPLE TO THE UNITED STATES.

A Splendid P ece of Roadbed

Last month, the Railway Commission, headed by Judge Mabee, Chairman, visited Prince Rupert, and made a trip over the hundred miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific east of Prince Rupert, which is now in operation. General Superintendent Mehan was the recipient of many compliments as to the physical conditions of the new roadbed. Judge Mabee said in an interview with a reporter of the "Evening Empire" in Prince Rupert: "I saw a splendid piece of roadbed. It is a fine road all the way from this point to Mile 102. A better piece of road cannot be found among many of the roads of older Ontario. On our return trip, we ran over 35 miles an hour over some portions of the line and the going was remarkably steady for a new road. When the Government accepted the road, there was an order limiting the speed of trains to 12 miles an hour, but after having seen the road, we are going to make an order permitting the speed of trains to be increased to 35 miles an hour."

This is in line with the entire construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, which is being built as a permanent road from the start.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

spare time at [illegible] and I used to write a letter to Bolton, detailing my misadventures. This I posted, so that, in case anything kept me from returning on the Moon, he would at least know whither I had gone and how I had fared.

It took two days to unload. The evening of the third day, Bilk and I stole away from the boat and went uptown. There was not much of it, to be sure, but what little there was lacked nothing in the way of life and color. One could see any sort of costume, from sober broadcloth and fine linen to the rainbow garb of a blanket-robed Indian. Even the long-haired frontiersman, sacred to fiction was represented by a specimen or two. Altogether it was a motley, high-spirited crowd that we mixed with that night. Of the quieter residential portion of Benton I saw nothing, at that time. My way, guided thereto by Bilk, was down the main street, where lights shone and glasses clinked merrily; into divers places, where ancient pianos tinkled dance music. Drink and dance and gamble, that was the night life of the town. Wherever we went, wherever any man went, up and down the length on that one garish street, he could get a run for his money, if he had money to spend. In every saloon and dance hall, the knights of faro bank and draw poker held tourney on the field of green cloth. It was all very new, and strange, and fascinating, to me.

Bilk stood treat in one of the saloons, and after we had emptied our glasses we stepped across the room to where a knot of men were watching an unkempt individual buck a roulette wheel with twenty-dollar gold pieces in lieu of checks. He had a dirty felt hat on the table before him, the crown of it half full of gold and silver, and he was scattering the double eagles two and three on a number. It was heavy play, I thought; but the dealer spun the little white ball, and called the number and color, in a bored sort of way. The buffalo runner lost half a dozen bets, and then all at once he caught the double zero with three twenty-dollar coins resting on it.

I gasped. Twenty-one hundred dollars in fifteen seconds!

When the dealer passed over the stacks of gold, the unkempt one opened his mouth for the first time.

"How much'll yuh turn for?" he asked.

The dealer jerked his thumb upward. "We'll take the roof off," he answered carelessly, "if yuh want to stack 'em that high."

The buffalo runner grinned, and deliberately set about placing handfuls of coin here and there on the board. And while I stood there, wholly engrossed, eagerly watching the ivory ball in its circular race, some one grabbed me by the shoulders and hurled me unceremoniously out the door. Once outside and free of that powerful grip, I turned and beheld Tupper, the red-whiskered, very drunk and very angry, flourishing a pistol and shouting vile epithets at me.

"Git back t' the Moon, yuh —— son of a sea cook! I'll jerk an arm off yuh, an' beat yuh t' death with the bloody end of it, if yuh show up here ag'in. Scoot!"

Naturally, I "scooted," Mr. Tupper meanwhile emphasizing his threats by sending a bullet or two skyward. I wondered, at the time, why no peace officer appeared to put a quietus on this manifestation of exuberance; but later in the game I learned that in frontier towns the popping of a pistol was regarded as one of the accessories of a properly joyful mood; men handled their guns to make a noise, like the small boy with a bunch of holiday firecrackers. One could burn powder with impunity, so long as he had due care for innocent bystanders.

Of Bilk I saw no more, for a while. Thinking that, since Tupper's hostility had been directed at me, Bilk might have concluded to keep out of it, and see Benton by himself, I went on to the boat and curled up on a bale of buffalo hides, to sit a while in the moonlight and the pleasant night air, before bedding down in the vile hole where we of the roustabout fraternity were permitted to rest o' nights. An hour or so I sat there, and about the time I began to think of turning in a figure came slouching up the wharf and aboard. The glare of a deck light showed me that it was Bilk. I called to him, and when he came a little nearer I saw further that he, too, had met with rough usage; for his face was bruised and his lips cut and swollen.

"Aw, that dam' mate!" he said, in answer to my questioning. "He gits on a rasoo like this every once in a while. Yuh was lucky he just throwed yuh out. The son of a gun nailed me after that an' like t' beat 'm' head off. He's tearin' drunk an' plumb on the fight. Chances is he'll come down here before mornin' an' want t' lick the captain, the cook, an' the whole blame crew."

"Somebody ought to take an axe to him," I suggested bitterly.

"Yuh betcha. That's what he needs," Bilk agreed. "I've heard 'em tell about him gettin' on these fightin' drunks, but this here's the first time he ever got t' me. Yuh wait. I'll git him some uh these times, for this." And Bilk went below, muttering dark threats.

I followed shortly, and rolled in. There was no disturbance during the night, and when we stood by for the loading after breakfast Tupper was on hand, a trifle surlier than usual, more or less red about the eyes, but otherwise showing no signs of his carouse. All that day we labored. Again, at eventide, part of the crew sallied uptown. Before ten o'clock all of them were back, one or two badly damaged about the face, and one and all filled with tales of the mate's pugnacious mood.

"He set, by the great horn spoon, he'll bust the head of any hide-slingin' wharf rat that sticks his nose up the main street. He wants the whole town t' himself, the blamed hog!" one indignantly declared; and from what I'd seen of Tupper I could very well believe that he would have it to himself, so far as the crew of the Moon was concerned.

The next morning found Mr. Tupper still on deck. Evidently a steady diet of strong whisky and rough-and-tumble fighting agreed with his peculiar constitution. That night we were all but done; two hours' work in the morning would put the Moon in shape for the down-river journey. And when evening fell I took a notion to walk up and down the streets of Benton once more. It may have been that the prospect of getting to St. Louis in the near future made me desire to flaunt my independence in the face of the mate. Anyway, without stopping to make a critical analysis of motives, I slipped away from the Moon when dark closed in. The engineer came aboard a minute before I left, and I heard him call to his assistant that Tupper was a sheet and a half in the wind, and still wearing his fighting clothes. But I took no thought of turning back.

Right up the main street I marched, venturing into one saloon after another without mishap. I felt quite elated, like a small boy playing "hookey" from school. And when, in the course of my prowling about, I ran into a half dozen hilarious cowpunchers, I clean forgot Mr. Tupper and the unkind things he had promised to do to me.

The camp of these cattlemen, I gathered from their talk, was on the divide that rose to the north of Benton, and after the manner of their kind they were "taking in the town," for the first time in many weeks. Wherefore they were thirsty and noisy, and insistent that everybody should drink and be joyful. To one of them, a youngster near my own age, slim, sinewy, picturesque in his hair-faced chaps and high-heeled boots, I talked a little; but it was a hit-and-miss conversation, by reason of the general uproar and the rapidity with which drinks came. I was all for information, and in his free and easy way he shed beams of light upon my black ignorance of range affairs. But, alas! a discordant element burst rudely in upon our talk fiesta. Tupper stalked in from the street, and chance decreed that his roving, belligerent eye should single me out of the crowd. I was leaning against a disreputable billiard table, at the time, and straight for me he came, not saying a word, but squinting up his little pig eyes in manner that boded ill.

I didn't move. Though my heart flopped like a new-landed trout, I couldn't quite bring myself to slink away. Beaten and bluffed and cowed as I had been for the past two weeks, I hadn't quite lost the power to resent; and, though I shrank from the weight of Tupper's ungodly fists, I shrank more from absolute flight. Something of the atmosphere of the ranges had crept into me that evening. I did not know what I was about to do, except that I was not going to run away from any red-whiskered brute from St. Louis, or any other section of the globe.

He came up close to me, stopped, and regarded me a moment, as if amazed to see me standing there and making no move to go. And then, with a quick hunch of his shoulders, he swung a dirty fist for my jaw. But that time I fooled Mr. Tupper by sidestepping; I was watching him, and he was a bit over sure. Again he struck out, first one hand and then the other. This time one of the blows landed glancingly. His red, ugly countenance lurching toward me, his whisky-sodden breath in my face, was more than I could stand; and when that vicious swing grazed my chin, as I backed away, I ducked under his arm and smashed him on his reviling mouth.

It almost paid me for all the abuse I'd taken from him, that one good blow. The backward roll of his head, the quick spurt of blood where my knuckles split his lip, sent a quiver of joy over me. Had he been of the bigness of a house and equipped with two pair of fists, I would gladly have fought him, after that one punch. It showed me that I could hurt him. It gave me a hungry craving for more. I wanted to beat his ugly little eyes, his squat, round-nostrilled nose, and his whisky-gussling mouth, into indistinguishable pulp.

But it was new business to me, and so, instead of keeping at him, hammer and tongs, till he was down and out, I waited for him to rush me again. Wherein I made a sad mistake. If I had battered him down then and there—if—if! At any rate, he did come with a rush, and he came fortified with a wide knowledge of fist tactics to protect him from another such blow as I had dealt him. He fought me halfway across the room, and had me bleeding like a stuck pig before I connected with him again. But eventually one of my wild swings slipped through his guard and jolted his head backward, his little, blood-

Address of Mr. Stratton To the Electorate

Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

The arguments have all been made and comparative prices have been quoted at length. You have doubtless read, heard and digested. It only remains to recall the outstanding features of the question before the country—reciprocity in natural products with the United States.

Reciprocity will injure or disturb no industry or factory or workman, in Peterborough or elsewhere, but on the contrary will materially promote the interests of all.

The protection which the Fielding tariff has always accorded our manufacturing industries, will be continued unabated. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have time and again given assurance of this. The mutual effect of freer trade in natural products and protection for our manufacturers cannot fail of being beneficial by giving the workingman cheaper living and the manufacturer a more prosperous home market.

Reciprocity will benefit the farmer by giving him an unlimited market in the United States for those products which he cannot ship to England, or which he cannot sell at home to advantage.

Reciprocity will reduce the cost of living from twenty-five to thirty per cent. It will benefit the consumer in about sixty of the chief elements of his diet.

American eggs, all American fruits, fresh and dried, and all vegetables, will come in free of duty at the seasons when there is no production here.

Fish of all kinds, oysters and shell fish will come in free.

The existing duties will be materially reduced on fresh meats, bacon and hams, dried, smoked and salted meats, canned meat, canned fish, sardines and the like, canned vegetables, flour, oatmeal, pearled barley, macaroni, biscuits, etc.

These reductions will materially reduce the prices of these articles to the consumer.

How, you may ask, can reciprocity raise the price to the farmer and lessen it to the consumer?

The answer is simple enough. Reciprocity takes down two tariff walls which stand between the natural products of Canada and the United States and their natural disposal.

The American tariff is the wall against the producer, against the Canadian farmer, which prevents him seeking an outlet for his surplus in that direction and leaves him at the mercy of the Canadian food combines.

The Canadian tariff is the wall against the Canadian consumer, which prevents him from getting the benefit of cheap American products at the times and places when these do not compete with Canadian products.

At present the Canadian farmer receives less for his products than the American farmer and the Canadian consumer pays more for his food than the American consumer.

Reciprocity in natural products emoves these two artificial barriers and allows the food products of a continent to find the most convenient channels.

The relief to producer and consumer should be almost immediate. Nobody ever saw the cost of living increased by the removal of two food taxes.

What are the side issues that have been dragged into this campaign—the loyalty of the Liberal party, annexation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion and the British Born.

They are almost too absurd to mention, but I will answer them briefly.

Loyalty of the Liberal party? The answer to that is British preference, South African contingents, the Canadian navy. Actions speak louder than words. The very men who are plastering the majority of the electors of Canada with the imputation of disloyalty, have a working alliance in Quebec with the firebrand Bourassa, who hates England and preaches destruction to British ascendancy and Canada.

Annexation? The answer to that is that Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, in 1854, a Conservative and an ardent Imperialist, was the chief instrument in obtaining the reciprocity treaty with the United States, which lasted from 1854 to 1866. His avowed purpose in securing reciprocity, was to cure the annexation sentiment, then prevalent among Canadian business men on account of the hard times.

Lord Elgin believed, with Lloyd-George, that reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, was crystallized common sense, and with the London Times, that a happy and contented member of the British Empire, is better than an unhappy and discontented one. Lord Elgin's cure worked. Instead of annexation, reciprocity brought Confederation in its train, and gave this country the great blessing of national unity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's religion? The Protestants of Ontario outnumber the Roman Catholics six to one. Protestantism is in no more danger from a Liberal Roman Catholic premier than it was from a Conservative Roman Catholic premier, Sir John Thompson. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no more Roman Catholics in his cabinet than Sir John Macdonald had, or Sir John Thompson or Sir John Abbott, or Sir Charles Tupper, or last, but not least, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, once the Grand Master of the Orange order. Sir James Whitney has two Roman Catholics in his cabinet, and they have shown themselves equitable and capable administrators.

The British Born? We are all British born if we are born within the Empire, and we are all equally proud of it. Those who were born in the Mother Country and have come to Canada since 1896 to better their conditions need not be told what the Liberal Government has done to help the workingman and to open up the great Northwest prairie to the land-hungry homeseekers. In Canada, as in England, most of the workingman's blessings have been the gift of the Liberal Government. Neither need they be told what a Liberal Government has done for the old land across the sea in the matters of British preference, the South African contingents and the Canadian navy. The British born may be depended upon to rally to the side where they find their best friends.

Hoping to receive the same confidence from the electors of West Peterborough as I have received in the past, I am,

Yours Respectfully,

J. R. Stratton

BUFFALO UP A TREE

Private John Allen claimed there was a man in Tupelo by whom you could prove anything. This man, Allen said, would back up any statement and admit it if the statement was made persistently enough by somebody he knew.

To prove it, Allen took some friends one day and looked up this man.

"Where've you been, John?" asked one of the friends in the hearing of the ready believer.

"Oh, out West, shooting," replied Allen.

"Have any luck?"

"Fair; biggest thing I got was a buffalo."

"Buffalo, eh? Where did you get him?"

"Oh, I shot him out of a tree."

"Shot him out of a tree. Now, here, John, that's too steep. You know buffaloes can't climb trees."

"Can't climb trees?" shouted Allen. "Well, I want you to know they can climb trees. I shot this buffalo out of a tree. He was up there eating grapes. Of course I didn't find him. One of the guides did that, but I shot him justh the same right out of that tree where he was eating grapes."

"Oh, cheese it, John. You know a buffalo can't climb a tree."

"I tell you they can. Don't argue with me about things you know nothing about. I should say they can climb trees—can't they, Charley?"

Allen turned to the credulous chap. He wanted to support Allen's statement, but he hung back some.

"Can't they, Charley?" asked Allen again.

"Well," said Charley judicially, "of course buffaloes ordinarily ain't much on climbing trees, but," he added hastily as Allen looked reproachfully at him, "they'll go anywhere to get grapes."

A clever young woman who is a member of the Washington staff of a Cleveland paper had occasion to call on Mrs. Knox the other day on a matter of important news. Mrs. Knox was not at home, the man servant who answered the bell informed the journalists.

"Well, hasn't she a secretary who can give me the information I am after?" persisted the newspaper woman.

"Certainly, madam," answered the footman — 'this way, please.' Leading the way along the hall, he ushered her into the presence of a very important looking person.

"Are you Mrs. Knox's secretary?" asked the newspaper girl.

The man laughed. "I guess I am," he admitted. "I'm her husband, and I'm the secretary of state. What can I do for you?"

"I always like to tell this story, especially if I am with Democrats," said Prof. R. L. Lyman, of the University of Wisconsin.

"'I'm a Democrat because I believe in free silver,' said one lad.

"'I am a Democrat because I believe in free trade,' answered the second.

"'I'se a Democrat 'cause I want dat 'coon,' answered the third, a negro boy, looking hungrily at the 'coon.

"It's needless to tell which got the 'coon,' finished Mr. Lyman.

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ¼ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 218 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Couldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

ELEPHANTS THAT APPEAR TO REASON.

Would Not Work on Sunday.

'Do animals reason?' has been a question always actively discussed in the scientific world. Gen. Benjamin Le Fevre answers this in the affirmative and cites in support an incident that came under his notice during one of his 'globe-trotting' experiences in distant Burma last year. Not only can they reason, he avers, but they can count!

Several years ago, however, a large English lumber firm in Rangoon, finding the native elephant owners unreliable in fulfilling their contracts for work animals, bought a young herd and had them skillfully trained in the work of log piling. Now the native Burmese has no day of rest, like the Christian, the Jew, or the Turk, but works every day, resting whenever the lazy moods of the tropics seize him. His elephants, therefore, are accustomed to work every day of the year if the master sees fit. At the business place of this English firm, however, the European rule prevailed, and every Sunday was a day of rest to man and beast.

'Now it happened that one Saturday afternoon the river, on whose banks the great lumber yard of this firm was situated, began to rise rapidly; early Sunday morning news from the upper country told of still greater floods on their way down, and it became imperative to move from the banks a great quantity of valuable logs that would otherwise be swept out to sea by the rising waters. At break of day the manager not only ordered out his own herd but sent throughout the district to hire every available elephant from the native owners. As the Burmese drivers came with their troops hurrying by the corrals of the English-reared animals, the drivers of the latter ordered them out into the customary marching line for their day's work.

The Elephants Wouldn't Move

'But not an elephant moved. This was Sunday, and work on Sunday! Never! The drivers coaxed and cajoled them with all the arts of their calling; the "bathis" stood fast, blinking their little eyes and watching with indifference their brothers of Burmese training file past to the teak yards.

'The drivers borrowed some old veterans in the service from the Burmese herds, and scattering them in the midst of their own, sought to lead them out by this ancient method.

'But not an elephant moved! Work on that day they would not! The drivers, now frantic with their failure, sought to gain by force what they could not effect by persuasion, and mounting their beasts dug their goads into the necks of the brutes. As if by preconcerted signal, the elephants swung up their trunks, seized the drivers about their waists and set them gently but firmly upon the ground, as though to say: "There now, you mustn't do that; we will work faithfully all the week, but we will not work on Sunday!"

'At length the head driver, in desperation, seized the ear of the lead elephant with his ancus, a crooked steel implement used only to subdue tractious elephants, and gave it a vicious twist. The beast promptly picked him up in his trunk, flung him against the sides of the corral twenty feet away, and resumed the swaying motion that marks the elephant well satisfied with himself; but the head driver did not get of the hospital for two months. After hours vainly spent in trying to compel their herd to break the Sabbath, which they had taught them to keep, the English manager acknowledged himself defeated.

Granted a Search Warrant.

County Magistrate Edmunson granted a search warrant to Mr. Robert J. Lockie, North Monaghan, who states that he has been missing certain articles from his premises of late. Mr. Lockie is separated from his wife, who lives with her sons near city, and it was the sons' premises that were searched. None of the missing articles, however, were found.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

SIR JAMES WATSON

This eminent English physician is one of the greatest authorities on diseases of the respiratory organs.

In a recent address, Sir James Watson stated that the commonest of all disorders is Catarrh, and that not one person in ten thousand passes the winter without an attack of some sort.

Sir James advocates local treatment very strongly, and says that it is all nonsense trying to treat Catarrhal diseases by stomach medicines, atomizers, douches and snuffs.

Local treatment is applied most scientifically by Catarrhozone, which is inhaled into the nose, throat and lungs, and drives the disease completely out of the system.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common sense treatment; it clears the air passages, makes breathing easy, and relieves at once. Physicians prescribe Catarrhozone with gratifying results, and pronounce it a specific for Catarrh in any part of the system.

Mr. Thos. Cox, one of the most prominent citizens of Minden, Ont., says: "I want to recommend Catarrhozone. It is a nice, clean cure for Catarrh. Cured me perfectly, and is well deserving of a trial from everyone at all affected by Catarrh or throat trouble."

Mr. G. F. Fadden, of Royan, Que., writes: "In my opinion Catarrhozone is the only cure for Catarrh. I had the disease in its worst form but only got relief from Catarrhozone. It cured me quickly and permanently, and I have no fear of the Catarrh ever returning.

The foregoing brief extracts, like thousands of others that the proprietors of Catarrhozone have received, prove that the proper remedy to use is Catarrhozone. It is quite different from the ordinary Catarrh preparation, and is warranted to prove entirely satisfactory. If it fails your money will be refunded, so if not benefited you won't be out of pocket.

All druggists sell Catarrhozone. Complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, liquid for recharging, etc., costs $1; trial size, 25 cents. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

The Times was in error in stating that the Harvest Festival at St. Luke's church was to have been held last night, the date should have been to-morrow, Friday evening. A Kindly Act.

Miss Catherine Close, professional nurse, who has been the guest of her friend, Miss Annie Brooks, 199 Dalhousie street, for six weeks, leaves this morning for her home in Syracuse. Miss Rose Norton, also a professional nurse, of Syracuse, left a week ago. These young ladies came here to spend a month with Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, at their cottage at Chemong. The day of their arrival in Peterborough, Miss Brooks, who had been on a typhoid fever case in Lakefield, was stricken with the disease, and both girls instead of taking their well-earned holiday, heroically undertook the care of Miss Brooks. It was largely due to their attention and care that Miss Brooks' recovery was so rapid.

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

MOVING PICTURE CENSORSHIP.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was pleased to read the words of protest which appeared in The Times a few days ago against the class of moving pictures which are being exhibited in Canada, extolling the U.S. flag and the U.S. army. This is most offensive to Canadians, and should be stopped.

Another Canadian.

ARE DELEGATES BRIBED?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would ask The Times to publish the following: A few days ago a prominent farmer, who is somewhat of a politician, came to my house and told me that the system in vogue of selecting delegates to attend party conventions is rotten. He said that he had been handed an envelope containing $25, with instructions to bring to the convention a number of delegates, who must pledge themselves beforehand to support a certain candidate who was to be nominated. He admitted that he had obeyed the request, paying the money out to his bunch of delegates as requested. He was told that the other fellow was doing the very same thing, and he therefore, felt that it would have to be done in order to get the nomination for his man. Subsequently he was led to regard the act as a very improper one.

Now, Mr. Editor, I think it would be better to select our candidates from a mass meeting of electors called for the purpose, in which case it would be more difficult to resort to bribery.

Purity.

SPEND A WEEK AT ALGONQUIN.

Spend a Week Now at Algonquin —

The popularity of the Algonquin National Park, Ontario, has been pronounced this year, and it has been necessary to use at least 25 large tents as an auxiliary to the accommodation of the Highland Inn, at Algonquin National Park Station.

Most people return to their homes in the early part of September, but as this is one of the most delightful months in this territory, those who can make it convenient are advised to spend a week or two there. The hotel is also open all the winter and with the bracing air of this locality (1760 ft. above the sea) a most delightful sojourn can be spent even in the winter months.

A handsome illustrated booklet may be had on this territory upon application to Mr. A. E. Duff, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

VOL XXXIV NO 219 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE CONSERVATIVES SWEEP THE COUNTRY AND WIN A MAJORITY OF 54 SEATS

CANADA PRONOUNCES IN FAVOR OF BRITISH CONNECTION AND BORDEN

SEVEN CABINET MINISTERS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT—CONSERVATIVES GIVEN EIGHT SEATS IN QUEBEC.

Ontario Returns 63 Conservatives and 11 Liberals—a Gain of 30 Seats for the Former—Hon. Clifford Sifton's Prediction Comes True.

Hon. R. L. Borden is now Premier of this great Dominion with a strong working majority.

The elections yesterday resulted in the overthrow of the Liberal Government and a triumph for the Conservative party, who swept the country, as predicted by Hon. Clifford Sifton. No less than seven Cabinet Ministers met their Waterloo at the hands of an aroused electorate, who yesterday demonstrated in no uncertain manner that Canada does not choose to enter into a new trade partnership with the United States and run the danger of eventually becoming a political as well as an economic satellite of her neighbors to the south. As President Taft said, Canada had come to the parting of the ways. Well, yesterday she made her choice and turned into the road that leads to an extension of reciprocal trade within the empire, and a federation of the interests of the British Empire in general.

CONSERVATIVE MAJORITY 54.

As accurate as could be gleaned last night, the returns gave the following division:

Conservatives elected	126
Liberals elected	72
Conservative majority	54
Labor candidate elected	1
Deferred elections	4

The Conservative majority includes Nationalists, of which there are but a few.

There are 18 seats to hear from.

THE DEFEATED MINISTERS.

The defeated Ministers are as follows:

Hon. Sir Frederick Borden.
Hon. Sydney Fisher.
Hon. W. S. Fielding.
Hon. G. P. Graham.
Hon. Wm. Patterson.
Hon. W. Templeman.
Hon. McKenzie King.

It is significant that both Messrs. Fielding and Paterson, the promoters of the reciprocity pact, suffered defeat yesterday. They went to Washington after a sprat and brought back a hole which swallowed them bodily yesterday. The Nationalists are in evidence, but their support is not essential to the life of the Borden Government, which will have ample working majority without them.

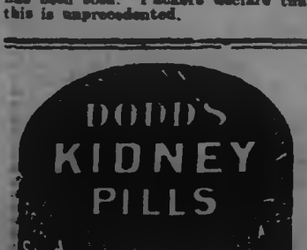
CONSERXATIVE GAINS.

The Conservatives won gains in most, if not all the Provinces. At eleven o'clock, in Manitoba, where the Liberals had predicted a victory in every riding in favor of reciprocity, eight Conservatives had been elected and no Liberals, giving a gain of two seats to the former. In Ontario 63 Conservatives had been elected and 11 Liberals—a gain of 20 for the former. In Quebec the results showed 30 Liberals elected, 1 Laborite and 19 Conservatives and Nationalists—a gain of 4 seats for the Liberals and eight for the Conservatives. In New Brunswick the Conservative gains were three against none for their opponents. Nova Scotia at eleven o'clock had elected nine Liberals and six Conservatives—a gain of two seats for the Conservatives, who also made one gain in P.E.I.

Unquestionably the official returns will show some slight changes, both ways, to the reports sent in last night, but nothing to materially affect the standing of the parties. The Hon. R. L. Borden is the people's choice for Premier, with a substantial following who will unquestionably see to it that Canada retain her present fiscal and tariff independence and maintains those barriers against aggressive producers which have rendered possible the development from a sparcely settled and struggling colony into a flourishing nation, the bulwark of a mighty empire.

LARGE SALMON PACK.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 19.—The pack of pink salmon on Puget Sound this season now is expected to total 900,000 cases or more than double the pack of the largest previous season, 1909, when the Sound pack was 448,730 cases. Almost the entire catch has been sold. Packers declare that this is unprecedented.



DID ANY ONE SAY "RECIPROCITY!"

The Conservative leader, Mr. R. L. Borden.

VOLUNTEER POLICE FORCE FOR GREAT BRITAIN.

London, Sept. 20.—The Home Office has issued a detailed circular to the chief constables in the United Kingdom, instructing them how the volunteer police force, which it is proposed to raise in each of the large centres of population, should be organized. It will consist of a registered police reserve in two bodies, the first reserve consisting of men who have previously undergone police or military training and who could be temporarily attached to the regulars with uniform and pay, and the second consisting of men registered as willing to serve as special constables.

Home Secretary Churchill suggests that this scheme would to a great extent obviate the necessity of calling out troops. He further proposes that in times of strikes it might be legitimate to enroll strikers as special constables, because strike disorders, he points out, are for the most part prompted by hooligans

Creeps like a Serpent

Catarrh is an insidious disease, scarcely noticeable at first, but horribly relentless if not checked.

No disease makes such inroads into weak constitutions as Catarrh. It spreads from the place of beginning to the lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, intestines, and before long all the organs of the body are affected.

A splendid remedy, attended with remarkable success in curing Catarrh has lately come prominently to the front. Its name is Catarrhozone, and no case is recorded where it failed to quickly relieve and cure.

The strong points about Catarrhozone are that it is both a local and constitutional treatment. It not only affords quick relief to the local symptoms, but also purifies the blood of all Catarrhal poisons, builds up and strengthens the system.

Catarrhozone Inhaler supplies an abundance of medicated air which is breathed in at the mouth, and after passing through every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

This penetrating, volatile antiseptic at once kills the germs that cause Catarrh, and prevents the disease spreading when once established. It is so healing and soothing that the inflamed membranes, and sore spots are restored to normal and healthy condition in a few days.

Catarrhozone cleanses the nose and throat and keeps them entirely free of mucous discharge. It prevents dropping in the throat, cures headache and makes breathing easy and the breath pure and sweet.

To build up and invigorate the system, a blood purifier and tonic called Ferrozone should be taken after each meal. In conjunction with Catarrhozone it is a valuable aid in establishing such a healthy condition of the body that Catarrh cannot exist.

Other remedies have been known to give relief, but to permanently eradicate every trace of Catarrh you must use Catarrhozone. It is a commonsense, convenient, clean method of cure that is endorsed by the profession and all intelligent pharmacists.

You are sure to be benefited quickly and positively cured by Catarrhozone. The complete outfit costs only $1.00. Trial size, 25c. Sold by Druggists, and The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE TWO PETERBOROUGH'S WENT CONSERVATIVE

Mr. Burnham Elected in the West and Mr. Sexsmith in the East

Mr. Burnham's Majority Will Probably be About 100—East Peterborough's Conservative Candidate Reported Elected by Over 500.

Hon. J. R. Stratton went down to defeat yesterday for the first time in a quarter of a century, Mr. J. H. Burnham redeeming the riding or the Conservatives with a majority of 90 or 100, so far as can be learned at the hour of going to press.

In West Peterborough the defeat of Mr. Stratton came as a surprise to many who thought that his election was a foregone conclusion. It was not so much the question of reciprocity that produced the result in this riding as it was of religion, a strong sentiment having developed that church interference in political matters must cease. When a church undertakes to lend its support to one side, the result usually follows that there is a counter action created of much greater force.

Then the British-born element undoubtedly proved no mean factor in the election strife of yesterday, and the clever and convincing address of Mr. Hawkes to his fellow countrymen had a telling effect. Old country men, generally speaking, are hidebound partisans, inheriting their political sentiments, and Mr. Hawke's clean cut explanation of the difference between Liberals and Conservatives in the Mother Country and here, together with his views as to the duty of British-born electors in regard to the issues before them, must have had considerable weight. Forspeaking advisedly, we would say that Liberalism dominates the British-born in Peterborough, but the British-born lined up pretty strongly behind Mr. Burnham yesterday.

Roughly speaking Mr. Burnham's majority is from 90 to 100, although several divisions are yet to be heard from. But the returns from those divisions cannot materially affect the result. His majority in town was in the neighborhood of 390.

EAST PETERBOROUGH.

Whilst it was impossible to get returns last night from many divisions in the East, Mr. Sexsmith's election is assured, and it is thought by a majority of 500.

A WILD TIME IN THE OLD TOWN.

Intense enthusiasm and uncontrollable excitement prevailed in town last night. The hooting of horns and the wildest cheering of an excited electorate greeted every victory announced for a Conservative. And the unbridled joy with which the downfall of each Government Minister was reported demonstrated in forcible manner that Peterborough did not approve of reuprocity with the United States. Up to eleven o'clock the streets were thronged with a happy joyous and good natured crowd, hundreds of whom Mr. Burnham, Mr. Kendry and others addressed from the balcony of the Oriental Hotel, Hunter street.

At 8 o'clock the member elect, Mr. J. H. Burnham, was carried down from his committee rooms on George street and seated in a hack appropriately draped with the British and Canadian colors. The vehicle was drawn by a number of his supporters and proceeded to the Opera House amidst showers of fireworks and headed by the 57th Band, playing patriotic airs. Immediately in front of the hack was carried a table on which a bull dog sat aggressively on a union jack, illustrative of the favorite British slogan "What we have we'll hold." Arriving at the Opera House Mr. Burnham was shouldered by a number of his admirers and carried on to the stage amidst intense enthusiasm.

James Kendry, who acted as chairman of the proceedings, received a very flattering ovation—an orchestra was in attendance. Mr. Soden gave a splendid address which brought down the house.

Mr. Burnham in an exceedingly appropriate speech thanked the Conservatives and Liberals and British-born, for the gratifying success of the campaign then terminated. Time will not permit of any lengthy reference to the meeting in this issue.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy shareholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $260,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,647.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Luxurious New Cars for C.P.R. Montreal Service.

Another triumph in car building has been achieved by the C.P.R. and it marks a further advance in railroading.

The new compartment observation cars which have just been sent out from the Angus shops are intended for the service between Toronto and Montreal, and as evidence of the growing popularity of the service between the North Toronto station and Montreal, they are attached to the train leaving that station at 10.00 p. m. daily.

These new cars have seven compartments, a drawing room, an observation parlor and an observation platform. The entrance to the rooms is from aisles running along the sides of the cars, ensuring absolute privacy. There are two berths, the lower being made up from two double seats, and there are all toilet requirements in each compartment.

The cars are lighted with electricity and in the warm weather are kept cool with electric fans.

These cars are models of luxury and comfort, in which the C. P. R. standard of equipment excels.

Street Railway Extension.

The street railway is to be extended to Byersville as soon as the rails can be secured. The survey to that point having been made. The route is from the end of the Park street line out Chamberlain and ending at the G.P. R. Crossing just past Byersville. The building of this extension will be a boon to the people of the extreme south end, and will be a convenience to them in coming to and from the city.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

A SUCCESSFUL FINANCIER

An example of what well-directed brain power accompanied by energy, pluck and perseverance may accomplish is afforded by the remarkable advance of Mr. Edward Rogers Wood of Toronto. From a small beginning Mr. Wood has worked his way steadily upward and onward until he is now general manager of two leading Canadian financial institutions, the Central Canada Loan & Savings Co., and the Dominion Securities Corporation. Besides this he is vice-president of the National Trust Company, and a director of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Western Assurance Company, the Canada Life Assurance Company, the Sao Paulo Tramway, Light & Power Company; the Mexican Light and Power Company, and other important corporations and industrial undertakings. Not a bad achievement, certainly, for a man only forty-five years of age who started life as a telegraph operator. But then was not his father Irish and was he not born in Peterboro', two facts over which he had no control but which have evidently had their effect in guiding this successful financier to fortune and a foremost place in the commercial life of Canada.

Mr. E. R. WOOD, Toronto.

Mr. Wood is a most enthusiastic supporter of the Y. M. C. A. and is President of the Toronto Association.

His home is at Queen's Park, Toronto.

SIR GILBERT PARKER

Sir Gilbert Parker, K.C., D.C.L., M. P. was born in Belleville Ont. in 1862. His father, Captain J. Parker, was a British Officer. It was from him that the future novelist first conceived the ideas which he has so brilliantly given to the world. In his home life his mind was imbued with stories of military adventure. These laid the foundations for his future scintillating and vast imagination. Sir Gilbert's education made him thoroughly Canadian, instilling in him our national ideals. He attended Trinity College, Toronto. After graduating, he decided to follow the profession of journalism, towards which he had always shown considerable aptitude and interest. In a comparatively short time he rose high in his chosen vocation. At the age of 22 he had already become associate-editor of the Sidney Morning Herald, Sidney Australia.

Even such interesting and absorbing work as one has on a daily paper could not satisfy the latent novelist. Drawn by the lure of travel and adventure he visited and indeed studied the South Sea Islands, the Far East, Europe, Egypt and what he enjoyed the most Northern Canada. In his wanderings he found many of the leading ideas of his novels which have so won the admiration of the English speaking reader.

Although very prominent in the world of letters, Sir Gilbert Parker had not come before the world in general, prominently, until he intatest end organize the first Imperial Universities Conference in London in 1903.

SIR GILBERT PARKER

It is by his novels that Sir Gilbert Parker has won for himself such a high place in the affections of all Canadians. His works are very numerous and display a creative genius of distinguished ability. They are replite with origional ideas and character types, so skilfully portrayed, that they seem to live before the eye of the reader.

Amongst his novels dealing with Canadian life and people in most famous are the "Right of Way", the "Battle of the Strong" and the "History of Old Quebec."

Canada is indeed proud of her son who has done so much towards the intellectual advancement of his native land.

ADMIRALTY'S SENSE OF JUSTICE

Big Compensation for Wronged Cadet

The British Admiralty has paid £7,130 to Cadet Archer-Shee as compensation and costs for his wrongful dismissal from the Royal Naval College at Osborne. The amount was divided as follows: £3,000, compensation; £4,130, the full costs of the legal proceedings in connection with the matter.

The case, it will be remembered, arose out of the following circumstances: In October, 1908, a postal order for 5s., belonging to one of the cadets of the Royal Naval College, Osborne, was stolen and cashed. Some days later the father of George Archer-Shee, another of the cadets, received a letter from the Admiralty ordering him to withdraw his son from the college, the implication being that the boy had been guilty of dishonesty. The boy, who strongly protested his innocence, was withdrawn, and Mr. Archer-Shee at once took steps to have the matter investigated. Only with the greatest difficulty were he and his legal advisers able to obtain the actual form of the charge, the evidence on which the lad was adjudged guilty, and the nature of the inquiry which was stated to have been held. The inquiry, it was ascertained, consisted of the boy being called before the commander and being ordered to write his own name and the name of the cadet to whom the postal order belonged. The postmistress who cashed the order stated that she could not identify the boy who cashed it.

The father took the only means in his power to obtain a full and open inquiry by bringing an action at law, in the form known as a petition of right. The Admiralty evaded the issue by putting forward the technical plea — which proved successful — that no action could be brought against the Crown, inasmuch as the real plaintiff, being a naval cadet, was in His Majesty's service under the regulations by which he was admitted to the Naval College. Sir Edward Carson, who appeared for Mr. Archer-Shee, stigmatized the course taken by the Admiralty as "a gross outrage," and said, "It is a case of the grossest oppression without remedy I have ever heard during the thirty-five years I have been at the Bar." On July 18, 1910, the Judges of the Court of Appeal held that Mr. Archer-Shee was entitled to have his petition of right against the Crown tried by a jury, the question of law, as to whether or not the Crown could be made liable for breach of contract, being postponed till the jury had pronounced on the main issue as to the justice or otherwise of the treatment of Mr. Archer-Shee's son. The Court of Appeal further marked their sense of the procedure of the Admiralty by awarding Mr. Archer-Shee the costs of the appeal and of the abortive trial in which the demurrer of the Crown had been upheld.

Made Cranky By Rain

Day after day the lover of animals had stopped to pet the baker's horse, which happened to be hitched at a certain corner at the hour when the animal lover passed, and the horse apparently appreciated the attention. But one day his mood changed and he snapped viciously.

"Well, of all things," exclaimed the animal lover. "He never did that before."

"Probably because you never petted him before in rainy weather," said the man who knows a bit about horses. "As you value your ten fingers and general safety of limb, don't get familiar with a horse when he is soaked with rain. No matter how peaceable his disposition the rain makes him cranky, and there 's no telling how he will take unsolicited fondling."

Respecting Her Woe.

A healthy looking woman dressed in deep mourning stepped on to the platform scales and requested the grocer's clerk to ascertain her weight. He looked, and said, "One hundred and forty pounds."

"You made a mistake of twelve pounds in that woman's weight," said another man who had also watched the scales. "She weighed 152 pounds instead of 140."

PREHISTORIC CLAM-BAKES

Unknown Race Which Occupied Canadian Shores Thousands of Years Ago.

That Prince Rupert harbor was inhabited by races of mankind thousands of years ago is abundantly demonstrated by the discovery over on Digby Island at the quarantine station of traces of human life fifteen feet below the level of the present soil.

Skull, teeth, stone hammer heads, a stone ball like a garden bowl, and even the ashes of dead camp fires which flickered their last rays of warmth thousands of years ago, have been uncovered by the picks and shovels of the workmen.

These interesting archaeological discoveries lack only the presence of a skilled student to tell approximately how long it is they have lain there. Through strata after strata can be traced the succession of centuries, telling how drop by drop the clouds have deposited their tiny grains of sand and earth, and the processes of decay have caused the timber and grass to form an earth covering for the remains.

One of the most interesting discoveries shown by Mr. P. W. Anderson, the contractor for the quarantine station, was the remains of an old fireplace more than ten feet below the level of the ground. It was opened out by the picks of the workmen as they dug down to the hard pan of the island in finding a strong foundation for the concreted buildings which are to be built there.

The scooped out hollow in the ground could be plainly traced in the strata, and in the centre were the charred remains of the fire-coals. For several feet all around were clam shells, not left by Nature, but by the hands of primitive man. This was indicated by the fact that all the shells were hollow side up, plainly telling the tale of how early savages gathered around the "clam bake" in the dawn of mankind's history, just as the modern picnicker does.

A stone ball perfectly rounded like a cannon ball, and rounded stone hammer head, belong to a later date. The shells, and the workmen have unearthed several, are in good preservation. To a layman, they appear to be narrower in the forehead, than the typical Haida head.

NO PLACE FOR A TENDERFOOT

The Prince of Wales has just gone to sea as a midshipman on board H. M. S. Hindustan and the name of his rank may conjure up in the mind picturesque visions of the young officer leading a landing party of bearded veterans to spike the enemy's guns, or taking charge of a cutter or steamboat for some purpose of the ship's routine. These duties, or, at any rate, one of them, will, indeed, fall to the lot of the Prince of Wales, and will probably be of the greatest benefit to him in after life, since they call for initiative, presence of mind, and the ingrained ability to command. His Royal Highness will also be called upon as part of his duties as a midshipman to attend upon the officer of the watch at all hours of the day and night, and not only on the bridge, but also in the clanging, whirling depths of the engine-room. By far the greater part of his time afloat, however, will be taken up with a "grind" more varied, more intricate, and far more difficult to grasp than anything which shore-keeping youths of the same age are called upon to tackle at college.

In the midst of all this—and the young officer's career depends wholly upon how he acquits himself in this rank — the midshipman must hold himself ready for the performance of any casual duty which may suddenly be thrown upon him by his senior officers — even by the senior middies in his own gun-room; and the gun-room though unrecognisable in comparison with the gun-room of a hundred years ago, is still, and quite properly, no place for the tenderfoot.

What It Is to Laugh.

What is laughter? An American humorist has called it "an undignified widening of the human mouth, accompanied by a noise resembling a cough in the effort to avoid swallowing a chestnut."

"Laughter," says Prof. Sir Charles Bell, "is a convulsive action of the diaphragm. In this state the person draws a full breath and throws it out in interrupted, short and audible cachinnations. This convulsion of the diaphragm is the principal part of the physical manifestation of laughter.

"But there are several accessories, especially the sharp vocal utterance arising from the expression of the features, this being a more intense form of the smile. In extreme cases the eyes are moistened by the effusion from the lachrymal glands."

There are some people who cannot laugh—who are wholly unable to enjoy either the physical or the mental luxury of a laugh. Thus, it was said of William III, that he was utterly at a loss to understand what could be got out of laughter except loss of dignity. There are many persons in history who have been, according to common report, incapable of laughter. Queen Mary I., John Knox, Robespierre and Moltke are examples. The Iron Duke himself rarely, if ever, went beyond a grunt.

Private Fortunes in France

According to an exhaustive study of French national wealth, just issued in book form, by Edmond Thiery, the noted economist, the sum of the combined private fortunes of France in 1848 was $11,800,000. Now it is $57,456,400,000.

If this wealth were evenly distributed each of the 39,272,000 inhabitants of France would have $1,462 worth of property, thus divided: Unimproved real estate, $284; agriculture, stock $41; improved real estate, $296; commercial and industrial capital, $46; French stocks and bonds, $225; foreign stocks and bonds, $183; gold (cash), $33; silver, $11; personal property, $100; automobiles, horses and carriage, $11.

In the last sixteen years the national wealth has increased at the rate of $554,000,000 yearly.

THE WHITE MAN'S DOOM

Well Known Professor Argues That He Must Inevitably Give Way Before Dark Races.

Much has been written at one time and another regarding the ability of the white man to live in the tropics and to retain his bodily and mental vigour. The consensus of opinion has been that he cannot do so, but that after a time he will surely deteriorate, physically and mentally. Furthermore, white natives whose ancestors have lived three or more generations in the tropics are not, with rare exceptions, the peers either in body or mind of their relatives living in the temperate zone.

Professor Lionel W. Lyde has recently spoken most pessimistically on the subject. Not only does he hold that the white man cannot live in health in torpical countries, but professes to believe that the white man is doomed to vanish from the face of the earth, giving way to the coloured races. The professor bases his belief on the theory that the original colour of the human skin was dark brown, the variations of that colour being the results of the weakening or strengthening of the pigment under different climatic conditions. The rays of sunlight in the tropics on an individual unprotected by a dark skin have the effect of producing nervous shock, amounting sometimes to total prostration.

Taking ordinary precautions, it may be possible for the white man, after two years of acclimatisation, to live in the tropics even more immune from tropical diseases than the black. But this period of immunity lasts for only about seven years, after which the deteriorating effects of the strong solar light and heat begin to show themselves on the white skin, and render the possessor thereof peculiarly susceptible to tropical diseases. In consequence, the permanent settlement of the tropics by white men is impossible.

But while the pigment with which the coloured races are provided is indispensable for life in the tropics, it is a source of no danger in the temperate or frigid zones; therefore the dark or yellow man can intrude into the domain of the man of fair skin with little or no danger. Added to this may be placed the comparatively greater fertility of the dark races, and, in the opinion of Professor Lyde, the doom of the white man is inevitably suggested. His part it is, therefore, in the scheme of the world to train the dark-skinned races in all the arts and sciences, including the art of government, and then himself to get off the earth.

Gangways for Street Cars

When, as is to be often witnessed, a crowd attempts to get on a street car at its point of departure in the centre of a city, accompanied, as is sometimes the case, with an absence of consideration for women and the aged, it is a matter of surprise that more accidents do not arise from this cause than are actually recorded. This is most marked on Saturdays and at holiday times, also at certain hours of the day when people are proceeding to or leaving their work. To overcome this danger, the Tramways Department in Bradford, England, have narrow gangways placed on the footpaths in the centre of the city near to the point of departure of the cars. Persons desiring to board a car must first get into line in this gangway and when the car arrives they enter it in rotation, no one being allowed to enter such a car until all persons in the gangway have preceded them. To this system is possibly due in some measure the small number of street accidents recorded in Bradford, which is below the average of other cities.

A Hen That Talks

A talking hen, whose superintelligence puts to shame the wildest dreams of nature fakers, is the pride of Mrs. John C. Ford, of Atlantic City, N.J. Mrs. Ford vouches for the statements that the fowl possesses qualities high above ordinary instinct.

"'Jo'—sort for Josephine—seems to be afraid of visitors, said Mrs. Ford. "But the minute we are alone she talks to me plain enough for me to know exactly what she means. She calls me 'Mommie' and she can say that as plain as any child. She has also learned to call for 'water,' and if she gets thirsty during the night, she will stand under our bedroom window and call out until we come down and give her a drink."

The hen drinks from a glass, and absolutely refuses to notice the drinking dish used by less-educated fowls in the same yard.

"If the doesn't yet enough to eat, she calls out: 'More, more,'" said Mrs. Ford. The hen immediately notifies the family of having laid an egg by scratchinf on the kitchen door, and leading the way to the spot where the egg is hidden.

A Record Law Suit.

A suit in which a French woman, Mme. Cotton, is the present plaintiff, is unique in the annals of long-drawn-out cases. This lady is the legal heiress of a goldsmith who in 1658 lent the Government of Venice 800,000 crowns, the present value of which, with interest, is estimated at about $4,000,000. The heir of the original lender was a Frenchman, Jean Thierry, who died before the loan was repaid. There was a lawsuit over his succession, and Louis XIV claimed the estate, and annexed the French portion of it. The suit was still dragging on at the time of the directory, when Bonaparte forced Venice to repay the loan. Since then France has been the custodian of the Thierry estate. The Government has been sued dozens of times, but to no purpose. Now, Mme Cotton is suing the Government of Austria and Italy, as well as that of France, because each in turn has owned Venice.

It is hard to convince a man that the world goes round when he never gets his share.

If the eyes are the mirrors of the soul, of course they should be looked into at once.

DETROIT RAILWAY MEN ARE ON STRIKE.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—Fifteen hundred employees of the Detroit United Railway Company went on strike at 6.20 this morning and no street cars are running in the city. The men get 23, 25, and 28 cents an hour. They ask for 25 and 30 cents an hour.

Last night the leaders of the local street car men's association took up headquarters in the Knights of Equity Hall, Fort and Second streets, and as soon as crews finished their respective runs they marched to the hall. Just as dawn was breaking, hundreds of the men, still wearing their uniforms came marching in every direction toward the hall.

State fair officials were out early, anxious and worried about the conditions at the fair grounds. With the big fair under way only two days and with thousands of people expected to-day and all the rest of the week, it means to them a great loss.

GERMANY NEAR TO TERMS WITH FRANCE.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The members of the French Cabinet do not find themselves in a position to issue any assurances to the public concerning the negotiations with Germany.

The Foreign Office has received by telegraph a precise reply on some points of the exchanges. The text of the latest German answer is due to arrive here by courier late this afternoon.

There is no expectation that the reply can be accepted entire.

NEAR AN UNDERSTANDING.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, Ger., Sept. 19.—The Berlin correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung reports to-day that an agreement has been reached by Germany and France on all points except one, and that the programme assures Germany's economic rights in Morocco.

The brief time required for the preparation of the German answer to the French note shows, the correspondent says, how far the Franco-German understanding has progressed.

St. Catherines, Ont., Sept. 20.—Frederick Wilson of Merriton, the married man who induced fifteen year old Gladys Terryberry to go away with him on a tramp this summer, the pair being caught in Ann Arbor, Mich., was found guilty at the fall assizes before Justice Riddell and a jury on the charge of abduction. He also pleaded guilty to seduction. The judge sentenced him to three years and a half in Kingston penitentiary.

A New System.

The Bell Telephone Company have decided on a new system of bookkeeping which will take from the hands of the local office, the billing of those who use the telephone. This will be done at Toronto. The plan is to centralize the work as much as possible in order to reduce expenses. The new system commences with the new year.

PREHISTORIC CLAM-BAKES

Unknown Race Which Occupied Canadian Shores Thousands of Years Ago.

That Prince Rupert harbor was inhabited by races of mankind thousands of years ago is abundantly demonstrated by the discovery over on Digby Island at the quarantine station of traces of human life fifteen feet below the level of the present soil.

Skull, teeth, stone hammer heads, a stone ball like a garden bowl, and even the ashes of dead camp fires which flickered their last rays of warmth thousands of years ago, have been uncovered by the picks and shovels of the workmen.

These interesting archaeological discoveries lack only the presence of a skilled student to tell approximately how long it is they have lain there. Through strata after strata can be traced the succession of centuries, telling how drop by drop the clouds have deposited their tiny grains of sand and earth, and the processes of decay have caused the timber and grass to form an earth covering for the remains.

One of the most interesting discoveries shown by Mr. P. W. Anderson, the contractor for the quarantine station, was the remains of an old fireplace more than ten feet below the level of the ground. It was opened out by the picks of the workmen as they dug down to the hard pan of the island in finding a strong foundation for the concreted buildings which are to be built there.

The scooped out hollow in the ground could be plainly traced in the strata, and in the centre were the charred remains of the fire-coals. For several feet all around were clam shells, not left by Nature, but by the hands of primitive man. This was indicated by the fact that all the shells were hollow side up, plainly telling the tale of how early savages gathered around the "clam bakes" in the dawn of mankind's history, just as the modern picnicker does.

A stone ball perfectly rounded like a cannon ball, and rounded stone hammer head, belong to a later date. The shells, and the workmen have unearthed several, are in good preservation. To a layman, they appear to be narrower in the forehead, than the typical Haida head.

NO PLACE FOR A TENDERFOOT

The Prince of Wales has just gone to seas as a midshipman on board H. M. S. Hindustan and the name of his rank may conjure up in the mind picturesque visions of the young officer leading a landing party of bearded veterans to spike the enemy's guns, or taking charge of a cutter or steamboat for some purpose of the ship's routine. These duties, or, at any rate, one of them, will, indeed, fall to the lot of the Prince of Wales, and will probably be of the greatest benefit to him in after life, since they call for initiative, presence of mind, and the ingrained ability to command. His Royal Highness will also be called upon as part of his duties as a midshipman to attend upon the officer of the watch at all hours of the day and night, and not only on the bridge, but also in the changing, whirling depths of the engine-room. By far the greater part of his time afloat, however, will be taken up with a "grind" more varied, more intricate, and far more difficult to grasp than anything which shore-keeping youths of the same age are called upon to tackle at college.

In the midst of all this—and the young officer's career depends wholly upon how he acquits himself in this rank — the midshipman must hold himself ready for the performance of any casual duty which may suddenly be thrown upon him by his senior officers — even by the senior middies in his own gun-room; and the gun-room though unrecognisable in comparison with the gun-room of a hundred years ago, is still, and quite properly, no place for the tenderfoot.

What It Is to Laugh.

What is laughter? An American humorist has called it "an undignified widening of the human mouth, accompanied by a noise resembling a cough in the effort to avoid swallowing a chestnut."

"Laughter," says Prof. Sir Charles Bell, "is a convulsive action of the diaphragm. In this state the person draws a full breath and throws it out in interrupted, short and audible cachinnations. This convulsion of the diaphragm is the principal part of the physical manifestation of laughter.

"But there are several accessories, especially the sharp vocal utterance arising from the expression of the features, this being a more intense form of the smile. In extreme cases the eyes are moistened by the effusion from the lachrymal glands."

There are some people who cannot laugh—who are wholly unable to enjoy either the physical or the mental luxury of a laugh. Thus, it was said of William III, that he was utterly at a loss to understand what could be got out of laughter except loss of dignity. There are many persons in history who have been, according to common report, incapable of laughter. Queen Mary I., John Knox, Robespierre and Moltke are examples. The Iron Duke himself rarely, if ever, went beyond a grunt.

Private Fortunes in France

According to an exhaustive study of French national wealth, just issued in book form, by Edmond Thiery, the noted economist, the sum of the combined private fortunes of France in 1848 was $12,000,000. Now it is $57,454,400,000.

If this wealth were evenly distributed each of the 39,378,000 inhabitants of France would have $1,462 worth of property, thus divided: Unimproved real estate, $384; agriculture, stock $41; improved real estate, $296; commercial and industrial capital, $48; French stocks and bonds, $338; foreign stocks and bonds, $198; gold (cash), $33; silver, $11; personal property, $166; automobiles, horses and carriage, $11.

In the last sixteen years the national wealth has increased at the rate of $564,000,000 yearly.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE WHITE MAN'S DOOM

Well Known Professor Argues That He Most Inevitably Give Way Before Dark Races.

Much has been written at one time and another regarding the ability of the white man to live in the tropics and to retain his bodily and mental vigour. The consensus of opinion has been that he cannot do so, but that after a time he will surely deteriorate, physically and mentally. Furthermore, white natives whose ancestors have lived three or more generations in the tropics are not, with rare exceptions, the peers either in body or mind of their relatives living in the temperate zone.

Professor Lionel W. Lyde has recently spoken most pessimistically on the subject. Not only does he hold that the white man cannot live in health in torpical countries, but professes to believe that the white man is doomed to vanish from the face of the earth, giving way to the coloured races. The professor bases his belief on the theory that the original colour of the human skin was dark brown, the variations of that colour being the results of the weakening or strengthening of the pigment under different climatic conditions. The rays of sunlight in the tropics on an individual unprotected by a dark skin have the effect of producing nervous shock, amounting sometimes to total prostration.

Taking ordinary precautions, it may be possible for the white man, after two years of acclimatisation, to live in the tropics even more immune from tropical diseases than the black. But this period of immunity lasts for only about seven years, after which the deteriorating effects of the strong solar light and heat begin to show themselves on the white skin, and render the possessor thereof peculiarly susceptible to tropical diseases. In consequence, the permanent settlement of the tropics by white men is impossible.

But while the pigment with which the coloured races are provided is indispensable for life in the tropics, it is a source of no danger in the temperate or frigid zones; therefore the dark or yellow man can intrude into the domain of the man of fair skin with little or no danger. Added to this may be placed the comparatively greater fertility of the dark races, and, in the opinion of Professor Lyde, the doom of the white man is inevitably suggested. His part it is, therefore, in the scheme of the world to train the dark-skinned races in all the arts and sciences, including the art of government, and then himself to get off the earth.

Gangways for Street Cars

When, as is to be often witnessed, a crowd attempts to get on a street car at its point of departure in the centre of a city, accompanied, as is sometimes the case, with an absence of consideration for women and the aged, it is a matter of surprise that more accidents do not arise from this cause than are actually recorded. This is most marked on Saturdays and at holiday times, also at certain hours of the day when people are proceeding to or leaving their work. To overcome this danger, the Tramways Department in Bradford, England, have narrow gangways placed on the footpaths in the centre of the city near to the point of departure of the cars. Persons desiring to board a car must first get into line in this gangway and when the car arrives they enter it in rotation, no one being allowed to enter such a car until all persons in the gangway have preceded them. To this system is possibly due in some measure the small number of street accidents recorded in Bradford, which is below the average of other cities.

A Hen That Talks

A talking hen, whose superintelligence puts to shame the wildest dreams of nature fakers, is the pride of Mrs. John C. Ford, of Atlantic City, N.J. Mrs. Ford vouches for the statements that the fowl possesses qualities high above ordinary instinct.

"'Jo'—sort for Josephine—seems to be afraid of visitors, said Mrs. Ford. "But the minute we are alone she talks to me plain enough for me to know exactly what she means. She calls me 'Mommie' and she can say that as plain as any child. She has also learned to call for 'water,' and if she gets thirsty during the night, she will stand under our bedroom window and call out until we come down and give her a drink."

The hen drinks from a glass, and absolutely refuses to notice the drinking dish used by less-educated fowls in the same yard.

"If the doesn't yet enough to eat, she calls out: 'More, more,'" said Mrs. Ford. The hen immediately notifies the family of having laid an egg by scratchinf on the kitchen door, and leading the way to the spot where the egg is hidden.

A Record Law Suit.

A suit in which a French woman, Mme. Cotton, is the present plaintiff, is unique in the annals of long-drawn-out cases. This lady is the legal heiress of a goldsmith who in 1658 lent the Government of Venice 906,000 crowns, the present value of which, with interest, is estimated at about $4,000,000. The heir of the original lender was a Frenchman, Jean Thierry, who died before the loan was repaid. There was a lawsuit over his succession, and Louis XIV claimed the estate, and annexed the French portion of it. The suit was still dragging on at the time of the directory, when Bonaparte forced Venice to repay the loan. Since then France has been the custodian of the Thierry estate. The Government has been sued dozens of times, but to no purpose. Now, Mme Cotton is suing the Government of Austria and Italy, as well as that of France, because each in turn has owned Venice.

It is hard to convince a man that the world goes round when he never gets his share.

If the eyes are the mirrors of the soul, of course they should be looked into at once.

DETROIT RAILWAY MEN ARE ON STRIKE.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—Fifteen hundred employees of the Detroit United Railway Company went on strike at 6.20 this morning and no street cars are running in the city. The men get 23, 25, and 28 cents an hour. They ask for 25 and 30 cents an hour.

Last night the leaders of the local street car men's association took up headquarters in the Knights of Equity Hall, Fort and Second streets, and as soon as crews finished their respective runs they marched to the hall. Just as dawn was breaking, hundreds of the men, still wearing their uniforms came marching in every direction toward the hall.

State fair officials were out early, anxious and worried about the conditions at the fair grounds. With the big fair under way only two days and with thousands of people expected to-day and all the rest of the week, it means to them a great loss.

GERMANY NEAR TO TERMS WITH FRANCE.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The members of the French Cabinet do not find themselves in a position to issue any assurances to the public concerning the negotiations with Germany.

The Foreign Office has received by telegraph a precise reply on some points of the exchanges. The text of the latest German answer is due to arrive here by courier late this afternoon.

There is no expectation that the reply can be accepted entire.

NEAR AN UNDERSTANDING.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, Ger., Sept. 19.—The Berlin correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung reports to-day that an agreement has been reached by Germany and France on all points except one, and that the programme assures Germany's economic rights in Morocco.

The brief time required for the preparation of the German answer to the French note shows, the correspondent says, how far the Franco-German understanding has progressed.

St. Catherines, Ont., Sept. 20.—Frederick Wilson of Merriton, the married man who induced fifteen year old Gladys Terryberry to go away with him on a tramp this summer, the pair being caught in Ann Arbor, Mich., was found guilty at the fall assizes before Justice Riddell and a jury on the charge of abduction. He also pleaded guilty to seduction. The judge sentenced him to three years and a half in Kingston penitentiary.

A New System.

The Bell Telephone Company have decided on a new system of bookkeeping which will take from the hands of the local office, the billing of those who use the telephone. This will be done at Toronto. The plan is to centralize the work as much as possible in order to reduce expense. The new system commences with the new year.

WORLD'S OLDEST JOKE

A Tale That Tickled The Sons of Men For Five Thousand Years.

Age cannot wither some stories, and the oldest joke on record is related in one of the Berlin Papyri of the sixth Egyptian dynasty (about 3200 B.C.), and it should not be overlooked that in the days when the world was young a tale enjoyed centuries of verbal currency before it was inscribed in permanent form. According to the papyrine, a certain scribe who worked for the temple of Thoth occupied apartments where his neighbours on either side were a coppersmith and carpenter respectively. These honest artisans were exemplary specimens of industry, and kept up such a row all day and most of the night that the poor scribe was almost driven mad. At last, by a stroke of craftiness, he buttonholed each neighbour separately and bribed them to change their lodgings, which they did —with one another. This tale has kept the world amused for five thousand years — we often meet with it now — and it never seems to have occurred to anybody to wonder why the scribe did not change his own lodgings; but perhaps his rent was in such arrears, as sometimes happens to other literary gentlemen, that it was cheaper to bribe the two workmen.

The Tonic of Victory.

Bonnette, a French army surgeon attached to the Thirtyninth Artillery, writes in the Presse Medicale of the extraordinary indifference to the pain of operation manifested by the soldiers of Napoleon while the great conqueror was sweeping victoriously over Europe. While the defeated soldier is full of imaginary terrors, subject to panic, madness, and treason the conqueror on the other hand is intoxicated with success. Nothing, not even the morbific microbe, can resist troops who believe themselves to be invincible.

Victory is the most powerful of restoratives and the deepest anaesthetics. Legless members of the Old Guard crowded into an ambulance would at sight of the Emperor rise on their stumps to salute him. After Eylau Larrey operated uninterruptedly for thirty-six hours, and he reports how the soldiers seemed unconscious of their own troubles, lost in thought of the glory of their leader, and maimed as they were lending their best aid to fellow patients.

To Harness the Bee

The bee has been suggested as a military-despatch carrier because it returns infallibly to its hive, however far away. The sense of orientation is keener in the bee than in the pigeon and as a messenger he presents an easy means of sending messages through the enemy's lines.

Hitherto the only difficulty has been to find a form of despatch light enough to be carried by a bee. This difficulty has been overcome by photography. When enlarged by the ordinary photographic methods the most minute characters are legible, and experiments made have shown that a photographic film as large as the head of a pin can be glued to the back or belly of a bee. Bees will be able to defy the bullets of the enemy as well as the falcons trained to intercept carrier pigeons. It is true than many birds eat bees, but the cost of rearing a bee is so small that innumerable armies of relays or substitutes can be kept for military service, while a number of copies of the same telegram can be sent out at the same time.

The Eskimo Sealer

The Eskimo method of hunting seals shows a primitive calling improved to a fine art. When a seal is discovered the direction of the wind is at once noted. Then the hunter, keeping himself to the leeward of the seal, walks up to within about a quarter of a mile of it. Beyond this he begins to crouch and advance only when the seal's head is down.

Now, as the seal is one of the most wide-awake of animals and has the habit of throwing up its head quickly every few seconds to guard against danger, it follows that the Esquimo has to be extremely alert if he would get his seal. When the seal's head is down upon the ice its eyes are shut, and it is said that in these brief intervals it takes its sleep.

The hunter, by carefully watching the seal's movements, is able without much difficulty to get within two hundred yards of it, but at closer quarters he is obliged to employ other tactics. He lies down at full length on the ice. Then the real sport begins.

When the seal's head is down the hunter, who keeps a keen eye on his prey, is able to approach still nearer by dragging himself forward on his elbows. This manoeuvering continues for some time, until the distance between man and beast has been reduced to a few yards.

When near enough to make a sure shot, the Eskimo takes his bow and arrow from his side and sends a swift shaft through the head of his outwitted companion. Sometimes, instead of the bow and arrow, a harpoon is used with equal effect.

Influence of Kisses.

Most people kiss too often rather than not often enough. The kiss, which should be a divine, almost sacred expression of love, has degenerated into a casual courtesy. Why should a wife be so anxious for her husband's kisses? A great many men mean nothing in particular when they kiss a woman. In fact, I think a woman generally puts more significance in a kiss than is really there. I believe, though, that kisses and caresses are a good thing, for they add little graces and dainty ornaments to the bare outlines of existence.

UMPIRE'S DECISIONS

Used a Mirror to See All Portions of the Field When His Back Was Turned.

"Rube Waddell may be the richest card among the ball-players," says Red Nelson, the pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, "but Piano Bill Setley is, in my opinion, a funnier card among umpires than Waddell ever was among eccentric ball-tossers. Why do they call him Piano Bill? Because in New Orleans, when a man who owed him money pointed to a big piano and said, "Take that, if you can," the husky umpire actually took away the piano single-handed, toted it out of the house, called an expressman, took it to an express office, and had it shipped north, all before the dazed owner could get his wits together.

"Setley had the courage of his convictions. Nothing could rattle him or make him overlook a bet. On one occasion he was umpiring in some town — I think it was Rock Island — and a couple of his decisions turned the tide in favor of the Peoria club. The Rock Island fans promptly stormed into the field and took after Setley, who fled through the gate and down the street, with the mob in mad pursuit. And as Setley ran he threw up one arm in commanding fashion and shouted: 'I hereby forfeit this game to Peoria, 9 to 0, you sons of monkeys!'

"I was pitching one afternoon, with Setley umpiring. Tow and two on the batter, and I shot a third strike right across the centre. 'Ball!' roared Setley. 'Why,' I howled, 'that was square in the groove!' 'I know it,' said Setley, 'but when a pitcher has two strikes, and doesn't know any better than to put the ball right in the grove where it might get hit for a homer, it's a ball with me, every time.'

"A player named Novacek was at bat. Ball came along, on the outside, way wide. 'Strike,' said Setley. Novacek roared and howled, quite naturally. Next ball was also wide. 'Four balls, take your base,' quoth Setley. As Novacek started for first, he exclaimed, sneeringly, 'That ball was in exactly the same place as the one you called a strike just before.' 'In that case,' said Setley, 'I will do anything to oblige you. Three strikes —you're out!'

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

shot eyes blinked with the jar of it.

And again I made a mistake. Instead of standing off and hammering him with clean, straight punches, I rushed to close quarters. Half crazed with pain and anger, I stepped in, swinging short right and left blows for his wobbling head, and so came within the sweep of his great arms.

He clinched, and in his grip I was next thing to helpless. One thing only could I do, and that was to butt him in the face with my head—which kindly office I performed to the best of my ability, until he jammed me hard against the billiard table and bent me backward till I felt my bones crack. And then, with his thumb, he deliberately set about gouging out one of my eyes.

I can feel it yet, the fierce pain and the horrible fear that overtook me when he jabbed at my eyeball. I don't know how I broke his hold. I only recollect that, half blinded, with searing pangs shooting along my optic nerve I found myself free of him. And as I backed away from his outstretched paws, my hand, sweeping along the billiard table, met and closed upon a hard, round object. With all the strength that was in me, I flung it straight at his head. He went to the floor, with a neat, circular depression in his forehead, just over the left eye.

There was a bush in the saloon. One of the cattlemen stooped over him.

"Sangre de Cristo!" he laughed. "A billiard ball sure beats a six-shooter for quick action. I'll bet he was dead when he hit the floor."

CHAPTER V.

Out of the Frying Pan Into the Fire.

They crowded close, a little ring of curious faces, about me and the dead man on the floor; and, as a babel of talk uprose, a tall, lean man pushed his way into the circle, Captain Speer, of the Moon, at his heels.

"I guess I'll take you in, just for luck," the stranger said to me. "I'm town marshal. This killin' business has got t' stop."

He took me by the arm, and, as he did so the cowpuncher who had looked down at Tupper stepped in between us, breaking the marshal's hold.

"Not this time, Bax," he said softly. "Play fair, or get out uh the game. Yuh stay mighty close in your hole when a gun fighter hits the town, and I'll be damned if you build up your reputation by arrestin' a kid. This red mussler came in huntin' trouble, and he found it. It was on the square, and yuh ain't goin' to put nobody in your stinkin' calaboose — not tonight. You and me don't hitch on that proposition."

For a second or two it seemed as if there might be another clash. Behind the two a space cleared at the first words, and I noticed more than one cowpuncher hitch his gun belt forward. For myself, I was too dazed to realize the exact turn of affairs, and I cared less. Tupper, at least, would trouble me no more, and for that I was truly glad. But there was no mixup, nor even a harsh word. The marshal weakened. If he had intended to take me, he changed his mind after a brief glance at the faces of the men who were watching him with silent intentness.

"If that's the way yuh feel about it, all right," he said, with an indifference that his flushed face belied. He turned on his heel, and walked out, Captain Speer following.

"Yuh bet it's all right," the cowpuncher flung after him derisively.

Then, to me: "Throw a jolt uh Bourbon into yuh, kid, and you'll feel better. Yuh made a good fight. But let me tell yuh somethin'. Go heeled. And when one uh these roughnecked fist fighters jumps yuh, ventilate him. Show your claws a time or two, and these would-be bad actors'll leave yuh strictly alone. Say, Mr. Barslave, let's have one, pronto."

Three or four of them picked up the carcass of the mate and lugged it unceremoniously out to a rear room; then the crowd lined up at the bar, and the play at the wheel went on; the men at the faro table, who had turned on their stools to watch the fight, again began to place their bets. Life ran too full and strong there, to be long distrubed by the passing of any man.

My self-appointed champion—who, I now discovered, was just drunk enough to welcome disturbance in any form whatsoever—and the young fellow with whom I had been speaking before the row, wiped the blood off my face, and doctored the eye that Tupper had come near gouging from its socket. And while they were thus ministering to me, another stockhand clanked in from the street.

"Say, Matt, yuh sure stirred up somethin'," he announced. "This the kid that got action on the St. Louis jasper? Well, there's goin' to be a healthy rection round here over that, let me tell yuh. Bax is red-eyed over yuh runnin' a whizzer on him, and he's collectin' a posse to take both of yuh in. Don't yuh reckon we better drift for camp, Matt?"

Matt smiled, and beckoned to some of the others. "Not by a long shot!" he drawled. "Whenever old Ed Bax runs me out uh town, it'll be in the good-by wagon. I'm goin' to see that this kid gets a square deal. If Bax or anybody else wants me, let 'em some and get me. Will the rest uh you fellows stand pat?"

In varying stages of hilarity, they crowded about him, and profanely assured him that they would turn Benton inside out, and shake the pockets, if he but said the word. In the midst of their chatter, the man who had brought news of the marshal's action drew closer and lowered his voice.

"Look here, Matt," he argued, "you're runnin' the outfit, and you're a friend of mine, and all that sort of thing, and yuh know that all of us'll back any sort of play yuh make. But it looks to me like we can do better'n to pull off a big fight. I ain't plumb chicken-hearted, but Bax is goin' to come down on us with a bunch uh tinhorn gamblers to help him out, and if this kid's in sight he's goin' to try and take him. Yuh babe? He's got to make some kind of a bluff at it, or every pilgrim that comes along'll run over him. So it's a cinch that there'll be more or less gun play, and the Circle'll be shy a man or two when it's over."

"They ain't got the nerve, Dick," Matt declared confidently.

"It don't take much nerve to start anything like that," Dick replied. "Somebody'll reach for his gun, and it'll be off. Now, Bax ain't goin' to jump you—he's afraid to. If the kid's with yuh, he's got to. I move we stake this kid to a hoss, and let him drift. That lets him out. And if Bax wants to have it out with yuh on general principles, why, we'll see it through."

"Dick's right," one of them put in. "The kid's got to hit the trail anyhow, and he might as well do it right away quick. What's the main thing, ain't it? We started in to help him out, and if we can do it peaceful, we'll live longer. Bax won't tackle us unless he just has to."

"Yuh got me on the run," Matt frowned. "I'd just as soon dehorn this Bax party to-night as any other time. But I see where the kid better move out, all right. You pilot him, Wall, and catch up one uh them extra hosses, and stake him to that saddle Musky left — I'll fix it with old Musk when he comes back. He can ride my hoss to camp."

It was all arranged offhand in less time than I have taken to tell of it, and I was hustled out to where a row of cow ponies patiently awaited the pleasure of their hard-riding masters. For aught these sons of the plains knew, I was a purely worthless bit of human driftwood. But I don't think they gave a thought to the matter. There was only one thing to be done, in their estimation, and they proceeded to do it without consulting me or doing very much talking about it themselves. So very shortly I found myself a-straddle of the Circle foreman's horse, and jogging out of Benton. Beside me, young Wall rode silently until we reached the top of the long hill that slopes to the town. Then he shook his horse into a lope, and broke into cheerful whistling.

I, however, was far short of the whistling mood. The thing I should have done, I was afraid to do. Ordinarily, my instinct would have been to face the music. I was unrepentant for the part I had played in the extinction of Tupper. Nor would I, if I had calmly weighed the chances for and against, have felt any fear of consequences before the law. But my experience with the law, in those days, was a void. That which we do not understand we usually fear, and that night I was stricken with a swift fear of the law. I had killed, and there was a penalty. My spirit revolted at the thought of a jail. Likewise, the quick action of those Circle cowpunchers made a deep impression on me. If incarceration was to to be avoided that they were willing to back their deeds with gunpowder, I wanted no phase of incarceration in my experience. Better the open, an unknown country, and whatever might befall therein, than to lie in the Benton "calaboose" — which, to my disturbed mind, was a synonym for a place of vague horrors.

I thought of standing my ground, of taking chances on Bax, the marshal and the Benton jail, until the Moon could reach St. Louis and apprise Bolton of my need—and then I shuddered at the thought that the thing might be settled beyond interference before he could make the long river journey. I had heard, and read more or less of hasty trials in the West; I had killed a man in what seemed to me a barbarous fashion; I did not know what the authorities, self-constituted or otherwise, might do to me—and I hadn't the nerve to stay and find out. If they should hang me, thought I, I shall be a long time dead. Flight under these circumstances, made the strongest appeal to my excited imagination.

Such was the chaotic state of my ideas when Wall pulled up his horse, and I saw the white glimmer of tents close at hand.

"Nighthawk's got the bunch over here, I think," said he. "Seems like I hear the bells. Anyhow, you stay here, and I'll get yuh a caballo that can drift."

He trotted off, leaving me standing by the clear-cut outline of a wagon. Away off in the semi-dark — for the moon was now risen — I heard a sudden scurry of hoofs, an accentuated jangling of two or three small bells. Presently Wall came loping back, leading a blaze-faced sorrel horse.

From under the forward end of the wagon he dragged a saddle, a bridle, and a saddle blanket.

"There," he said, "there's a good rig, barrin' spurs — which yuh won't

(To be Continued.)

A SENATOR FROM NOVA SCOTIA

SENATOR L. G. POWER

Senator Lawrence Geoffrey Power, P.C., LL.D., who recently celebrated his seventieth birthday has been in public life for over forty years. He had the advantage of an education spread over three countries, Canada, Ireland and the United States and having been called to the bar in his twenty-fifth year practised in his native city, Halifax, Nova Scotia, of which he later became an alderman and was a member of the board of School Commissioners for thirteen years. He was also a member of the Senate of Halifax University and in 1877 was appointed to the Senate. In 1901 he became speaker, and four years later was sworn of the Privy Council.

He is the author of several pamphlets including one on the Manitoba School Question from the Catholic point of view, and an interesting sketch called "The Irish Discovery of America" in which he claims for his ancestral country the honor of the original location of the American continent.

TRANSCONTINENTAL HIGHWAY PROJECTED.

Auto Road from New York to 'Frisco for Exposition of 1915.

A great automobile highway between New York and San Francisco by 1915 is the hope of the automobile world. San Francisco is making preparations for a wonderful entertainment in 1915 to be known as the Panama exposition and there are thousands of automobile enthusiasts in various ports of the east who would like to attend in their own machines.

For that reason the automobile world has its eyes on the Premier amateur owner drivers, who, with their families and friends, are now in the great western plains, camping out at night and cooking their own meals, in an attempt to demonstrate the absolute necessity of this strip of road. That it will be something of a road, if it is obtained, is conceded by all. Congress will be asked for more millions than can be counted on the two hands to aid in its improvement.

The Premier ocean-to-ocean tourists, in ten cars, are confident they will prove that a national highway suitable for the amateur tourist already exists. Congress will be asked to improve this road. Already more than half the journey has been completed without a serious mishap and daily telegrams from points in the illimitable western plains are extremely reassuring. The forty-eight tourists, including eight women, are enjoying their great tour hugely and are enthusiastic over the outcome. They are carrying their camps on their running boards, driving their own cars and paying their own expenses.

The building of a great transcontinental highway, which of course would be used by all other vehicles, in the opinion of persons who have studied the subject, would be more important to the western states than to the east. It would have a bigger influence on the communities through which it would pass, it is believed, than would the acquisition of another railroad.

Transcontinental automobile tourists would naturally be people of wealth and prosperity, and they would add to the prosperity of every community through which they would pass. Moreover, they would have occasion to make more stops than do railroad travellers. New hotels and small towns would spring up along such a thoroughfare, and hundreds of thousands of eastern dollars would be spent in the west that now go elsewhere.

Thousands of easterners and Europeans will tour to San Francisco for the Panama show in 1915 if the great road is improved, while the annual traffic will be immense. Americans will carry out the logical advice to see America first with such a highway at their command.

GUIDE, PHILOSOPHER, FRIEND!

The Policeman of London, England, is the Admiration and Envy of the World's Citizens.

The London policemen is the admiration of the whole world. There is nothing exactly like him in any other capital. His secret is an intimate sympathy with all classes of the people, except, of course, with the criminal classes. Even by the latter he is regarded not as a personal enemy, but rather as a necessary evil, a standing impediment to be reckoned with in the prosecution of their illegal designs. In his relations with all other classes he is never aggressive, arbitrary, or tyrannical. He is always helpful and never obtrusive.

To see him control the traffic of the streets is a lesson in municipal civilisation which never fails to excite the admiration of visitors and the envy of many from overseas. A wave of the hand does it, and this is because he is the friend of all and the enemy of none, indisputed in his way, impartial, imperturbable, considerate, and self-possessed. He is in fact the guide, philosopher and friend of all who have to encounter the growing perplexities of the streets.... The policeman is but a man like the rest of us, with all the failings and foibles of which we are all conscious. If we are honest with ourselves. And yet, when he dons the uniform and assimilates its spirit, he becomes a very demi-god of the streets, and yet never degenerates into their despot. The explanation is that the policeman is just a man like the rest of us, not facetitiously clothed with a little brief authority, but endowed with all the native good sense, good will, and good humour of the multitude.

THE PASSING OF KILMARTIN

An Ontario Hamlet With a History

Kilmartin has passed out of existence. The name has been erased from the map so far as the Postoffice Department of the Dominion of Canada is concerned. Rural free delivery has been inaugurated.

Kilmartin was born in 1855. At that time it was the only place on the old Currie road which connected Strathburn and Kerwood. The late Alexander (blacksmith) McIntyre was its first resident and it was he who named the place, calling it after the home of his birth, Kilmartin, Argyleshire, Scotland. The late Mr. McIntyre along with John Munroe and Donald McAlpine were the first settlers of the district immediately surrounding the well known stage point, and these men assisted materially in the building of the corduroy road leading on to Kerwood.

Kilmartin, although a place of small importance for the last forty years, nevertheless enjoyed much progress and development at one time, and many of the older settlers had predicted that the place would be, someday, among the most thriving and progressive towns of Western Ontario.

The population of Kilmartin once reached the forty mark. Not unlike the majority of places it had a railway boom at that time, and the citizens looked on the bright side with the enthusiasm and optimism of those who are reaching out for greater things. Three routes were surveyed by the Michigan Central Railway Company, and one of the routes passed directly through the Kilmartin townsite, while the other two were surveyed through Glen-Walker. The news of the advent of a railway was glorious news to the early pioneers and Kilmartin boomed and enjoyed a healthy growth for a number of years. The final announcement of the railway was awaited with the keenest of interest and Kilmartin's hope of ever being a great metropolis was shattered to pieces when the railway officials sent out the news that the line would pass through the point where Walkers was later located. Interest in the development of Kilmartin soon fell off and the place began its decline, and its residents, knowing the value of railway facilities, diverted their attention to the places through which the railways passed.

John Munroe Built the First Hotel

The late John Munroe was the first to build in Kilmartin, for in 1855 he built the hotel a portion of which is occupied to the present day. Many people spent a time in conducting the hostelry, some of them with remarkable profit. Donald McKellar, father of the late R. R. McKellar, took charge of the house in 1858. Later the house passed into the hands of Duncon McIntyre, Donald Stewart, Arch'd McLarty, D. Gillies, John Gillies, Dan Livingstone and Duncan B. McIntyre, respectively, all of whom are now deceased.

Shortly after the hotel was opened a number of other industries were secured. A brick kiln was added and later a woollen mill was opened. Then came a blacksmith shop, a cabinet shop, a shoemaker and a large sawmill. A general store was opened and conducted by Donald Chisholm, who was first to attempt the venture in the mercantile line. A log school house was the educational institution, and in it a number of old settlers, many of whom are still living, received their education.

And now, Kilmartin will only be remembered as an old landmark. The postoffice which has been opened for over half a century, has been closed.

SOME ANCIENT DINNERS

What Eating Was Like in the Good Old Days.

They had great dinners in England and Scotland in the middle ages. At the feast given at Canterbury on the installation of Ralph, abbot of St. St. Augustine, six thousand guests sat down to a dinner of three thousand dishes; and this was far exceeded by the splendour of the marriage banquet when the Earl of Cornwall espoused Cincia, the daughter or the Count of Provence, upon which occasion thirty thousand dishes were served up to an immense assemblage of guests who had arrived from the remote parts of England as well as from Scotland. In the feast which was given by the Archbishop of York upon the marriage of Alexander the Third, sixty stalled oxen were slain to furnish out the first course, and the rest of the entertainment was on an equal scale of magnificence. It was the custom at these feasts to bring in the boar's head with great state; sometimes the whole boar himself, stuffed and standing on his legs, surrounded by a fortification of pastry, from the battlements of which little flags and banners waved, was ushered in, carried by the master of the feast and his servants, with the trumpets sounding before him. In like manner the peacock, the swan and the heron, which were greatly esteemed in those days, were brought in with their plumage unbroken, upon platters richly gilt and with a network of gold thrown over them. Between the courses the guests were entertained by a species of opera, acted by little puppets of paste, in which Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table, Godfrey of Bulloign or some such heroes performed their parts amidst magic islands, captive ladies, turbaned pagans, fiery dragons and all the fantastic machinery of the period. When this was concluded the company again resumed the feast, which was continued till a late hour, and often prolonged for many days.

Superfluous Prayer.

The story is told of the Rev. James Paterson, of Philadelphia, that he once said, in a circle of his brethren, that he thought ministers ought to be humble and poor, like their Master. "I have often prayed," said he, "that I might be kept humble; I never prayed that I might be poor—I could trust my church for that!"

That positive opinions are apt to have a negative effect on harmony.

'Say, waiter,' he said, poking his head in at the door, 'is it half-past Morgan or a quarter to Walter?'

Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained when on board the cars or steamships. For sale by all dealers.

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face, and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at Hotel Orient al, on Friday and Saturday, September 15th and 16th.

New Oil Field.

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ¼ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 219 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Pearless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. . There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

MARJORY MACMURCHY, Toronto.

There may be much discussion as to whether journalists are born or made in these days of mechanical productions — editorially mechanical — but there can only be one opinion of Marjory MacMurchy — for she is born and made. With an individuality all her own she infuses into her work that indefineability called life and her experience has given her an insight into humanity that has already made her a power in the Press. A series of articles from her pen on the Coronation, when she represented the Publishers Press, brought out these qualities well, particularly her descriptive work.

MISS MARJORY MACMURCHIE

Marjory MacMurchy is fortunate in having a clever father and a clever elder sister and there is no doubt her early training, artistic and scholarly environments, had much in the making of the writer we know. Born in Toronto, Miss MacMurchy was educated at Jarvis St. College and Toronto University. Entered journalism early in life. Now literary editor of a Toronto daily, and contributes to many of the Magazines.

Bundling Her Worries

She entered a Columbus Avenue car carrying a huge handbox in one hand and a number of parcels on her other doubled-up arm. They were unmanageable parcels. Even after the woman got a seat they kept slipping off her lap at every lurch of the car and jolted all over the floor.

When the common sense man had picked up one particularly refractory parcel for the third time, he said: "Madame, may I ask if you have a hat in that box?"

The woman said she had.

"Then allow me to suggest," he said, "that you put it on your head and pack the small hat you are now wearing and all your bundles into the box. It is big enough to hold them all."

Resentment at his interference flashed across the woman's face, but just then two more packages slipped their moorings, and her expression changed to gratitude.

"Thank you," she said. Then, with the aid of a mirror loaned by a woman opposite, the transference of hats was effected, and the woman rode the rest of the way home with only the handbox to worry about.

Granted a Search Warrant.

County Magistrate Edmunson granted a search warrant to Mr. Robert J. Lockie, North Monaghan, who states that he has been missing certain articles from his premises of late. Mr. Lockie is separated from his wife, who lives with her sons near city, and it was the sons' premises that were searched. None of the missing articles, however, were found.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

W. J. KERR, LIMITED,

Horses Leg Swelled

Animal Was Too Sore and Lame to Work—Quickly Cured by Nerviline.

"I have had a long experience in treating horses, and I can safely say that I know of no liniment for strains sprains, and swelling that is so useful around the stable as Nerviline." Thus writes Mr. Joshua E. Murchison, from his home, Crofts Hill P. O. I had a fine young mare that wrenched her right fore leg, and from the shoulder down she was stiff, sore and swollen. I applied Nerviline and it worked like a charm; in fact, that mare was in shape to work a day after I used Nerviline.

Mr. W. J. Kearns was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. He is engaged in hiring men and shipping them to various points. Provincial railway rates	$ 86.00
Dog taxes	165.00
Com. statute labor	1,117.50
County rates	2,332.08
School (Trustees and gen)	2,662.70
Township rate	1,080.47
	$7,443.75

EXPENDITURES

County rate	$1,904.60
County House of Refuge	342.80
County schools	84.6
School (Trustees)	1,397.70
School (general)	1,265.00
Election expenses	20.00
Law costs	20.00
Interest on loan	40.00
Charity	25.00

Miscellaneous	50.00
Commutation statute labor	1,117.50
Roads and bridges	500.00
Sidewalk debentures	116.47
	$7,443.75

The total assessment being $708,000, it will therefore be necessary to levy a rate of 3-4 mills on the dollar to raise $2,332.08 for county purposes and a rate of 1 3-10 mills on the dollar to raise the amount necessary for township purposes.

The council then adjourned.

SPEND A WEEK AT ALGONQUIN.

The popularity of the Algonquin National Park, Ontario, has been pronounced this year, and it has been necessary to use at least 25 large tents as an auxiliary to the accommodation of the Highland Inn, at Algonquin National Park Station.

Most people return to their homes in the early part of September, but as this is one of the most delightful months in this territory, those who can make it convenient are advised to spend a week or two there. The hotel is also open all the winter and with the bracing air of this locality (1700 ft. above the sea) a most delightful sojourn can be spent even in the winter months.

A handsome illustrated booklet may be had on this territory upon application to Mr. A. E. Duff, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

To know of and use a food that will feed and restore brain and nerves before slight nervous troubles end in complete nervous prostration or brain-fag is wise, for unless proper food is supplied daily it is unreasonable to expect the nervous system to answer the demands made upon it.

There is a food, Grape-Nuts, for the particular purpose of restoring weakened nerves or fagged brain to health and strength.

A business man, of Baltimore, who made the trial says:

"Two years ago my health had become so seriously impaired it was impossible for me to attend to business At the least exertion my nerves would give way and the condition of my system allowed me little or no rest or sleep at night. Stomach trouble soon followed and I could take no solid food. I tried the best tonics and medicines but they all failed.

"Finally Grape-Nuts food was recommended and after using it for 10 days I began to feel its good results and at the end of three months I was again a well man—nerves restored to their normal condition, strength renewed, and I was able to do any amount of both mental and physical work without feeling unduly fatigued.

"I know Grape-Nuts built up my brain and nerves and still keep them strong and vigorous just exactly as food builds up muscles or fat, for instance, and I am glad to have learned this valuable lesson." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Trial 10 days proves things when Grape-Nuts food is used. "There's a Reason."

WEST PETERBOROUGH

In the election of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A., Peterborough has secured a representative which no one need be ashamed of. His campaign was fair, clean, and above-board, not even a shadow of wrong-doing, so far as we know, is to be charged against him. In a hot fight, such as the one through which we have just passed, men are apt to lose their heads, and often do things under excitement, which they would not think of doing in their cooler moments. Mr. Burnham stood up for what he believed was right, and hewed to the line, regardless of where the chips might fall. His attitude in regard to clerical interference and dictation in political matters met with the approval of The Times from the start, and was, as the result clearly shows, also favored by a majority of the electors. It is hoped that the result of the vote may be taken to heart by those mostly interested, so that priests and preachers alike may keep out of politics in future.

PREMIER-ELECT STATES VIEW OF THE RESULT

Mr. R. L. Borden Declares No Spirit of Unfriendliness to the United States was Shown by Electors

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 22.—"The verdict of the people of Canada was in no wise influenced by any spirit of unfriendliness to the great neighboring Republic," declared Premier-elect Robert L. Borden, leader of the Conservatives, in discussing the overwhelming defeat of the Liberal party and its reciprocity program to-day. "No such spirit exists.

"In rejecting reciprocity Canada has simply affirmed her adherence to a policy of national development that she has pursued for years. The Government, without mandate from the people, undertook to reverse the policy, and upon submitting their action to the people was defeated.

"It is my conception that friendly relations between Canada and the United States can be best maintained if each country preserves complete and entire control over its own tariff, and enters into no entangling agreements which might impair and affect that control."

PRESIDENT TAFT WAS SURPRISED

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 22.—President Taft at a banquet here last night said:

"I have just been informed that reciprocity has failed in Canada. For me it is a great disappointment. I had hoped that it would be put through to prove the correctness of my judgment that it would be a good thing for both countries.

"It takes two to make a bargain and if Canada declines we can still go on doing business at the old stand."

There was much speculation here as to what effect the result of the election will have upon the Presidents reception in the "insurgent" and agricultural states, which he soon will visit and where he has been bitterly opposed because of his advocacy of the reciprocity pact.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

The President was unquestionably taken by surprise and this made his disappointment all the more bitter. He had confidently predicted to his friends as late as yesterday that reciprocity would win.

CANADA'S CENSUS IS NOW COMPLETED

NO RETURNS YET FOR ONTARIO, BUT THESE WILL BE FORTHCOMING IN A FEW DAYS

Big Increases in West—In Western Ontario the Population in Rural Districts Has Fallen Off.

WHEN the figures are given in a few days the census will disclose a most wonderful development in the west. While the figures in hand will not be given out in detail, many of the facts disclosed by the census are now available. First among these is the fact that Canada's total population is well under the eight-million mark, which enthusiastic prophets had foretold.

The returns show that Toronto and Montreal have made the largest gains in population. The former has the greatest percentage of gain and the latter the largest gain in numbers. The Maritime provinces, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have not grown as have Quebec and the other provinces, but that they have more than held their own is about as strong as the census officials will put it.

The gains in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were confined practically to Halifax and the mining sections. Prince Edward Island has stood still. The province of Quebec will show large gains all around, both in towns and country. All the cities and towns increased and the increase included the rural districts.

In Ontario the population of the rural districts has fallen off, notably in Western Ontario, from which there has been a large migration to the west since the last census. This has been partly offset by a great increase of population in Northern Ontario, in the four districts of Nipissing, East and West Algoma and Rainy River and Thunder Bay, where the population has more than doubled.

BIG GAIN IN WEST.

All the western provinces show great gains, the largest percentage of gain being credited to Alberta. The cities of Winnipeg and Calgary show the largest gains of any of the western cities.

WILL LOSE SEATS.

The large increase in the Province of Quebec will raise the basis of representation in the house of commons from 25,000 to 32,000. This will result in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick each losing two seats and Prince Edward Island losing one seat. Ontario will certainly gain no members, and may lose one or two. The provinces west of Lake Superior will gain about 27 additional members, which will increase the membership of the house of commons after a redistribution from 221 to 241 members.

HOME RULE IS GREAT QUESTION

PREDICTION IS MADE THAT THE IRISH PARLIAMENT WILL MEET WITHIN THREE YEARS.

Dublin, Sept. 21.—The one great question in Ireland now is as to when the home rule bill will be introduced in the British parliament and passed. That it will be introduced and passed within the next six months is regarded as certain, and the prediction is freely made that within three years the Irish parliament will meet in Dublin. Only one thing will prevent this, according to the Irish idea—that is the defeat of the Liberal government on some other point before the home rule bill can be finally passed under the terms of the parliament bill. With a majority of some 120 this chance is regarded as negligible.

"The way is now clear," in the words of the bishop of Raphoe's letter at a great meeting, "for that measure of home rule for which not the will, but the way, has been lacking to the British democracy for some years past."

Dr. O'Donnell anticipates that the lords, now that their teeth have been drawn, may not make much of a fight against home rule, knowing that they are powerless to stop it. Certainly the present condition of the Unionist party, in lords or commons, does not promise any very formidable or concentrated resistance. But the Nationalists of Ireland are taking no chances: and it is in a spirit of calm determination, watchful to overcome all the possible obstacles that may remain, that they are now, as Mr. Devlin puts it, opening the final campaign.

MAY BE FACTION TROUBLE.

Among those possible obstacles the powers of delay retained by the lords serious as they are, do not hold the first place. It is on the possibilities of faction at home that the opponents of home rule, now more than ever, are driven to rely. The dangers of the factionist course are trenchantly dwelt with in the bishop of Raphoe's letter.

The Ballyboley meeting held in the stronghold of Nationalist Ulster, dealt naturally with the alleged opposition of that very mixed entity called "Ulster" to home rule. Swift MacNeill, in his person and in his speech, gave an answer to the cries of tolerance towards Protestants. The Protestants of the northeast corner are beginning, one may hope, to weary of this perpetual stage-timidity, imposed on them by their political "die-hard" leaders, he said. They know in their hearts that as the bishop of Raphoe said in his cogent letter, they of the minority will be well able to take care of themselves in an Irish parliament, "which will be theirs as well as ours." His lordship reiterated the conviction, shared by every Nationalist, that everything reasonable will be done to secure equality of rights for all under home rule.

ULSTER MAY RESIST.

Some interesting facts are at hand concerning "Protestant Ulster." Statistics show, however, that, taken as a whole, Ulster is 44.1 per cent. Catholic. Five out of the nine counties are overwhelming Catholic. In two, where the Protestants are in a majority, the Catholic minority is over forty-five per cent., and in the two others the Catholic minority is over thirty-one per cent. In the one and only twenty per cent. in the other. In the city of Belfast the Catholic minority is over twenty-four per cent of the population. Ulster returns 33 members of the house of commons, of whom sixteen are Nationalists, and the voting at the last election shows a majority in the total polling in the provinces of 1298 in favor of home rule. These figures as Mr. Redmond has pointed out, shed an interesting light on the probability of Ulster men lining the ditches and offering resistance to home rule.

Deathly Cramps Stomach was Bloated

A Bad Case That Proves Cramps and Stomach Disorders are Cured Fast by Nerviline.

"The distress I suffered from cramps last summer was so severe I thought it meant death," writes P. R. Emerson, of Guys Hill P. O. "I was doubled up with pain and in such bad shape I couldn't walk a hundred feet. I remembered having Nerviline on hand and took half a teaspoonful in sweetened water. In five minutes I was well and my stomach derangements disappeared entirely."

For cramps, flatulence, diarrhoea and disorders of the stomach and bowels, Nerviline knows no equal—one million bottles used every year—fifty years on the market, that's proof enough of its merit. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

ADMISSION: Afternoon 5c. Evening 10c.

THE LIBERAL CHIEFTAIN IN HOUR OF DEFEAT

Quebec, Sept. 22.—It was in Quebec East, at St. Peter's Market, where Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been elected continuously during the past thirty-four years, that he chose as the place for making his announcement when the returns last night showed that an Opposition victory was practically assured and that the country had expressed itself opposed to reciprocal commercial relations with the United States.

QUEBEC EAST STOOD FIRM.

Quebec East has stood faithfully by Sir Wilfrid, and even this time, when results have been so adverse, Quebec East has returned Laurier by acclamation. The same old voters rallied about him last night, cheering him as he drove through the streets to St. Peter's Market where a large crowd awaited to hear him speak.

It was a hard blow to the Premier, but he held his head high and at no time did he show any trace of emotion. He spoke with his old-time vigor, and his electors responded with unabated enthusiasm.

ADDRESSED THE CROWD.

After a most striking ovation Sir Wilfrid, addressing the crowd, said that the returns, while not complete, were yet complete enough to show that victory had after years abandoned the Liberal banner. "What consoles me is this," said Sir Wilfrid "to know that the Province of Quebec has remained faithful." He had nothing with which to reproach himself, except for the defeat of his colleagues.

The Tory-Nationalist alliance had been too strong, but the Liberal party, though defeated, could still hold its head up and march on to honor and future victory.

Canada's relations with the United States had always been cordial and he did not know what effect the Liberal defeat would have on those relations. His heart beat as strongly as ever, and he could still hold his head high. The Liberal party had been checked, but could still go on with its work without losing heart.

Continuing, Sir Wilfrid said: "If I were twenty years younger I would still be in the breach, but I cannot say now what my course for the future will be."

Sir Wilfrid then thanked his electors of Quebec East for their staunch support, and was greeted with cheers. He had led his party for nearly a score of years and he had nothing to blush for. He had followed a high and honorable course; his party had received a check, but it would come back again.

A NEW CLASS OF MOTOR CAR

There is now in operation on the Grand Trunk, between Bridgeburg and Port Colborne a new class of motor car which is proving highly successful. It is exceptionally neat in design and comfortable in interior arrangement. Two of these cars have already been turned out at the shops of the Company at Montreal. They are known as steam motor cars, and have a capacity including the smoking compartment of 58 people. The cars are 71 feet in length, the interior being finished in highly polished mahogany and upholstered in leather. Oil is used for fuel, and the cars are heated by steam.

STRIKERS DISCHARGED.

That Is Way G.T.R. Dealt With the Trouble in Yards.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 23—As the result of the strike at the Grand Trunk Stuart street yards yesterday morning, twenty or more men are out of situations. The entire number who refused to work, under an assistant yardmaster, who, they claimed, was brought here, as a strikebreaker at the time of the big strike, were discharged on the spot. Brakesmen and switchmen from Stratford, London and Toronto were brought here to fill the positions temporarily and new men will eventually be broken in to the work. Some night who say they did not strike were charged, they claim. The most of these were night men who went to their homes early in the morning and who professed to know nothing of the trouble.

PRESBYTERIAN ACTIVITY TO STIR THE MASSES

Prominent Divines Start Great Work in Peterborough Churches Tomorrow

To-morrow, the 24th, will see a stirring of the Presbyterians of the city, when they flock to their three churches to listen to three of the most prominent men of Presbyterianism, Rev. Dr. McKay, Rev. Dr. Grant and Rev. Fred W. Anderson.

Rev. Dr. R. P. McKay holds the highest honor of the Presbyterian church, as he is the Moderator of the General Assembly. Anyone who watched him last June controlling the Assembly, will testify as to the dignified manner in which he guided that body of men. For many years he has been associated with the Foreign Board of the Church in India, Formosa and China. But he visits Peterborough and the Presbyterian churches to-morrow as Moderator of the General Assembly.

Rev. Dr. Grant is a man for the newspapers. He supplied them with plenty of copy when he cleaned up the Yukon, not gold, but of dirt. He is the kind of man men like to meet, because he has done things in his own fearless way, and some people who run joints of various kinds have reason to remember Grant. Incidentally, he is superintendent of Home Missions, one of the biggest jobs in the church to which he belongs, and he is always on it. He too, comes to Peterborough with a message from the Assembly.

Rev. F. W. Anderson has some advantage over the other two visitors, at least in length. He is younger, but that does not prevent him from being a leader. It helps. He was asked to give up a large church to mix among men and help the men of the church to see that the work of the church is a man's job. He too has a message for the Presbyterians of the city and they will likely respond when they hear it.

Why are they coming? Because the people need them and their message. Church members are not all doing their duty. At least the Assembly thinks so and it ought to know. Presbyterians in Peterborough will likely set an inspiring example to the whole country as a result of the visit of these men, for they have decided to demonstrate their response in a very practical way. The sessions of the churches and the boards of managers have joined together and have planned a thorough visitation of every Presbyterian family in Peterborough during next week. The church officers, will by this means, have an opportunity of talking over the church work with the church members and much good will result. The people will learn what the church is endeavoring to do and will increase their givings to enable the church to do its work.

Here are reports of what has been accomplished in places where the work has been thoroughly done.

"Twice as much by weekly as by monthly offerings; ladies offerings doubled, increased for current expenses; $5,000.00 for church improvement."

"Givings for church benevolences, $7.00 per member; church work characterized by deep interest, prayer meeting attendance being exceptionally large."

"Offerings in two years increased from $1,645.00 to $2,268.00. We are convinced of the real benefit of the weekly offerings."

"Missionary offerings increased from $1,100.00 to $2,200.00, and since plan was inaugurated we have paid the church mortgage, paid for manse, pipe organ and church repairs, minister's salary increased $250.00. No debt. Membership of church increased by about 100, with seven classes in mission study."

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE :

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhurb, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

Luxurious New Cars for C.P.R. Montreal Service.

Another triumph in car building has been achieved by the C.P.R. and it marks a further advance in railroading.

The new compartment observation cars which have just been sent out from the Angus shops are intended for the service between Toronto and Montreal, and as evidence of the growing popularity of the service between the North Toronto station and Montreal, they are attached to the train leaving that station at 10.00 p. m. daily.

These new cars have seven compartments, a drawing room, an observation parlor and an observation platform. The entrance to the rooms is from aisles running along the sides of the cars, ensuring absolute privacy. There are two berths, the lower being made up from two double seats, and there are all toilet requirements in each compartment.

The cars are lighted with electricity and in the warm weather are kept cool with electric fans.

These cars are models of luxury and comfort, in which the C. P. R. standard of equipment excels.

Street Railway Extension.

The street railway is to be extended to Byersville as soon as the rails can be secured. The survey to that point having been made. The route is from the end of the Park street line out Chamberlain and ending at the C.P. R. Crossing just past Byersville. The building of this extension will be a boon to the people of the extreme south end, and will be a convenience to them in coming to and from the city.

ADMIRALTY'S SENSE OF JUSTICE

Big Compensation for Wronged Cadet

The British Admiralty has paid £7,130 to Cadet Archer-Shee as compensation and costs for his wrongful dismissal from the Royal Naval College at Osborne. The amount was divided as follows: £3,000, compensation; £4,130, the full costs of the legal proceedings in connection with the matter.

The case, it will be remembered, arose out of the following circumstances: In October, 1908, a postal order for 5s., belonging to one of the cadets of the Royal Naval College, Osborne, was stolen and cashed. Some days later the father of George Archer-Shee, another of the cadets, received a letter from the Admiralty ordering him to withdraw his son from the college, the implication being that the boy had been guilty of dishonesty. The boy, who strongly protested his innocence, was withdrawn, and Mr. Archer-Shee at once took steps to have the matter investigated. Only with the greatest difficulty were he and his legal advisers able to obtain the actual form of the charge, the evidence on which the lad was adjudged guilty, and the nature of the inquiry which was stated to have been held. The inquiry, it was ascertained, consisted of the boy being called before the commander and being ordered to write his own name and the name of the cadet to whom the postal order belonged. The postmistress who cashed the order stated that she could not identify the boy who cashed it.

The father took the only means in his power to obtain a full and open inquiry by bringing an action at law, in the form known as a petition of right. The Admiralty evaded the issue by putting forward the technical plea — which proved successful — that no action could be brought against the Crown, inasmuch as the real plaintiff, being a naval cadet, was in His Majesty's service under the regulations by which he was admitted to the Naval College. Sir Edward Carson, who appeared for Mr. Archer-Shee, stigmatized the course taken by the Admiralty as "a gross outrage," and said, "It is a case of the grossest oppression without remedy I have ever heard during the thirty-five years I have been at the Bar." On July 18, 1910, the Judges of the Court of Appeal held that Mr. Archer-Shee was entitled to have his petition of right against the Crown tried by a jury, the question of law, as to whether or not the Crown could be made liable for breach of contract, being postponed till the jury had pronounced on the main issue as to the justice or otherwise of the treatment of Mr. Archer-Shee's son. The Court of Appeal further marked their sense of the procedure of the Admiralty by awarding Mr. Archer-Shee the costs of the appeal and of the abortive trial in which the demurrer of the Crown had been upheld.

Made Cranky By Rain

Day after day the lover of animals had stopped to pet the baker's horse, which happened to be hitched at a certain corner at the hour when the animal lover passed, and the horse apparently appreciated the attention. But one day his mood changed and he snapped viciously.

"Well, of all things," exclaimed the animal lover. "He never did that before."

"Probably because you never petted him before in rainy weather," said the man who knows a bit about horses. "As you value your ten fingers and general safety of limb, don't get familiar with a horse when he is soaked with rain. No matter how peaceable his disposition the rain makes him cranky, and there is no telling how he will take unsolicited fondling."

Respecting Her Woe.

A healthy looking woman dressed in deep mourning stepped on to the platform scales and requested the grocer's clerk to ascertain her weight. He looked, and said, 'One hundred and forty pounds."

"You made a mistake of twelve pounds in that woman's weight," said another man who had also watched the scales, "She weighed 152 pounds instead of 140."

TROUBLES OF EUROPE'S OLDEST MONARCH.

Austria's octogenarian Emperor Francis Joseph rose from what his subjects believed to be his deathbed and made a most pathetic exhortation to the Reichstrath or Austrian Parliament to abstain from factional strife.

Possibly the aged monarch felt that the new House offered him a chance of bringing about a compromise between those hereditary antagonists, the Germans and the Czechs.

It is probably well for Austria's progress sthat the latest warfare between these races has been across the floor of the Reichsrath. But the Emperor would no doubt be glad to see it ended, so that the official and landed interests of Austria might be able to present something like a united front against the insidious inroads of Socialism into the body politic.

The recent election has not left him without hope in this respect. The Christian Socialists, who dominated the last House, have sustained a crushing defeat, which is only partly expressed in their numerical losses. the negotiations between the Germans and Czechs. It is barely half a year since such negotiations were broken off, the leaders of both parties having proved equally obdurate.

A MORMON CELEBRATION

Utah has an annual celebration of which but little is known to the outside world. Every year in the fall all the men in Utah who are past seventy years of age are brought to Salt Lake City and entertained handsomely for a week. Their expenses of every kind are paid by public committees which have the matter in charge, and are authorized for the annual festival. Though conducted by the church, the festival is non-sectarian, all the old people being treated alike, regardless of creed or color. The entertainment is lavish, and when it is over the guests are sent back to their homes, feeling that old age is honorable at least in Utah. This year it is expected that the number of guests will range from 12,000 to 15,000. They are divided into three classes and grouped accordingly at all the various fetes and banquets. The first class embraces those between seventy and eighty years of age and they are marked by red badges. The next class comprises all between the ages of eighty and ninety years, and their badges are blue. The most distinguished class is the third, whose privilege it is to wear a badge of pure white, indicating that they have passed the ninetieth milestone in life's pilgrimage. These last are proud of their great age, and appear to regard the other two classes as mere children.

Not In Proper Costume

He was a young Briton newly arrived at the distinction of inherited property, and naturally interested first of all in personal adornments. If he possessed one suit, he possessed a hundred. He had different suits for fishing, hunting, golfing, cricketing, walking, cycling, flying, and everything else, and so perfect was his recently acquired knowledge of the clothing question that you could never surprise him in a costume that did not fit the occasion. But gamekeepers do not pay much attention to such details, and the man who was guiding Gussie over his new estate took small stock of garb. "Hi! There goes a rabbit!" he cried suddenly. "Let him have it, sir!" Gussie looked after the retreating bunny, but did not raise his gun. "Why didn't you shoot?" asked the gamekeeper in surprise. "I'm sorry, but I couldn't," replied Gussie mournfully. "I'm in my pheasant costume."

MAKING MOVING PICTURES

Hundreds of People Employed and Much Property Required.

Love of moving pictures costs millions of dollars a year, according to a man engaged in their manufacture. Pointing to the establishment of controls for supplying films, he said:

"This place costs over a half a million a year to run and that does not include the great expense of sending our companies out at all. To-morrow twenty people leave for the west for three months at no little cost. Figure out yourself what money is spent to reimburse us, then the broker and finally the man who owns the theatre."

Just what a gigantic business has become of the silent drama is hard to realize without a minute study. The preliminary steps, before the film is ready for the public, are many. A visit to the plan of the Vitagraph Co. will soon show just what the nickels and dimes of the public make possible. A large square block in Flatbush, New York, is devoted to the production of pictures and keeps two hundred men and women regularly employed and turns out on an average of five finished film a week.

The public has but a faint idea of the wonderful amount of detail that is necessary before a picture or even a setting is ready.

There are employed over fifty actors and actresses. Very clever people only are engaged, whose experience has been varied and thorough. When two or three receive as much as a hundred dollars a week it may readily be imagined that it is not a question of just posing for a picture. Some of the people engaged are well known and will accept the position only during the summer months, so as to go back on the stage during the winter.

The claim is made that no film is turned out at less than four hundred dollars cost, and that big war scenes and like group pictures cost thousands of dollars, before they are ready for the public.

The recent drowning of a leading actor of one of the moving pictures companies shows that these actors often have other than a life of ease. It appears that requests for positions are so many that the company throws most of them in the waste basket. Those who are accepted fill out blanks that they are healthy, can ride, swim, etc.

The Morning Times

SATURDAY, SEPT. 23rd, 1911.

THE BALLOT IS SECRET.

Several called on The Times yesterday and expressed the fear that the Dominion ballot is not a secret ballot. The Times has been assured by the proper authority that it would be absolutely impossible to trace how a man voted. When a ballot was handed to a voter there is a counterfoil attached simply for the purpose of making sure that the ballot returned by the voter is the same one that was handed out to him. Besides in every polling booth there was a scrutineer representing each party. It was the duty of these scrutineers to rigidly assure themselves that the counterfoils are immediately destroyed. Apart from this safeguard every deputy returning officer was sworn to destroy the counterfoil after a ballot has been used. There is no number on the ballot itself, and after it has been deposited in the ballot box no person can tell one ballot from another.

WORLD'S FOOD SUPPLIES.

After a summer of blistering drought, that has parched western and north central Europe and a very broad strip along our Atlantic shore, comes the talk of empty granaries. Prices are already soaring.

The department of agriculture does not credit the doleful outlook now current. Its experts, think a few months will demonstrate that there will be food enough for all.

The real danger of the world being a hungered before another harvest lies not in wheat, but in the potato. The European crop under ordinary conditions is stupendous. Some of it, particularly in Germany—the largest potato producing country of Europe, with a yield last year of 1,600,000,000 bushels—is utilized in the manufacture of spirit. Potatoes besides constitute the most important food product of that and several other European countries. The acreage planted to potatoes now is almost identical with that of last year, but the drought has retarded the growth materially. In Hungary, where 480,000 tons of potatoes were raised in 1910, the estimated yield is approximately 400,000 tons. This will be about the ratio of decrease in the potato crop of the United States.

The world must eat fewer potatoes for the next six months. The demand for wheat loaves and rye loaves will multiply. Moreover, the American crop shortage, averaging about 15 per cent., curtails the surplus for export.

And yet the stories of the harvest season on several continents are not all told. Argentina and Australia have bumper crop prospects. South America is in the spring time. Rain has been plentiful and winter-sown grain is luxuriant.

If the accepted economic law that good crops assure good times and fairly good crops fairly good times holds in a world-wide sense, these fitful autumn days warrant no exceptional pessimism.

CLANRICARDE

Jack has finished cutting marsh hay at last, and hopes he will have plenty this winter.

Bertie, as he was crossing a field one evening saw a couple of ladies horse back riding. When they saw him they were about to dismount but Bertie said, stay on girls, practice makes perfect. Good encouragement girls.

Miss B. Picknel was visiting friends in this vicinity for a few days.

There was no school on Sept. 21st, election day. The teacher wishes she was a personal friend of the gentleman who set the date and she would have begged him to make it the 22nd and then she could have gone home for the holiday.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

MINERAL PRODUCTION OF CANADA.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—The total value of the mineral production of Canada during the past year exceeded $105,000,000, an increase of $13,209,517 over that of the preceding year, an increase of 14 per cent., according to a preliminary report by the Department of Mines.

There has been an increased production in nearly every Province, the only decline being shown by New Brunswick. Ontario leads with 40 per cent. of the total for Canada.

In silver production alone there was an increase of 16 per cent. chiefly credited to the Cobalt and adjacent districts.

Ontario's silver output amounted to $15,711,513.

LATEST FROM DOURO

The farmers of this vicinity are busy harvesting corn, which is a very fair crop; we regret that the same cannot be said of the potato crop.

A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. Maurice O'Brien on Monday of last week, when his daughter Gertrude entertained a large number of her friends. Songs, instrumentals and dancing were the chief amusements. On Friday night Miss Annie Fitzgerald followed suit by entertaining her friends at a social evening of the same nature.

Miss Rose Farley left on Saturday to resume her work in Toronto after spending a month at her home here.

If the preparations of the housewife can be relied upon as a weather indicator, we may expect a very severe winter, as the quilting bees are more numerous in this vicinity than the honey bees.

Miss Mary Heffernan and her brother, Jack, of Campbellford, were the guests of Miss Katie Garvey on Sunday last.

Mr. Stanley Farley left last week to take a position in Toronto. Mr. Farley will be greatly missed, as he took a prominent part in social circles of this neighborhood.

A fairly well attended meeting was held in St. Patrick's Hall in the Conservative interests on Friday last, Messrs. Thompson and Sexsmith being the chief speakers. Their ideas can hardly be said to coincide with those of the farmers of Douro.

Tom Sharkey learned to box in Uncle Sam's navy, which has turned out a number of pugilists Tom gave up his deep sea career when he had walloped the champion of the British navy at Honolulu. After this triumph Sharkey immediately set sail for Frisco, which was then the Mecca of pugilism. He was a novelty in the fighting game and was soon pitted against such stars as Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Jeffries.

How Dempsey Started Fighting

Jack Dempsey started his athletic career as a collar and elbow wrestler He and Jack McAuliffe worked together as coopers in a shop in Williamsburg. In the same shop was an old time fighter who gave the two Jacks boxing lessons during the noon hour. Dempsey developed into the middleweight champion with a wonderful record of hard skin glove battles, while McAuliffe, because of his remarkable generalship and gameness, became the lightweight champion of the world. This particular cooper shop also turned out several other noted pugilists who have earned fame in the ring.

LEAGUE PLAYER BREAKS

Mike Lyons

Mike Lyons, right fielder of the Hopkinsville team of the K. I. T. league, known as the Moguls, has created a new batting record — seven hits in one game.

To accomplish this feat Lyons broke the long-standing record held jointly by Ed Delhanty and Gene Beaumont, who are credited with six hits in one game.

Lyons made his record against the Vincennes team, accumulating 14 bases, two three base hits, three doubles and two singles. He faced four pitchers.

THE WEARING OF OSPREYS

Milliners Too Often the Dictators

"But I do not like to wear ospreys" the pretty woman says to her milliner. "But, I assure you madam, these ospreys are quite painlessly obtained. It is the other sort."—and so on. The pretty woman, if she is weak, gives way and adds one more to the list of persons who are responsible for the appalling cruelty in the world. No ospreys or aigrettes are painlessly procured and every woman who wears them, stamps herself as lacking in heart and character. At present, in London, that wonderful city, there are few ospreys to be seen. The humane societies do their work well and it is considered almost a disgrace to be seen with ospreys. One society in its fight against the horrible cruelty, employs sandwich men, who go about with a series of pictures showing the friendish manner in which ospreys are obtained. There is the mother bird and her babies, happy and peaceful. Then along comes a man, pioneer of civilization, kills the bird, pulls her lovely plumage from her body and the last pictures show the little birds clamoring for food and lastly lying dead from starvation. This series is begun and ended with a picture of a gorgeous osprey labelled, "The badge of cruelty." Let every woman who wears ospreys in her hat or hair, think of the cruelty that it implies. Let me say it again,—there is no osprey that is painlessly obtained and the woman who wears one, is as cruel as the man who kills the mother bird and leaves the baby birds to die. Crueller even, for the man does it simply for a living, while a woman does it to pander to her vanity.

Glove Superstitions.

There are many curious customs in which gloves have taken part which invest them with peculiar interest. Until quite lately it was the fashion in some countries at a baptism for the godfather to present the godmother with a little basket containing a beautiful pair of kid gloves. In some country places it was an old practice for the young people of the village to assemble and watch for the new moon, and the one who saw it first gave his or her neighbor a kiss, and obtained a pair of gloves as a reward. Another, which has reached even to our time, viz., that of kissing a person when asleep, is alluded to by Gray in the lines:—"For custom says whoe'er this venture proves, For such a kiss demands a pair of gloves."

Colors for Brides to Wear.

Most brides prefer to be married in white, unless there is some very strong reason for a different choice; but the following old rhyme acknowledges the possibility of any other color being chosen, and warns the prospective bride how much may depend on the wedding gown selected:

"Married in grey, you will go far away;
Marry in black, you will wish yourself black;
Married in brown, you will live out of town;
Married in red, you will wish yourself dead;
Married in pearl, you will live in a whirl;
Married in green, ashamed to be seen;
Married in yellow, ashamed of your fellow;
Married in blue, he will always be true;
Married in pink, your spirits will sink;
Married in white, you have chosen aright."

WHAT MOTHERS HAVE DONE

"All that I am or hope to be," said Lincoln, after he had become President of the United States, "I owe to my angel mother." "My mother was the making of me," said Thomas A. Edison, recently. "She was so true, so sure of me; and I felt that I had someone to live for, someone I must not disappoint." "All that I have ever accomplished in life," declared Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, "I owe to my mother." "To the man who has had a mother, all women are sacred for her sake," said Jean Paul Richter. "A kiss from my mother made me a painter," said Benjamin West.

A Curtain Economy

For economy in bedroom window curtains, I have carried out this idea with great success: Make the curtains, whether sash or long ones, of material with no "up and down" in the figure, and put hems of equal width at top and bottom. After the curtains have become soiled and have had their first washing, rehang them the other way up, with the rod slipped through what was formerly the bottom hem This equalises the wear and tear, so that curtains treated in this way survive several turnings without losing their first freshness

A New System.

The Bell Telephone Company have decided on a new system of bookkeeping which will take from the hands of the local office, the billing of those who use the telephone. This will be done at Toronto. The plan is to centralize the work as much as possible in order to reduce expense. The new system commences with the new year.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

need much. And a good nose to put it on. Go to it."

The stock saddle, with its high horn and deep seat, was not so different from what I'd been used to—except as to weight. The double-cinch apparatus bothered me a little, but when Wall explained the uses of the latigo, and the manner of its tying, I got my horse saddled properly — the small imps of uneasy haste spurring me on. Then I swung up to try the stirrups, and found that I had a restive brute under me. He plunged once or twice, but I kept his head in the air, and finally straightened him out.

Wall nodded approval.

"I wasn't dead sure yuh could ride him," he owned. "But I see you've got him in your sack, and you'll find him there when it comes to gettin' over the ground."

"I'm all ready, now, I think," said I.

"Wait a minute," Wall laughed. "Don't rush off. Bax wouldn't come into the Circle camp after yuh to get a dead safe whack at Matt Dunn. Come on over to the cook tent and get some grub to tie on your saddle. You'll need it."

By the light of a candle, he ransacked the grub boxes on the tail end of the cook wagon. A loaf of bread, some fresh-made biscuits, and a big piece of boiled beef, together with some pepper and salt, this light-hearted, capable youngster wrapped in a bit of burlap, and tied behind the cantle of my saddle. And while he munched a piece of beef himself, he gave me explicit directions as to my course.

"Once yuh get over into the MacLeod country," he concluded, "you'll be all right. Nobody'll care a cuss who yuh are, nor where yuh come from, so long as yuh behave yourself. This red hoss hasn't got the Circle brand, though he belongs to the outfit, so they won't ask no fool questions about him. Yuh ought to pick up a job with some uh them Canadian layouts pretty easy.

"Oh, wait a minute," he exclaimed, when I was again about to mount, and he ran over to an outspread canvas-covered bed. He fumbled among the tumbled quilts a moment, and came back to me, carrying a broad cartridge belt, on which a bone-handled Colt swung in its leathern scabbard.

"I pretty near forgot this," he chuckled. "Yuh ain't heeled, and Lord knows yuh need to be at this stage uh the game. Say, how are yuh off for coin?"

"Man alive," I cried—and I meant it—"you've done more for me than I can repay in a thousand years. I don't need money."

"Oh, yes, yuh do," he returned, unruffled. "A dollar or two'll come mighty handy when yuh hit MacLeod, or wherever yuh land. I ain't goin' to make yuh rich. Here, and good luck to you."

He pressed a ten-dollar gold piece upon me. Then we shook hands as brothers at parting, and I rode out of the Circle camp on a high-stepping horse, with the Big Dipper and the North Star to guide me to the Canada line.

CHAPTER VI.

Slewfoot George.

I retain some vivid impression of that night ride. A mile or two from the Circle tents I crossed the Teton River, then just receding from the June rise, and nearly swimming deep. After that I came out upon a great spread of benchland, dotted with silent prairie-dog towns. Here and there, a lone butte rose pinnacle-like out of the flatness. In all my short life I had never known what it was to be beyond sound of a human voice, to be utterly alone. That night was my first taste of it, and to my unaccustomed ears the patter of my horse's hoofs seemed to be echoing up from a sounding-board, and the jingle of the bit chains rang like a bell, so profound was the quiet. I know of nothing that compares with the plains for pure loneliness, unless it be the deserted streets of a city at four in the morning — or the hushed, ghostly woods of the North, which I was yet to know. Each hollow into which I dipped reeked of mysterious possibilities. Every moon-bathed rise of land gave me a vague feeling that something sinister, some incomprehensible evil, lay in wait upon the farther side. Whatever of superstition lay dormant in my make-up was all agog that night; my environment was having its will of me. I know now that my nerves were all a-jangle. But what would you? The dark brings its subtle, threatening atmosphere to bear on braver men than I. For aught I knew, there might be a price on my head. Certainly I was a fugitive, and flight breeds groundless, unreasoning fears.

Bearing a little west of the North Star, I kept the red horse at a steady jog, and when the night was far spent and my bones aching from the ride, I came to another river—the Marias—that Wall had told me I must cross. Following his directions, a half hour's journey upstream brought me upon a trail; a few wagon tracks that I nearly overlooked. This led to a ford, or what may once have been a ford. It no longer merited the term, for I got well soaked in the deep, swift stream. Red carried me through, however, and when I gained the farther bank of the Marias valley, a faint reddish glow was creeping in the east. In a little while it was broad day.

Then I halted for the first time. My mettlesome steed I picketed carefully, ate a little of the biscuits and boiled beef, and lay down to sleep in a grassy hollow, too tired to care whether Bax was hard on my trail or not. The sunlight had given me a fresh access of courage, I think — that and the heady air of those crisp morning hours. My difficulties began to take on some of the aspects of an adventure. Once in the Territories, with some to hound me, I could appraise Bolton, and he would forward money to get me home. That was all I needed. And if I could not manage to eke out a living, in the meantime, I was not the son of my father. I fell asleep, with a wistful eye on three blue spires that broke the smooth sweep of the skyline to the northward — the Sweet Grass Hills, touching on the Canadian boundary, if I remembered rightly what Wall had said.

The hot noon sun beating on my unprotected face roused me at last. It was near midday. I had no liking for further moonlight travel, so I saddled up and rode on, thinking to get somewhere near the Hills by dusk, and camp there for the night. I was now over my first fear of being followed. But oh, I was stiff and sore! A forty or fifty-mile jaunt is not much to a seasoned rider — but I lacked seasoning. However, I was due to get it.

A little before sundown, I rode into the long shadow of West Butte, in rare good humor with myself, despite the ache in my legs; for by grace of my good red horse I had covered a wonderful stretch that afternoon, and my nag was yet stepping out lightly. On either hand loomed the rugged pyramids of the Sweet Grass — which, in truth, are not hills at all, but three boulder-strewn, pine-clad mountains, rising abruptly out of a rolling plain. The breaks of Milk River, in its over-the-border curve, showed plainly in the distance. I was nearing the City of Refuge.

There, in that shadow-darkened notch between the lofty pinnacles, I came to a new fork in the Trouble Trail. I did not know it then, but later I could not gainsay the fact. And the mile post that directed my uncertain steps was merely a strain of the devil in the blaze-faced sorrel I bestrode. Had he been of a less turbulent spirit, I doubt much if I should ever have fallen in with Slewfoot George.

It happened very simply. Ambling along with eyes for little but the wild land that surrounded, with reins held carelessly in lax fingers, I was an easy victim. As before remarked, I can put forward no better explanation than a streak of "cussedness" in my red mount. Suffice it to relate that all at once I found my steed performing a series of diabolic evolutions and in some mysterious manner he and I parted company, in a final burst of rapid-fire contortions. I have since heard and read much of the Western horse and his unique method of unseating a rider, but never yet have I seen justice done the subject. Nor shall I descant long on such an unpleasant theme. Let me simply record the fact that I came to earth ungracefully, with a jarring shock. And when I sat up, a freshly bruised and crestfallen youth, it was to behold Red clattering over a little hillock, head up, stirrups swinging wide. He seemed in hot haste. Like a fool, I had knotted the reins together for easier holding; with them looped upon his neck, he felt as much at liberty as though stripped clean of riding gear.

It looked like a dubious prospect. Upon second thought, I decided that it could easily have been worse. A broken leg, say, would have been a choice complication. My bones, however, remained intact. So I sought about in the grass for the pistol, that had been jolted from its place during the upheaval, and, when I found it, betook myself upon the way my erratic nag had gone.

It was no difficult matter for me to arrive at the conclusion that I was in a fair way to arrive in the Northwest afoot—should I be lucky enough to arrive at all. Red seemed to have gone into hiding. At least, he remained unseen, though I ascended divers little eminences and stared my hardest, realizing something of the hopelessness of my quest, even while I stared. That Sweet Grass country is monstrously deceptive to the unsophisticated. Over-looking it from a little height, one thinks he sees immense areas of gently undulating plain; and he sees truly. But when he comes to traverse this smooth sea of land that ripples away to a far skyline, it is a horse of another color, I assure you. He has not taken thought of what tricks the clear air and the great spaces have played with the perspective. The difference between looking over fifty miles of grassland, and crossing it, is the difference between viewing a stretch of salt water from a convenient point ashore, and being out in a two-oared skiff, bucking the sway-backed rollers that heave up from the sea.

So with the plains—that portion of which I speak. Distance smoothed its native ruggedness, glossed over its facial wrinkles, so to speak. The illusion became at once apparent when one moved toward any given point. The negligible creases developed into deep coulées; the gentle undulations proved to be long, sharp-pitched divides; creeks, flood-worn

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT, K.C.M.G.

Canada is fortunate in having still with her several of the grand pioneers to whose splendid work and marvellous foresight in laying the foundations of a mighty nation much of the prosperity, she can today boast of is due. Lords Strathcona and Mount-Stephen, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Wm Macdonald and Sir Richard Cartwright are still to the fore, hale and hearty, and engaged in active work for the advancement of this great Dominion.

Lord Strathcona's resignation from the High Commissionership at London leaves Sir Richard Cartwright the only one of those named who still occupies an administrative post in the national service. Sir Richard is indeed one of Canada's grand old men. He first saw the light more than three-quarters of a century ago in the ancient city of Kingston. His parents were of Irish blood and he was sent to Trinity College, Dublin, to complete his education. His grand father, the Hon. Richard Cartwright had been a judge of the Common Pleas in Upper Canada.

Sir Richard was elected to the parliament of old Canada in 1863, four years before Confederation, and was in parliament almost continuously till his appointment to the Senate. He held cabinet rank as far back as 1873 acting as Minister of Finance from that year to 1878. He was Acting-Premier and Leader of the House of Commons in 1897 and again Acting-Premier in 1907. Represented Canada on the Anglo-American Joint High Commission which sat at Quebec and Washington in 1898-99.

He is President, director or trustee of a number of commercial and financial corporations. He was created a Grand Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in 1897, having been a knight of the Order since 1879.

A WESTERN ONTARIO NEWS-PAPERMAN.

One of the best known men engaged in jonurnalism in Western Ontario is Mr. William Mark O'Beirne, editor and proprietor of the Stratford 'Daily Beacon'. Mr. O'Beirne has been connected with newspaper work from his boyhood and is still remembered in Montreal where he worked from 1885 to 1888. He had previously published the Napanee 'Express' and afterwards went to the rising manufacturing town of Woodstock, Western Ont. and there acquired the daily and weekly 'Standard' which he edited until 1891. In that year he became owner of the Stratford 'Weekly Beacon' which he supplimented by a daily issue which has proved a big success Mr. O'Beirne is a member of the executive of the Canadian Press Association and has been actively connected with that flourishing newspaper organization for a number of years.

Ethics of Visiting.

The two children were playing in the yard at the home of Constance. She remembered the teaching of her parents, but she wished to play a certain game, and Taylor desired to play another game.

"You ought to play my game," said Taylor, "because I'm your visitor, and you ought to do what I want to do."

Constance realized the truth of this, yet she did not wish to give in to her little friend.

"Let's go over to your house, Taylor," she said.

St. Catherines, Ont., Sept. 20.—Frederick Wilson of Merriton, the married man who induced fifteen year old Gladys Terryberry to go away with him on a tramp this summer, the pair being caught in Ann Arbor, Mich., was found guilty at the fall assizes before Justice Riddell and a jury on the charge of abduction. He also pleaded guilty to seduction. The judge sentenced him to three years and a half in Kingston penitentiary.

THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE

Insects and Forest Fires Have Reduced Timber to Comparatively Small Supply.

A report by the party sent out by the Department of Forestry to glean some information regarding the quantity and quality of the timber along the proposed route of the Hudson Bay Railway, shows that there is an immense supply of fuelwood and pulpwood, but a good deal of the young timber is too small, as yet, even for pulpwood.

Spruce is practically the only timber large enough for ties and sawtimber. Poplar, birch and jack pine are found in quantity, but are "invariably too short, spindly, limby and crooked for any use save fuel and pulpwood." Scarcely any live tamarack is found; the party did not meet with two hundred green tamarack over ten inches in diameter during the whole of the summer.

The chief reason for the comparatively small supply of timber in the district is the fact that fires have so often run over it. The greatest of these occurred, respectively, eighty and forty years ago and few parts of the region explored escaped these. In many places, indeed, the fires evidently leaped over lakes a mile in width. Even the coming of the snow, which in most places puts an end to even the largest forest fire, does not always quench the fires, and they live all winter in the dry moss and break out again the next spring.

The attacks of insects have also caused much loss of timber in the region. Bark beetles are the greatest offenders. They have killed nearly all the tamarack and are now at work on the larger spruce. They attack live trees, which, having been weakened or killed, are thrown by the wind. A bad tangle of trunks, branches and other debris results, and finally a lightning flash sets fire to it, and the fire, if not checked by some fortunate circumstance, may run over miles of country.

PICK OF MARK TWAIN'S BASKET

There has been complaint that every good story gets accredited to Mark Twain without his having really deserved it; but Prof. Archibald Henderson, in his new book, "Mark Twain," points out that actually many of the best known common sayings, first created by Mark Twain, are very rarely credited to him. His sayings in "Pudd'nhead Wilson's Calendar," such as "the cauliflower is nothing but cabbage with a college education," are generally known as written by Mark Twain; but there are others of which this is not true.

Some of his best sayings as quoted in the book, "Mark Twain," are apropos of the cheerful custom of lying. For instance: "Truth is our most valuable possession. Let us economize it." "Never tell a lie—except for practice," is not so well known as the popular "When in doubt, tell the truth." Prof. Henderson comments that of the latter maxim Mark Twain declared that he never expected it to be applied to himself. It was for other people. When he was in doubt himself, he used sagacity! Perhaps his best summary is "Never waste a lie. You never know when you may need it."

A catchword emanating from Mark Twain is, "Be virtuous and you will be eccentric." Another is that "there isn't parallel of latitude but thinks it would have been the Equator if it had had its rights." There is something peculiarly American in his warning to girls not to marry — that is, not to excess! To Prof. Henderson, Mark Twain made a remark likely to rank with the best of his sayings, now that it has been published. Prof. Henderson was advised, before undergoing a surgical operation, "Console yourself with the reflection that you are giving the doctor pleasure, and that he is getting paid for it!"

Of the hundreds of Twain sayings, none is better known than one often attributed to Andrew Carnegie: "Put all your eggs in one basket — and then watch that basket."

The Value of School Days

An interesting development in connection with the new movement to give boys a right start, consists of deductions showing the value of education, figured in dollars and cents. It is found by subtracting the earnings of a life of uneducated labor from those of a life of educated labor. If a man without education earns $1.50 a day for 300 days in a year, he does well as an average. If he keeps it up for forty years, he will earn $18,000. If you strike an average in the earnings of educated men, beginning with the presidents of the large railways and other corporations, and so on down to the lowest walks of educated labor, you will find that $1,000 a year is a low average for the educated worker. In forty years that makes $40,000. The difference—$22,000—is the value of a boy's time spent in school.

Of course it is not in itself the time spent at the school that enables a boy to earn this difference, but it is the increased intelligence, in large measure, which qualifies a lad to rise to the higher walks of employment. Dollars and cents may be a sordid measure, except as that standard is taken as indicative of many other values that go with education and self-mastery.

Nearest to Nature.

A real wild man of Borneo has recently been captured and is now in England. He is described as being a perfect specimen of his kind, about seven or eight years of age. He is covered with a tremendous growth of long hair of chestnut hue, especially on the back and arms, which latter have a reach of nearly eight feet and are of enormous strength. As an anthropological study he is most interesting. Startingly human in appearance, he manifests many of the racial characteristics of the Chinese, in conformation of skull, expression, and manner, a fact which led Mr. Bostock, the famous naturalist in an informal octure, to remark that save your temper and your satchel."

New Oil Field
A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.
A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 220 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ROMANCE OF A FOUNDLING

One night, in the year 1801, a little girl, about one year old, was deposited in the drawer of the foundling hospital at Brest. She was dressed with much finery, and a note tached to her skirts told her that her name was Solange, and that she would be reclaimed by her father. The claim was never made, however, and in due time the child was transferred to the orphan asylum, to be educated there. As she grew up she developed a most extraordinary beauty, but her intellect appeared to be very weak, and she suffered from frequent nervous fits. When she was twelve years old she was sent into the streets to sell flowers, and her beauty and her modesty attracted many people's goodwill, but she grew weaker and weaker, and at last she apparently died. According to French custom at that time, she was buried in an open basket, and as it was winter, and the soil was frozen, she was laid into the grave only covered with a thin layer of sand. During the night she awoke, and pushing the sand away, she crept out from this grave. Not exactly understanding what had taken place, she was not very much frightened but in crossing the glacis between the cemetery and the fortifications she was suddenly stopped by the outcry, "ui vive," and as she did not answer the sentinel fired, and she fell to the ground. Brought into the guardhouse her wound was found to be very slight, and she soon recovered, but her singular history and her great beauty had made so deep an impression on a young lieutenant of the garrison (Kramer) that he determined to be her protector, and sent her to one of the most fashionable educational establishment in Paris. During the next few years Kramer was much tossed about by the war, but when in 1818 he returned to Paris, he found Solange, a full grown woman, not only beautiful, but accomplished and spirited, with no more trace of intellectual weakness or nervous fits. He married her, and for several years the couple lived happily in Paris. Meanwhile, investigations were made concerning the girl left in 1801 in the foundling hospital at Brest, and as these investigations were made by the Swedish ambassador, and in a somewhat official manner, they attracted some attention. Captain Kramer heard about the affair, and sent a note to the ambassador, and a month later on the ambassador came in state to bring Madame Kramer a formal acknowledgement from her father, the former Marshall Bernadotte. Kramer and his wife went immediately to Stockholm; they were ennobled, etc., and their son was afterwards appointed attache to the Swedish Legation in Paris.

In Castle for Summer

The King and Queen of Italy and their young people have gathered in their Piedmontese castle of Racconigi, only twenty miles from Turin, to spend the summer quietly after the recent mourning. The castle, which once, together with Moncalieri, where Princess Clotilde died, and Stupinigi, where Queen Maria Pia breathed her last, was one of the strongholds of Piedmont, is now surrounded by a peaceful village of 10,000 inhabitants, and contains very sad relics for the Italian royal family, as in one corner of the edifice there are gathered the furniture of the bedroom in which King Charles Albert, the king who granted the constitution in 1848, died in voluntary exile at Oporto, Portugal, and the furniture of the bedroom occupied by King Humbert just before he was shot by the anarchist Bresci at Monza.

LARGE SALMON PACK.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 19.—The pack of pink salmon on Puget Sound this season now is expected to total 900,000 cases or more than double the pack of the largest previous season, 1909, when the Sound pack was 440,730 cases. Almost the entire catch has been sold. Packers declare that this is unprecedented.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Cedron Seed Plant.

In Central America many natives are gathering the seeds of this plant, Cedron Seed, a rare medicine that has valuable curative powers. But few drug stores carry this seed, owing to the high cost of the article.

This country is a large consumer of this costly seed because it enters into the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna, sold the world over.

Rev. Dr. Symonds at St. Luke's.
St. Luke's harvest thanksgiving service was held last night, when the Rev. Dr. Symonds, vicar of Christ Church cathedral, Montreal, was the special preacher. A number of the clergy were present.

An Appropriate Motto.
Mr. John Kyle, the well-known Hunter street shoe merchant showed The Times a calendar pad, which read as follows: "Sept. 22. Misfortune Nobly Borne is Good Fortune." He thought it was exceedingly appropriate, and might be a good thing if the Liberals would adopt it.

New Trolley Wire.
The street railway company have commenced stringing a new trolley wire over the whole of its car line, and the work is being pushed rapidly. This is the first time that a new wire has been installed since the one strung when the street cars were put in operation in the city, and in some places the wire was badly worn.

The Usual Tea.
A local man was fined $10 in the police court yesterday morning. He was found drunk while on the prohibited list, but refused to tell who sold him the liquor. The License Inspector gave evidence against him, to the effect that when he saw him he was lying in bed drunk with all his clothes on.

Peterborough Boy Killed.
Mr. Thos. McIntee, 641 Reid street received the sad news yesterday that his brother, John Joseph McIntee, had been killed near South Porcupine on Wednesday as a result of a railway accident. No further particulars were sent, save the infotmation that he was returning from a meeting. He was in the mining business and had been away from Peterborough about three years. The remains arrived here last night.
The late Mr. McIntee who was 23 years of age, is survived by his mother, three brothers and four sisters.

Pavements too Low.
Hastings Star.—We understand that the council has been served with a notice by D. O'Connell, solicitor, of Peterborough, acting for the trustees of the Presbyterian church, that unless the council changes the grade of the sidewalk in front of the Presbyterian church, and rectifies some other alleged difficulties in the work done there, by the 20th of this month, that a suit for damages will be instituted.
The trouble, we understand, arises out of the pavements being laid lower than was desired by some of the members of the congregation and on account of some of the roots of some of the trees being cut to allow the pavement to be laid.

Home for Christmas
The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.
The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.
The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Football Line-Up.
The following line-up will represent All Saints' in their Church Football League game at the Brinton Field this afternoon at three o'clock, against the Knox team. Goal, Morality; backs, Gamble, Hull; half backs Vickers, Hooper, Robinson; forwards Monk, Gash, James, Dawson and Williams; reserves, Downes, Edwards and Hawthorne. Referee—Mr. A. Paget.

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.
Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.
The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.
You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.
Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.
Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Baby Injured.
Yesterday a little girl in charge of an infant in a carriage left the vehicle standing on the pavement in front of the G.T.R. ticket office, where the grade of the pavement slants towards the road which is about two feet below the pavement, with the result that the carriage went off the sidewalk and upset, throwing the baby into the mud and bruising its head. The injuries were not serious however.

Diarrhoea is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is prompt and effectual. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

Two Brothers Defeated.
Two brothers were Liberal candidates in Ontario on Thursday, and both shared the same fate. These were H. M. Mowat, K.C. in North Ontario, and J. McD. Mowat, in Kingston. They were nephews of the late Sir Oliver Mowat.

John Head's Death.
Further particulars regarding the death of John Head, who was killed on Saturday last at Medicine Hat, are to hand. It appears that Mr. Head and another employee on the C.P.R. construction work, went to Dunmore for their pay cheques and were returning on a hand-car when a light yard engine ran them down and killed both of them.

A Scotchman's Night.
The "Scotchman's Night" at Knox Church was a unique entertainment in every way, and was attended by a large number, who thoroughly enjoyed the programme. Scotch music, refreshments done up truly Scotch style, were in evidence throughout the entire evening. Rev. Mr. Keith, pastor of the church, made an ideal chairman, and made an address which warmed the hearts of "brither Scots." Those in charge of the arrangements are Messrs. W. Young, Chamberlain street; E. Hardie, A. Hardie, W. Lorimer and others.

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable a man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

Archdeaconry of Peterborough.
A meeting of the clergy and lay representatives of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough is arranged to be held in St. Paul's church and schoolhouse, Lindsay, 26th to 28th, the Venerable Archdeacon Warren, M.A., presiding. On Tuesday evening, the Rev. R. J. Moore, rector of St. George's church, Toronto, will give a devotional address to the clergy and laity on "Their Responsibility for a Faithful Witness and Ministry." Among the subjects to be considered on Wednesday we notice "The state of the Church in this Archdeaconry," "The Church and the Age," "The Lives of Professing Christians," "The Church in its relation to Social and Economic Questions," etc. On Wednesday evening and Thursday the gathering takes the character of a Sunday school convention, and will no doubt give an impetus to that most important branch of the church work.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE MILK BY-LAW.
Editor Morning Times.
Sir,—The proposed milk by-law can not be understood by the council, or they would not for a moment sanction it. If this by-law passes milk vendors will practically be wiped out with the result that the milk business will be in the hands of a few (probably one man) who will charge what he likes. Besides, I say that the present methods, in point of cleanliness, is far superior to the bottle plan. This I will try and demonstrate later on, after the aftermath of election excitement has passed away.

BOARD OF TRADE.
Editor Morning Times.
Sir,—The Peterborough Board of Trade should awaken to the fact that it is time to get busy and take an active hand in the future growth and welfare of the city. The members say that there is no reason why an organization formed of business and professional men whose purpose it should be to promote by joint action the general welfare of the city, and especially to aid and develop its municipal, commercial and business growth, should be dead. As a city increases in size and business activity, the members no doubt feel that the real functions of a board of trade become more numerous, necessitate a complete change in the present methods and ways of accomplishing results. They should depart from the old methods of working and establish bureaus and sub-divisions with active men willing to give their time and intelligence to furthering the growth and general welfare of Peterborough, and in this they expect to be of the greatest assistance to the industrial commissioner by imparting information, advertising through their various customers, and the manufacturers with whom they come in contact with the fact that Peterborough is the manufacturing city of Canada, thus placing them in touch with those people who propose establishing branch plants, an office or headquarters for distribution for their products in this country.
Now that the election is over, let us get down to work in earnest.

MISS DEEPROSE SHOWERED.

Pleasant Function at the Home of Mr. Joseph Archer, Smith.

Friends, to the number of about seventy-five gathered at the home of Mr. Joseph Archer, 4th line of Smith, to bid good-bye to Miss Winnifred Deeprose, prior to her leaving for Calgary, Alberta. Besides expressing good wishes in words the friends took a more tangible way by presenting the prospective bride with a kitchen shower. The gifts, which comprised many useful and handsome articles of silver, linen, graniteware, china, cutlery, etc., were much appreciated, and Miss Deeprose expressed her thanks in a few well chosen words. To add to the general spirit of merriment, each gift was accompanied by an original rhyme from the donor, which caused much amusement. The evening was spent in games and music till eleven o'clock, when refreshments were served. About midnight the friends formed a circle for Auld Lang Syne, and after wishing Miss Winnie every happiness the old folks went home. Dame Rumor has it that the young folks (married and single) tripped the light fantastic till the wee sma' hours, but as your correspondent belongs to the old folks, we're not supposed to know what time the others got home.

MINISTERS TO RESIGN BEFORE EARL GREY LEAVES

LAURIER CABINET ARE EXPECTED TO FOLLOW THE USUAL COURSE.

Resignations Will Likely Be Handed to His Excellency Before October 6th—Accumulated Business to be Cleared up.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—If the precedent set by governments defeated in the past is followed it will be at least a fortnight before Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his ministers formally hand in their resignations to His Excellency.

Sir Charles Tupper was defeated on July 8, 1896. Within a day or two after the election the members of his cabinet came to Ottawa and held a series of cabinet meetings to clear up business which had accumulated during the progress of the campaign. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues will doubtless follow a similar course.

In 1896 Sir Charles Tupper's Government filled a number of vacancies, which Lord Aberdeen, the then Governor-General, refused to sign. In view of this precedent no appointments are likely to be made. Owing to the departure of His Excellency Earl Grey on October 6 for England, the resignation of the ministers will be put in as soon as possible.

Should it be found impossible to install the new Government beore October 6, the departure of His Excellency may be delayed. If so there would be a corresponding delay in the arrival of the Duke of Connaught.

The new ministers, when named, will of course have to go back to their constituencies for re-election, but as the majority of the cabinet "probab lities" have been elected by safe majorities, it would not be surprising if they are practically all returned by acclamation.

The necessary steps to bring about a change in administration will take some weeks, and it is likely to be some time in November before the Borden administration meets for organization. In the meantime the necessary money to carry on the public service will have to be raised by Governor-General's warrant.

CANADIAN CANOES CAUSE A SENSATION WHEN SEEN ON THE THAMES IN ENGLAND

THE ENGLISH ARE VERY PROFICIENT WITH THE SCULLS—GIRLS USED TO THEM—

Are Apt Pupils Even With the Paddles—Parties in Shallops Towed Up the River, Leaving Man on Shore to Worry About Steering.

Thames-Ditton, Sept. 22.—It is not easy to be remarkable or conspicuous in London, and yet two Canadian women, members of our party and expert canoeists, have created a wild sensation on the river, which is really London under a different aspect hereabouts, and received a good deal of admiring attention. The reason for it is their correct form in paddling and their method of managing a canoe.

While Peterboro:s, or "Canaders" as they are called, are not an uncommon sight, and while they are obtainable on hire from many of the watermen, they certainly are not in as general use as punts, skiffs, or dinghys. Nor are they understood, nor their possibilities grasped on the Thames. Mostly those who use them misuse them. Often they have row-locks and use a pair of sculls with them. Always the person with the paddle sits in the bottom of the boat propped up behind with cushions. Never have I seen anybody kneel in proper fashion resting on the thwarts. And never have I seen a girl manipulating one on the river.

AN EYE ON BACKGROUND.

Thus it is that when our pair stepped skilfully into a Peterboro the other day and settling themselves erectly in bow and stern, dipped their paddles in rhythmic silence, and glided quickly out of the back water, they instantly drew the attention of everyone in sight, beginning with the respectful admiration of Charlie the boatman. And no wonder! Even in an enviroament where the eye almost wearies of the picturesque for sheer grace of outline they stood out as scenically effective as the tall girl in white and a pale blue sunbonnet at the back of the punt which passed them. Accustomed myself to the sight in Canada, I had to come to England to realize its perfect beauty. Possibly something was due to the background, and no doubt also the care with which the Canadian girls have learned to dress with an eye to this same background, added its quota of charm. But there they were, simply two girls paddling in a canoe—the Humber and Muskoka can reproduce it any day during July and August—the cynosure of all eyes, the admired of all beholders.

They have found one or two eager pupils already, these two. The river man has much to learn of style in manipulating a paddle even in a punt A mere Canadian can teach him nothing with the sculls. The way the English girl manages a pair of sculls on the river, sitting upright, and using just the right muscles, feathering her oars, and curving her wrists prettily, is a lesson to many Canadian men. She can bring her skiff into a lock so crowded with punts, canoes, launches, dinghies, and excursion steamers that you could not step into the water if you tried, and more wonderful still, bring it out again on the other side, and easily shaking off the numerous craft which literally cling to hers, and avoiding the dangerous weir, glide it into smooth waters with a few strokes.

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here is the Proof—A Solemn Statement From a Four-years' Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Squires, member of one of the best-known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my Health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferrozone at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well to-day—have been well for 4½ years."

CURED 4 1-2 YEARS

You also can cure rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints—to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

HAVELOCK CHEER FOR SEXSMITH

Mr. Sexsmith, the popular member of East Peterborough, received a great ovation in Havelock. His majority over Mr. Kerr is opponent, in Havelock was 158. The Conservatives met in Joe Knox's vacant store and the Liberals in the Baptist church to receive their returns, in the Conservative rooms as the returns came in that Mr. Sexsmith was elected by a majority of over 500 and that several Cabinet ministers were defeated the crowd went wild with enthusiasm. Mr. Sexsmith was seated in a conveyance and many stalwart hands seized the ropes and drew him round the principal streets of the village attended by a torch light procession. He was then taken to the hall where the procession was met by the Havelock Brass Band. Mr. Sexsmith thanked the electors for their very hearty support they had given him.

A NEW CLASS OF MOTOR CAR

There is now in operation on the Grand Trunk, between Bridgeburg and Port Colborne a new class of motor car which is proving highly successful. It is exceptionally neat in design and comfortable in interior arrangement. Two of these cars have already been turned out at the shops of the Company at Montreal. They are known as steam motor cars, and have a capacity including the smoking compartment of 58 people. The cars are 71 feet in length the interior being finished in highly polished mahogany and upholstered in leather. Oil is used for fuel, and the cars are heated by steam.

CANAL WORK WILL CONTINUE

New Wharf will be Built and Other Work Go On

There seems to be a number of people who are of the opinion that the work on the Trent Canal will be discontinued on account of the change of Government. The Times would correct this impression. The police of the new Government will, without doubt be that of the old, so far as the great public works is concerned, and the Trent Canal will be completed in due course. The new wharf which it is proposed to build here, the appropriation for which was secured by our late member, Hon. Mr. Stratton, will be built this winter, as also will the work of conserving the waters of the system by the construction of reservoir dams along the waterway.

HIT 'TWEEN EYES TAFT SITS STILL

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.—President Taft arrived here this morning, his reception being non-partisan. At the Mercantile Club he referred to reciprocity.

"I suppose you have heard the policy of reciprocity is not going through," said Mr. Taft. "I see Speaker Champ Clark has been speculating as to who is responsible, but I do not know that I am content to abide by the result.

"I have been on the bench long enough to know that when you get a decision that his you between the eyes the best thing to do is to sit still. I regret that it is not going through, for it would have enured to the benefit to both countries."

TORONTO ODDFELLOWS WON THE CHIEF PRIZES.

Captured $1,000 Given for Company Drill at Grand Lodge Competition.

Toronto, Sept. 23.—News reached Toronto this morning that at the annual military competition held in connection with the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows at Indianapolis, the two chief prizes had been won for Toronto.

For company drill by cantons the prize offered each year is $1000. After three years of endeavor, this has been captured at last by Canton Toronto. The premier honors for individual military precision are also awarded to Toronto, having been won by Roger Crocker, a member of the order living in Spadina avenue.

BUFFALO CITY HARD HIT BY FAILURE OF RECIPROCITY

The Buffalo News, commenting on the defeat of the Liberal party, says: The first battle over reciprocity in Canada ends in defeat for the measure. American capital entrenched in the Dominion, political falsehoods beyond counting in number and bottomless in duplicity, some weariness over the long tenure of power of Sir Wilfrid and his party, united with some genuine fear of business results, have had the effect to postpone for a season that which has been the dream of Canadians for half a century.

President Taft is disappointed, he says, but we will still do business at the old stand. Buffalo is hardest hit of American cities, but not in absolute loss. It is only in failure for the present to secure new business that would come from more liberal trade regulations. Even they may be neared by reduction of certain duties, notably on barley, to a just basis. Such reductions may be made at the next session of Congress and it is among the likely things that the President shall urge it in his message.

For the articles included in the reciprocity deal were not such as needed the studies of the tariff board for their proper placing in the tariff schedules. There need be no waiting now on that board for its views about action before going ahead in December. And even if nothing is done the President has got his party out of the rut into which it had inclined to fall and is by so much the leader of it that he has no competition for that high honor though insurgency may raise its head a little longer.

VAST SUMS OF AMERICAN MONEY FOR ELECTIONS

Montreal Star Demands Rigid Investigation Into the Matter

The Montreal Star says that among the first acts of the new Borden Government should be the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate exhaustively the whole matter of the use of money from sources in the United States for the purpose of corruptly influencing the verdict of the people of Canada during the election just concluded. There is, unfortunately, evidence which is only too convincing that a wholesale attempt was made by forces and organizations, alien to this country, to secure a verdict at the polls, which would advance their interests, and to do it by means which place those who practice them in the category of criminals. The time to put a stop to such customs is when they are in their incipiency. It is apart entirely from the real issue that the effort was unsuccessful; the effort itself is a sign of a great and serious danger. We are in a position to state, on the best of authority, that not a cent from the United States went into the fight to defeat reciprocity and that the cost of the whole campaign was subscribed by Canadians who saw the welfare of the Dominion menaced, and its future put in peril. Arrayed against them was a corruption fund whose proportions, as outlined by bits of evidence secured here and there through the provinces, were enormous, and whose purpose was obvious. Counter-charges to this same effect have been made at various times during the progress of the campaign by the Reciprocity organs. A Royal Commission with power to examine under oath, and to punish those who place obstacles in the way of its investigations is the only piece of official machinery which is capable of sifting the true from the false, and discovering to the people of Canada the essential facts which lie at the root of these very serious charges. It is in the highest degree important that we should know these facts in order that we may take such action as, in their light, is shown to be necessary. And the investigation should be begun at the earliest possible moment.

MR. BORDEN PROMISES TO DESERVE SUCCESS

The Conservatives Will Resume the Government in no spirit of exaltation, but with a feeling of responsibility and an earnest endeavor to promote the progress of this strong nation.
—Premier-Elect. R. L. Borden at Truro, N.S.

Truro, N.S., Sept. 23.—Robert L. Borden made his first public address since the election at Truro this morning, where the C.P.R. train bearing Canada's new premier was met by the Truro Band and thousands of cheering and enthusiastic people. A temporary platform had been erected, and from this Mr. Borden spoke. Acting Mayor Stackland welcomed Mr. Borden on behalf of the Town of Truro.

Mr. Borden on rising was greeted with enthusiastic cheers, the band playing the "Maple Leaf Forever." He congratulated the good old country of Colchester on rolling up the old time majority for Stanfield which this country used to roll up for A. W. McClellan in the old days. In Mr. Stanfield he had always found a true and loyal supporter and Colchester was indeed worthily represented.

Mr. Borden paid a tribute to the great army of Liberals who, on the great issue of Sept. 21, had joined hands with the Conservative party, and voted for Canada. In 1876 Canada had entrusted to Sir John Macdonald the reins of power and ever since both parties has supported the national policy, but last January the government made a complete reversal of their position. While the opposition allowed the government all necessary supply, they has insisted that the question of reciprocity should be placed squarely before the people instead of being ratified by a mere parliamentary majority. They had been called obstructionists, but the people of Canada had endorsed their stand and converted a majority for the Liberals of about 45 into a Conservative majority of about 50.

He assured the people that the Conservatives would resume the government in no spirit of exaltation, but with a feeling of responsibility and an earnest endeavor to promote the progress of this strong nation.

CONSERVATIVES ALLEGE THAT WHOLESALE FRAUD ELECTED COL. McLEAN.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 23.—Complete and certain evidence has reached here the Conservatives say, that Col. McLean's election in Sunbury-Queen's by a majority of eleven, was obtained by wholesale fraud, not to mention the greatest bribery ever known ib a contest in New Brunswick. The sheriffs were ignored and partisans appointed as deputy returning officers, and it is alleged that in a number of polling places these deputies were parties to wrong-doings taking place.

Lord Strathcona Sailed.

London, Sept. 23.—Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada sailed for home to-day by way of New York. It is expected that his successor will be appointed soon after his arrival in Montreal.

THE PRESBYTERIANS AND THEIR MILLION DOLLAR BUDGET

One million dollars is asked from the Presbyterian Church in Canada for the year 1912 for all the missionary, educational and benevolent work of the church.

A new and practical method has been adopted this year, for the raising of this amount. The amount has been divided among the Western synods which includes Quebec and west to the Pacific Coast. The synods in turn divide their share among the Presbytery which make up the synod. The Presbyteries divide their amount among the service congregations so that each congregation has a definite amount to aim at. In the city of Peterborough arrangements are under way to call upon each member with a view to get a definite amount to be contributed each Sabbath both for the local church expenses and for their share of the million dollars.

This canvass will commence on Tuesday of this week, and will be conducted in the main by the members of the sessions and the managing boards of the several churches.

There will be a conference of all who are to engage in the canvass in St. Andrew's church this evening, when Dr. McKay, Dr. Grant and Mr. Anderson will be present.

In order to bring this work before the Presbyterians of Peterborough, the local committee arranged for the visit of the Moderator of the General Assembly, Rev. Dr. McKay who is also the efficient secretary of the Foreign Mission Committee. Rev. Dr. Grant, formerly of the Yukon and the new Superintendent of Home Missions, and Rev. F. W. Anderson, secretary of the Laymen's Mission Movement.

Rev. Dr. Grant preached in St. Paul's at the morning service and made a strong and practical appeal dealing with the peace of the church and especially the peace of the individual believer in the work of extending the Kingdom of God in the world.

Dr. Grant took the position that every member and adherent should take some part in the whole work of the church, not only in giving, but also in working. A picture was presented of what the church work was at home and abroad. Another of the home mission problems both on the frontier and in our centres of population.

A strong appeal was made to our Canadian boys and girls to give themselves to the work of the future leadership of the church and prepare themselves for it. But the strongest appeal of all was for the church individually and collectively to engage in Christian work as this alone can solve our problems. "The Church needs to give the money even more than the work needs to get it."

The Rev. R. P. McKay, D.D., Moderator of the General Assembly, occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's church in the morning. He spoke of the importance of the command of Christ to preach the gospel to all the nations. Has the church been true to this command? It is the habit in some places to criticize the church. Well, let us see what the church is doing. She has been seeking to obey this command for the last 100 years as never before in the world's history. One hundred years ago there were just about 100 missionaries in the world, now there are 19,000 preaching Christ to the heathen. A century ago there was not one ordained native helper, now there are 90,000 telling the story of redeeming love. At the beginning of last century there was given for foreign missions $75,000, while last year $28,000,000 were contributed. Was this a large sum? It seems so when given to missions, and yet there is a railway station in New York which cost $55,000,000. And yet it is more important to give the gospel to the heathen than ever to build railways stations. The Presbyterian church in Canada has been made responsible for the evangelization of 14,000,000 heathen. If our church does not do this work it will not be done at all. A congregation like this ought to be supporting a missionary. Then what about our work in Canada? Foreigners are coming to our land at the rate of a thousand a day. We must at our peril follow them into the interior of our country with the gospel. St. Andrew's congregation is asked to give about $2500 a year for all missionary purposes. We do not want this amount to be contributed by a few rich people only, we want the money of the rich, it will do them good to give. Giving is a blessing which all should share. Christ did not find fault with the poor widow who gave all she had, rather he commended her. It is better for a congregation's spiritual life that 500 should give $2500 than that 100 give this amount, while 400 give nothing. St. Andrew's begins a canvass of all her members and adherents this week and it is believed the congregation will respond nobly to the call and will contribute easily the $2500 asked by the General Assembly.

Rev. F. W. Anderson, secretary of the Presbyterian Laymen's Missionary Movement, preached in Knox church in the morning, Omemee in the afternoon and St. Andrew's in the evening.

At the morning service he spoke on "The Missionary Function of the Church," showing that the church of the Old Testament times was missionary in constitution, the New Testament church was founded by the greatest of all missionaries, Jesus Christ, himself, and the modern Christian church is only reviving, in its present propaganda, the true purpose of the existence of God's church in the world. Emphasis was laid upon the fact that the present time is the era of unexcelled opportunity in both home and foreign lands, and that today the Christian church must be missionary or fail in fulfilling her God given function.

Mr. Anderson congratulated the congregation of Knox church on their splendid new auditorium and equipment for increasing usefulness. He appealed to them to accept to the full share of responsibility for not only maintaining well their local work, but also for doing their part in the work of the larger church at home and abroad.

This responsibility was brought home to the individual who was urged to allow the principle of Stewardship to govern the giving of time and talent and treasure to this inspiring enterprise.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA
W. E. FUD GER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments:

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THE DIRECTORS FIRMLY BELIEVE IN THE POLICY THAT EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

STRIKERS DISCHARGED.

That is Way G.T.R. Dealt With the Trouble in Yards.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 23—As the result of the strike at the Grand Trunk Stuart street yards yesterday morning, twenty or more men are out of situations. The entire number who refused to work, under an assistant yardmaster, who, they claimed, was brought here, as a strikebreaker at the time of the big strike, were discharged on the spot. Brakesmen and switchmen from Stratford, London and Toronto were brought here to fill the positions temporarily and new men will eventually be broken in to the work. Some night men who say they did not strike were discharged, they claim. The most of these were night men who went to their homes early in the morning and who professed to know nothing of the trouble.

MINERAL PRODUCTION OF CANADA.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—The total value of the mineral production of Canada during the past year exceeded $105,000,000, an increase of $13,209,517 over that of the preceding year, an increase of 14 per cent., according to a preliminary report by the Department of Mines.

There has been an increased production in nearly every Province, the only decline being shown by New Brunswick. Ontario leads with 40 per cent. of the total for Canada.

In silver production alone there was an increase of 16 per cent. chiefly credited to the Cobalt and adjacent districts.

Ontario's silver output amounted to $15,711,513.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Last month, the Railway Commission, headed by Judge Mabee, Chairman, visited Prince Rupert, and made a trip over the hundred miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific east of Prince Rupert, which is now in operation. General Superintendent Mehan was the recipient of many compliments as to the physical conditions of the new roadbed. Judge Mabee said in an interview with a reporter of the "Evening Empire" in Prince Rupert - "I saw a splendid piece of roadbed. It is a fine road all the way from this point to Mile 102. A better piece of road cannot be found among many of the roads of older Ontario. On our return trip, we ran over 35 miles an hour over some portions of the line and the going was remarkably steady for a new road. When the Government accepted the road, there was an order limiting the speed of trains to 12 miles an hour, but after having seen the road, we are going to make an order permitting the speed of trains to be increased to 35 miles an hour."

This is in line with the entire construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, which is being built as a permanent road from the start.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

ADMIRALTY'S SENSE OF JUSTICE

Big Compensation for Wronged Cadet

The British Admiralty has paid £7,120 to Cadet Archer-Shee as compensation and costs for his wrongful dismissal from the Royal Naval College at Osborne. The amount was divided as follows: £3,000, compensation; £4,120, the full costs of the legal proceedings in connection with the matter.

The case, it will be remembered, arose out of the following circumstances: In October, 1908, a postal order for 5s., belonging to one of the cadets of the Royal Naval College, Osborne, was stolen and cashed. Some days later the father of George Archer-Shee, another of the cadets, received a letter from the Admiralty ordering him to withdraw his son from the college, the implication being that the boy had been guilty of dishonesty. The boy, who strongly protested his innocence, was withdrawn, and Mr. Archer-Shee at once took steps to have the matter investigated. Only with the greatest difficulty were he and his legal advisers able to obtain the actual form of the charge, the evidence on which the lad was adjudged guilty, and the nature of the inquiry which was stated to have been held. The inquiry, it was ascertained, consisted of the boy being called before the commander and being ordered to write his own name and the name of the cadet to whom the postal order belonged. The postmistress who cashed the order stated that she could not identify the boy who cashed it.

The father took the only means in his power to obtain a full and open inquiry by bringing an action at law, in the form known as a petition of right. The Admiralty evaded the issue by putting forward the technical plea — which proved successful — that no action could be brought against the Crown, inasmuch as the real plaintiff, being a naval cadet, was in His Majesty's service under the regulations by which he was admitted to the Naval College. Sir Edward Carson, who appeared for Mr. Archer-Shee, stigmatized the course taken by the Admiralty as "a gross outrage," and said, "It is a case of the grossest oppression without remedy I have ever heard during the thirty-five years I have been at the Bar." On July 18, 1910, the Judges of the Court of Appeal held that Mr. Archer-Shee was entitled to have his petition of right against the Crown tried by a jury, the question of law, as to whether or not the Crown could be made liable for breach of contract, being postponed till the jury had pronounced on the main issue as to the justice or otherwise of the treatment of Mr. Archer-Shee's son. The Court of Appeal further marked their sense of the procedure of the Admiralty by awarding Mr. Archer-Shee the costs of the appeal and of the abortive trial in which the demurrer of the Crown had been upheld.

Made Cranky By Rain

Day after day the lover of animals had stopped to pet the baker's horse, which happened to be hitched at a certain corner at the hour when the animal lover passed, and the horse apparently appreciated the attention. But one day his mood changed and he snapped viciously.

"Well, of all things," exclaimed the animal lover. "He never did that before."

"Probably because you never petted him before in rainy weather," said the man who knows a bit about horses. "As you value your ten fingers and general safety of limb, don't get familiar with a horse when he is soaked with rain. No matter how peaceable his disposition the rain makes him cranky, and there 's no telling how he will take unsolicited fondling."

Respecting Her Weight.

A healthy looking woman dressed in deep mourning stepped on to the platform scales and requested the grocer's clerk to ascertain her weight. He looked, and said, 'One hundred and forty pounds."

"You made a mistake of twelve pounds in that woman's weight," said another man who had also watched the scales, "She weighed 152 pounds instead of 140."

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

THE WEARING OF OSPREYS

Milliners Too Often the Dictators

"But I do not like to wear ospreys" the pretty woman says to her milliner. "But, I assure you madam, these ospreys are quite painlessly obtained. It is the other sort,"—and so on. The pretty woman, if she is weak, gives way and adds one more to the list of persons who are responsible for the appalling cruelty in the world. No ospreys or aigrettes are painlessly procured and every woman who wears them, stamps herself as lacking in heart and character. At present, in London, that wonderful city, there are few ospreys to be seen. The humane societies do their work well and it is considered almost a disgrace to be seen with ospreys. One society in its fight against the horrible cruelty, employs sandwich men, who go about with a series of pictures showing the friendish manner in which ospreys are obtained. There is the mother bird and her babies, happy and peaceful. Then along comes a man, pioneer of civilization, kills the bird, pulls her lovely plumage from her body and the last pictures show the little birds clamoring for food and lastly lying dead from starvation. This series is begun and ended with a picture of a gorgeous osprey labelled, "The badge of cruelty." Let every woman who wears ospreys in her hat or hair, think of the cruelty that it implies. Let me say it again,—there is no osprey that is painlessly obtained and the woman who wears one, is as cruel as the man who kills the mother bird and leaves the baby birds to die. Crueller even, for the man does it simply for a living, while a woman does it to pander to her vanity.

Glove Superstitions.

There are many curious customs in which gloves have taken part which invest them with peculiar interest. Until quite lately it was the fashion in some countries at a baptism for the godfather to present the godmother with a little basket containing a beautiful pair of kid gloves. In some country places it was an old practice for the young people of the village to assemble and watch for the new moon, and the one who saw it first gave his or her neighbor a kiss, and obtained a pair of gloves as a reward. Another, which has reached even to our time, viz., that of kissing a person when asleep, is alluded to by Gray in the lines:—"For custom says whoe'er this venture proves, For such a kiss demands a pair of gloves."

Colors for Brides to Wear.

Most brides prefer to be married in white, unless there is some very strong reason for a different choice; but the following old rhyme acknowledges the possibility of any other color being chosen, and warns the prospective bride how much may depend on the wedding gown selected:

"Married in grey, you will go far away;
Marry in black, you will wish yourself black;
Married in brown, you will live out of town;
Married in red, you will wish yourself dead;
Married in pearl, you will live in a whirl;
Married in green, ashamed to be seen;
Married in yellow, ashamed of your fellow;
Married in blue, he will always be true;
Married in pink, your spirits will sink;
Married in white, you have chosen aright."

WHAT MOTHERS HAVE DONE

"All that I am or hope to be," said Lincoln, after he had become President of the United States, "I owe to my angel mother." "My mother was the making of me," said Thomas A. Edison, recently. "She was so true, so sure of me; and I felt that I had someone to live for, someone I must not disappoint." "All that I have ever accomplished in life," declared Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, "I owe to my mother." "To the man who has had a mother, all women are sacred for her sake," said Jean Paul Richter, "A kiss from my mother made me a painter," said Benjamin West.

A Curtain Economy

For economy in bedroom window curtains, I have carried out this idea with great success: Make the curtains, whether sash or long ones, of material with no "up and down" in the figure, and put hems of equal width at top and bottom. After the curtains have become soiled and have had their first washing, rehang them the other way up, with the rod slipped through what was formerly the bottom hem. This equalizes the wear and tear, so that curtains treated in this way survive several turnings without losing their first freshness.

A New System.

The Bell Telephone Company have decided on a new system of bookkeeping which will take from the hands of the local office, the billing of those who use the telephone. This will be done at Toronto. The plan is to centralize the work as much as possible in order to reduce expense. The new system commences with the new year.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

EX-JUDGE DOHERTY, M.P.

Lawyer, soldier, politician and university professor — such is a brief summing up of the principal fields in which the Hon. Charles Joseph Doherty, K.C., L.L.D., D.C.L. and M.P., has served his country. Born in 1855 a son of the late Hon. Marcus Doherty, Judge of the Supreme Court, he early decided to enter the legal profession and was called to the bar when only twenty-two years of age. Ten years later he was made a K.C., being one of the youngest men ever to take silk, and in 1891, was appointed a judge of the Superior Court of the Province of Quebec. He resigned in November 1906 and two years later was elected M.P. for the St. Ann's division of Montreal as a conservative. He is regarded as one of the leading men of the Conservative Party.

Mr. Doherty served with distinction as Captain in the 65th. Batt. through the North-West rebellion of 1885. He has held the chairs of Civil Law and International Law at McGill University since 1890.

The Hon. Mr. Doherty, as his name implies, is of Irish descent, and takes a keen interest in all movements affecting the well-being of the land of his ancestors. He has been actively connected with different Irish societies in Montreal and has on more than one occasion presided at meetings addressed by leaders of the Irish National movement when they visited Canada.

Mr. E. FABRE SURVEYER, K.C.

Few members of the Quebec bar occupy such a high place in the estimation of their colleagues as does Mr. Edouard Fabre Surveyer of Montreal. Of distinguished lineage and singularly gifted Mr. Surveyer's advance was rapid and uninterrupted. Born in the Canadian metropolis in 1875, a nephew of the late Mgr. Fabre, archbishop of Montreal, of Lady Costelo, and of the Hon. Hector Fabre, C.M.G., late Canadian Commissioner in Paris, he was educated at St. Mary's College and afterwards took a course at each of the Montreal universities, McGill and Laval. He was called to the bar of Quebec in 1896, being then only a little over twenty-one years old. He was president of the junior bar association during 1903-04, and in 1905 was appointed lecturer on Pleading and Practice at McGill. He was President of the Canadian Club of Montreal one year, 1909-'10, and was created a K.C. in the former year.

Mr. Fabre Surveyer holds the degrees of B.A., LL.M. and B.C.L. and is a prominent member of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. He is the author of a brochure on 'The Bench and Bar of Montreal (1907)'

LONG ODDS FOR HIM.

J. W. Colt, the horseman, had a jockey who was sick. He told the boy to go to town to a certain doctor for some medicine.

When the jockey got back Colt asked him: "Did you go to that doctor?"

"Yes, sir. When I got there I found it said, 'Hours, one to two,' on his door."

"Well, what difference did that make?"

"Why, Mr. Colt just across the street there was another doctor that had on his door, 'Hours, twelve to one; and I took the long odds."

"I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success," writes Mrs. M. I. Basford, Pooleville, Md. For sale by all dealers.

Work has been commenced to erect a new school. Mr. T. Curtis of Havelock has the contract, and he expects the school to be ready for use in a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hubble and baby, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. S. Hubble.

Rev. Mr. Holdsworth was in the settlement on Monday.

BLACKFEET INDIANS' LAST "MEDICINE LODGE"

Picturesque Festival Which Will Be Held No More.

A short time ago the people of Little Dog, better known as the Blackfeet Indians, who occupy a reservation 500,000 acres in extent in the Two Medicine country of North-western Montana, just east of the new Glacier National Park, gave their last big medicine lodge and grass dance near Browning. Infinite pathos attaches to these ceremonies of a vanishing race. Six thousand redmen of the most stalwart race remaining on the continent participated in the festivities of the week.

Near the camp were horses scattered all over the landscape, sturdy Indian stock that in the old days was the measure of wealth among the people. Of course, there were dogs—of all sizes, colors and kinds, just as there used to be in every Indian camp. Moving here and there were groups and solitary figures on foot and horseback. In the background was the circle of lodges all facing the east, where the sun shines first.

At noon the camp was quiet. By two o'clock a tomtom here and there began its intermittent throbbing and the people donned their finery for the afternoon festivities. By three o'clock many Indians were about in full dress, the men with war bonnets, slashed buckskin costumes decorated with bead and porcupine quill work and hung profusely with skins of the medicine weasel. The women were in bright colored, heavily beaded skirts and jackets of cloth or buckskin, some of them literally covered with elk teeth, many of them covered with miniature bells that tinkled musically as they walked; their faces were painted with vermilion, ochre, black, or combinations of these and other colors. Horses galloped in every direction and there was an air of activity all over the camp. The medicine lodge, in the middle of the camp circle, was the rendezvous for all, for the medicine was to be made there. By and by the sharp, short notes of the eagle wing home medicine whistle began to help the drum, for Yellow Owl was making strong medicine. It was time to go to the medicine lodge and watch the mystery.

On the west side of the medicine lodge an alcove was built of green boughs. This was Yellow Owl's private place and it faced the door of the medicine lodge, which always opens to the east. Hung about the great medicine centre pole of the lodge were many offerings of clothing, blankets and other belongings which these people had given to the sun as sacrifices. These could not be touched or taken away by any man.

Inside the lodge a circle of chiefs in full regalia were gathered, and behind them the people crowded, watching Yellow Owl make medicine to the sun. The drumbs throbbed in ceaseless booming, which Yellow Owl accompanied with his eagle wing bone whistle while he stood staring at the sun, whistling and swaying his body continuously.

Back to the circle of chiefs were gathered the Indians in a solid mass, sober faced, keen eyed and watching all the proceedings, for they understand what this mystery means, as no white man can ever understand it unless he has lived with the Indians.

The grass dance is of a semi-religious nature, the same as all these ceremonies are among savage peoples. It is designed to call the attention of the gods, big and little, wherever they may be, to the fact that the people desire a good season with what probably was the last great grass dance.

A MILLIONAIRE'S MISADVENTURE

When the White Star liner Baltic was about to sail the other day, John J. O'Riley, a wealthy Texan, and his family went aboard to visit their home town in Ireland. After they had gone to the stateroom, Mr. O'Riley decided to go ashore to have a $500 note changed into English money. When the time for sailing came, O'Riley had not returned, and, fearing that something had happened to him, his family returned to the pier, to begin a search for the head of the family.

No trace of him could be found, however, and his wife and children were becoming greatly alarmed, when a wireless message reached them from the Baltic, which by that time was out on the ocean. The message was from Mr. O'Riley and informed his wife that he was on board the Baltic and that he would wait for them at Liverpool. It seems that Mr. O'Riley returned to the ship just before the gang plank was removed, which connected the pier with the steerage entrance. While he made his way to the cabin, his family went ashore by way of the cabin gang plank. Mrs. O'Riley and the children sailed on the next steamer to join Mr. O'Riley in Liverpool.

The Safest Place

A city gentleman was recently invited down to the country for "a day with the birds." His aim was not remarkable for its accuracy, to the great disgust of the man in attendance ,whose tip was generally regulated by the size of the bag.

"Dear me!" at last exclaimed the sportsman, "but the birds seem exceptionally strong on the wing this year."

"Not all of 'em, sir," was the answer. "You've shot at the same bird about a dozen times. 'E's a-follerin' you about, sir."

"Well, sir," came the reply. "I dunno, I'm sure, unless 'e's 'angin' 'round you for safety."

THE WHITE MANS DOOM

Well Known Professor Argues That He Must Inevitably Give Way Before Dark Races.

Much has been written at one time and another regarding the ability of the white man to live in the tropics and to retain his bodily and mental vigour. The consensus of opinion has been that he cannot do so, but that after a time he will surely deteriorate, physically and mentally. Furthermore, white natives whose ancestors have lived three or more generations in the tropics are not, with rare exceptions, the peers either in body or mind of their relatives living in the temperate zone.

Professor Lionel W. Lyde has recently spoken most pessimistically on the subject. Not only does he hold that the white man cannot live in health in tropical countries, but professes to believe that the white man is doomed to vanish from the face of the earth, giving way to the coloured races. The professor bases his belief on the theory that the original colour of the human skin was dark brown, the variations of that colour being the results of the weakening or strengthening of the pigment under different climatic conditions. The rays of sunlight in the tropics on an individual unprotected by a dark skin have the effect of producing nervous shock, amounting sometimes to total prostration.

Taking ordinary precautions, it may be possible for the white man, after two years of acclimatisation, to live in the tropics even more immune from tropical diseases than the black. But this period of immunity lasts for only about seven years, after which the deteriorating effects of the strong solar light and heat begin to show themselves on the white skin, and render the possessor thereof peculiarly susceptible to tropical diseases. In consequence, the permanent settlement of the tropics by white men is impossible.

But while the pigment with which the coloured races are provided is indispensable for life in the tropics, it is a source of no danger in the temperate or frigid zones; therefore the dark or yellow man can intrude into the domain of the man of fair skin with little or no danger. Added to this may be placed the comparatively greater fertility of the dark races, and, in the opinion of Professor Lyde, the doom of the white man is inevitably suggested. His part it is, therefore, in the scheme of the world to train the dark-skinned races in all the arts and sciences, including the art of government, and then himself to get off the earth.

Gangways for Street Cars

When, as is to be often witnessed, a crowd attempts to get on a street car at its point of departure in the centre of a city, accompanied, as is sometimes the case, with an absence of consideration for women and the aged, it is a matter of surprise that more accidents do not arise from this cause than are actually recorded. This is most marked on Saturdays and at holiday times, also at certain hours of the day when people are proceeding to or leaving their work. To overcome this danger, the Tramways Department in Bradford, England, have narrow gangways placed on the footpaths in the centre of the city near to the point of departure of the cars. Persons desiring to board a car must first get into line in this gangway and when the car arrives they enter it in rotation, no one being allowed to enter such a car until all persons in the gangway have preceded them. To this system is possibly due in some measure the small number of street accidents recorded in Bradford, which is below the average of other cities.

A Hen That Talks

A talking hen, whose superintelligence puts to shame the wildest dreams of nature fakers, is the pride of Mrs. John C. Ford, of Atlantic City, N.J. Mrs. Ford vouches for the statements that the fowl possesses qualities high above ordinary instinct.

"'Jo'—sort for Josephine—seems to be afraid of visitors, said Mrs. Ford. "But the minute we are alone she talks to me plain enough for me to know exactly what she means. She calls me 'Mommie' and she can say that as plain as any child. She has also learned to call for 'water,' and if she gets thirsty during the night, she will stand under our bedroom window and call out until we come down and give her a drink."

The hen drinks from a glass, and absolutely refuses to notice the drinking dish used by less-educated fowls in the same yard.

"If the doesn't yet enough to eat, she calls out: 'More, more,'" said Mrs. Ford. The hen immediately notifies the family of having laid an egg by scratching on the kitchen door, and leading the way to the spot where the egg is hidden.

A Record Law Suit.

A suit in which a French woman, Mme. Cotton, is the present plaintiff, is unique in the annals of long-drawn-out cases. This lady is the legal heiress of a goldsmith who in 1658 lent the Government of Venice 800,000 crowns, the present value of which, with interest, is estimated at about $4,000,000. The heir of the original lender was a Frenchman, Jean Thierry, who died before the loan was repaid. There was a lawsuit over his succession, and Louis XIV claimed the estate, and annexed the French portion of it. The suit was still dragging on at the time of the directory, when Bonaparte forced Venice to repay the loan. Since then France has been the custodian of the Thierry estate. The Government has been owed dozens of times, but to no purpose. Now, Mme Cotton is suing the Government of Austria and Italy, as well as that of France, because each in turn has owned Venice.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

serpentine water courses, surprised one in unexpected places.

I had not noticed these things particularly as I rode. Now, as I tramped across country, persuading myself that over each succeeding hill I should find my light-footed sorrel horse meekly awaiting me, it seemed that I was always either climbing up or sliding down. I found myself deep in an abstract problem as I plodded — trying to strike a balance between the illusory level effect and stern topographical realities. Presently I gave that up, and came back to concrete facts. Whereupon, being very tired and stiff from a longer ride than I had ever made before, and correspondingly illtempered, I damned the red horse for backing me off, and myself for permitting any beast of the field to serve me so, and then sat down on the peak of a low hill to reflect where and how I could come by my supper.

A smart breeze frolicked up from that quarter where the disappearing sun cast a bloodshot haze over a few tumbled clouds. This, I dare say, muffled sounds behind me to some extent. At any rate, I was startled out of my cogitations by a voice close by — a drawly utterance that evoked a sudden vision of a girl with wind-raveled hair, and a lean, dark-faced man leaning over a deck railing on the Moon.

"Magnificent outlook, isn't it?"

Notwithstanding the surprise of finding him at my elbow in that unexpected fashion, I faced about with tolerable calmness. That intuitive flash had been no false harbinger; for it was Barreau, sure enough. The angular visage of him was not to be confounded with that of any casual stranger, even though his habiliments were no longer broad-cloth and its concomitants of linen and polished shoes. Instead, a gray Stetson topped his head, and he was gloved and booted like a cowboy. Lest it be thought that his plight was twin to my own, I will say that he looked down upon me from the back of a horse as black as midnight, a long-eared brute with a curved neck and a rolling eye. Best of all, at the end of a lariat Barreau led my own red horse.

"That," said I, "depends on how you look at it. I'll admit that the outlook is fine — since you have brought me back my runaway horse."

"I meant that." He nodded to the glowing horizon. "But I dare say a man gets little pleasure out of a red sky when he is set afoot in a horseless land. It will pay you, my friend, to keep your horse between your legs hereafter."

"He threw me," I confessed. "Where did you catch him? And how did you find me?"

"I thought he had slipped his pack, by the tied-up reins,' said Barreau. "As for catching him and finding you, that was an easy matter. He ran fairly into me, and I had only to look about for a man walking."

"Well," I returned, taking my sorrel by the rope, "I'm properly grateful for your help. And I have another matter to thank you for, if I am not badly mistaken."

He made a slight gesture of deprecation. "Never mind that," said he. His attitude was no encouragement to profuse thanks, if I had contemplated such.

I turned then to inspect my saddle, and found fresh cause for perplexity. By some means, my supply of bread and beef had been shaken from its fastening. The bit of sack hung slack in the strings, and the food was gone. He looked down inquiringly, at my exclamation.

"More of my luck," said I, and explained.

"Might I ask," said he, after a moment of thoughtful scrutiny, "where you are bound for?"

"It's no secret," I replied. "I'm for the MacLeod country; over the Line."

"Then you may as well ride with me this evening," he invited. "It is only a few miles to the Sanders ranch; you will be that much farther on your way. I can vouch for their hospitality."

I hesitated, for obvious reasons. He smiled, as if he read my mind. And all in a breath I yielded to some subtle, confidence-compelling quality of the man, and blurted out my story; the killing of Tupper, that is, and how the Circle men had aided me.

"I guessed at something of the sort," he remarked. "You are new at the game, and you bear the earmarks of a man on the dodge. We are a rowdy lot out here sometimes, and we can't always settle our disputes by word of mouth; so that I think you will find most of us inclined to look lightly on what seems to you a serious affair, indeed. Tupper had it in store for him; Speer, too, for that matter, and many another brute on these river craft. You haven't much to worry about. Very likely Boston has forgotten the thing by now—unless Bax and Matt Dunn's man looked horns over it. Of course there is the chance that the Boston and St. Louis Company may hound you for killing one of their officers. But there's no fear of their coming to Sanders' after you — not to-night; to-morrow, and all the other to-morrows, you can take things as they come. That's the best philosophy for the plains!"

He swung a half mile to the east, and picked up a pack horse he had left when he took after my mount. Then we loped north in the failing dusk, Barreau riding mute after his long speech, and I, perforce, following his example. At length we drew up at the ranch, a vague huddle of low buildings set in the bend of a creek. Barreau appeared to be quite familiar with the place. Even in the gloom he went straight to the bars of a small, round corral. In this we tied our horses, throwing them hay from a new-made stack close by. Then he led the way to a lighted cabin.

Barreau pushed open the door, and walked in without ceremony. Two men were in the room; one lying upon a bunk, the other sitting with his spurred heels on the corner of a table. Each of them looked up at my companion, and both in one breath declared:

"I'll be damned if it ain't Slowfoot!"

After that there was more or less desultory talk, mostly impersonal—no questions pertinent to myself troubled the tongues of either man. One built a fire and cooked us a hot supper. The other made down a bed in one corner of the cabin, and upon this, at the close of the meal, Barreau and I lay down to rest.

A jolt in the ribs and the flash of a light in my eyes brought me to a sitting posture, later in the night. Sleep-heavy, because of the strenuous events that had gone before, it took me a full half minute to get my bearings. And then I saw that three men in scarlet jackets held the two Sanders under their guns, while Barreau stood backed against the cabin wall with his hands held above his head. Even so, the beggar was regarding the whole proceeding with a distinct curl to his lip.

"Come alive now, old chap, and don't cut up rusty — it won't do a bit o' good," one of these oddly dressed strangers was admonishing; and it dawned upon me that I, too, was included in the threatening sweep of their firearms. "Get into your clothes now, old chap."

It is astonishing — afterward — how much and how quickly one can reflect in a few fleeting seconds. A multitude of ideas swarmed in my brain. Plans to resist, to escape, half formed — and were as instantaneously discarded. Among the jumble, it occurred to me that I could scarcely be wanted for that Benton affair — my capture could not be the cause of such a display. No, thought I, there must be more to it than that. Otherwise, Barreau and the two Sanders would not have been meddled with. Of course I did not come to this conclusion after deliberate thought; it was more of an impression, perhaps I should say intuition; and yet I seemed to have viewed the odd circumstance from every angle, in the brief time it took me to lay hold of my clothes. The queer, sardonic expression lingered about Barreau's lips all the while I dressed.

Presently I was clothed. Then the red-coated men mustered the four of us outside, by the light of a lantern. And two of them stood in the doorway and snapped a pair of handcuffs about the wrists of each of us as we passed out.

"Now," said one of them, "you Sanders chaps know what horses you'd care to ride, and what stock Slowfoot George has here. So one of you can come to the stable wi' me, and saddle up."

He took the younger man and went, trading him up in the uncertain light till both of them were utterly gone. After something of a wait they reappeared, leading Barreau's horses and mine, and two others in the interim. I had had time to count noses. There was a man apiece for the four of us, and one off behind the cabin holding the raiders' saddle stock. We stood there like so many pieces of uncouth statuary, no one seeming to have any inclination for talk, until the saddled horses came up. Then both the Sanders found their tongues in behalf of me.

"Look-a-here, sergeant," said the one, "yuh ain't got any business over here, and yuh know it. Even if yuh did, this kid don't belong in the crowd. You're after us, yuh got us, but you've no call to meddle with him."

"That's right," his brother put in. "I don't know him from Adam. He just drifted in, and camped overnight at the ranch."

"I say, y'know, that's a bit strong," the sergeant returned. "'Birds of a feather,' y'know. I shan't take any chances. You're too hard a lot, Sanders, you and your friend Slowfoot George."

Thus he left no room for argument; and in a few minutes the four of us were in the saddle and on the move, a mounted policeman jogging at the elbow of each one of us.

At the end of half an hour's progress, as we crossed a fairly level stretch of plain, we came to a little cairn of rocks; and when we had passed it the sergeant pulled up his horse and faced about. The moon was up, and the earth and the cairn, and even our features, stood out clear in the silvery glow.

"John Sanders, Walter Sanders, George Brown alias Slowfoot George, and one John Doe, in the Queen's name I arrest you," he addressed us perfunctorily.

A trooper snickered, and Barreau laughed out loud.

"Routine — routine and red tape, even in this rotten deal," I heard Slowfoot murmur, when his laugh hushed. And on the other side of

UMPIRE'S DECISIONS

Used a Mirror to See All Portions of the Field When His Back Was Turned.

"Rube Waddell may be the richest card among the ball-players," says Red Nelson, the pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, "but Piano Bill Setley is, in my opinion, a funnier card among umpires than Waddell ever was among eccentric ball-tossers. Why do they call him Piano Bill? Because in New Orleans, when a man who owed him money pointed to a big piano and said, 'Take that, if you can,' the husky umpire actually took away the piano single-handed, toted it out of the house, called an expressman, took it to an express office, and had it shipped north, all before the dazed owner could get his wits together.

"Setley had the courage of his convictions. Nothing could rattle him or make him overlook a bet. On one occasion he was umpiring in some town — I think it was Rock Island — and a couple of his decisions turned the tide in favor of the Peoria club. The Rock Island fans promptly stormed into the field and took after Setley, who fled through the gate and down the street, with the mob in mad pursuit. And as Setley ran he threw up one arm in commanding fashion and shouted: 'I hereby forfeit this game to Peoria, 9 to 0, you sons of monkeys!'

"I was pitching one afternoon, with Setley umpiring. Tow and two on the batter, and I shot a third strike right across the centre. 'Ball!' roared Setley. 'Why,' I howled, 'that was square in the groove!' 'I know it,' said Setley, 'but when a pitcher has two strikes, and doesn't know any better than to put the ball right in the grove where it might get hit for a homer, it's a ball with me, every time.'

"A player named Novacek was at bat. Ball came along, on the outside, way wide. 'Strike,' said Setley. Novacek roared and howled, quite naturally. Next ball was also wide. 'Four balls, take your base,' quoth Setley. As Novacek started for first, he exclaimed, sneeringly. 'That ball was in exactly the same place as the one you called a strike just before.' 'In that case,' said Setley, 'I will do anything to oblige you. Three strikes—you're out!'

ANOTHER TORONTO RACQUET EXPERT.

ROBT. BAIRD

Big, strong and with a heart that warms you to his delightful personality, Robt. Baird, the idol of the Toronto tennis enthusiasts, is a Champion of whom the Queen City fans may well feel proud. His honors have been deservedly won, and while he has not a few rivals, his tennis ability and strong forceful pay, are factors that cannot be downed in wresting the title from him.

Baird has figured in dozens of tennis tournaments, but he has yet to have a disastrous defeat registered against him. He lost to Capt. Foulkes, out.

Charles Evans, the Edgewater golfer who made a remarkable showing abroad, lost his first match since returning to America at the Essex County links.

St. Catherines, Ont., Sept. 20.—Frederick Wilson of Merriton, the married man who induced fifteen year old Gladys Terryberry to go away with him on a tramp this summer, the pair being caught in Ann Arbor, Mich., was found guilty at the fall assizes before Justice Riddell and a jury on the charge of abduction. He also pleaded guilty to seduction. The judge sentenced him to three years and a half in Kingston penitentiary.

MONEY MAKING FOR WOMEN

Embroidering Monograms a Ready Means.

Every girl or woman, however lightly endowed with this world's goods, has an innate fondness for pretty lingerie, and especially so if these garments be embroidered and monogramed. For the woman who is deft with her needle there is an unlimited field in this art of embroidering tiny sprays and monograms and also in making by hand the numerous garments that are included under the name of lingerie. Smaller shops dealing especially in out-of-ordinary articles are more approachable than the big stores for the disposal of such wares, but one who is an adept in embroidering initials may readily find an opening by showing her work to the head of the French department at various shops. Monograms are quite the rage now on all things, and the truly fashionable woman uses her own monogram, which, therefore, must be unique and extremely good-looking, on all her possessions, lingerie, silver, bed linen, table linen, handkerchiefs and her note paper, indeed wherever it is possible to place one's initials. For lingerie a wreath circle or oblong outline is very effective around the monogram, although many are used without any confining line, the long, narrow initials, plain to severity to themselves, often with a tiny spray of flowers winding in and out around them or a few birds and butterflies being the most popular style at present.

PARIS FASHIONS

EARLY FALL COAT

This model is very popular in Europe and likely, on account of its usefulness, to be copied much on this side of the water.

FASHIONS FROM PARIS

The Embroidery Covered Hat.

Quite the most useful hat for seaside and country wear with washing dresses and tailor-mades, is the wide brimmed canvas hat covered with washing embroidery, writes a Parisian correspondent. It may be trimmed with a band of black velvet, or with a wing of embroidery, or with flowers. Even the white embroidery toque is to be worn at Trouville and some women adapt it for motoring. The idea is pretty and clean, for it is not difficult to make a design which will make and re-make after washing with perfect taste.

Colored Muslin Dresses.

One sees more colored muslin dresses this season than usual, and they make charming spots of color under the trees in the Bois de Boulogne, where everyone goes to drink tea in these days. Pale blue lawn embroidered in white and trimmed on the shoulders with a soft, white hemstitched sailor collar, is a charming combination, small blue buttons may be used as further trimmings and pale blue shoes embroidered to match, and worn with blue stockings make a pretty finish. A pale blue hat, covered with white embroidery, or embroidered to match the dress and trimmed with one huge pale pink rose is becoming, and the whole thing looks extremely fresh and simple. Pink and white together are also worn a good deal, and many women are wearing cerise belts to white gowns; in fact, it is a long time since the Parisienne has been so inclined to gay apparel.

Strawberry Cream Pie.

Roll paste and cut in three circular pieces nine inches in diameter. From one of the pieces cut out the centre, leaving a ring one and one-half inches wide; bake paste in a hot oven. Put the circles together with cream filling between, place ring on top and fill space with fresh strawberries, sweetened to taste.

WORLD'S FOOD SUPPLIES.

After a summer of blistering drought, that has parched western and north central Europe and a very broad strip along our Atlantic shore, comes the talk of empty granaries. Prices are already soaring.

The department of agriculture does not credit the doleful outlook now current. Its experts, think a few months will demonstrate that there will be food enough for all.

The real danger of the world being a hungered before another harvest lies not in wheat, but in the potato. The European crop under ordinary conditions is stupendous. Some of it, particularly in Germany—the largest potato producing country of Europe, with a yield last year of 1,600,000,000 bushels—is utilized in the manufacture of spirit. Potatoes besides constitute the most important food product of that and several other European countries. The acreage planted to potatoes now is almost identical with that of last year, but the drought has retarded the growth materially. In Hungary, where 480,000 tons of potatoes were raised in 1910, the estimated yield is approximately 400,000 tons. This will be about the ratio of decrease in the potato crop of the United States.

The world must eat fewer potatoes for the next six months. The demand for wheat loaves and rye loaves will multiply. Moreover, the American crop shortage, averaging about 15 per cent., curtails the surplus for export.

And yet the stories of the harvest season on several continents are not all told. Argentina and Australia have bumper crop prospects. South America is in the spring time. Rain has been plentiful and winter-sown grain is luxuriant.

If the accepted economic law that good crops assure good times and fairly good crops fairly good times holds in a world-wide sense, these fitful autumn days warrant no exceptional pessimism.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. We are certain we can interest you, and satisfy you of the merit of the enterprise if you will let us.

NORFOLK, Va.

HOPE FOR PORTUGAL.

Recognition by five great European powers will encourage the chiefs of the Portuguese Republic. In spite of rumors of danger from without, the new regime seems firmly on its feet. It has a constitution, it has a President of the right kind—a compromise President, one who may be trusted to hold the balance evenly between the parties. Matters have on the whole gone smoothly since the expulsion of Manuel. A strict censorship has been in force; but if there had been grave disorder within, the news could not have been kept from the world. The nation has shown itself united in the face of supposed peril, and it is possible that real peril would strengthen the union.

The treatment of the clergy, and the disposition to lay violent hands on church property were the least agreeable features of the revolution. The great wealth which a religious body accumulates by prudent management has always been an object of temptation in times of public unrest. That the treatment of Portuguese religious bodies was not justifiable may be inferred from the fact that foreign orders had to be exempted from the measures of the provisional government. The disposition now is to conciliate the church. A new Vendee in the North will be averted, and it is besides proper that no class should be singled out for legislative or executive attack. That principle ought to be she keystone of the new republic.

Portugal has little to fear from without; her dangers come from within. The change from monarchy to republic will not supply to the bulk of the citizens the place of the political education they lack. Much must depend for many years on the men at the helm. More attention must be paid to domestic needs than to foreign aggrandizement. Dreams of empire must be laid aside. Portugal's interbal resources are considerable. They have been neglected in the past; but in their development lied the secret of the nation's future.

THE BALLOT IS SECRET.

Several called on The Times yesterday and expressed the fear that the Dominion ballot is not a secret ballot. The Times has been assured by the proper authority that it would be absolutely impossible to trace how a man voted. When a ballot was handed to a voter there is a counterfoil attached simply for the purpose of making sure that the ballot returned by the voter is the same one that was handed out to him. Besides in every polling booth there was a scrutineer representing each party. It was the duty of these scrutineers to rigidly assure themselves that the counterfoils are immediately destroyed. Apart from this safeguard every deputy returning officer was sworn to destroy the counterfoil after a ballot has been used. There is no number on the ballot itself, and after it has been deposited in the ballot box no person can tell one ballot from another.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 221 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

FAD AND FANCIES

New evening sets of scarf and muff just received from abroad are in all the delicate tints of the rainbow and have hints of ostrich in their fluffy marabout depths.

Fashionable tailors declare that the models brought by them from Paris for copying purposes are so tight the wearer walks with extreme difficulty.

King's blue, black and white form the present fashionable color combination.

There is delightful evidence of a few inches added length to the new autumn coats

The handsome ribbons of satin and silk background against which stands out wonderfully natural velvet roses and floral designs are to play a conspicuous part in the coming season's millinery.

Broad hats of soft felt may be worn in an endless number of becoming angles.

Black velvet next to the face, either in a hat or in a ribbon worn next the throat, is very becoming to the average woman, whether she is a blonde or brunette. The soft black background has a softening effect upon the skin. Black velvet should be used in this way by the older women who wish to disguise the flight of time.

The pleated ruffle which has become very fashionable is considered an extravagance by some women, as it is difficult to launder and still more difficult to pleat successfully. The woman who is wise has the dainty accessory washed and ironed and then takes the frill to a pleating shop where it is turned out like new for a few cents.

Useful Mantelets.

Very slowly long scarves are developing into mantles, and they are undoubtedly more useful in this form. I saw a charming one this week in painted chiffon over plain mauve chiffon, edged with a ruche of very soft black chiffon. It formed a wide fichu over the shoulders, was caught into the waist behind by a buckle of old silver embroidery like that with which the buckle was made. Another pretty idea was carried out in mole colored satin and cerise. Three bands of satin, the middle one being cerise, were shaped round the shoulders, forming a point behind, and in front they crossed at the waist and fell more than half-way down the skirt, the ends being cut so as to fall in points. Others are just scarves drawn into motives of metal embroidery or bands between the shoulders, and again at the waist in front, but in all new models there is a suggestion of the mantle, and the quite straight scarf is demode.

Strawberry Shortcake

Strawberry pie made like other berry pies is delicious. Mix and sift twice, two cups flour, four teaspoons baking-powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Work in one-fourth cup butter, using the tips of the fingers Then add gradually three-fourths cup milk. Toss on a floured board and divide into two parts. Pat, roll out, and bake twelve minutes in a hot oven in buttered tins. Split and spread cut surfaces with butter. Sprinkle washed and hulled strawberries with sugar, place on back of range until warmed, crush slightly, and put between and on top of shortcakes. Cover with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla, and garnish with a few choice strawberries that have been reserved for the purpose.

Necessity is so often disagreeable as to suggest that it might be the mother-in-law of invention.

LARGE SALMON PACK.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 19.—The pack of pink salmon on Puget Sound this season now is expected to total 900,000 cases or more than double the pack of the largest previous season, 1910, when the Sound pack was 440,730 cases. Almost the entire catch has been sold. Packers declare that this is unprecedented.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A Startling Revelation

The friends of Miss Mary McKenzie, of London, were astonished to hear that she had gone into consumption.

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and finally made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas Street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone, which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations.

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Last Day of the Fair.

Saturday was the last day of the Lindsay Fair, and the morning trains from Peterborough were crowded, four extra coaches having to be put on to accommodate the passengers.

His Last Sermon.

Rev. H. R. Trumpour preached farewell sermons yesterday to large congregations. He and Mrs. Trumpour will leave this morning for Vancouver, where he will enter upon his duties at Latimer College.

Off to Attend McGill.

On Saturday last Mr. Charlie Ray left for Montreal, where he will enter McGill University, taking up the study of electrical engineering. He will be greatly missed in Peterborough, as he was a moving spirit in athletic sports of all kinds. The Times joins in wishing him every success in his studies.

Burnham's Majority 72.

The Review used the long distance telephone on Saturday and secured the result of the vote at Coulter's house in Galway, which is as follows:

Burnham	5
Stratton	1

This makes the former's total majority 72.

Run Off Near Campbellford.

On Saturday morning six freight cars left the G.T.R. rails when near Campbellford. There was no one injured. An auxiliary in charge of Roadmaster McMillan went through from Lindsay and the road was cleared in a few hours. A special passenger train was sent from Lindsay to the wreck to meet the Belleville train and transfer the passengers. Another special was despatched to Lakefield.

Park Street Harvest Home.

The annual Harvest Home services in connection with Park street Baptist Church, took place yesterday and will be continued this evening. Special sermons were preached yesterday, both morning and evening. This evening the services took the form of a Harvest Home tea from 6 to 8 o'clock, followed by a musical programme. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion.

John McEntee's Death.

The Cobalt Nugget contains the following particulars of the sad death of Mr. John McEntee, whose remains were brought to Peterborough on Friday evening for interment: "The mangled remains of John McEntee were found on the tracks just east of the depot here this morning. He was a miner and is supposed to have become confused in the train running to the Dome after Smyth's meeting, and attempting to board a moving car fell under the wheels. McEntee was a member of the Cobalt Miners' Union 146. The body was taken in charge by the Provincial police."

Not Fair to The Times.

In the movement inaugurated by the Presbyterian churches in this city in connection with missions, The Times along with its two local contemporaries, is trying to do its full share in giving publicity to the scheme in hand. Notwithstanding this, one of the ministers at least in making his announcement yesterday, told his congregation that the "evening" papers would publish the result of each day's work, during the week in which the canvass amongst the members and adherents of the church is to be made, thus conveying the idea that the morning paper is not in sympathy with the work. Of course such is not the case, and we are therefore obliged to publish this explanation in self protection.

Prices Are Soaring.

Although the market on Saturday was largely attended by sellers as well as buyers, the prices were very high. The following are some of the figures: Eggs 28c, butter 30c turkeys $1.75, geese $1.25, chickens 35c to 50c each, ducks $1 per pair, potatoes $1.35 per bag, live hogs $6.90.

Delivered Afternoon Addresses.

Yesterday the three visiting ministers from Toronto, who filled the pulpits of St. Paul's, St. Andrew's and Knox Churches, in this city, viz.:—Rev. Dr. McKay, Rev. Dr. Grant and Rev. Mr. Anderson—delivered addresses in the afternoon in Frazerville, Omemee and Lakefield. Mr. Dickson Hall took Mr. Anderson to Omemee and back in his auto; Mr. Dickson Davison did the same for Dr. Grant to Lakefield, and Dr. Morrison performed similar service for Dr. Grant, running him out to Springville and back.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late John Head, who was killed at Medicine Hat on the 16th inst., took place on Saturday last to the Little Lake cemetery.

It appears that the deceased was returning from a political meeting at Medicine Hat, with three other men. One of his companions was killed and a second sustained a broken leg and the other escaped uninjured. Mr. Head was conscious for four hours after the accident, and did not complain of much pain. The immediate cause of his death was an internal mehorrhage. The four men were on the C.P.R. line and as they went around a bend, it was so dark they did not see an engine backing into them. At the inquest the C.P.R. was exhonerated from blame as the men had not been authorized to take the hand car out.

HATS AS PICTURE FRAMES

A Man's Point of View

The other day a famous man was sitting in the window seat of a fashionable restaurant, watching fair women pass to and fro, as his sisters discussed the fashions and incidentally ate more chocolate cakes than were good for them.

"What puzzles me," he said at last, after a long silence, "is why pretty women should try so hard to make themselves into ugly ones by wearing hideous headgear. If they would only regard their hats as frames for their faces, and not merely as evidences of wealth or of their milliners' skill, they would not be such blots upon the landscape."

He indicated as he spoke two women who had just passed. The delicate face of the one was literally buried under an imposing structure of purple, which turned her natural paleness into a ghastly white, while the other sported a fearful erection of blue and green that made her look grotesque. Without their hats, both these women would have been "good to look at," with them they were almost monstrosities. A man's point of view is always worth seeing, and so, dear girls, when you next go shopping, remember that your "picture hat" will be a failure if it does not make your face a picture, too.

THE COLDEST SPOT ON EARTH

Central Siberia Has This Distinction

The coldest place on the earth's surface of which there is authentic record is in Siberia. The lowest temperature ever recorded in the open air was 90 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit) at Werchajansk, Central Siberia, on anuary 15, 1885.

The highest temperature of which there is an authenticated record is 134 degrees above zero (Fahrenheit) in Algeria, Northern Africa, on July 17, 1879. These places of extreme heat and extreme cold give a range of temperature covering the whole inhabitable world of 214 degrees or two degrees more than from zero to the boiling point.

In the United States the lowest temperature ever recorded in winter is 64 degrees below zero in North Dakota, and the highest ever recorded in summer is 115 degrees above zero in Arizona. This gives a total range of 179 degrees within about 1000 miles.

There is an unauthenticated report from Aumale, an outpost of the Algerian bad lands, which gives a temperature record in the open air of 142 degrees above zero (Fahrenheit). This, if correct, exceeds by 48 degrees that of the hihgest on record. It is also stated that the temperature at this place rarely gets down to 140 degrees. On one or two occasions it dropped to 120 degrees and the natives shivered with the cold. Strange as it may seem, the death rate of French soldiers stationed at this post is lower than that at most northerly places having equitable temperatures.

People who inhabit these places of extreme heat and cold are found to be exceptionally healthy and live to a ripe old age.

White men in all parts of the world make their homes in these exceptionally hot or cold places, and move from one to the other without any apparent physical discomfort, it is found that animals or plants which would flourish in one could not survive in the other.

Although the response has been fairly generous, the directors feel sure that this cause should appeal to all classes of citizens, as this building will be to care for the aged poor of the city for all time. If the Directors are able to complete the building free of debt, it is hoped that the work will be self supporting and that it will not be necessary to make any further appeal to the public.

The collectors will begin their work again next Monday, but if there be any who are not called upon and who are willing to give, even though they may only be able to afford a small sum, their subscriptions may be paid into the Bank of Montreal, and they will be acknowledged in due course. The lists will be published at the end of each week and we hope they will be large.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Athens, Ontario," will be received at this office until 4.00 P. M., on Monday, October 9th, 1911, for the erection of a Public Building at Athens, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, on application to Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, clerk of works, postal station F, Yonge street, Toronto, Ont., and at the post office at Athens, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS.

ITALY AND TURKEY ARE PREPARING FOR WAR

Italian Vessels are Turned Back at Dardanelles---Italy is Mobilizing Her Army and is Holding Her Fleet in Readiness for Action

London, Sept. 25.—The Times Constantinople correspondent, in a despatch filed at 8.50 last night, says that there is general and indeed comprehensive alarm in official circles over news received from Dardanelles Societa Marzimales. The steamer Roma, with passengers and mails for Constantinople, was boarded upon its arrival at the Dardanelles at six o'clock Saturday morning by the Italian Vice-Consul, who gave to the Captain instructions, in consequence of which the passengers were ordered to land within half an hour. The Roma was then headed again for Italy, not even taking time to land the mails.

ITALIAN STEAMERS CLEAR OUT

Several Italian merchant steamers are reported on good authority to have left the Ottoman ports after the receipt of instructions from the Italian Consulates, carrying with them only such cargo as they had on board While this sudden departure is represented in interested quarters as a precautionary measure, the explanation is not of a nature to command general credence.

Rumors of Italian naval and military preparations and even the disembarkment of troops near Tripoli, are rife. In the absence of official information, the rumors intensify the anxiety.

HOLDING FLEET IN READINESS

Rome, Sept. 25.—The Italian fleet, instead of returning to Winter quarters after the Autumn manoeuvres, is being held in south Italian and Sicilian ports.

There are four squadrons in the fleet. The first is made up of four battleships, three cruisers, and three destroyers, a mine ship, and a scout. This squadron will escort forty transports, carrying the army of occupation to Tripoli. The second consists of three battleships, four cruisers and a number of minor vessels. This is destined for Turkish waters.

The third squadron of three battleships and one cruiser is intended for regular sea service; while the fourth under command of the Duke of Abruzzia, and made up of two cruisers and strong flotillas of destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines will be held at Brindisi ready for emergencies. All these vessels are loading ammunition and provisioning.

ITALIAN WARSHIPS HAVE SAILED FOR TRIPOLI

Rome, Sept., 25.—It is reported that an Italian squadron consisting of the battleships Napoli and Roma, the armoured cruisers Pisa, Amalfi, Guiseppe Garibaldi, Varese and the Francesco Ferrucci and two flotillas of destroyers and torpedo boats left Syracuse last night for Tripoli.

The warships carried no troops and it is understood will confine their actions for the present to watching the coasts. They will interfere only in the event of an outbreak on the part of Turkey.

No official confirmation of this can be obtained. There is the strictest censorship on the newspapers here, which are threatened with dire penalties if they publish anything concerning the naval and military movements.

THEY CAPTURE MANY PRIZES

Mr. Stratton's String of Horses Return to City.

Mr. Stratton's string of horses returned yesterday bearing a big bunch of trophies from the Ogdensburg Horse Show of last week. Their arrival on Sunday is explained by the accident on the Grand Junction Railway.

This show was one of the most successful and strongly contested of the series. Canadian stables were represented by the horses of Sir Henry Pellatt, Toronto; Senator Butt, of Bowmanville; Crowe & Murray, Toronto; and Hon. J. R. Stratton, of Peterborough.

In addition to these horses were present from all the larger United States stables. As a consequence the competition was very keen, and the wearing of a red or blue ribbon meant something.

It speaks well for the quality of the Strathormond stables to state the fact that Mr. Stratton's horses came out of the contest with the splendid showing of 27 prizes—16 firsts and 11 seconds. They stood in the ring to the last, though many of the other horses, Canadian and others, fell by the way side—lost bone under the strain of continuous exhibit exercises.

A committee was appointed to devise a provisional Government for Ulster, which should become operative on the day that the Irish Home Rule bill was passed.

Sir Edward Carson, member of Parliament for Dublin University, was chosen for leader of the movement.

OVER 400 MEN KILLED BY BLOWING UP OF BATTLESHIP

FIRE BROKE OUT IN THE AMMUNITION HOLD FOLLOWED BY EXPLOSIONS THAT LITERALLY SHATTERED THE BATTLESHIP

Disaster Witnessed by Crews of Many Ships at Toulon —Bodies of Men Were Hurled High Into the Air

LATEST ESTIMATE IS 450 WERE LOST

Toulon, France, Sept. 25.—From 300 to 350 of the crew of the Liberte and about one hundred men from the other warships, which had been sent to help extinguish the fire, disappeared. The Democratic lost 20 dead and 50 injured.

A piece of armor plate blown from the Liberte struck the Cruiser Republique on the port side with great force, damaging her plates.

Toulon, France, Sept. 25.—An appalling naval disaster attended with enormous loss of life occurred at daylight this morning when the battleship Liberte blew up in the harbor.

The death loss is variously estimated from 300 to 500 or more. The killed include officers and men of the Liberte and also a large number of those from nearby ships.

The first alarm of fire was sounded shortly after 5 a.m.. This was followed by four successive explosions of increasing intensity as the fire neared the powder magazines, when at 5.35 a deafening explosion literally tore the great ship to pieces and sent her to the bottom a mass of twisted wreckage.

Bodies Hurled Into The Air.

The force of the explosion was so great that huge fissures were opened in the steel armor and framework of the warship. A piece of armor plate was hurled against the Cruiser Republique with great force, damaging her plates. Scores of bodies were hurled high into the air, with huge fragments of framework, armor, bursting shells and the suffocating smoke from the exploding magazines.

The awful upheaval came as the grey dawn of morning was breaking. On the first explosion the men rushed from their quarters, and a hundred or more sought safety in plunging overboard. But the great body of men, officers and crew, remained on the ship, and were hurled high in the air or in the water as the culminating explosion tore the ship into fragments. One report says the ship broke in two in the middle as she sank. Another says that before she took her final plunge several of her guns discharged a requiem salute.

Latest Estimate is 450 Lost.

The latest estimate this afternoon places the number of missing from the Liberte at 350. To these must be added 100 men from the other ships who were killed. Several small boats which had gone from the other warships to the aid of the Liberte sank when the final explosion occurred. There were fatalities on the Democratic, Verite and Republique. The latter was damaged and was obliged to dock hastily.

A Small Blaze at First.

The fire was discovered at five o'clock. At first it did not appear to be very serious, but some how or other it gained a quick advantage over the squad of sailors sent to extinguish it, and suddenly without warning it reached the magazines, which had not been flooded on account of the apparently trifling nature of the blaze.

The force of the explosion was terrific. They shook the vessel fore and aft, each one seemingly stronger than that preceding, opening up great fissures in the armor and framework of the vessel.

The vessel immediately became a mass of fire and smoke, and soon, almost demolished by the terrific detonations, sank to the bottom of the Toulon harbor.

Shore Leave Saved Over 200.

Two hundred of the crew escaped death owing to the fact that they were ashore on leave. Commander Jaures, a brother of the Socialist Deputy, was not on board.

Many Sailors Were Drowned.

The carnage in the explosions was worse than could ever have occurred in an actual naval engagement. The first crash came when the crew was for the most part dispersed in various sections of the vessel. They were without warning of their danger. Men below, who had not yet been wakened, were killed in their sleep. Others awakened by the explosion, started to jump overboard and were caught by the second detonation.

SAD DROWNING AT CAVENDISH

Little Greta Westlake Haynes was Drowned in Mortimer Lake

On Sunday last a sad drowning accident took place in Cavendish, when Gretna Westlake Haynes, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. T. B. Haynes of that township, lost her life.

I appears that the child had accompanied her aunt to the lake shore. The little one wandered away unnoticed, in search of cranberries. In a few moments she was missed and the aunt was horrified to find from the movements of the water, and the air bubbles on its surface, that the child had fallen in. The distracted lady called for help, and after an hour's search the body was recovered.

The remains were taken to the residence of Mr. John Westlake, from whence the funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

ASSASSIN OF PREMIER STOLYPIN WAS HANGED

Kiev, Russia, Sept. 25.—Dimitry Bogroff, the assassin of Premier Stolypin, who was condemned to death by court martial, was hanged to-day.

Before his execution the young man asked that he might see a rabbi, but refused this consolation when informed that the interview must be in the presence of officials.

A GENERAL ELECTION SOON IN ONTARIO?

Toronto, Sept. 23.— The Ontario Government held a Cabinet Council to-day, but no information was available. The general opinion round the Parliament Buildings is that the Council is discussing the advisability of an immediate appeal to the Province. Hon. J. W. Hanna and Hon. Adam Beck would not say anything, however, on the matter.

Will the Ontario Legislature be dissolved, and a general election held in this Province in the near future.

The answer to this question rests entirely with one man, Sir James Whitney. Of course, he could not take such a step without consulting his Cabinet, but the Ontario Government is so constituted that the decision rests almost altogether with him. About town a good many people think that such a step will be taken, but the Prime Minister has not yet spoken.

A Provincial election at this time would be very opportune for the Conservatives, from a purely political standpoint. The strong expression of public opinion in this Province against reciprocity, against which the Whitney Government spoke so strongly, would seem to open the way for a great triumph at the polls for that Government. Then also, the Conservative workers, are now elated by victory, and would go into a fight buoyed up by confidence.

Coming to See Bordes.

London, Sept. 25.—Lord Strathcona sailed on the Maurentania on Saturday. He caught the boat train at Tustin at the last moment. Breathlessly he ejaculated, "Yes, yes, I'm going to see Borden. Can't discuss reciprocity."

MR. BORDEN AT HIS OFFICE YESTERDAY

DEATH OF MRS. DAVIES

Passed Away With Awful Suddenness Last Night.

News of the death of Mrs. Alfred Davies, which took place at her home at the Grand Central Apartments, George street, at 11 o'clock last night, will come with a terrible shock to her many friends in Peterborough.

Mrs. Davies had suffered an attack of hemorrhage of the brain on Sunday evening, which rendered her unconscious, in which condition she remained until the end. Everything that medical skill could do was done to save her life, but all to no purpose.

She leaves one child, Mrs. Geo. J. Sherry, who is now away on her honeymoon, her marriage to Mr. Sherry having only taken place on Wednesday last. The friends have not been able to locate Mr. and Mrs. Sherry. Mrs. Davies has no other relatives in this country, her family residing in England.

Announcement regarding the funeral will be made later.

WILL ASK FOR REIMBURSEMENT

St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 25.—Farmers Bank depositors will seek reimbursement of their losses with renewed effort now that Government is changed. They have back of them Conservatives who claim that the crash was due partly to the easiness with which Minister Fielding granted the charter to the bank and feel that the Government can recognize their claim without injuring itself, something the Laurier Government could not very well have accomplished.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

NE TEMERE DECREE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I hope the Dominion Parliament will now take up and pass a marriage law that will protect Protestants from being classed as bastards. I am one of the unfortunates (?) who happen to have for my parents a Protestant father and a Roman Catholic mother, who were married by an Anglican clergyman. My poor mother is being told that she is not married at all, and is very unhappy over the fear that she may not be. One marriage law is what we need and jail for any priest or preacher who brings about trouble and separation between husband and wife. We are all sick and tired of Popish interference and dictation in political affairs.

One Who Has Suffered.

THE MILK BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think, Mr. Editor, if I might be allowed space in your valuable paper, I would like to say a word or two in regard to the new milk by-law.

I am persuaded it would be a mistake to change the by-law, as proposed. There is as much or more danger from disease, in the bottle system, as there would be through the present can system. The cans are clean and kept covered, so that the idea of germs getting into the milk by the use of tightly covered cans, is all moonshine.

It looks to me like an effort to drive the milk vendors out of business, and put the thing in the hands of a trust.

MESSAGE AT THE CAPITAL REPORTS A TIE AT THREE RIVERS.

Mr. German's Comment—The Chief Will Have a Free Hand in the Selection of His Cabinet.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Most of the Cabinet Ministry have returned to the city and there will be a Cabinet Council to-morrow. It is expected that their resignations will be in inside of a fortnight, perhaps sooner. Mr. Borden was at his office to-day and received a number of callers. His correspondence is immense and it will be some days before he is able to overtake the great volume of it. Most of it is of a character congratulating him in his splendid victory.

THE POPULAR VOTE.

It will be fully ten days before official returns are all in, and where there are to be recounts it will be longer. Consequently there can be little tabulation of the popular vote for a fortnight.

W. M. German, M.P., for Welland, is in the city. "The result," he stated, "is what I expected. I did not look for the Government to be defeated by such a large majority, but I knew that public sentiment was against reciprocity. The extent of the sweep in Ontario somewhat surprised me." Mr. German said he would support the Opposition.

A TIE IN THREE RIVERS.

A message received here to-day reports a tie in Three Rivers, where there will be an official recount on Wednesday.

As previously intimated, it quite probable that the defeat of the Government and the coming in of a new one will necessitate delay in the departure of Earl Grey, as it is desired that the new Ministry be installed before the arrival of the Duke of Connaught.

A number of contracts await being awarded, and it is an open question as to whether the Government will act upon them. Included on the list are the extensions of the Intercolonial Railway in parts of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

There will be no official announcement as to the personnel of Mr. Borden's Cabinet until he is called upon officially to form a Ministry. There is an abundance of Cabinet material the great problem consisting in discriminating between the many who deserve and are qualified for Cabinet rank. The chief will have an absolutely free hand and the excellent judgment he always displayed may be relied upon absolutely to form one of the strongest Ministries in Canadian political history.

In a Bad Way.

Special to The Times.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 25.—The St. Louis Post Despatch says: "With reciprocity defeated in Canada, the Taft administration is now left without any achievements whatever in the way of tariff reform and areduced cost of living."

Cool Weather Near.

Last night minimum temperatures of 24 degrees and 26 degrees were experienced in the Northwest, at Prince Albert and Edmonton. A depression now covers the lake region, and is moving eastward through Ontario into the maritime provinces. The forecaster hesitated to prophesy any cold waves, and hints himself to the statement that we may look for cooler weather.

TAFT NOT HONEST.

Special to The Times.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 25.—The following from the Daily States, of this city, tells its own story:

"If the action of the President on these measures caused the Canadians to doubt the good faith of his professions that the reciprocity scheme was pregnant with benefits for both countries, they cannot be blamed for entertaining such a doubt. Mr. Taft has not impressed them as a man who is honest and sincere in his views on the tariff, and, as a matter of fact, he is not."

FOOD

Thousands who know the personal value of clear-thinking and vigorous action, make Grape-Nuts a part of their regular diet.

FEEL RIGHT
When You Feed Right.

You know one always feels "very fit" when the head and nerves swing along peacefully and with that certain sense of power that is unmistakable.

But when overwork or anxiety breaks down the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve cells (anxiety will do it quicker than overwork) faster than the food you have been using replaces it, then to save yourself from that horror of darkness, nervous prostration, you must change food and take on some sure rebuilder.

That's the mission of Grape-Nuts, made of the selected parts of wheat and barley containing the natural Phosphate of Potash which combines with Albumen in the human body and makes the soft gray filling of the brain and nerve centers.

Another thing to be considered is that Grape-Nuts is "processed" in making and the starchy parts converted into a form of sugar, exactly as the process of digestion in the body. So Grape-Nuts has really passed the first act of digestion and therefore the food is quickly assimilated in the most perfect manner by babe or athlete.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA
W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as well as the Subsequent Payments:

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Last month, the Railway Commission, headed by Judge Mabee, Chairman, visited Prince Rupert, and made a trip over the hundred miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific east of Prince Rupert, which is now in operation. General Superintendent Mehan was the recipient of many compliments as to the physical conditions of the new roadbed. Judge Mabee said in an interview with a reporter of the "Evening Empire" in Prince Rupert: "I saw a splendid piece of roadbed. It is a fine road all the way from this point to Mile 102. A better piece of road cannot be found among many of the roads of older Ontario. On our return trip, we ran over 35 miles an hour over some portions of the line and the going was remarkably steady for a new road. When the Government accepted the road, there was an order limiting the speed of trains to 12 miles an hour, but after having seen the road, we are going to make an order permitting the speed of trains to be increased to 35 miles an hour."

This is in line with the entire construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, which is being built as a permanent road from the start.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

STRIKERS DISCHARGED.

That is Way G.T.R. Dealt With the Trouble in Yards.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 23—As the result of the strike at the Grand Trunk Stuart street yards yesterday morning, twenty or more men are out of situations. The entire number who refused to work, under an assistant yardmaster, who, they claimed, was brought here, as a strikebreaker at the time of the big strike, were discharged on the spot. Brakesmen and switchmen from Stratford, London and Toronto were brought here to fill the positions temporarily and new men will eventually be broken in to the work. Some night men who say they did not strike were discharged, they claim. The most of these were night men who went to their homes early in the morning and who professed to know nothing of the trouble.

There has been an increased production in nearly every Province, the only decline being shown by New Brunswick. Ontario leads with 40 per cent. of the total for Canada.

In silver production alone there was an increase of 16 per cent. chiefly credited to the Cobalt and adjacent districts.

Ontario's silver output amounted to $15,711,513.

SPORTING COLUMN.

PUGILISTS ARE BORN AND NOT MADE.

John L. Sullivan was Intended for the Church. — So Was Jeffries, Whose Father Was a Circuit Rider.

It is as natural for some men to be prizefighters as it is for others to be poets, musicians and artists. Circumstances often develop the pugilistic nature in the successful fighting man, but nobody can become a top-notcher in the prize ring unless he has the natural requirements in his makeup.

John L. Sullivan's parents often declared that they intended their husky son for the church, but that nature made the big fellow a champion prizefighter. It was about the same with the parents of Jeffries. His father, who is a travelling preacher up and down the Western rivers, tried hard to have his big son follow in the same path, but again nature stepped in and declared Jim a gladiator. It is almost always the case that parents of pugilists are opposed to the fighting game.

When Sullivan was a young fellow in South Boston, his father put him to work in a factory to learn the trade of tinker. John had refused to study for the priesthood and wanted to be his own boss. He developed a fondness for baseball, and at each dinner hour, he would join his friends in a game in a nearby lot. The boss of the factory was a big burly fellow who ruled the apprentices with an iron hand. When the whistle blew at one o'clock he would accept no excuses from the boys who were a few minutes late.

One afternoon Sullivan was so taken up with his ball playing that he did not hear the factory whistle and was about ten minutes late when he came back to the shop. With no word of warning the boss rushed at John L. like a cyclone, clouted him in the face, and kicked him in the body. Like an infuriated tiger Sullivan turned, and shooting out his mighty right fist he landed on the boss's jaw, sending the latter flying through a window into the yard.

Sullivan lost his job, but it was not long after that he came to be known as "the strong boy." The first time he ever put on a pair of boxing gloves was at a variety entertainment in the Dudley Street Opera House, in Roxbury, Mass. John attended the show not expecting to take any part in it. But it so happened that as a muscular young man named Scannel came on the stage and announced that he was ready to meet anybody in the house, some of Sullivan's friends induced him to accept the challenge. So after a parley John climbed over the footlights. He had no boxing togs with him, but just pulled off his coat, rolled up his shirt sleeves and drew on the gloves.

Sullivan and Scannel went at it hammer and tongs. In a mixup John received a terrific blow on the back of his head. His eyes flashed fire, and he came back at his antagonist with a punch so hard that Scannel was knocked clean over the piano which was near at hand. That settled Scannel and also started Sullivan on his pugilistic career. From that night on his sole ambition was to become a champion fighter.

Jeffries a Boilermaker

Jeffries began his business career as a boilermaker in Los Angeles. He was fond of swinging the heavy hammer and soon developed great physical strength. Jim was never in the habit of looking for trouble, but when he was up to him he generally sailed in and won. Among his co workers in the boiler factory Jeff soon gained a reputation for his rough and ready fighting ability, so that very few cared to cross his path.

Charles Evans, the Edgewater golfer who made a remarkable showing abroad, lost his first match since returning to America at the Essex County links.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

THE WEARING OF OSPREYS

Milliners Too Often the Dictators

"But I do not like to wear ospreys" the pretty woman says to her milliner. "But, I assure you madam, these ospreys are quite painlessly obtained. It is the other sort,"—and so on. The pretty woman, if she is weak, gives way and adds one more to the list of persons who are responsible for the appalling cruelty in the world. No ospreys or aigrettes are painlessly procured and every woman who wears them, stamps herself as lacking in heart and character. At present in London, that wonderful city, there are few ospreys to be seen. The humane societies do their work well and it is considered almost a disgrace to be seen with ospreys. One society in its fight against the horrible cruelty, employs sandwich men, who go about with a series of pictures showing the friendish manner in which ospreys are obtained. There is the mother bird and her babies, happy and peaceful. Then along comes a man, pioneer of civilization, kills the bird, pulls her lovely plumage from her body and the last pictures show the little birds clamoring for food and lastly lying dead from starvation. This series is begun and ended with a picture of a gorgeous osprey labelled, "The badge of cruelty." Let every woman who wears ospreys in her hat or hair, think of the cruelty that it implies. Let me say it again,—there is no osprey that is painlessly obtained and the woman who wears one, is as cruel as the man who kills the mother bird and leaves the baby birds to die. Crueller even, for the man does it simply for a living, while a woman does it to pander to her vanity.

This is the very latest hat from Europe.

Glove Superstitions.

There are many curious customs in which gloves have taken part which invest them with peculiar interest. Until quite lately it was the fashion in some countries at a baptism for the godfather to present the godmother with a little basket containing a beautiful pair of kid gloves. In some country places it was an old practice for the young people of the village to assemble and watch for the new moon, and the one who saw it first gave his or her neighbor a kiss, and obtained a pair of gloves as a reward. Another, which has reached even to our time, viz., that of kissing a person when asleep, is alluded to by Gray in the lines:—"For custom says whoe'er this venture proves, For such a kiss demands a pair of gloves."

Colors for Brides to Wear.

Most brides prefer to be married in white, unless there is some very strong reason for a different choice; but the following old rhyme acknowledges the possibility of any other color being chosen, and warns the prospective bride how much may depend on the wedding gown selected:

"Married in grey, you will go far away;
Marry in black, you will wish yourself black;
Married in brown, you will live out of town;
Married in red, you will wish yourself dead;
Married in pearl, you will live in a whirl;
Married in green, ashamed to be seen;
Married in yellow, ashamed of your fellow;
Married in blue, he will always be true;
Married in pink, your spirits will sink;
Married in white, you have chosen aright."

WHAT MOTHERS HAVE DONE

"All that I am or hope to be," said Lincoln, after he had become President of the United States, "I owe to my angel mother." "My mother was the making of me," said Thomas A. Edison, recently. "She was so true, so sure of me; and I felt that I had someone to live for, someone I must not disappoint." "All that I have ever accomplished in life," declared Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, "I owe to my mother." "To the man who has had a mother, all women are sacred for her sake," said Jean Paul Richter. "A kiss from my mother made me a painter," said Benjamin West.

A Curtain Economy

For economy in bedroom window curtains, I have carried out this idea with great success: Make the curtains, whether sash or long ones, of material with no "up and down" in the figure, and put hems of equal width at top and bottom. After the curtains have become soiled and have had their first washing, rehang them the other way up, with the rod slipped through what was formerly the bottom hem. This equalizes the wear and tear, so that curtains treated in this way survive several turnings without losing their first freshness.

A New System.

The Bell Telephone Company have decided on a new system of bookkeeping which will take from the hands of the local office, the billing of those who use the telephone. This will be done at Toronto. The plan is to centralize the work as much as possible in order to reduce expense. The new system commences with the new year.

Mr. Harry Gibson of Kingston, was rescued from an enemy that had relentlessly pursued him for years

Mr. Gibson was born and brought up in Kingston. By profession he is a school teacher. He received his training in Queen's University, where he took a course in arts and medicine that well befits him to talk on almost any subject.

The enemy that for 25 years relentlessly pursued Mr. Gibson is a menace to our entire population—it is the demon, Catarrh.

Mr. Gibson says:—"For years I was never free from Catarrh of the nose and throat. It bothered me winter and summer and kept me so continually coughing and hawking that I found it a great impediment to the proper performance of my duties at school. I used every available means of obtaining a cure, took bottle after bottle of medicine prescribed by local doctors, but never got more than temporary relief. I consulted a well-known specialist in the States, but after spending a considerable amount of money with him to no advantage, was forced to look elsewhere for relief, which I first received from Catarrhozone.

I consider Catarrhozone a genuine cure for Catarrh. It drove that loathsome disease completely out of my system and to-day I am as well as if I never knew what the word Catarrh implied."

A straightforward proof of cure, coming from a well-known gentleman like Mr. Gibson carried conviction of the fact with it that Catarrhozone does all that is claimed for it. As a cure for Catarrh and Bronchitis it positively has no equal. All druggists, price $1.00; small size 25c. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE NEW PRIME MINISTER.

The News makes the new Prime Minister the subject of a leading article, every word of which we endorse

In Mr. Borden the country will have a wise, prudent and progressive Prime Minister. Ever since he became leader of the Opposition he has borne himself with dignity and with distinction. If, as his opponents contend, he is deficient in the craft of the politician, he is strong in the integrity and solidity of a statesman.

Throughout his term in Opposition he has done laborious service for the Conservative party. He has made no serious mistake. More than once he has refused to be stampeded by demagogues into sacrificing either the permanent interest of his party or the permanent welfare of the country to influences which might have brought an immediate success but could have had no enduring result.

Nothing in his career is finer than his dealing with the Western Grain Growers a few months ago and his frank and courageous declaration that he was against reciprocity and would not support the agreement with Washington even if by so doing he could become Prime Minister. All through the campaign he spoke moderately but strongly, careful of the delicacy of international relationships in all his references to the United States, but firmly insisting upon the right of Canada to conserve her own resources, to be faithful to her own ideal of nationality and to adhere to the connection with the Empire.

In all the Provinces Mr. Borden has splendid support. He will go to Ottawa with a great national party at his back. No doubt he will give the country a Ministry that will represent the spirit of the contest in which he has just been engaged and the various aggressive Canadian and British elements which combined against the Laurier Administration. If he does this we should have a long era of liberal Conservative Government, satisfactory relations with other countries, and an ever closer relation with the Empire.

PROGRESS OF THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

Substantial progress is being made in all directions in the construction and opening for traffic of the lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Recent reports given out announced the completion of the line to Fitzhugh, a point in the Jasper National Park, 1027 miles west of Winnipeg and service will be immediately extended thereto, and it is expected that 50 or 60 miles addition beyond Fitzhugh will be graded for steel this fall. This would bring steel to Tete Jaune Cache.

Work on the Prince Albert branch is being rapidly pushed forward and steel has been laid as far as Waka, 68 miles from the main line, and grading on this line has been completed within 24 miles of Prince Albert.

On the Branch from Regina to the International Boundary, 25 miles of steel will be completed this fall and 60 per cent. of the grading on the Regina-Moose Jaw Branch has been finished.

Construction work on the Brandon Branch which runs south from the main line at Harte, a distance of 24 miles is being commenced this week, and when complete will give the Grand Trunk Pacific the shortest line between Winnipeg and Brandon.

Grading has practically been completed on the first 50 miles of the Biggar-Calgary Branch, and work was started last week on 50 miles of the line from Battleford West through the Cut Knife District towards Wainwright, Alberta.

On the Tofield-Calgary Branch steel has been laid to the Red Deer River.

The above gives a good idea of how the work on the branches is being advanced, in addition to which the main lines are being pushed forward actively.

Waterford, Ont., Sept. 23.—The post office here was broken into last night. The vault doors were blown off and money, stamps and registered letters stolen. It was evidently the work of experts.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

Mr. F. W. G. HAULTAIN, M.L.A.

Though not a Canadian by birth Frederick William Gordon Haultain, K.C., is one of the men who have put their impress on the Great North West. As a member of the old North-West Assembly up to its dissolution and as a member of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Saskatchewan from its creation, he has been an active figure and has taken a leading part in the changes and developments which have taken place on the Western Prairies during the past quarter of a century. Mr. Haultain was born at Woolwich, England, in 1857 and came to this country when a boy receiving his education at

Montreal High School, Peterborough College Institute and Toronto University. He was called to the Ontario bar in 1882 and elected a member of the Northwest Assembly in 1887. He remained a member of the Assembly until its dissolution on the creation of the two new provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1905. He was then elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature of which he is still a member. He represented the Northwest Territories at the Coronation of King Edward in 1902.

It would be difficult to estimate what Mr. Haultain's name stands for in the West. He is universally respected, even by political opponents and indeed it would be hard to overestimate his influence in the province he has made his home.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie, K.C., for South Wellington and Chairman of the Railway Committee in the House of Commons, is one of the best known men in Canada. Born of good old Ontario stock at Guelph on August, 1864, he was educated at Guelph Collegiate In-

He was appointed chairman of the House of Commons Railway Committee in 1907 and still holds that important post. Mr. Guthrie resides in his native city, Guelph, Ont.

CONTROLLER WANKLYN

When the citizens of Montreal decided to use the sweeping brush at the City Hall and adopt a new form of civic administration they cast about them for qualified and trustworthy men to place in charge of the city's affairs. The great majority of the citizens favoring the system of government by Control it was decided to appoint four controllers, with the mayor as chairman. It was realized by all that the city's future administrative well-being depended on the personnel of the Board and the greatest care was exercised in selecting the right men. One of the first to be selected by the Citizen's Association was Mr. F. L. Wanklyn, M.I.C.E., whose extensive and varied engineering experience in different countries, knowledge of local conditions, and reputation for sound integrity eminently fitted him to act as a Controller. Nor have those who selected him been disappointed, for his work since he became one of the Controllers is a living testimonial to the wisdom of the selection.

Few people gazing on the fine Saxon profile and commanding figure of Mr. Wanklyn would dream that he was a Latin-American by birth.

Controller Wanklyn is a member of the Institute of Civil Engineers, London, and a member of the Council of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers. He is a keen sportsman and his favorite holiday is spent with rod or gun by some quiet stream or amid the game frequented woods.

CRANBERRY PICKERS

Many Cape Verde Islanders Work in the Cape Cod Bogs.

To see to the best advantage the preliminaries of cranberry sauce we must visit Cape Cod. Here within a radius of an hour's ride of historic old Plymouth, where the Pilgrims landed, is the greatest of all cranberry districts. This whole countryside would not be considered to make more than a single good sized county in some of our western states, and yet in a season when it is blessed with a good crop this cranberry zone will ship more than a third of a million barrels of the fruit.

The picking season in the early autumn is the time to enjoy the human interest side of the cranberry industry, and yet conditions in this phase of the work have changed so completely during the last few years that natives who come back to the cranberry country after some years in the city declare that the spectacle has lost much of its old time fascination. Students of progress declare that the entry of machinery has revolutionized almost every activity in this age, but it would be difficult to find a realm where there has been a greater upheaval than in the cranberry belt.

In the old days cranberries were all picked by hand — that is plucked one by one, just as raspberries are picked to this day. And nowhere did a picking season have the social significance that it did on Cape Cod. A large portion of the picking was done by women and girls, and it seemed as though the whole countryside turned out for the event.

Hand picking is yet in vogue on some of the cranberry bogs, but this is on the smaller tracts. On the large bogs we see the newly invented picking machine. There are two types. One is a small wooden box of a size to be held in one hand. By pressure of the fingers it opens at one end disclosing jaws armed with rows of teeth. The other style is a wooden scoop with close set iron prongs forming the lower side.

It never fails to surprise tourists who visit Cape Cod for the first time to find a large foreign population, which has no parallel anywhere else in the country and most of whom speak very little or no English. Many of the Cape Verde islanders are true nomads in their visits to the cranberry country, arriving in the spring when cultivation on the bogs opens and remaining until the end of the picking season, late in the autumn, making the trip both ways in sailing vessels that are engaged during the winter months in the coasting trade on the coast of Africa.

A skilful cranberry picker can earn from three to five dollars a day, so that the 'bravas,' as these invaders are called can within a few years save enough to live in affluence in their island home. Under the new conditions not only is the picking of the cranberries done by the aid of machines, but other machines separate and sort the berries.

PROOF THAT ADVERTISING PAYS.

A remarkable tribtue to the efficacy of advertising was given by Mr. C. Watson, chairman of Messrs. Joseph Watson and Sons, Ltd., the well-known English soap manufacturers, at the company's annual meeting. In moving the adoption of the report he said they had had to contend with the ridiculous and wasteful advertising of their competitors, and the absurd cutting of prices in the low qualities of soap, this in many cases having been sold many pounds a ton below cost price. The directors had ignored the latter competition, but they could not ignore the wasteful advertising, so they determined to meet this by spending the largest sum they had ever spent in one year in advertising. This was done, and the result had been very gratifying. They had had a very large increase in the sales of their specialities, and their turn-over had been over £100,000 greater than it had ever been in a previous year. The report, which proposed a dividend of 15 per cent. on the ordinary shares, appropriating £3,000 for directors' fees and £1,000 to a pension fund, leaving a balance of £41,065 to be carried forward, was adopted.

SHOWING THAT CIRCUMSTANCES SOMETIMES ALTER CASES.

After he had roughly shaken off the head of the third belated passenger who had sought repose on his shoulder the stout man proclaimed in a voice loud enough to be heard by everybody in the car that the next time anybody went to sleep with his head pillowed on his shoulder he would give that head a good punching, that's what he would do.

The stout man's wife said, "Sh-sh-sh, James. Don't get so violent."

"Violent!" said the stout man. "I've a right to be violent. I'm no pillow. I'm no featherbed. If anybody things I am, just let him come on and I'll show him."

At the next station two women came in and found seats near the stout man. Presently the younger and prettier of the two began to nod. Lower and lower dropped her head, and soon it found a substantial resting place. The stout man sat still; so very still did he sit that his wife wondered what had happened to him. She leaned over and looked past his bulky frame to find out. Her face flushed.

"Why, James," she said indignantly. "Don't you remember what you said a little while ago about punching heads? There's a head on your shoulder now."

"Is there?" said the stout man meekly. "I hadn't noticed it."

It was apparent then that if there was any head punching to be done somebody besides James would have to do it, also it was apparent that somebody was perfectly willing to undertake the job.

"James," said the stout man's wife significantly.

He wriggled uneasily until the head was gently dislodged; then the stout man and his wife changed places.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

me, Walt Sanders raised in his stirrups, and cried hotly:

"You dirty dogs! Some day I'll make yuh damned sorry yuh didn't keep your own side of the line tonight."

Of this the sergeant took no notice. He shook his horse up, and prisoners and guard, elbow to elbow, we moved on.

CHAPTER VII.

The Finger of Scorn.

"Destiny lurks in obscure places, and emerges therefrom to seize upon us unawares."

Barreau launched this epigrammatic sentence in the profound quiet of a cell in the MacLeod guardhouse. For that is the pass we came to; a six by eight housing of stout planks for the pair of us, food of indifferent quality in none too generous rations, and the keen eye of an armed guard in the background. For two days we had brooded in this cage, like any common felons.

Of the intervening period there is nothing worthy of chronicling. During the time it took Sergeant Hubbel and his troopers to bring us in, we rode, ate, slept, and rode again, and little else befell. If Barreau and the two Sanders worried over the outcome, if they indulged any thought of escape, or [illegible] to that end, they kept these things to themselves. I, per[illegible] likewise. Altogether, we [illegible] company of few words. And one evening, when dusk was [illegible] in, the journey ended, and we lay down to sleep with barred doors and windows between us and other men.

Little as we spoke, I gathered stray odds and ends of the affair, and pieced them as best I could. Most of it came from the troopers. After all, the thing was simple enough. At this time, the sale of liquor was strictly prohibited in the Canadian Territories, and naturally whisky was at a premium. Thus the Sanders ranch, lying just across the American line, furnished an ideal base of operations for men inclined to gather in the shekels of the thirsty. Proof of the traffic in contraband whisky lay ready for use; at least, so the policemen had it — but they could not catch the wily Sanders brothers on the right side of the boundary. So, with a fine disregard for all but the object to be gained, they violated an international technicality. The result justified the raid; that is, from the mounted police point of view. My arrest followed logically, from the company I was in. Barreau's connection, however, was a little beyond me. "Slowfoot George," as they called him, came in for cautious handling. Not once were his wrists free of the steel bands till the guardhouse door closed upon him. From this, and certain pointed remarks that I failed to catch in their entirety, I conceived the idea that he was wanted for worse than whisky-running. But, like the other two, Barreau neither denied nor affirmed. Once the sergeant tried to draw him out, and the curl of his lip and a caustic word or two cut short the policeman's effort.

Our "apartment" was singularly free from furniture. A wide plank ranged on either side, and a few not over-clean quilts served for a bed. There was no room for more in that vile box. I had managed to get paper and a pen from the guard, and was curled up on my plank, setting forth in a letter to Bolton all the unbelievable things that had occurred, when Barreau uttered his observation anent the workings of Destiny. Something in the way he spoke caused me to look up, and I saw that he was staring fixedly out into the guard-room through the grated opening in our cell door. There was none too much light, but with what there was I made out a paleness of face and a compression of his lips that were strangely at odds with his usual bearing.

"What now?" I asked, wondering at the sudden change in him.

"Something I had hoped to be spared," he said, under his breath; more to himself than to me. Then he turned his eyes from the little window, drew up his knees until his fingers locked before them, and so sat hunched against the wall. Wholly absorbed in my letter-writing, I had heard nothing out of the common. Now I distinguished voices, the deep tones of a man, and following that the clear treble of a woman. During a brief interval of quiet she laughed, and after that I heard footsteps coming toward the row out of which our cell faced.

Presently the shadow of them darkened the little window in our door. The red coat of the guard passed. Barreau shifted uneasily. I, too, leaned forward, listening to the light footfall drawing near; for I had a vivid recollection of that voice — or one that was its twin. It did not seem strange that she should be there; Benton is not so far from MacLeod in that land of great distances. And my recollection was not at fault. An instant later, her small, elfish face bent to the opening, and she peered in on us — as one who views caged beasts of the jungle.

But there was none of the human fear of wild things in her attitude.

"Ho," she said coolly, tucking a lock of hair under the same ridiculous little cap she had worn on the Moon. "This is how the Northwest would have you, is it, Mr Bar—Mr. Brown. Alas! 'To what base uses we may return.' I cannot say you have my sympathy."

"If that is the least cruel thing you can say," Barreau flung back at her, putting his feet on the floor, and bracing his hands on the edge of his cot, "I thank you. But my trail is my own, and I have never yet asked you to follow in my stumbling footsteps."

She colored at that, and from where I sat I could see the police guard lift his eyebrows inquiringly. But she had other shafts at hand.

"I grant you that," she replied quickly. "But it is a shock, when one conceives a man to be something of a gentleman, to have some remnant of the code honorable — then, pah! to find his name a byword on the frontier. A common murderer! Even descended to theft, and dealing in contraband whisky. You have a savory record in these parts, I [illegible]. How nicely this chamber fits you [illegible]. Mr. —oh—what is the euphonious [illegible] title? Slowfoot? By the tale of your [illegible] Why the Slowfoot George. Ah, yes successful elusion of the law, [illegible] should imagine you exceedingly [illegible] fleet of foot."

It seemed to me uncalled for, the unwomanly and unmaidenly speech; even grant bitter, scornful which had not hailing the truth of it, mind. But been established in my Barreau. it had a tonic effect on his face. The hurt look faded from half-[illegible]. His lips parted in the odd, wary, scornful, half-amused smile that [illegible] always lurking about his mouth.

He did not at once reply. When he did, it was only a crisp sentence or two.

"Let us be done with this," he said. "There is neither pleasure nor profit in exchanging insults."

"Indeed," she thrust back, "there can be no exchange of insults between us. Could aught you say insult any honest man or woman? But so be it. I came merely to convince my eyes that my ears heard truly. It may tickle your depraved vanity to know that MacLeod is buzzing with your exploits and capture."

"That concerns me little," Barreau returned indifferently.

"Ditto," she averred, "except that I am glad to find you stripped of your sheep's clothing, little as I expected such a revelation concerning one who passed for a gentleman. And to think that I might never have found you out, if my father had permitted me to return from Benton."

"Permitted?" Barreau laid inquiring inflection on the word.

"What is it to—— "she cut in sharply.

"Your father," he interrupted deliberately, "is a despicable scoundrel; a liar and a cheat of the first water."

"Oh—oh!" she gasped. "This—from you!"

"I said, 'Let us be done with this,' a moment ago," he reminded her.

She drew back as if he had struck at her, flushing, her under lip quivering — more from anger than any other emotion, I think. Almost at once she leaned forward again, looking straight at Barreau.

"It would be of a piece with your past deeds," she cried, "if you should break this flimsy jail and butcher my father and myself while we slept. Oh, one could expect anything from you!" And then she was gone, the guard striding heavy-footed after her. A puzzled expression crept over Barreau's face, blotting out the ironic smile.

"It was a dirty trick of me to speak so," he muttered, after a little. "But, my God, a man can't always play the Stoic under the lash However—I dare say——" He went off into a profound study, resting his chin in the palms of his hands I kept my peace, making aimless marks with my pen. It was an odd turn of affairs.

"Bob, what did I say about Destiny a while ago?" He raised his head and addressed me suddenly. "I will take it back. I am going to take Destiny by the nape of the neck. Being grilled on the seat of the scornful is little to my liking. It was a bit of ill luck that you fell in with me. I seem to be in a bad boat."

"Ill luck for which of us?" I asked. It was the first time he had sounded the personal note — aside from the evening we were landed in MacLeod, when he comforted me with the assurance that at the worst I would spend no more than a few days in the guard-house.

"For you, of course," he replied seriously. "My sins are upon my own head. But it was unfortunate that I should have led you to Sanders' place the very night picked for a raid. They can have nothing against you, though; and they'll let you out fast enough when it comes to a hearing. Nor, for that matter, are they likely to hang me, notwithstanding the ugly things folk say. However, I have work to do which I cannot do lying here. Hence I perceive that I must get out of here. And I need your help."

"How are you going to manage that?" I inquired, gazing with some astonishment at this man who spoke so coolly of getting out of prison. "These walls seem pretty solid, and you can hardly dig through them with a lone pen nib. That's the only implement I see at hand. And I expect the guard will be after that before I get my letter written."

"I don't know how the thing will be done," he declared, "but I am surely going to get out of here pretty pronto, as the cowmen have it."

He settled back, and took to staring at the ceiling. I, presently, became immersed in my letter to Bolton. When it was done, I thrust a hand through

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

HOME MAKING FOR WOMEN

Embroidering Monograms a Ready, Near

Every girl or woman, however lightly endowed with this world's goods, has an innate fondness for pretty lingerie, and especially so if these garments be embroidered and monogramed For the woman who is deft with her needle there is an unlimited field in the art of embroidering tiny sprays and monograms and also in making by hand the numerous garments that are included under the name of lingerie. Smaller shops dealing especially in out-of-ordinary articles are more approachable than the large stores for the disposal of such wares, but one who is an adept in embroidering initials may readily find an opening by showing her work to the head of the French department at various shops. Monograms are quite the rage now on all things, and the truly fashionable woman uses her own monogram, which, therefore, must be unique and extremely good-looking, on all her possessions, lingerie, silver, bed linen, table linen, handkerchiefs and her note paper, indeed wherever it is possible to place one's initials. For lingerie a wreath circle or oblong outline is very effective around the monogram, although many are used without any confining line, the long, narrow initials, plain to severity to themselves, often with a tiny spray of flowers winding in and out around them or a few birds and butterflies being the most popular style at present

PARIS FASHIONS

EARLY FALL COAT

This model is very popular in Europe and likely, on account of its usefulness, to be copied much on this side of the water.

FASHIONS FROM PARIS

The Embroidery Covered Hat.

Quite the most useful hat for seaside and country wear with washing dresses and tailor-mades, is the wide brimmed canvas hat covered with washing embroidery, writes a Parisian correspondent. It may be trimmed with a band of black velvet, or with a wing of embroidery, or with flowers. Even the white embroidery toque is to be worn at Trouville and some women adapt it for motoring. The idea is pretty and clean, for it is not difficult to make a design which will make and re-make after washing with perfect taste.

Colored Muslin Dresses.

One sees more colored muslin dresses this season than usual, and they make charming spots of color under the trees in the Bois de Boulogne, where everyone goes to drink tea in these days. Pale blue lawn embroidered in white and trimmed on the shoulders with a soft, white hemstitched sailor collar, is a charming combination, small blue buttons may be used as further trimmings and pale blue shoes embroidered to match, and worn with blue stockings make a pretty finish A pale blue hat, covered with white embroidery, or embroidered to match the dress and trimmed with one huge pale pink rose is becoming, and the whole thing looks extremely fresh and simple. Pink and white together are also worn a good deal, and many women are wearing cerise belts to white gowns; in fact, it is a long time since the Parisienne has been so inclined to gay apparel.

Strawberry Cream Pie.

Roll paste and cut in three circular pieces nine inches in diameter. From one of the pieces cut out the centre, leaving a ring one and one-half inches wide; bake paste in a hot oven. Put the circles together with cream filling between, place ring on top and fill space with fresh strawberries, sweetened to taste.

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 20.—Frederick Wilson of Merriton, the married man who induced fifteen year old Gladys Terryberry to go away with him on a tramp this summer, the pair being caught in Ann Arbor, Mich., was found guilty at the fall assizes before Justice Riddell and a jury on the charge of abduction. He also pleaded guilty to seduction. The judge sentenced him to three years and a half in Kingston penitentiary.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

Mr. H. B. AMES

Born in Montreal of American parents in 1863, few Canadians have shown a stronger desire to preserve this great Dominion as a self-governing nation within the British Empire, than Herbert Brown Ames, B.A., M.P.

Mr. Ames was first elected to the House of Commons as member for the St. Antoine division of his native city in 1904 and was re-elected at the general election of 1908. He had previously won distinction as a member of the Montreal City Council, bringing to bear on the duties of that office a spirit of enterprise and sense of public duty, combined with wisdom and foresight which have been distinguishing features of his career. Elected an alderman in 1898 he did not relinquish the office till his nomination to Parliament in 1904. As member of the Council of Public Instruction for the Province of Quebec, an office he has held for a number of years, Mr. Ames has been a distinct success, and his opinion and advice on Educational matters are eagerly sought.

In politics he is a Conservative and though born of American parents and educated in the United States, he is a powerful and unceasing advocate of keeping Canada Canadian in the broadest and best sense of the term. In the world of commerce he is best known as a director of the well known Ames-Holden Company, Limited, shoe manufacturers etc. of Montreal.

Mr. P. D. ROSS.

A name which has been prominent in Canadian journalism for many years is that of Mr. Philip Dansken Ross, B.A., better known as P. D. Ross, proprietor of the Ottawa Journal. Born of Scotch parentage in Montreal in 1858, Mr. Ross graduated from McGill University and entered the journalistic field in 1879. In 1883, when only twenty-four years of age he became assistant editor of the Toronto 'News'. Three years later we find him back in his native city as managing editor of the Montreal 'Star'.

It was at this time that Mr. Ross turned his thoughts towards the then small but rapidly progressing capital city of Canada and the following year saw the establishment of the paper which has since acquired such prosperity and influence. Mr. Ross has seen Ottawa grow from a small town to a great and wealthy city occupying an enviable place amongst the big centres of industrial activity and progress in the country. With the growth of the city his newspaper has grown, steadily and uninterruptedly, and today the voice of the Ottawa 'Journal' is heard and respected in the highest councils of the land. Mr. Ross spent a year in the City Council of Ottawa and for a much longer period has held office in the City's Board of Trade. He has also found time to engage in politics and sport and has been president of the Ottawa Conservative Association and the Royal Canadian Golf Club.

Mr. P. D. ROSS, Ottawa.

WORLD'S FOOD SUPPLIES.

After a summer of blistering drought, that has parched western and north central Europe and a very broad strip along our Atlantic shore, comes the talk of empty granaries. Prices are already soaring.

The department of agriculture does not credit the doleful outlook now current. Its experts, think a few months will demonstrate that there will be food enough for all.

The real danger of the world being a hungered before another harvest lies not in wheat, but in the potato. The European crop under ordinary conditions is stupendous. Some of it, particularly in Germany—the largest potato producing country of Europe, with a yield last year of 1,600,000,000 bushels—is utilized in the manufacture of spirit. Potatoes besides constitute the most important food product of that and several other European countries. The acreage planted to potatoes now is almost identical with that of last year, but the drought has retarded the growth materially. In Hungary, where 480,000 tons of potatoes were raised in 1910, the estimated yield is approximately 400,000 tons. This will be about the ratio of decrease in the potato crop of the United States.

The world must eat fewer potatoes for the next six months. The demand for wheat loaves and rye loaves will multiply. Moreover, the American crop shortage, averaging about 15 per cent., curtails the surplus for export.

And yet the stories of the harvest season on several continents are not all told. Argentina and Australia have bumper crop prospects. South America is in the spring time. Rain has been plentiful and winter-sown grain is luxuriant.

If the accepted economic law that good crops assure good times and fairly good crops fairly good times holds in a world-wide sense, these fitful autumn days warrant no exceptional pessimism.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

New Oil Field

A legitimate chance to make a fortune, by the investment of a small amount of money is what every investor wants. Usually the difficulty is to be able to satisfy yourself as to the safeguards and probabilities of success, and thus select the good from the bad. The newest, and what promises to be the richest oil area in the world is just beginning to be developed, in what is known as the Tampico field in Mexico. The flow of oil from the first few wells drilled there has broken all records. Beyond a doubt this is one of the greatest opportunities for investment ever known.

A Company has just been organized to develop 3500 acres of the choicest, and best located property in the producing field. For this purpose we will offer a limited number of shares of stock for subscription at ½ its par value. NORFOLK, Va.

HOPE FOR PORTUGAL.

Recognition by five great European powers will encourage the chiefs of the Portuguese Republic. In spite of rumors of danger from without, the new regime seems firmly on its feet. It has a constitution, it has a President of the right kind—a compromise President, one who may be trusted to hold the balance evenly between the parties. Matters have on the whole gone smoothly since the expulsion of Manuel. A strict censorship has been in force; but if there had been grave disorder within, the news could not have been kept from the world. The nation has shown itself united in the face of supposed peril, and it is possible that real peril would strengthen the union.

The treatment of the clergy, and the disposition to lay violent hands on church property were the least agreeable features of the revolution. The great wealth which a religious body accumulates by prudent management has always been an object of temptation in times of public unrest. That the treatment of Portuguese religious bodies was not justifiable may be inferred from the fact that foreign orders had to be exempted from the measures of the provisional government. The disposition now is to conciliate the church. A new Vendee in the North will be averted, and it is besides proper that no class should be singled out for legislative or executive attack. That principle ought to be she keystone of the new republic.

Portugal has little to fear from without; her dangers come from within. The change from monarchy to republic will not supply to the bulk of the citizens the place of the political education they lack. Much must depend for many years on the men at the helm. More attention must be paid to domestic needs than to foreign aggrandizement. Dreams of empire must be laid aside. Portugal's interbal resources are considerable. They have been neglected in the past; but in their development lied the secret of the nation's future.

THE BALLOT IS SECRET.

Several called on The Times yesterday and expressed the fear that the Dominion ballot is not a secret ballot. The Times has been assured by the proper authority that it would be absolutely impossible to trace how a man voted. When a ballot was handed to a voter there is a counterfoil attached simply for the purpose of making sure that the ballot returned by the voter is the same one that was handed out to him. Besides in every polling booth there was a scrutineer representing each party. It was the duty of these scrutineers to rigidly assure themselves that the counterfoils are immediately destroyed. Apart from this safeguard every deputy returning officer was sworn to destroy the counterfoil after a ballot has been used. There is no number on the ballot itself, and after it has been deposited in the ballot box no person can tell one ballot from another.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO 222 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

FAD AND FANCIES

New evening sets of scarf and muff just received from abroad are in all the delicate tints of the rainbow and have hints of ostrich in their fluffy marabout depths.

Fashionable tailors declare that the models brought by them from Paris for copying purposes are so tight the wearer walks with extreme difficulty.

King's blue, black and white form the present fashionable color combination.

There is delightful evidence of a few inches added length to the new autumn coats

The handsome ribbons of satin and silk background against which stands out wonderfully natural velvet roses and floral designs are to play a conspicuous part in the coming season's millinery.

Broad hats of soft felt may be worn in an endless number of becoming angles.

Black velvet next to the face, either in a hat or in a ribbon worn next the throat, is very becoming to the average woman, whether she is a blonde or brunette. The soft black background has a softening effect upon the skin. Black velvet should be used in this way by the older women who wish to disguise the flight of time.

The pleated ruffle which has become very fashionable is considered an extravagance by some women, as it is difficult to launder and still more difficult to pleat successfully. The woman who is wise has the dainty accessory washed and ironed and then takes the frill to a pleating shop where it is turned out like new for a few cents.

Useful Mantelets.

Very slowly long scarves are developing into mantles, and they are undoubtedly more useful in this form. I saw a charming one this week in painted chiffon over plain mauve chiffon, edged with a ruche of very soft black chiffon. It formed a wide fichu over the shoulders, was caught into the waist behind by a buckle of old silver embroidery like that with which the buckle was made. Another pretty idea was carried out in mole colored satin and cerise. Three bands of satin, the middle one being cerise, were shaped round the shoulders, forming a point behind, and in front they crossed at the waist and fell more than half-way down the skirt, the ends being cut so as to fall in points. Others are just scarves drawn into motives of metal embroidery or bands between the shoulders, and again at the waist in front, but in all new models there is a suggestion of the mantle, and the quite straight scarf is demode.

Strawberry Shortcake

Strawberry pie made like other berry pies is delicious. Mix and sift twice, two cups flour, four teaspoons baking-powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Work in one-fourth cup butter, using the tips of the fingers Then add gradually three-fourths cup milk. Toss on a floured board and divide into two parts. Pat, roll out, and bake twelve minutes in a hot oven in buttered tins. Split and spread cut surfaces with butter. Sprinkle washed and hulled strawberries with sugar, place on back of range until warmed, crush slightly, and put between and on top of shortcakes. Cover with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla, and garnish with a few choice strawberries that have been reserved for the purpose.

Necessity is so often disagreeable as to suggest that it might be the mother-in-law of invention.

LARGE SALMON PACK.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 19.—The pack of pink salmon on Puget Sound this season now is expected to total 900,000 cases or more than double the pack of the largest previous season, 1909, when the Sound pack was 446,730 cases. Almost the entire catch has been sold. Packers declare that this is unprecedented.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A BOON TO STOCK-RAISERS

To Know How to Cure Colic, Distemper, Colds, Swellings, Etc. —Saves Thousands Each Year.

It is a matter of vital importance to every farmer, horse-owner and stock-raiser to know exactly what to do when one of his animals is taken suddenly sick.

The letter of Mr. Frank F. Fullerton, which we print below, gives information of inestimable value, and tells his experience in curing ailing stock during the past thirty-eight years:

"Several years ago when my horses took colic I used to give them Cayenne pepper in hot milk, but in a few cases only did it help, and because I had no proper means at hand I lost several valuable animals. Some one told me of the success Mr. Wendling, of Brockville, Ont., had in his racing stables with "Nerviline," so I laid in a supply. It wasn't very long before Nerviline saved the life of a valuable stallion of mine, which was worth at least $1,000.00. This horse was taken with colic, and would have died, had it not been for Nerviline. I have used Nerviline for reducing swellings, for taking out distemper lumps, and easing a bad cough, and always found it worked well. I recommend every man who owns horses or cattle to keep Nerviline on hand."

SAVED $1,000 BY NERVILINE

Mr. Fulerton is one of the best known residents of Stormont, and his recommendation as an experienced and practical horseman proved beyond question how valuable Nerviline really is.

Give Nerviline a trial. It's good for man or beast, internally or externally. Large size bottle 50c., or sample size 25c. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A HIT

What She Gained by Trying Again

A failure at first makes us esteem final success.

A family in Minnesota that now enjoys Postum would never have known how good it is if the mother had been discouraged by the failure of her first attempt to prepare it. Her son tells the story:

"We had never used Postum till last spring when father brought home a package one evening just to try it. We had heard from our neighbors, and in fact every one who used it, how well they liked it.

"Well, the next morning Mother brewed it about five minutes, just as she had been in the habit of doing with coffee without paying special attention to the directions printed on the package. It looked weak and didn't have a very promising color, but nevertheless father raised his cup with an air of expectancy. It certainly did give him a great surprise, but I'm afraid it wasn't a very pleasant one, for he put down his cup with a look of disgust.

"Mother wasn't discouraged though and next morning gave it another trial, letting it stand on the stove till boiling began and then letting it boil for fifteen or twenty minutes, and this time we were all so pleased with it that we have used it ever since.

"Father was a confirmed dyspeptic and a cup of tea or coffee was to him like poison. So he never drinks it any more, but drinks Postum regularly. He isn't troubled with dyspepsia now, and is actually growing fat, and I'm sure Postum is the cause of it. All the children are allowed to drink it, and they are perfect pictures of health." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

Read the little book "The Road to Wellville", in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Evangelising Quebec.

Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Baptist Church, delivered an interesting and instructive address under the auspices of the "Willing Workers" in the lecture room of the church last night, on the work of the Baptist Church among the French Canadians in Quebec. The speaker described the difficulties that are being encountered and overcome, and the progress of the efforts that are being made in order to bring the French Canadians under the influence of the true Gospel. At the conclusion of the address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Webb. There was also a short programme of vocal and instrumental music.

Was Found Alright.

A short time ago the License Inspector, in the discharge of his duties seized a bottle from a shipment of "O'Keefe's Star Beer" consigned to a local dealer and had it sent to Toronto for test. Mr. Stewart received word back that the beverage was all right, and was well within the requirements of the License Act. This beer has been sold largely in Temperance and other hotels, and is non-alcoholic. The local agents in this city, Messrs. J. M. Brooks & Co., handle large quantities of the beer, as it is not only a good clean temperance beverage, but it is wholesome as well.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—A terrible accident happened to-day in the Township of Gloucester, on the Montreal-road, six miles below Ottawa, where a machine was at work on a farm cutting corn for silo. The boiler exploded killing one of the men on the machine instantly, named Euclid Lepage. He was struck by flying fragments of the boiler and also scalded by the escaping steam. The engineer who was standing at the end of the machine, had a miraculous escape, being unhurt. A horse, one of a team tethered 15 or 20 feet away, was also killed instantly by being struck on the head by a piece of the boiler.
